Proceedings of the Council of the City of Pittsburgh

VOL. CXVIII Tuesday, January 3, 1984 No. 1

ONE-HUNDRED TWENTY-THIRD COUNCIL

ROBERT RADE STONE President
MICHAEL PERRY City Clerk
LINDA M. JOHNSON ... Asst. City Clerk

Pittsburgh, PA
Tuesday, January 3, 1984

In accordance with the provisions of the Act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, approved May 31, 1911, the Members-elect of the Council of the City of Pittburgh, together with those holding over, convened in the Chambers at 10:00 a.m.

The Council was called to order by Michael A. Perry, City Clerk, who acted as Chairman pro tem of the meeting.

Mr. Perry:

This being the day and hour fixed by the Act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the Pittburgh Home Rule Charter for the organization of the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, the One Hundred and Twenty-Third Council will be in order.

Please rise for the Pledge of Alligiance to the Flag.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

Mr. Perry:

We are honored this morning to have with us Father John Jendzura, Pastor of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, who will deliver the invocation.

Father Jendzura:

In reverence to our Lord, oh God our Father, bless this house and fill it with your presence. Let your peace rest upon our chosen members of Council so that courtesy, kindness, honor and respect be exemplified by them as part of their civic virtues. Grant them your unfailing treasurers of wisdom, if not that of Solomon and courage to fulfill their office purposefully since order and peace depend on wisdom, both in the individual and in society. Grant them prudence, the ability to foresee what things must be done for the good and welfare of society and what things must be avoided, for to act maturely, intelligently and with good will is to govern the City well. May justice, whose object is the common good of all, regulate and direct Council to respect and protect the rights of the individual and of society and to dispense the law with temperance, mercy and love, so that all in all, they may give a good account of their stewardship to you, oh God, and to your people.

As we say, Pan Z Wami Szczesc Boze, which means, God be with you and good luck.

Mr. Perry:

Thank you, Father.

The first order of business will be the presentation of Certificates of Election.

Mr. Perry:

At this time, we are honored this morning to have with us the Honorable Justin M. Johnson, Judge, Superior Court of Pennsylvania, who will administer the Oath of Office to Michelle Madoff.

Judge Johnson:

Raise your right hand and repeat after me.

I, Michelle Madoff, do solemnly swear that I shall support the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of this Commonwealth, and the Charter of this City, and that I will continue to faithfully discharge the duties of office as Councilmember to the best of my ability.

The Oath of Office was administered by Judge Johnson and Michelle Madoff signed the oath.

Judge Johnson:

Congratulations.

Mr. Perry:

Members of Council, ladies and gentlemen, may I present Michelle Madoff, Member of City Council.

Michelle Madoff:

If I didn't write it down, you'd be here for an hour so I thought I'd try to be brief.

First of all, I would like to thank Justin Johnson and I'd like to welcome the clergy and Mayor Caliguiri for honoring me by being here today, and honored guests.

Would you believe I'm a little nervous?

As I embark on my sixth year of service on Council, I would be remiss if I did not express my heartfelt thanks to the hundreds of volunteers who worked so hard for this day. Without them, the odds would have been insurmountable. While it would be impossible to single out each one for well-deserved praise, I hope all of them will accept my thanks and gratitude. Incidentally, there were over 450 people who worked the polls for us.

However, there are a few that must be thanked personally and publicly. I hope, as I call their names, they would do me the honor of standing. Carmen Gunther, my dear friend and my Administrative Aide, and Jane Becker who cannot be here because her father is being operated on. As you know, Jane was my campaign manager. Jane and Carmen, you both deserve medals of honor, not only for putting it all together but for putting up with me. Hopefully, I will be worthy of your efforts in the coming years.

Linda Sarno - Linda just ran out and got me flowers. I love you very much. Linda has worked beyond the call of duty and with little remuneration. We're going to change that this year, Linda; we got some money. At least you know your efforts have been appreciated.

Hank Kearney, will you stand up and let me thank you. Hank has come in to pinch hit while Carmen had to be away. He's really devoted his time without any remuneration and he's been wonderful.

I could not let today go without thanking the Lawrenceville twins, Lena and Rose. They have worked their shoe leather off the bare feet going door to door for me in all the elections. I wouldn't be here without you and I know it. Thank you.

Nor can I let today pass without mentioning that without the women's movement and NOW's devoted commitment to my campaign, spearheaded by Helen Torpey and Jane Duvall, we would not have such a great victory today. I think it would be appropriate at this point to thank all the women of Pittsburgh because there are more women registered to vote than there are men. I thank you.

There are others that I must take a moment to mention from this dias, Bill and Carla Gedman, Christina Mahoney, really stalwart. Are they here with us today? Christina came in every single day and Christina doesn't even live in the City. She's one of our suburbanites.

The past few months have been exhausting to all my colleagues. Yesterday's remarks by Mayor Caliguiri that being in public office is becoming more difficult all the time is so very true. Public officials are public property, examined under a microscope and their actions are reported daily in the media. No matter how well intentioned, no matter how committed we are to our jobs and to our constituents, sometimes we try too hard and our good intentions backfire. I think a good example of that was my vote on the fiscal matter the other day.

We can introduce many good pieces of legislation which are soon forgotten. My favorite bill in the last month or so is the safety in garages. I wonder if anybody remembers it.

If we make one mistake, even the fact that I have a 24-hour answering service, I'm responsive to my constituents and the media can reach me at home at all hours of the day or night, and I'm available on weekends and at 2:00 a.m. in the morning, that's soon forgotten.

It's like having the sun shine six days a week, rain on the seventh, and having someone say, "Wasn't this a rotten week because it's raining today."

All one can hope to do is to be true to one's self. Do the best we know how and try to educate ourselves to do better. We need a little help. This Council must immediately acquire a full-time fiscal advisor and a full-time legal counsel of our own for which we are entitled to under the Home Rule Charter.

I have no doubt that there will be sharp disagreements among the nine members of Council on the important issues that we will be tackling in the months and years ahead. There is nothing inherently wrong with controversy. Through it, we can hopefully reach the correct resolution of the City's problems. Wasn't it Linden Johnson who once quipped that if two people agree on everything you can be sure that only one of them is doing the thinking?

It can be safely assumed by all that I will not be reticent in voicing my opposition when I feel it's against the public interest and voicing my support when justified in my mind. I guess old Harry is becoming my hero. Since I like to think that Truman's famous quote, "I never give them hell; I just tell the truth and they think it's hell" is my modus operandi.

This Council will be faced with numerous problems and crises in the ensuing years. My priority will be jobs, jobs, jobs.

The City indebtedness must also receive meticulous scrutiny by this Council in the days ahead. With a three quarter of a billion dollar debt and water and sewer lines that are deteriorating beneath our feet as we sit here, we must think of innovative ways of saving money and raising additional revenues.

Personally, high on my list of what must happen in the near future, is a partnership of suburbanites and Pittsburghers. I don't think metropolitanism is a dirty word. However, in the real world, the only way funds for services will be obtained, be it through metropolitanism or a sizeable commuter tax, will be through the leadership of the Administration calling in their brownie points with locally based corporations, corporations who have been treated fairly if not generously, corporations who have received tax abatements, emminent domain benefits, development loans, must begin to urge the suburban employees to pay at least 2 percent, 2 percent wage tax to the City of Pittburgh. We pay 3-5/6 percent. They may pay 1 or 1-1/2 in their communities. They should never pay more than we pay as a total. But that's the real world.

On another matter, Carmen Gunther who is a tireless researcher, is currently working on a project which will hopefully result in the lowering of utility bills.

Just so no one thinks Madoff thinks she is the only one who is working on good ideas to help the citizens of this City which is a jewel, I plan to continue to support my colleagues in their efforts. I remember Councilman O'Malley's bill on gasoline stations. Ben Woods comes to mind on solid waste and saving the City money which generated over $1 million. We don't do it alone; we do it collectively.

I think it's time to forget personalities and zero in on issues. I hope we can disagree without being disagreeable.

On that note, let me thank Judge Justin Johnson for taking this time to honor me by administer my Oath of Office.

In closing, I promise not to walk off with the poinsettia.

Thank you all.

Mr. Perry:

We are also honored this morning to have with us the honorable Stephen Zappala, State Supreme Court Justice, who will administer the Oath of Office to Jim O'Malley.

CERTIFICATE OF ELECTION

We, the undersigned, constituting the Return Board of the County of Allegheny do hereby certify that at the Election held on the eighth day of November, 1983, in said County was duly elected to the office of Judge Zappala:

JAMES O'MALLEY

Councilman O'Malley, it is indeed a pleasure to be here again for a second time. If you will recall, I think we inaugurated your political career back in 1979. It seems that these Chambers have done a lot more for you than mine because in coming over this morning they commented that I'm wearing glasses and getting gray and either you're dying your hair or wearing contacts. I'm not sure but you look pretty good.

I want to wish you the best and I think that the most I can say in these Chambers is to reiterate what the Reverend had so aptly placed. That is that peace and tranquility normally comes from the exercise of good common sense and I use the adage that to know one's self is in effect the foundation stone of all knowledge. Once we do know ourselves, I think we will know the limitations upon what you can achieve.

So, Jim, on that basis I congratulate you. If you raise your right hand, I'd like to swear you in at this point. Repeat after me.

I, James O'Malley, do solemnly swear that I shall support the Constitution of the United States, and this State, and the Charter of this City, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office to the best of my ability.

The Oath of Office was administered by Judge Zappala and Mr. O'Malley signed the oath.

Mr. Perry:

Members of Council, ladies and gentlemen, may I present Jim O'Malley, Member of City Council.

Mr. O'Malley:

You don't know what a relief that is.

I'd like to thank Judge Zappala. As he stated, four years ago he was the first Judge that swore me in. Not only is Steve now a Supreme Court Justice but he's also a very, very good friend of mine and it's an honor to have him here with me this morning.

I'd also like to introduce a few other people that helped make all this possible. I'd like to hav members of my family stand because if I named them one at a time we'd be here most of the afternoon. Mom and Dad, will you stand up, please? And the rest of the family stand up, aunts and uncles and cousins. Tom and Francis Clancey and Paul and Irene Thorton, Shirley Deasey, Eileen, Jack, Paul Thorton, Peggy Thorton, my cousins. Anybody who has been involved in the campaign know how vital it is to have your family support you. We can all testify it's a seven day a week venture, 12-14 hours a day and it never stops. It seems like, at times like that, the ones you can really count on are your family.

I'd also like to thank Dianne Szczypinski, Susie Puglise, John O'Conner, Mrs. O'Conner and everybody else here. I'd like to personally thank you because this is a very, very special day to me.

The significance of getting re-elected means a great deal. It means that the voters felt that I made a contribution in helping make Pittsburgh a better place to live and work. My re-election will give me the opportunity to continue to chart a course towards what I feel government is all about; helping people and especially those people who can least help themselves.

If someone was to ask me what I felt was the most notable contribution that I made in the last four years, it wouldn't be the legislation that received the most publicity, self-service stations and that gasoline stations must post their prices so we all know what we're paying. It would be the legislation that received the least publicity but helped the most troubled people. Some of that legislation is a grant that this Council passed for Pittsburgh Action Against Rape, whose sole and primary goal is to help women and young children who have been sexually abused. Because of this Council, they'll be able to continue their great work in this community. The Stephen Foster Center; this Council's grant enabled this historic landmark to be refurbished so it can continue to serve the senior citizens. LAW, Legal Advocacy for Women; this is a new group that was funded by this Council and their primary aim is to help women through the legalities of collecting back child support. Mary Alice Babushski's group, Victims of Violent Crime, funded by this Council, whose primary goal is to counsel victims of violent crime who very often have no where else to turn. Block

Watch; Block Watch is a program that I started in the City of Pittsburgh three and a half years ago. It's a program that we now have over 12,000 families. Wherever we've started a block watch in the City of Pittsburgh, crime has been reduced significantly in that area.

These are the types of contributions that I feel elected officials should make towards society. Being re-elected means that in the next four years I will be allowed to continue to establish programs that will work for a better Pittsburgh.

For this, I thank you for my re-election. Thank you.

I'd also like to say a few words about who I consider a good friend and mentor. In the last four years, whenever I had problems, I was always able to go over to the Mayor's Office and sit down and talk over some of the problems. He's always been very supportive, except for last week, but he's always been very supportive and I'm glad to have the Mayor as a good friend.

Mr. Perry:

Being that the elected and re-elected members of Council have been duly sworn in, the Clerk will call the roll.

Mr. Givens:

Mr. Chief Clerk, if I could have a procedural step. After calling the roll, I'd like to put a motion on the floor that this particular meeting which I had recommended to the Council for this Tuesday, that we recess for a period until 4:00 this afternoon for the purpose of —

Michelle Madoff:

No, no. Five minutes. I have an appointment.

Mr. Givens:

Okay, that we recess for an undetermined amount of time and that we come back into these Chambers. The purpose for this recess is to give Councilmembers the time and opportunity to discuss that which is before us, the business that is before us today.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't think we really need more than five minutes to meet because we know what we're going to be discussing.

Mr. Perry:

Roll call.

PRESENT:

Mr. Givens	Mr. Robinson
Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Stone
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley

Mr. Givens:

I make the motion that we recess and reconvene as soon as possible to these Chambers.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Mr. Perry:

Is there any discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Givens	Mr. Robinson
Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Stone
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley

AYES 9 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion was approved.

And on the motion of Mr. Givens

Council recessed.

Pittsburgh, PA
Tuesday, January 3, 1984

And the time of recess having expired, Council reconvened and there were present:

PRESENT:

Mr. Givens	Mr. Robinson
Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Stone
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley

Mr. Perry:

The next order of business is the nomination and election of the President of City Council.

Mr. Woods:

Mr. Perry, I am pleased to place as the nomination of the office of President of City Council, Councilman Robert Rade Stone.

In the ten years Bob Stone has been on Council, he has chaired almost every committee, including that of Finance. In my opinion, he is most knowledgeable about operations of the City government and is best qualified to be our President.

However, there is a better reason why Bob Stone should be our President. In addition to many issues we must face in 1984, we must prove to the City that Council fairly and wisely make it's decisions with mutual respect and courtesy. Robert Rade Stone will help us achieve this. Bob has said that only a weak person tries to dictate while a person of strong character communicates and consults. Bob Stone is a man of strong character. As our President, Bob Stone will encourage each member to present their best qualities so that City Council can present it's best to the people of Pittsburgh. Bob Stone will lead a Council that works together.

I proudly nominate Bob Stone to the office of President of City Council.

Thank you.

Mrs. Masloff:

Mr. City Clerk, I wish to second the nomination of Councilman Stone. As for Mr. Stone's background, Mr. Stone is married to Sally Stone, has two children, Robert Rade Stone, Jr. and Rade Stone. Bob is a lifetime resident of the 16th Ward of the City of Pittsburgh. He is a graduate of South High School on the South Side. Recently, he was honored as it's distinguished South High Alumnus. He is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh where he received his B.S. Degree and the University of Pittsburgh School of Law where he received his LL.B. Degree and Juris Doctor. He is a practicing attorney for 28 years; 7 of those years he served as an Assistant District Attorney of Allegheny County. He is a member of the American,

Pennsylvania, and Allegheny County Bar Association. He is also a member of the American and Pennsylvania Trial Lawyers Association. He has served as legal counsel for Local 913 of the U.S.W. He has served his church locally and nationally and Schenley Post 663 of the American Legion, Oakland section of Pittsburgh.

I am proud to second the nomination of Councilman Stone.

Mr. Perry:

Any more nominations? Any more nominations? Any more nominations?

Mr. Wagner:

I nominate Mr. Givens.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Mr. Perry:

Any more nominations? Any more nominations? Any more nominations?

I'll entertain a motion that nominations be closed.

Mr. Woods:

So moved.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Perry:

At this time, would any member care to withdraw his name?

Clerk will call the roll on the election of the President of City Council.

Mr. Givens:

I'd like to make some comments, if I might, before I cast my vote.

What has happened in Council in the last several years, I think it's the feeling, the great feeling of the majority of all the Councilpeople, that we must 1) change our image, 2) that we must work more closely together, and 3) that we have to have that cooperation with both that of the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh and the Democratic Party which all of us have been elected by the people, the Democratic voters of this particular City.

Because of that we don't have a balance and what has happened here in the last weeks, the last months, should not have happened had we had the leadership and the thrust that this Council should have had.

Because of that, at this particular time, I will cast my vote for myself.

Mr. Grabowski:

I cast my vote for Robert Stone.

Michelle Madoff:

I cast my vote for Mr. Givens.

Mrs. Masloff:

I cast my vote for Mr. Stone.

Mr. O'Malley:

I cast my vote for Mr. Stone.

Mr. Robinson:

I cast my vote for Mr. Stone.

Mr. Stone:

I cast my vote for Mr. Stone.

Mr. Wagner:

I cast my vote for Mr. Givens.

Mr. Woods:

I cast my vote for Mr. Stone.

VOTING FOR MR. STONE:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Woods

VOTING FOR MR. GIVENS:

Mr. Givens	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff

MR. STONE 6 MR. GIVENS 3

Mr. Perry:

Mr. Stone has been elected President of City Council.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Perry, before we begin, I would like the opportunity of asking my colleagues who voted for Mr. Givens to change their vote and make it a unanimous vote for Mr. Stone and for the media who has been asking us what went on in the back room, we were discussing making this a better Council and being supported of whoever was elected as President of this Council and I think we should have unity. I would ask Mr. Givens to change his vote, I will change my vote, and I would ask Mr. Wagner to make it a unanimous vote.

Mr. Wagner:

I second that motion and I think what has happened today in the meeting in the back room is an indication that this Council, meaning all members of this Council, from what I understand, for the first time in many years are ready to begin to work together to make this Council a new and a much better Council.

Mr. Givens:

Mr. Wagner, I'll third that particular feeling. I think that's exactly what came out of there and the determination of all the members of Council right now are determined that this Council will work and if it doesn't, then the leadership within this Council will change in mid-term or any time when that leadership fails the body of this Council.

Mr. Perry:

Mr. Stone receives a unanimous vote.

Now, Mayor Caliguiri will administer the Oath of Office to Mr. Stone, President of City Council.

Mayor Caliguiri:

Raise your right hand and repeat after me, Bob.

I do solemnly swear and affirm that I will support the Constitution of the United States and of this State and the Charter of this City and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of my office to the best of my ability.

Congratulations, Mr. President.

Mr. Perry:

Members of City Council, ladies and gentlemen, may I present Robert Rade Stone, President of City Council.

Mr. Stone, President of Council:

I believe Father Jendzura is here, Mayor Caliguiri, other distinguished elected officials, members of Council and ladies and gentlemen.

Before beginning today, permit me to, again, extend our sincere and best wishes to our outgoing Council President, Eugene "Jeep" DePasquale.

He is a legend in his time here, a man of dedication to his fellow man, a great and personable fellow, a man who made his mark in life and on this society, but above all, a public servant who served this City and served it well.

This expression of gratitude comes from all of us, as well as all of the citizens of the City of Pittsburgh. Permit me to indroduce Eugene "Jeep" Depasquale!

I believe there is another person in this audience and if he is not, it might be because of his health conditions, but I would be remiss, as the incoming President of this Council, if I did not make a few comments about this man, who has given a lifetime to worthy causes and to the City of Pittsburgh.

He is a man who could have been the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh but little known is the fact that he suffered an unexpected overnight physical impairment.

He was then faced with a very tramatic decision; whether to accept that honor or to face that honor with some of the impairments.

Because of his deep love and respect for this City, it's citizens and this Council, he made, for him, a heartbreaking decision, but a most responsible decision - not to accept the high honor!

While he is not in public service anymore, I'm sure he still follows Council's actions daily. Periodically, I have received from him a letter which sometimes has a little bit of praise but also a great deal of constructive criticism. I assume now, with my Presidency, that the frequency of those letters will increase.

We hold him dearly and we welcome him always. We shall always refer to him affectionately as "President Emeritus" of this Council. I am speaking of the Honorable Louis Mason, Jr.

Permit me to extend my debt of gratitude to the members of Council for electing me as your President.

I publicly accept the responsibility and the challenge that lies ahead.

I pledge myself to do my very best to serve you, to serve you all, and through all of you - to serve better the City of Pittsburgh and its citizens.

Considering past actions of this Council and the public response to those actions, the Chair views it - as a need for change.

The image and the good work of this Council has been diminished too long!

No Council has ever initiated or received, prepared or reviewed or passed, more substantive, major legislation than this Council has in the last four years. It is therefore regretful that that knowledge and that record remains lost.

Not yet fully appreciated is the tremendous strides and progress that this City has made in its fiscal management, and at a time when the fiscal constraints of the '80's have played havoc with the older and larger cities of the northeast.

But now, if this City is to progress further, it will need a more serious and sober outlook.

I do, therefore, solicit the support of every member of this Council in that pursuit and I look forward to working fairly and cooperatively with every one of you.

In these trying fiscal times, there must be cooperation between this Council and the Mayor's Office.

While cooperation must be meaningful, it does not mean total unanimity on all subjects, nor at all times. Total unanimity will not be forthcoming, but neither is it expected or requested.

Our present Mayor, Richard Caliguiri, has done an excellent job for this City of Pittsburgh, so far. It is my belief, that he will continue to do a good job for the City of Pittsburgh. He, therefore, deserves our attentive and respective ear!

I believe that this Council and the Mayor are willing to cooperate and we feel confident that that cooperation will be forthcoming. Through the mutual and meaningful exchange and the collective input and efforts, this City and its citizens will gain by having an even better City in which to live.

A city is supposed to provide a nice place to live and work in. That is why, throughout history, large numbers of people have been willing to live in relatively smaller areas.

Whether you live in the South Side, Stanton Heights, Brighton Heights, the Hill District, the West End, Squirrel Hill, Hays, Homewood-Brushton, East North Side, Hazelwood, Lawrenceville, Bloomfield-Garfield, and others, you - as citizens and taxpayers - can expect and deserve certain basic City services.

Generally speaking, you want a nice place in which to live and a nice place to work; you want your garbage picked up weekly; you want your streets paved and snow removal; you want enough police to keep you safe; you want firemen to watch over you while you sleep; you want a plot of grass in the park, a place where your child can play and run; and you want a recreation center where you can swim, play basketball, or play a nice, easy game of checkers. You want clean and fresh water through your taps and, in case of an emergency or an accident, you want life-saving medical care, on the spot, as quickly as possible.

You will have to admit that that is a pretty big job. I am not saying that we will do all of those things to the degree that everyone wants, but we, this Council, must exert our best efforts along those lines.

So, as Council President, I want to make it this Council's job, in cooperation with the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, to deliver as much of those services as we can, at the best possible price.

The job before us is great and it will not be easy, but we look forward to the future with hope and anticipation.

Lastly but not least, I would like to serve notice to all of Council's staff that I look forward to working with each and every one of them as well.

I thank all of you for the opportunity to serve as President and I thank all of you in the audience who have come to honor us by your presence here today.

Thank you much!

Mr. Perry:

Thank you, Mr. President.

Mr. Stone, President:

The Chair wishes to announce the following appointments of Chairmen and Chairwomen of the Standing Committees of Council as follows:

Committee on Finance - Councilman Ben Woods; Committee on Public Works - Councilman Richard Givens; Committee on Planning, Housing and Development - Councilman William Robinson; Committee on General Services - Councilman Steve Grabowski; Committee on Water - Councilwoman Michelle Madoff; Committee on Parks and Recreation - Councilwoman Sophie Masloff; Committee on Public Safety - Councilman James O'Malley; Committee on Engineering and Construction - Councilman Jack Wagner; Committee on Hearings - President of City Council.

I would like to make at this time the appointment of Councilmembers to the Board of Trustees of the Carnegie Library: Mr. Givens, Mr. Robinson, Mr. Wagner, the President of Council.

For the Board of Trustees of Buhl Planetariam: Sophie Masloff.

I am about to make a request relative to the adoption of the rules of this Council as printed, but I would like to preface that request by indicating that I'll entertain a motion to approve the rules of Council as they are, but there seems to be a desire of all Councilmen to upgrade those rules so that we might, in the years ahead, provide a more meaningful exchange and in a better decorum than has been in the past.

In light with that, we will temporarily entertain a motion to adopt the rules of Council as printed.

Mr. Woods:

So moved.

Mr. Givens seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Stone, President:

The President will attempt to meet with all of Council to set up a set of rules for Council that everyone will be willing to abide by.

I would like to entertain a motion to incorporate yesterday's swearing in ceremonies of Mr. Givens, Mr. Grabowski and Mr. Wagner, as members of City Council into today's proceedings.

Michelle Madoff:

So moved.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

(SWEARING IN CEREMONIES OF MR. GIVENS, MR. GRABOWSKI AND MR. WAGNER - 1/2/84)

Pittsburgh, PA
Monday, January 2, 1984

Mr. Perry:

We are here on this occasion for the swearing-in of Richard E. Givens, Stephen S. Grabowski and Jack Wagner as Members of City Council. Would you please rise for the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

Mr. Perry:

We are honored this morning to welcome first of all Paul Gentile, Pastor, Saint Catherine's Church, who will deliver the invocation.

Father Gentile:

Let us bow our heads in prayer. Oh Lord, the whole world is full of your glory. We commend our City to your merciful care, that we may follow your guidance and live in peace. Give to your public servants all authority wisdom and strength to know and do your holy will. Fill them with the love of truth, honesty and righteousness. Make them always remember that they are your servants called to lead and serve this City in fear of your righteous judgment.

It is you who have charged us with the task of building on this earth a home where all nations dwell in unity, liberty and justice. We say we pray for strength and purpose to make these public servants accountable to all the people fulfilling roles of service and responsibility, that they may seek justice and protection and lead us in constructing institutions for our peace and mutual aid. Thank you.

Mr. Perry:

At this time I would like to call upon George Givens, who will read the Certificate of Election of Richard E. Givens.

George Givens:

Mr. Perry:

We are honored to have with us this morning the Honorable Gerard M. Bigley, Judge, Court of Common Pleas, who will administer the oath of office to Richard E. Givens.

Judge Bigley:

Richard, would you raise your right hand and repeat after me, please. I do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States and of this State and the Charter of the City, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of my office to the best of my ability.

The oath of office was administered by Judge Gerard M. Bigley and Mr. Givens signed the oath.

Mr. Perry:

Members of Council, ladies and gentlemen, may I present Richard E. Givens, Member of City Council.

Mr. Givens:

Reverend Clergy, Mayor Caliguiri, City Clerk, Mike Perry, my distinguished colleagues, Judges, elected officials, the men and women of the audience.

When they said bring your family here, I said reserve the left side of the room for me, please, when you get down to all of them. It's a great privilege and a pleasure to be able to say to you the people of the City of Pittsburgh for another term of four years — this will be my third term. I'll be the second most senior person within the Council of the City of Pittsburgh. When I look back, and my dear mother, who's in the audience, 86-some years of age, and my father, Barney Givens, who was a Building Inspector for the City of Pittsburgh, I am very, very proud to be able to sit up here as a Councilman to the City of Pittsburgh and not only represent my family but to represent you, all the people of the City of Pittsburgh.

We said that pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States, and it's been tested in the battlefields of Grenada, in Lebanon, in Viet Nam, the big W.W. II. Many of you people that served to keep that flag independent, but let me tell you something, it starts right here. We are the grassroots, we, you the people are the grassroots of this republic.

This Council body has been the proving ground for many higher elective offices, including Mayor, U.S. Congress, and City and County Controller; and I'm certain that in the years to come many more public officials will get their political start at this grassroots level.

When I think of where I've been all my life, much of it spent within the military of the United States defending that particular flag that we gave that pledge of allegiance to up there, I was very proud to have served in one of the longest wars. Many people don't realize the longest war in our history was the Viet Nam War. It lasted 13 years; 50,000-some lives made the supreme sacrifice.

Again in this City we're going through another problem. There's a war of poverty. The war of unemployment, and the war almost of survival; and again the federal government is turning its back, they're going to the states and saying you take care of your people. The states, to some degree, were very happy saying to the people of the City's you take care of your people. Your first level of government is right here.

I want to thank many of the Ward Chairmen who are out there, Vice-Chairmen, and secretaries. The committee people who give us the springboard, the springboard of the democratic people. When we see what's been happening in the last four years up in the White House, you've got to appreciate just exactly what it is.

They told me to keep my speech very short. I think I've just about said everything that I've wanted to say in that particular area. When I walk up through the halls, up through the steps of the City-County Building every day of my life, I feel extremely proud, extremely proud to be a Councilman, extremely proud to be one that is serving you, the people of the City of Pittsburgh; and I hope in four more years, I'll be up here again taking the same oath of office. It's an awful awesome oath that Judge Bigley read to me and that I swore to, and with that is the basic part, the basic line of everything that we live for and stand for in our democracy.

If you've been to some of these other countries where I have been in my lifetime — I've wished we could see that all of our sons and daughters in foreign countries throughout the world — when they come back — like the scene when the kids first got off the plane from Grenada, kissing the ground of the United States. They appreciate it and I do, too, and that's what's it all about.

With that, ladies and gentlemen, I'd like to introduce my lovely family, starting with the person that's been dearest to my heart, the closest to me. At 16 years of age I had met her, and we lived through living hell together. I should be the one that put her through living hell is what it is, and then you'll see what I mean when I introduce my eight children.

Eight children, as everyone knows, and three tours into combat areas of which two of them were in a voluntary capacity of which I went back to my wife and asked her if I could volunteer with having eight children left behind. When I see pictures of us on the lawn down in Florida with the old barn in the background, etc., I've wondered where she got the courage to let me go on and do the things that I wanted to do for what I thought was right at that particular time; but Ethel and I, as I did indicate, were very young kids, and there was a love greater than any love that I have ever read about in any book, that I have ever seen on any television screen, or that any individual has ever told me how deeply that love is between one and the other.

Ethel and I are like partners, true partners together for all these some 30-plus years, and all of you that are in the political arena must appreciate and know that when Dick Givens was out in the streets of the City of Pittsburgh going into the communities and etc., that my wife Ethel was always along with me. She's my partner, she's my wife, and I can't say anything more about her. Ethel, would you please stand up?

I mentioned about my father, who was a worker for the City of Pittburgh and also, I mentioned about my mother, who again, whose magic number in our Givens' family — I came from a family of eight boys, I had a family of eight children, and I have eight grandchildren. For some reason, the eight just seemed to be going in there, but my mother had eight boys; my father was a City worker who raised that wonderful family of ours. Some of my brothers are here in the audience and I'll introduce them, but to my mother, God bless her, I can still — when you think about coming up here and speaking about something and there she is. Please stand, Mom.

I remember though when I thought of coming up here today introducing her — I have flashbacks of the days when she was down in the basement of our home, she was washing our white shirts, because we went to a parochial school, and we had to wear white shirts, and that was back in days when the soot was coming around on the porch. I can remember that so vividly, and she was trying to keep up with that tremendous thing and cooking the bread in the oven and taking care of us in all of our particular matters. To me, that was beautiful, and I'm glad that God had spared her and kept her around as long he has.

With her, and we call them the ladies with the hats, is my great-aunt, Dee Flaherty. Dee, would you please stand up? I see some other hats in the audience, but when all my aunts would get together and walk down through town, they used to call them the ladies, and believe me, they were always dressed to kill, and always lovely in that capacity.

I'd like to go into my family very quickly and move on, and if I could have no applause until I introduce them all. My son George, who gave the introduction and his wife Patty. Just stand and remain standing, please. I'll get the grandchildren all together, Patty. Marlea and Mike, Marlea and Mike are not here. I know what happened; she's on her way to the hospital having number two, so she didn't make it. That's Mike Gallagher and Marlea Gallagher. John and Ree Givens, and my daughters Maura and Julia. My son Edward and my namesake Richard. A round of applause for all my dear children and my one daughter who could not be here, Charlene. She's in Tennessee at this particular time. She's married to a fine serviceman.

You know all of us have family and all of us have to appreciate and know that you can't go through a political campaign — many of my children live right in the house with me — you cannot go through a political campaign without them being directly involved. Every one of them had a part in everything that I had done in my political life. They were up there putting signs up. They were making distributions. Whatever had to be done. They pitched in because if they didn't, they knew Dad didn't have the check coming in. If no check was coming in, they knew we we're going to have a difficult time within the family.

Getting down to the grandchildren very quickly, I have eight grandchildren, Jason, Marlea, Michael, Brendan's not here, and Katie, she's the smallest of the group right now, and there's the three that are down in Tennessee, Anna, Amy, and Mary. Please, for all my grandchildren.

Now, when you talk about eight brothers, I'll guarantee you that when you live with them, I mean you actually live with them, at least with my gang you did, anyway. We shared beds together. We shared rooms together. We shared all the traumatic effects that we had in living in the family together.

I'd like to introduce at this point now my brother Marty and his wife Mary Ann. My brother George, which we call affectionately brother Bud and his wife. Donny and Doris could not be here, but Stasey, stand up and represent them. My brother Bill and his wife Dolly. As for those eight brothers, Bob is deceased, as well as my brother Tommy and brother Chuck, who like myself, he's an Air Force pilot, and he's stationed in Rhode Island at this particular time.

That concludes my immediate family, and that's why they give me the longest bit of time up here because of that. Some people that I cannot help mentioning, people who have influcence me. People who have guided me and people who have worked beside me for the last eight some years. That's Rick Infante, Linda Knozka, who's my sidekick. Mary Lou Sell and Puddy Sell, who said don't dare you Dick Givens introduce me, but I've known Puddy since I've been a young teenager, and these are one of those people who work for the City of Pittsburgh, and I won't say what his position is because if I do, he might be headlines tomorrow in the newspaper, Puddy Sell. And above all people in the world with the halo over her head, because without her I could not do it, and that is my mother-in-law, we call her the bank of Bloomfield, Mary Coleman. I think that concludes my particular list. God bless, and thank you for coming.

Mr. Perry:

Thank you, Dick.

At this time I would like to call upon State Representative Tom Murphy, who will read the Certificate of Election of Stephen S. Grabowski.

Tom Murphy:

Mr. Perry:

We are honored to have with us this morning the Honorable K. Leroy Irvis, Speaker of the House of Representatives, who will administer the oath of office to Stphen S. Grabowski.

Mr. Irvis:

Steve, would you raise your right hand and repeat after me, please. I do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States and of this State and the Charter of the City, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of my office to the best of my ability.

The oath of office was administered by Mr. K. Leroy Irvis, Speaker of the House of Representataives, and Mr. Grabowski signed the oath.

Mr. Perry:

Members of Council, ladies and gentlemen, may I present Stephen S. Grabowski, Member of City Council.

Mr. Grabowski:

Friends and family, clergy, Speaker Irivs, Mayor Caliguiri, elected officials, and my wife Diana, first of all to start I would like to extend my deepest appreciation to each and every one you, as well as to the voters of Pittsburgh, who in one way or another have contributed their time, energy and votes, which has resulted in me standing before you as a Member of Pittsburgh City Council.

I won't take too much of your time this morning with a lengthy political speech. However, I would like to take a small amount of your time to let you know that this is a very happy day for me, because I'm addressing you once again as an elected official.

Thirteen months ago, I made my last address as an elected official on the floor of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, and I remember that it was a very sad day, because I was leaving a position of responsibility that I thoroughly enjoyed and a position which I believed I served well in; and even though today the stage and the players have changed, the responsibility is the same or perhaps it is even greater.

In Harrisburg I was one of 203 representatives. Today I become one of nine representatives, and undoubtly as part of this smaller legislative body, my actions are more likely to directly affect government. It is a serious responsibility that I do not take lightly. I can assure you that over the next four years I will strive to justify the faith and confidence that the voters of Pittsburgh have placed for me. I will try to be as responsive in a positive way for the City and for the citizens of Pittsburgh, and beyond that, I would like to thank all of you for coming to the Council Chambers and to be with me this morning; and I would like to wish all of you a very happy, healthy, and prosperous New Year.

Now, one other thing before I relinquish the podium to Councilman Wagner. There are some special people in the audience for me as well, and if it wasn't for many of them sitting down there, I wouldn't be standing up here. So, I would first like to start off by introducing my lovely wife, Diana. I'm sure whenever the good Lord calls her she's going to go straight to Heaven for putting up with me. It's not easy being the wife of an elected official.

I also have in the audience an aunt and uncle that are very dear to me, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Stasiak. You know, several years ago my father passed away, and ever since that time, I've had a substitute father, and that's my uncle Frank Michalski and his wife. I'm delighted to see in the audience today an uncle who had a stroke not too long ago. I don't think he's feeling too well, but he came down nevertheless, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Drozynski, and their daughter Claudia DiNardo; and I also have an uncle who came in from Butler today to be with me, Chester Michalski, Junior and Senior.

That concludes it for my side of the family, but as far as my wife's side goes, there's just as much blood in them as there is with mine.

First, I'd like to introduce my in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. David Stoeckle and their son David, Jr. and their two lovely daughters, Meghan and Susan. Also in the audience are my wife's grandmother, Ann Ohm; and her aunt and uncle Marlene and Jess McDonald, but I'm not sure if their girls are here, Cynthia, Georgine and Maureen; there they are. That concludes my introductions. I just would like to again thank you all for being here.

Mr. Perry:

Thank you, Steve.

At this time I would like to call upon Robert Wagner, III, who will read the Certificate of Election of Jack Wagner.

Robert Wagner:

Mr. Perry:

We are honored to have with us this morning the Honorable Peter J. Wagner, District Magistrate of the 19th Ward, who will administer the oath of office to Jack Wagner.

Magistrate Wagner:

Jack, would you raise your right hand and repeat after me, please. I do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States and of this State and the Charter of the City, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of my office to the best of my ability.

The oath of office was administered by Peter J. Wagner, District Magistrate of the 19th Ward and Mr. Wagner signed the oath.

Mr. Perry:

Members of Council, ladies and gentlemen, may I present Jack Wagner, Member of City Council.

Mr. Wagner:

Thank you, Mr. Perry. Thank you, ladies and gentlemen. We have all endured and succeeded in the campaigns of the past year to be here today. There are many reasons why that is so, but the most important reason is that the Ward has committed us and helped us to be successful. What have we accomplished so far? Nothing.

I recall my personal thoughts two weeks prior to graduating from college about 10 years ago. I was very proud to have accomplished something that I always viewed as being very difficult to accomplish, a college degree. Two weeks prior to graduation I came across a statement made by Abraham Lincoln, which was "Education is not fulfillment; utilization of knowledge is." I would like to paraphrase that statement in relation to today. Winning an election is not fulfillment; utilization of this position to better the City we live in is.

We must not relish this victory too long. We must begin to address the problems of our City that are increasing in magnitude. Problems such as the loss of people living in our City the loss of a tax base, the loss of jobs. We must begin to develop new ideas to address these problems. We must be creative and daring as we have been in our campaigns in government; and most important, we must communicate with each other new ideas that will solve these problems.

As your new City Councilman, I will need your suggestions and your confidence more in the future than I have needed it in the past to be here today, so today is a new beginning and a day of thanks, and I would like to thank each and every one of you for your help in making today and the future the next four years what it will be.

Thank you very much.

I also would like to introduce the people that are the closest to me in my life. I do not have a very big family. There's not too many of them. First of all, I would like to introduce an individual who is my best friend and I am very fortunate to have as a wife, my wife Nancy.

The next two people I have to introduce together, because these are the two people that have made everything possible for the Wagner family, not only myself, but my two brothers. My parents, Laverne and Bob Wagner.

I'm sure all of you have watched the campaigns in the past, and the next person that I'd like to introduce is the person who has had the most impact in coming up with new ideas in this campaign is my brother, Bob Wagner.

There is also an individual here today that has been my campaign manager, who is the finest one you can find, my sister-in-law, Eileen Wagner. Next I'd like to introduce her three boys, Bob Wagner, Jim Wagner and Bill Wagner.

The next person is the individual that got me started in politics and also the District Magistrate of the 19th Ward, my brother, Pete Wagner. A person that I can always count on, Pete's wife and my sister-in-law, Judy Wagner, and their two beautiful children, Chelssa and Peter Wagner.

A very, very special person to me, my aunt Marie Torasso.

Next I'd like to introduce my wife's brother and my brother-in-law, and his wife, Ray and Terry Hopkins, and their two children, Page and Stephen.

Last but not least, I'd like to introduce my aunt, Aunt Winnie Newman.

That concludes the introduction of my family. I would like to state that we are having a small reception immediately following between the hours of 11:00 and 2:00 p.m. at the Huddle, which is located on Broadway Avenue in Beechview, and everyone is welcome to attend. We were going to have something fancy at an expensive downtown hotel, but within the last week I already had a cut in pay of $7,500. Thank you.

Mr. Perry:

At this time I would like to call upon the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, the Honorable Richard S. Caliguiri, to say a few words to this fine audience.

Mayor Caliguiri:

Reverend Clergy, newly elected and re-elected Members of Council, Members of Council, the Honored Elected Officials, family and friends. That's a wrong note to get introduced night after Jack's remarks, I think, but somehow, Jack, we'll make it up to you, I can assure you of that. It's certainly a pleasure to be with all of you and your expression of congratulations to these three gentlemen, but as are your expression of being part of government because today that's certainly not an easy thing to do, and so many people turn away from it, but we need the involvement of not only the family and friends that all of you are here today but certainly everybody that supports what good government is all about; and I'm just so pleased to see these three gentlemen, Dick Givens being re-elected for another term in office and of course the two new members, both Steve and Jack, who certainly espouse the type of people that we want to see involved in government.

The participation that each one of them have had in the past in their own communities, Steve already an elected official, and I sometimes wonder, once you are an elected official — it takes a lot to determine that you will, in fact, want to come back, because public life today is a most demanding one, demanding on your time, demanding on the efforts that you must put in both to yourself and your family, but also demanding on what you have to do as an elected official and the decisions you make.

Examples of that is the past few weeks, the tough decisions that had to be made, and as long as all of us, Jack, Steve, do not what's best for Members of Council, not what's best for the Mayor or the Administration, but what's best for the people of this City of Pittsburgh, and as long as we do that, then this City will continue to grow and prosper. Even though in these times, these tough economic times, some of the problems we have with the steel industry, if we continue to have that out in front to make sure that our decisions are decisions for the people of this City, then I can assure that Pittsburgh is going to continue to be one of the finest and greatest Cities this country has ever had; and that's why I'm so pleased to see two young fellows like Steve and Jack determined that they want to be part of public life, that they want to be part of what the future of this City is going to be.

So, to each and everyone of you, both to you Steve, Jack, and of course, Dick Givens, to your families, to all of you, I congratulate you for being here today. I congratulate you for giving us people that truly want to serve these people of Pittsburgh, and as long as we continue to have people like that wanting to serve and the people that are now on City Council, and the people that I see to the left of me in the courts and the legislature wanting to continue to make their life part of a life for the good of the City, for the good of the county, for the good of the state, then our future is going to be a bright one.

I thank each and every one of you for being here today, and I, too, wish you a very happy and prosperous New Year.

Mr. Perry:

Thank you, Dick.

Before closing, I would like to recognize our past President of City Council, Eugene "Jeep" DePasquale.

This will complete the swearing-in ceremony for Members of City Council.

(END OF SWEARING IN CEREMONIES - 1/2/84)

Mr. Stone, President:

It is with honor that I now, at this time, recognize the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, the Honorable Richard Caliguiri.

Mayor Caliguiri:

Thank you, Mr. President, members of Council, family, friends and citizens.

First, let me express my congratulations to both Michelle Madoff and Jim O'Malley for their re-election under this very august body and one that certainly is doing well for the City of Pittsburgh and will continue. Michelle, if you wish a poinsettia plant, you may take one today.

To you, Bob, our new President, your words are well taken and I certainly look forward to working with you as well as other members of Council in the year 1984.

This is the year 1984; we're all talking about it and the so-called book about totalitarian government. Thank goodness that has not occured. Big Brother is not watching. But somebody more important than Big Brother is watching us and that's the citizens of Pittsburgh. Those are the people that we've got to address ourselves to; those are the people that we've got to respond to.

So, I'm happy when I hear members of Council saying that you are, in fact, unified and going to work together because that tells me that we're going to deal with the issues that are at hand for the City of Pittsburgh; we're going to establish the priorities together that we feel are necessary to keep Pittsburgh moving progressively.

We've seen in today's paper, major waterline breaks in certain cities. We've had them ourselves over these past few weeks and I don't know that there's more of a priority than taking a look at what keeps Pittsburgh alive, what keeps us together, than our infrastructure which, of course, includes our housing all over the City because we've got to establish an environment, a good working environment, to attract new industry here, to make sure that the industry that we have will progress and expand, to take the place of some of those workers that have lost their jobs over the last few weeks in the steel industry. We've got to make Pittsburgh strong. We've got to create that environment to make sure that we can, in fact, attract people to this City.

We've got an opportunity to do that. Other cities are falling apart and they've got a long way to come back. I certainly hope they do; I wish no city or mayor or city council anything but good. But in Pittsburgh we have the components to continue to go forward. If we do that by working together, and I pledge to you today, to you, Bob, as President, and to all members of Council, the newly elected, the re-elected and the incumbents, that we shall work together as we have in the past and we'll turn 1984 around as a year that will show that government and the people work together. As long as we do that, the 1984 as was described in that book, will never come to pass in this country. But it must be that close working partnership. For the citizens in the back, we, together, will make sure that Pittsburgh continues in our Renaissance II progress, continues to make sure that our neighborhoods will be the finest neighborhoods in this country.

So, to all of you, I again wish you well in this new year, in a year that we're going to see many things happening, in a year that I'm sure will make Pittsburghers proud to be Pittsburghers.

I thank you.

Mr. Stone, President:

Before we entertain a motion to adjourn this meeting, for those who were sworn in today, if you care, we can have a reception line and those who wish to congratulate you may come forward, as is the custom.

With that, I'll entertain a motion to adjourn this meeting.

And on the motion of Mr. Woods

Council adjourned.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Grabowski presented

No. 6 An Ordinance directing the Allegheny County Board of Elections to place before the voters of the City of Pittsburgh a referendum as to whether the said voters are in favor of supplementing the Home Rule Charter by authorizing the City to establish a procedure to set aside certain classes of contracts for goods and non-professional services for minorities and women by eliminating competitive bidding requirements for those contracts.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on General Services.

Mr. Grabowski moved to suspend Rule 8 by providing for consideration of the bill only until or after the 9th calendar day following the meeting in which the bill was introduced so the bill will be on the agenda this Wednesday.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. O'Malley presented

No. 7 Petition from the residents of the City of Pittsburgh, requesting a public hearing before City Council for the installation of a school safety signal at the intersection of Forbes and Denniston Avenue in order to insure the health, safety and welfare of the over 200 students of the Community Day School and Hebrew Institute.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on Public Safety.

Mr. Woods presented

No. 13 An Ordinance directing the Allegheny County Board of Elections to place before the qualified voters of the City of Pittsburgh a referendum question as to whether or not the voters are in favor of amending the Home Rule Charter of the City of Pittsburgh to provide for an annual salary adjustment of City elected officials' salaries.

Michelle Madoff:

On that first item where they're talking about going to referendum, as you know, the problem has always been one of how the people understand it. I wonder whether you would look at it with the Election Board and come up with some kind of wording that would in essence say, do you prefer the present system which says that we must stay at the same salary for four years and then amends their salary or would you prefer it based on, tie it into the cost of living. In other words, sort of a choice kind of a question as opposed to, do you want to give them a raise or don't you, which is always going to be no and it will never change.

The Chair:

Hold on a minute. If I may, when we get presentation of papers, if there's anything technical on it in the sense of it's presentation, I think then it should be discussed. If it's something relative to the merits of the bill, that should wait until the Committee Meeting.

Michelle Madoff:

All I'm saying is that before we get to the Committee Meeting, if you would take the time to do it then it will be done and we won't have to delay it another week.

The Chair:

All right.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you.

Also,

No. 14 Resolution authorizing the Mayor to issue a warrant countersigned by the City Controller in favor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Labor and Industry in an amount not to exceed $250,000.00 to return excess funds drawn from JTPA grants.

Mr. Woods moved to suspend Rule 8 by providing for consideration of the bills only until or after the 9th calendar day following the meeting in which the bills were introduced so the bills will be on the agenda this Wednesday.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Which were severally read and referred to the Committee on Finance.

Michelle Madoff:

I have two items. It appears, my research staff, that unless you check it out with Mr. Pellegrini and get an opinion, we may not be able to meet the election code's deadline for the introduction of that salary adjustment, even if we suspend Rule 8. So, we better get an opinion on it right away. There's a deadline, I believe, the fifteenth of this month. Are you aware of that, Mr. Woods? Will we be able to meet the deadline?

Mr. Woods:

I think so but we're waiting for an opinion.

Michelle Madoff:

That's why we waive Rule 8 but will we still be able to meet that deadline?

Mr. Woods:

I believe so.

The Chair:

We could move the effective date, I think.

Michelle Madoff:

I just wanted you to be aware of that, Mr. Stone.

The other question I have is, you read a bill, Mr. Perry, and you read it incompletely. It said, "To the hiring of Mr. Grigsby, et al for legal counsel". For what?

Mr. Perry:

The City Controller's Office.

Michelle Madoff:

What do you mean? Is it going to be a part time person? Is he going to be handling one case?

Mr. Perry:

This was a bill submitted to this Council by the Controller's Office. All they had there was legal —

Michelle Madoff:

I have no problem with that; I just want to know what it's for. If we don't get it until Wednesday and we vote the following Monday, it only gives us Thursday and Friday to check it out with staff, or Monday morning.

Mr. Woods:

Michelle, we have ten days on this one. It's not Rule 8 on that bill.

Michelle Madoff:

I understand that but it doesn't come up until Wednesday, and then we have a week from Wednesday when we actually look at the bill and I look at it the Tuesday before that Wednesday. Then we only have Thursday and Friday and we vote on Monday.

So, I'm just curious. What was it?

Mr. Perry:

It doesn't state, Michelle.

The Chair:

Give her a copy, Mike.

Michelle Madoff:

Would you check that out for me early, please, Mike? You see, what I do is, I get the bills right away but in truthfulness I don't look at them until the Tuesday before the Wednesday.

The Chair:

The Rule 8 was not waived on that. It will not be up that Wednesday, it will be up the following Wednesday.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, I agree with that but still I don't look at them until the Tuesday before the Wednesday and that doesn't leave enough time. They don't get them to me that quickly.

The Chair:

I told him to give you a copy.

Michelle Madoff:

Get my bills to me a little earlier, Linda, please.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

The Chair presents

Bill No. 26 WHEREAS, in May of 1950, Eugene "Jeep" DePasquale was hired by the City of Pittsburgh as a laborer in the Department of Public Works, where he subsequently became Street Foreman after only five years; and

WHEREAS, in January of 1972, Mr. DePasquale was duly elected by the citizens of Pittsburgh to represent them as a Member of Pittsburgh City Council; and

WHEREAS, in January of 1978, the Honorable Eugene DePasquale was elected by his fellow Councilmembers to the esteemed position of President of Council; and

WHEREAS, Mr. DePasquale, affectionately known as "Jeep", gave faithfully his time and devotion to his fellow workers and to the citizens of Pittsburgh, and his conscientious service and his lively and spirited manner will be greatly missed.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of Pittsburgh City Council, on behalf of their staff and the citizens of Pittsburgh, hereby extend sincere commendation and gratitude to the Honorable Eugene DePasquale for his 33 years of distinguished service to the City of Pittsburgh, including his 12 years as a Member of Pittsburgh City Council, where he has enriched the lives of many through his sensitivity to the needs of the citizens of Pittsburgh and his fellow workers.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Council wishes to thank Mr. DePasquale for his kindness and inspiration and wish him health and happiness in the years to come.

Mr. Woods moved to adopt the resolution.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I have a floor motion. May I ask a question? I have two items but I'd like to ask a procedural question, if I may.

On the 19th of this month we're going to have a hearing on the Water Authority. Meanwhile, we've al ready, in effect, the Administration has already started into the works, a Water Authority by having a salary for Mr. Cosentino. I'm a little confused as to how you can pay somebody when it is not an entity, even if you're preparing for it.

I'd like a legal ruling on that because it seems to me that there is something in the morgue at the Post Gazette that we're going to dig out that came up many years ago and I said that they can't do that. I would like to make sure that we're not violating any rules and if you would check that out I'd appreciate it.

The Chair:

I'm not so sure he's changed yet because until we have the hearing, it's my understanding, we don't have a Water Authority.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I've talked with him personally and he tells me that he's moved down the hall, that Mr. Smith is now the head of the Water Department and he is devoting all his time to the Water Authority.

It would seem to me that we may be subject to some irregularities or legalities that we better check out. Maybe he could be a consultant in the interim which would cover all of us and be doing the right thing.

The other thing that I would like to talk to you about procedurally on this water issue is that, as you know, one of the reasons we have so many problems in the Council is that we have a hearing scheduled to discuss the Water Authority. Of course, all these people come and they want to testify; they're on a schedule. But we in Council have never had the opportunity to ask our own questions. So, it starts off with a presentation by the people pitching the Water Department. We in turn ask our questions. That takes until two or three in the afternoon and then the people get very disgusted with us.

I would like to ask your indulgence. Would you set up some kind of a meeting for us to meet openly to discuss — In other words, the hearings would be two phased. The first one would be Council addressing itself, maybe in the morning, to whatever our concerns are. The second one would be the public testifying. We can't even address the public's concerns if we don't even know what the issues are.

That came about and sort of struck me because I was called by one of the stations, being in the Water Department, would I interview with them today at 3:30 about the Water Department. So, I spent some time this weekend and this morning typing up my thoughts and what I basically did was list my concerns. These are unanswered questions that I'd like to have but I don't want to be an obstructionist. I think we run into a lot of problems, a lot of hostility, we have to go, people are waiting, people are upset.

I wonder if you could think about that problem and resolve it.

The Chair:

I received a request from one of the other Councilmembers, one of our new members, and they were asking for a briefing on this matter. They should be receiving a copy of that report; I directed that to happen. If Council is interested, we'll set up another briefing on this matter.

Michelle Madoff:

I was told by two members of the Mayor's staff that if I wished to meet with them that they would be very happy to go over it with me on a one to one. Now, that was done with a judge on the Stadium. People came in, the Mayor was there, his staff, and people discussed their problems. I don't want it to be on a one to one. This Council has no intention to violate the Sunshine Law, I know you've stated that. I see no reason why we can't have the meeting, instead of having it a harangue, all at one time and the people are upset that they don't get to testify, start off as we normally do at a hearing, just the way we normally do. This is what we propose by Mr. Schmeiser or Mr. Schillo, I'm not sure, or the Mayor or whoever, and we can address our questions in a joint discussion and then have the people testify. But since it's already scheduled for the 19th, I guess somehow or other, that's your problem to resolve how you wish to go about having us all interact because I see no purpose in one of us meeting alone with Mr. Schmeiser and Mr. Schillo and then maybe someone said, "Hey, Michelle, that's wrong" or "They're right, you're wrong, Michelle". I think we need to interact. Publicly.

The Chair:

Well, I don't see any problem with asking for another briefing with Council, maybe in the Mayor's Chambers next Monday. But on the other hand, public hearings, the people are entitled to know from those who are experts in the field as to what they propose and why before they even require to testify. I would hope that as well some of our comments be received as information rather than us volunteering at those particular hearings so we can hear everybody.

Michelle Madoff:

I think you're absolutely right but I think you would agree that that has caused a lot of dissention among Councilmembers and among the public and hostility because we pre-empt them by our concerns and addressing ourselves to the people. We really have not had a briefing. All we had was a session saying, "Well, we reviewed and we've done a water study and now we've reviewed it again and we feel that this is the thing that ought to be happening." But there were no really, until that morning that it was presented to us in Council, that indeed this was going to happen.

I have a lot of questions I need answered. I may find the Water Authority is the best thing. I have some real concerns.

The Chair:

If Council is interested, we'll try to set up another briefing and if we can do it, maybe as part of the Monday meeting or at another time suitable for everybody. Is everybody in favor of that?

Mr. Woods:

I have a suggestion, Mr. Chairman. I tend to agree with Michelle that sometimes we start asking questions when the public should be making statements. A lot of times the public asks questions that perhaps we would not. If we could have the meeting after the 19th with the particular people involved because we learn from what the public has to say and then we can go in with that plus we have ourselves. Maybe we could have it on the 20th or any time after that and we could ask maybe the same questions. They'll be there and we'll have our own and we could get answers that way.

Michelle Madoff:

I disagree with that strongly and the reason I disagree with that, Mr. President, is that I think as Councilmembers we should be informed. I think there's some rudimental, fundamental things that somebody talking to us might address and we won't know the answer.

Mr. Woods:

I didn't mean that we don't have a briefing; that's not what I meant. Have the briefing but I'm talking about afterwards we meet again and ask our own questions.

Michelle Madoff:

We do that anyway on the Water Authority. I want a briefing on my concerns, not privately; I want it open. We do that anyway except we pre-empt the public's time.

The Chair:

Yes, but the forum, I think, is there in the Mayor's Conference Room on Monday morning.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I think there's merit to both suggestions in that we need a briefing beforehand with all the appropriate parties, including the two groups that did the studies, Price Waterhouse and, I believe, Green Engineering. There's a lot of merit to Mr. Woods' suggestion in that there will be questions raised by the public that probably will not be answered that day. There may be a need for us to act as representatives of the public at another meeting after the public hearing.

The Chair:

That will come up at the following meeting and then if we need to have something else I think we can. I'm not saying it will not happen but it may not be necessary.

I'll try to set up a briefing meeting for next Monday.

Michelle Madoff:

If you do it Monday morning, as you say, at the normal time, then we eliminate all the time for those people who wish to address other issues. I would prefer to do it any time but next Monday. Before the meeting.

Now, in the same vein, I have a floor motion, as you know, that I have not presented yet. May I do that now? I'll read it and it will be faster.

The Chair:

Michelle, excuse me a minute. Has anybody seen this prior to now? Councilmembers?

Michelle Madoff:

We've been talking to everybody about it; everybody's got a copy.

The Chair:

When did you pass it out?

Michelle Madoff:

I'll been talking to everybody about it. There's nothing in it that's new. All we did was get what you gave us which was a good idea about the source of funding. That's the only thing that's new in it.

The Chair:

My question is, when did you hand this out?

Michelle Madoff:

They were put in the boxes and I think some people brought them in, some did not. I think it's self-explanatory. I'd like to go with it but if they don't want to go we can hold it.

The Chair:

Only one thing. I don't want to cause any problems here but ordinarily it's my understanding that we have these things the day before. Now, if somebody wants to object for that reason, then let's hold it until next week. If nobody is objecting we'll go ahead.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, the Parliamentarian has ruled that if it's a resolution from the floor, it has to be 48 hours. If it's a floor motion, it does not. I just took the courtesy of typing out my floor motion. Floor motions can be spontaneous. I just, as a courtesy, typed it up so they could follow me.

The Chair:

Are you saying that if I say this is a regular resolution it will be 48 hours but if I change the name and say it's a floor motion, then it's okay?

Michelle Madoff:

That's right. That is correct.

The Chair:

The Chair doesn't agree with you.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm telling you what the Parliamentarian ruled previously. Don't disagree with me, disagree with the Parliamentarian.

The Chair:

You can't introduce the same kind of resolution and say that I'm avoiding 48 hours.

Michelle Madoff:

One is considered a floor motion and the other is considered a resolution. A floor motion could be spontaneous from the floor.

The Chair:

A floor motion is that type of motion that comes out of the general discussion and not something that you're aware of and then decide to bypass the 48 hours by calling it something other than what it was.

Michelle Madoff:

I will agree that that is a great concern and that you have a valid point but I would ask your indulgence that we go with it today and if you wish to hold it a week because of the 48 hours, you may do that. But we have a problem. The problem is a time factor. The Water Authority is going to be heard on the 19th.

The Chair:

Excuse me, let me explain my position for a moment. The only reason I'm saying that is that we're going to end out with this kind of interpretation. I want to avoid it going in as we almost had with the young lady who wanted to speak at one of our meetings. These meetings are for Councilmembers and if we open it up — You can't open it for one. Once you open the door, it remains open for everybody. So, we ought to set rules early in this year so that we know what we're doing.

While I'm on that subject, for all Councilmembers, anyone who has any suggestions for a change of rules of Council, submit those this week so that we can do something with it hopefully next week.

Now, let me go back to your motion if I may. Does anybody have any objections to entertaining the motion today? Hearing none, proceed.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you, Mr. President.

WHEREAS, in 1981 a resolution was presented to City Council to cause Council to hire a qualified fiscal advisor and said resolution was defeated; and

WHEREAS, on October 18, 1982, Pittsburgh City Council passed a floor motion to grant approval for a qualified fiscal advisor to evaluate the 1983 budget; and

WHEREAS, no such person was hired as directed by a majority of this Council; and

WHEREAS, the Council, pursuant to Article 3 of the Charter of Pittsburgh, is the Legislative Branch of City Government and as such, has the duty to exercise independent fiscal judgment; and

WHEREAS, Council is frequently confronted with major issues that require a high degree of expertise in economics and general fiscal matters; and

WHEREAS, the only advice regularly available to Council is from the administrative, legal, and fiscal staff of the Executive Branch which obviates this Council's duty to the public to collect all of the facts, analyze those facts and exercise independent judgment; and

WHEREAS, it is a breach of generally accepted governmental procedure, on both the state and federal level, for the Legislative body to rely upon the Executive body for legal and fiscal advice; and

WHEREAS, in the most recent past, this Council has been criticized by the public for voting without proper input on issues; and —

May I digress there? You remember the rate structure, the Advisory Board, the Cable Advisory Board, said we cannot recommend anything to Council, we need a fiscal advisor. —

WHEREAS, recent issues addressed by this Council, such as public takeover of the operation of Three Rivers Stadium and rate increases granted to the City's cable franchise, necessitated fiscal expertise that was not made available to this Council from an independent source; and

WHEREAS, Council will be considering legislation that has resulted from the Administration's newly-created Water Authority and the attending rate increases, without the benefit of its own expert fiscal advice.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that Council increase the professional consultant as needed appropriation from $10,000 to $50,000 so that it may vote intelligently on the complicated issues which it addresses during the normal course of its deliberations.

I should add that the persons to choose that individual would be the President of Council and a committee, I would say of three, and then present it to this Council as a body to vote.

I had run a personal ad to see if I could get some, perhaps, retired people or part-time people and I have a whole dossier. I'm sure there are people that we can get. I think Baltimore pays $40,000 or $45,000 to their fiscal advisor. Harrisburg uses a consulting firm.

I just want to add that this is not to say that all of us do not have some areas of expertise. I'm, I guess, an expert in the environment. There are many people who have done some research on other areas and they're experts in their area of endeavor. But this Council needs, even if it's a majority that has control of that fiscal person, the idea is two heads being better than one to make it better than what it has.

That is my floor motion.

Mr. Givens seconded the motion.

The Chair:

Michelle, I have a question. You said something that I gave you some advice on funding. —

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me, I apologize. It was Mr. Buckley. I was misinformed.

The Chair:

As the Chair sees it, you're going from $10,000 to $50,000 in Council's budget.

Michelle Madoff:

Yes.

The Chair:

It would appear to me that you're attempting to amend the budget.

Michelle Madoff:

We do it all the time. We find money for needy items all the time. We locate money.

The Chair:

The only difference is that we don't have a place here to find money. All you're doing is increasing a line item with no monies coming —

Michelle Madoff:

I know that in your wisdom and working with Mr. Woods, our Fiscal Advisor, if we want to do this the money will be found.

The Chair:

But the resolution as it is increases an item and doesn't get money from somewhere else.

Michelle Madoff:

Do you want to put a whereas, monies will be located by the Finance

Chairman and President of Council and Mr. Buckley, that we'll look into the source?

The Chair:

The Chair wants to say again, I think you're amending the budget and the procedure you're using, I think, is wrong.

Michelle Madoff:

How would you suggest we do it to make it correct?

The Chair:

There's only one way to amend the budget and that's to amend it. The Home Rule Charter provides for such.

Michelle Madoff:

I have no problem with that. The only thing is, we do have this Water Authority upon us immediately. You know, Mr. Stone, we've had emergency money requests that have come before this Council. People run into trouble and we have found money when we needed to find it. I would suggest that if there's a willingness, I think the intent of the bill, if we want it, we can locate the dollars.

Incidentally, I wasn't going to do it this early. I was going to wait a few months into the year. I had already said that I would introduce it each year until we got one. But the problem is that this Water Authority is now.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, my concern about the motion does not relate to the intent. The intent I agree with and have supported similar motions in the past to hire a fiscal advisor. I believe that we need one and that Council ought to move expeditiously to do that. My concern is with the wording of the motion. I think that there are some references and inferences here that are not clearly substantiated and I think that it takes away from the intent.

I am particularly concerned about the whereas that specifically indicates that there is a newly created Water Authority. With all due respect to Green Engineering, Price Waterhouse and the Administration, and even those members of Council who believe a Water Authority is necessary and perhaps would vote for it, I think it is rather presumptous, at least, to say that we have a Water Authority in the City of Pittsburgh and I also think that it would not speak well for us to suggest that that issue has been resolved and we've already voted on it, particularly prior to the public hearing. I just say that because I think that kind of inference takes away from what I think is a very fine suggestion that we have a fiscal advisor. I think that if the motion, at your discretion, of course, were revised to simply indicate that this Council or that you feel that we should have a fiscal advisor and allow us to vote, I think you will get a vote that will be as true as the one you're going to get on this motion but I think it will be one that when reflected in the record would really reflect your true concern and leave perhaps some of the other issues to be resolved at another time.

Michelle Madoff:

I thank you, Mr. Robinson, because you're right. When I addressed my concerns earlier, that was one of the concerns that I had, as to why I want a briefing, and here I've contradicted myself inadvertently by saying that the Administration's newly created Water Authority, it should say intent to create. I think if you put intent in it clears it up. It's obvious they're intending to do it; I don't think you question that. I think the word intent would clear up your concern. But I'm willing to negate, as you say, all the past and say I just make a straight-forward resolution, I'll withdraw this resolution, make a straight-forward resolution that we, this body, agree to hire a fiscal advisor tout de suite because we don't have very much time. We already had a 4-5 vote on it; we're very close to having our five votes previously. I don't see any reason why I would not change my vote to that.

Mr. Givens, would you withdraw your second on that original bill?

Mr. Givens:

Okay.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm going to introduce the resolution that we just hire a fiscal advisor, that we need one for this Council.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Mr. Woods:

I have a question. What kind of qualifications would this individual have? I mean I think —

Michelle Madoff:

You would determine that.

Mr. Woods:

Before we go out and say we're going to hire somebody, we have to see who we're going to hire, what kind of qualifications we think that this individual should have.

Michelle Madoff:

Absolutely.

Mr. Woods:

I think all of us should have input as to what qualifications we expect and for this kind of money, and we hear this all the time, especially with us, is that individual going to be full-time, part-time, or on a pay-as-you-go basis such as these number of items you names, Three Rivers, Cable. One thing you did miss in there which we really needed was PAC and then everyone would have voted my way, but that's another issue.

Michelle Madoff:

Wrong.

Mr. Woods:

I think that before we vote on this, and if it takes a week somebody should draw up some guidelines that say this is what we need, this is the kind of individual we need, that we're going to have him full-time, part-time, or on a certain basis when a big issue comes up, such as the Water Authority that's coming up.

The Chair:

Might the Chair make a suggestion to the maker of the motion? May I suggest that you withdraw your motion and we do what he is suggesting and find out what we want because I think this motion means nine different things as it is right now.

Michelle Madoff:

May I just try one more time and then if it's necessary I'll withdraw the motion?

I think it's very apparent that we need somebody with a background in municipal government. That's what consultants do for councils elsewhere. They have a background in economics, that's sort of a given. Those two things. They have a background in economics and they have a background in municipal government. As to whether they would be full-time, I would think for $50,000 they would be "full-time" and available to us on a weekly basis as issues come up, especially during budget time for those two months. I think it would be full-time. I would be willing to say those would be the qualifications.

Mr. Woods:

Can I just add something to that? When we say $50,000, does that mean that that's their salary? I mean, are we going to have to give this individual an office? Are we going to have to provide staff for this individual? I don't think that we should pay someone who we call full-time $50,000 and he has his own office across the street. If he's going to be full-time for us, just like the rest of our staff, he's going to have to have an office here and whatever else he needs. That is my opinion, that's the way I would vote on it, that he would be working for Council just like everyone here wants him to work for Council, just like our budget staff. For $50,000 I think we should expect that. What I'm saying is, let's see what we really want here. If we want a part-time or full-time and if he's full-time, he works here full-time, just like we do and just like our own staff does. I'm saying that if we wait a week and think this thing out and perhaps, Michelle, you should come back and say this is what I want and this is my motion and this is what this individual will do and where he will be stationed at.

Michelle Madoff:

I would have no problem with the President of Council, if you would like to serve, I would like to serve on that Committee, have a committee of three members of Council and the President of Council, to interview people and to take comments from our colleagues as to what they would like that person to do, part-time, full-time. We may find somebody who is a $300,000 a year person who might want a part-time and it would be better. We might find we want somebody full-time. I think your point is well taken.

All we're voting on today is the intent of having a fiscal advisor.

The Chair:

The suggestion is, until we find out what we want in the fiscal advisor, that we withdraw the motion. That's the suggestion.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, as you recall, when I raised this issue, I have no problem with the week. What I have a problem with is on the 19th we are going to be dealing with the "Water Authority".

The Chair:

There's no way that that person can be hired and we have an understanding for them to function effectively before the 19th anyway.

Michelle Madoff:

May I ask you for some guidance? When we started the hearings on cable I introduced a bill because we weren't ready yet, to just do it during budget hearings. Can we put this aside for a week as you suggested, but can this Council vote today to hire somebody immediately to be available to us as a fiscal advisor who understands rate structures, etc., on the Water Authority as a separate entity? Let's find some money to do that.

The Chair:

Michelle, I don't know anyone that you can pick up in a week that's going to be qualified to go in and look at this whole structure. We had, to my knowledge, two experts already, that's Price Waterhouse and also Green Engineering. That's two, at least, that I'm aware of from the top of my head here, but it would appear to me you're not talking one individual has that total capacity all over. I think the time constraints are a little difficult for that.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, I know people who, as a matter of fact, are in town this morning with Westinghouse and one of their main jobs for their consulting firm is to evaluate rate structures for the PUC. I know people, as a matter of fact, a friend of mine will be here in Council on the 19th. She's testifying because she has some expertise in authorities. I am sure that there is somebody over at Reed Smith, I know somebody, who is an expert in reviewing the material that's already out to say should we, indeed, float our own bonds for various reasons, or should we go to an authority. I think we could have some input from some expertise other than what the Administration is going to tell us to do. I think that's terribly important. It's a no win situation. I understand the big joke going around is that they're saying to the Mayor, where are you going to get eight people willing to raise people's water rates. We'll put Michelle on that, we'll fix her, we'll put her on that Authority so she's going to raise everybody's rates 100 percent.

I think we really and truly need to get somebody. All the years you've been out in the law field, you've got to know somebody. I know three or four people. And they're not personal friends of mine.

The Chair:

The Chair is going to try again. I suggest you withdraw your motion at this time to regroup to find out what kind of fiscal expert you want.

Michelle Madoff:

That is a separate issue. We've done that. We've already agreed to withdraw the motion and introduce it, let's do it two weeks because it's obviously going to work for this Water -- Well, let's do it Monday. We'll do it for next Monday.

The Chair:

Mr. Robinson, do you withdraw your second?

Mr. Robinson:

Yes.

The Chair:

Alright, we have no motion on the floor.

Michelle Madoff:

The motion on the floor is to go out and hire a fiscal expert to help us just with the Water Authority.

The Chair:

In two weeks? We couldn't even get regrouped in two weeks and pick up all that.

Michelle Madoff:

You don't understand. People are going to be very upset —

The Chair:

Alright. You have a motion. Do I have a second?

Mr. Givens:

I'll second it and I'd like to explain my second if I might.

It's very critical, I think, that the City of Pittsburgh and what we're going to be doing here in the very short weeks, the fact that we have $10,000 already within this account gives the Council the ability to go out and hire whoever we feel is going to give us that type of input that we need. I have to agree that there's only a few documents, only one or two documents that have been presented to this Councilman. In the ensuing time, I've been researching to get other data. I think we very seriously need someone in here to advise us as to which way we should go on any major financial issue and to get independent advice. I've been criticized in the past for saying things should be done at a certain time and my knowledge in the financial community, and if I should be scolded on that by my fellow Councilmembers then I need that expert advice. If you don't want to listen to this Councilman then maybe you might listen to a financial advisor to this Council. We do have the $10,000, Michelle, and it takes five votes in this Council to bring any consultant that we want to come in to help us on any of our legislation.

I would suggest very strongly that we put this on the floor as a motion and then go from there.

The Chair:

The motion is for the Water Authority only at this time, Mr. Givens. Is that your second?

Mr. Givens:

I think that's the biggest thing before us.

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me, Mr. President, before you vote. I will mention to you later two or three of the people that you probably know a lot better than I do because of your professional interaction with them that you may wish to speak with. They are with major concerns but I think for $10,000 they could be willing to give us something. They're also concerned about our community.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, not being around when this issue was discussed, and I suspect it was at previous times, I have a couple questions. Number one, is there $10,000 in reserve right now that can be used for a private counsel?

The Chair:

Council has a line item in which there is $10,000 which covers consultants. It's fixed in there. At the time the $10,000 was put in, it was what was thought would be generally needed for a year.

Mr. Wagner:

So that money is available if Council chooses to utilize it for this purpose.

The Chair:

Yes.

Mr. Wagner:

My second question is, according to the Charter, do we have the power to hire such an individual simply with a vote?

The Chair:

As long as the party is a consultant. You can't make them an employee.

Mr. Wagner:

Thank you.

The Chair:

Call the roll.

I vote no and the reason being that I don't think we can assemble that kind of expert who is going to be able to read all of the information and be able, within less than two weeks, to determine this matter. I think it is a waste of funds at this time.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Givens	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mr. O'Malley

AYES 5 NOES 3

(MR. GRABOWSKI, MR. WOODS AND MR. STONE VOTING NO)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion was approved.

Michelle Madoff:

Since it has passed and in the interest of harmony, we don't want to be working across purposes, may I meet with you for a few minutes today and tell you the person and you would know more about them? I have a call in to them. I know them very fleetingly and perhaps you would be better able to evaluate their expertise.

The Chair:

Okay.

Michelle Madoff:

I have one other item, a very serious item. Mr. Stone, did you have a chance to read the Press, I think it was Sunday's edition, about Methenol gas could cancel auto warranties?

The Chair:

I read something about it.

Michelle Madoff:

May I just read some excerpts to you?

The Chair:

It was kind of a festive weekend. I'm not so sure that —

Michelle Madoff:

It was your holiday. Incidentially,

Happy New Year.

It appears just generally that the states of — Let me read this to you.

"Laws regarding the blending of alcohol and gasoline have been adoped in Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma ..." It goes on and on, almost all states. Pennsylvania has not. It goes on to say that the blending of low-grade alcohol methanol with gasoline, auto makers fear the methanol will clog gas filters and otherwise damage the fuel system. AMC, General Motors, and Chrysler, the car that I have and which I have spent one-third of the price of the car in repairs, and I've had the car 28,000 miles, all warn that using methanol can void a new car warranty. The oil industry is split on the issue and while 21 states have laws requiring labling of gasoline pumps dispensing of methanol, Pennsylvania does not. Thus, an auto owner could void a warranty without really knowing it. It goes on and on. I'm not going to read it to you but it tells you which are the worst companies. Arco is the biggest company and one of the companies is going to start and maybe Arco is going to put signs up voluntarily. But the biggest concern is from the jobbers. Distributors and jobbers are not aware of the original blend. They add still methanol.

What I would like to do, since there is not a state act, we have the right as a body to see that, and I think Mr. O'Malley would be very helpful on that because of his gasoline bill, that we make sure that people, at least in our own area, are not damaging their car with the use of methanol in the gasoline and perhaps see if we can get the Commissioners to do likewise.

I don't know what the procedure would be on this. Do you want this in the form of a resolution at another date? How do we want to handle this?

The Chair:

If you intend some action, you're going to have to make some motion.

Michelle Madoff:

Fine. I'll give this to Mr. Perry and he'll make a copy for me and all of my colleagues will get copies and then we'll have a resolution drawn up.

Mr. Givens:

I would like a post agenda for this coming Wednesday to discuss that constitutional question that was given to us on the Mayor's veto where we didn't really have legal counsel regarding some of the programmed areas that this Council had funded for and were denied that funding under that Act IX, Article IX, I believe, of the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania.

I need a copy of that order —

The Chair:

The veto on Grants and Donations?

Mr. Givens:

Yes. I need the Solicitor up here. I need the Director of Planning up here and any other agencies, Mike, that have to do with any of that funding that we so specified.

I need a letter very quickly of explanation on that article and how it actually really does affect what we did and if so, I'd like the Director of Planning to bring up all other likewise funding that this Council has had where the funds have not been used. If this is new, I'll accept it. If this is something old, then I feel the Administration was fishing to do certain things against certain agencies that this Council had funded for. I feel that is very repulsive if that is the case, that the agencies that are needy of this particular money were denied it because of some loophole in our particular law. I'll just hold it at that particular thing.

Secondly, on the budget itself, there are some items that, according to our Solicitor, that particular day, that Saturday, that the budget is still open for a period of five weeks. That was news to me. I had always felt that this Council had voted upon that budget, it was the final budget and the only thing that we'd have in those ensuing five weeks, from January 1 on, would be technical changes or overt omissions that were caught after the budget was finally passed. But the fact that he is on public record as saying that that budget in certain areas is still open, then I still have cause for concern, I still have cause for concern debate and the fact that when we received the letter from the Mayor, it was received on a Friday afternoon, and we were in here on Saturday morning without much counsel to debate the various issues. As a result, I think we have now the latitude of an additional four or five weeks to look into some of these matters and to bring the appropriate department heads up here and find out what we can do to remedy some of the situations that happened on that veto. Do we have recourse? Can we amend that budget to help these people out?

The Chair:

Mr. Givens, the Chair agrees with you. I don't think that the five weeks permits us to now open up the whole budget. I've asked the City Solicitor. The language in the Home Rule Charter says one thing but I've asked him to check the legislative material on that because somewhere along the line, as I recall it, there was no intent to change that portion of it. Otherwise, it has no meaning to close the budget on December 31st, you can close it anytime. But I've asked him to research that thing so that we can definitely get, once and for all, the decision as to where it belongs.

Mr. Givens:

I likewise feel the same way you do. It came as a great surprise to me when he indicated there was only one thing that we had to vote on that particular Saturday and that was our own particular wages. I think as he indicated by his statement and, Mike, I think we need a copy of that particular portion of the records to hear exactly what our Solicitor was saying to this Council at that particular time. Otherwise, we could have voted on one thing. I felt that the Council that was still in office at that particular time had the prerogative and the right to vote it up or vote it down at that particular time. However, we're into a new ballgame and a new arena and with new Councilpeople sitting on this floor. I think now they should have the opportunity if in fact this Council can review and I feel that we should be able to review. Otherwise, I think that meeting and the whole veto process would be null and void because of the illegality of our Solicitor. I hope that's not the case.

(BEGINNING - SOLICITOR'S REMARKS FROM 12-31-83)

Mr. Pellegrini
City Solicitor:

Council has five weeks to reconsider the budget by and under the terms of the Home Rule Charter.

Michelle Madoff:

Okay. But we could open it up today if we wanted to, if we wanted to amend. You can't amend without opening up the budget.

Mr. Pellegrini:

You can amend the budget today if you have a substitute resolution. The budget is not before you today, only the Mayor's veto. A separate bill would have to be introduced.

Michelle Madoff:

In other words, you don't open up the budget to have a compromise or an amendment? Suppose someone said we want to go to $25,000 on the salaries. Do you have to open up the budget to do that?

Mr. Pellegrini:

A separate resolution would be introduced with the new Council's salaries, it would be introduced today. It can be introduced if Council so desires.

Michelle Madoff:

You didn't answer my question; I'll try again. Supposing a member of this Council wants to change the $32,500 that the Mayor is proposing, to $25,000.

Mr. Pellegrini:

If you have the votes, Council can do that today.

Michelle Madoff:

But we don't have to open the budget to do that?

Mr. Pellegrini:

You're not opening the budget.

Michelle Madoff:

Isn't the budget closed?

Mr. Pellegrini:

For five weeks after the enactment of the budget, Council has the right to make changes in the budget.

Michelle Madoff:

Is that in the Home Rule Charter?

Mr. Pellegrini:

That is in the Home Rule Charter.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you. You've answered my question. Thank you very much.

Mr. Woods:

Mr. Chairman, if we vote to uphold the Mayor's veto on all items or any other item, then it is up to us to come up with another figure. His recommendation is not law. Is that correct?

Mr. Pellegrini:

That's correct. This recommendation is not law but it is also something that is —

Mr. Stone:

Indicative of his feelings.

Mr. Woods:

But, once we uphold his veto, then it's up to this body to come up with either that figure or any other figure.

Mr. Pellegrini:

That's correct.

The Chair:

Excuse me, if I may. I have a question to ask myself. I think you people raised a good point. Whether the veto is sustained or overridden today, in the future, the next five weeks, if Council would amend certain parts of the budget or make changes, then does the Mayor stil have a vote on that?

Mr. Pellegrini:

He still have the vetoing powers.

The Chair:

Okay.

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me, Mr. President. There's one thing that we neglected to ask. I don't know whether the media was correct but they said that if we don't change that figure today, by law we will stay with our salaries as they are and they will be frozen as of tonight. Is that correct?

Mr. Pellegrini:

The only veto that has to be changed today if you want to put a substitute in the salary ordinance That's because of prohibition of raising diminishing salaries after they take office. So, it has to be done today.

Michelle Madoff:

That's the point I wanted to make perfectly clear to my colleagues. We can't open that issue in the next five weeks.

Mr. Pellegrini:

That's right.

Michelle Madoff:

That was the point I was getting at, Mr. President. Thank you for the time to clarify it.

Mr. Givens:

Danny, you have a folder there and you have many scenarios. Would you just go through and let this Council know what's in your brief case and what scenarios can develop here and what contingencies you have for Council if it does happen.

Mr. Pellegrini:

Most of the vetoes do not involve a change in — For instance, Council's salary adjustments would require a substitute bill. The other substitute bills we proposed, for instance, for Personnel and Appeals Board, would just require a change in the Code Account that the Mayor vetoed. Most of those would be non-controversial. We have prepared legislation that some of them were in accord with the Mayor's recommendation but we have someone standing by to prepare any compromise that the Mayor would decide.

Mr. Givens:

Danny, I asked you a specific question.

Mr. Pellegrini:

Do you want to know each alternative?

Mr. Givens:

Yes. I'd like to see what these alternatives are. I think that's your job and I think you should brief the Council on what alternatives we have here today.

Mr. Stone:

Hold on a minute, Mr. Givens. The reason he's prepared these things was at my request. I think what you're getting at is as follows. If we override the Mayor's veto, what's presently in the budget would stay. If you move to override the Mayor's veto and you don't have the required amount of votes, that means the Mayor's veto, in effect, is sustained. You then have an alternative to do nothing or substitute an alternative.

Taking for example, the salary increases. If you did nothing, the salaries for those five people would be $27,500. If you accepted the suggested recommendation from the Mayor to increase it by $5,000, it would end up being $32,500 and all Councilmembers would receive the same identical salary at $32,500. That's basically the kind of way it would work. You first find out whether you want to override it or not and if you're not able to then you take your alternative.

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me, Mr. President. That's what happened the other day. We were in the middle of voting on Councilwoman Masloff's $32,500 and I asked her whether she would go to $27,500 in light of her feeling these are such bad times. She said she would and we continued right on with the vote of $32,500.

I don't want to go with the vote of $32,500 and override the veto or sustain it until we have an alternative. That was my purpose in saying, do we have to open up the budget or can we open up the budget. That was one reason. Supposing I want to recommend $27,500 and we've already voted on $32,500 and as one, I can't go back to $27,500. You haven't given me an opportunity. That's item one. Or if I want to go to $47,500. Somebody else may want to do that.

Now, what about if we want to change some of the line items that the Mayor has put into the budget where he's given several dozen of his own people merit increases and we say if we're going to take a cut back let his people take a cut back. How do we balance this? How do we open that budget? Can we open it today?

Mr. Pellegrini:

You have five weeks from the end of the fiscal year.

Michelle Madoff:

I didn't ask you that. Can I open it today?

The Chair:

Yes, Michelle. He's answered that.

Michelle Madoff:

That's all I want. A yes or a no.

Mr. Pellegrini:

If you prepare a substitute resolution for introduction. The original Council bill is not before you today. It would require a new bill.

Michelle Madoff:

Couldn't I make a floor motion?

Mr. Pellegrini:

No.

Michelle Madoff:

Why?

Mr. Pellegrini:

Because it would require at least a week.

Michelle Madoff:

You've said that you're prepared today to make resolutions and alternative resolutions if we need it in a hurry, right? You've got people standing by.

Mr. Pellegrini:

If Council desires, I could prepare a resolution.

Michelle Madoff:

So, I could make a resolution to open up the budget today. Is that correct?

Mr. Pellegrini:

The resolution is not to open the budget. The resolution to make specific line item changes in the budget.

Michelle Madoff:

I understand that; I have all my capacities. I'm asking you if I would also like to, in addition to that, open the budget within the next five weeks making today part of that five weeks, can we do that?

Mr. Pellegrini:

Yes, you can.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you. I got my answer. Thank you, Mr. Pellegrini.

The Chair:

At the risk of this continuing, and I don't want to muddy the waters, I have one legal question to ask and maybe it's completely out of order or out of line. The budget that's going to be passed today, or was passed, regardless of the Mayor's veto, two members took part in that budget that will not vote in '84. Is it legal for two members coming aboard to vote on a budget they had no part of and the two who are leaving are not allowed to vote?

Mr. Pellegrini:

It's legal for the two new members of Council to participate in the budget.

The Chair:

Okay. That's all I wanted to know.

(END - SOLICITOR'S REMARKS - 12/31/83)

Mr. O'Malley:

Mr. Chairman, on November 29 and 30, I attended some classes at Wright University in Dayton, Ohio, and I'd like to have that report entered into our Council record.

(MR. O'MALLEY'S REPORT - 1/9/84)

January 9, 1984

Office of City Council
510 City-County Building
Pittsburgh, PA 15219

Dear President and Members of Council,

On November 29 and 30, 1983, I attended classes at Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio. These classes were in relation to my councilmatic duties.

The course dealt with management skills, working patterns, behaviors (the utilization of the best behavior for increased management effectiveness), strategies to resolve differences to maintain a balance among a large audience. The course also included speaking and presentation skills, a format for organizational structure, the effective use of preparation time, and what to do with complicated information in a presentation.

In my opinion, taking the above course was beneficial to myself and to my duties as a Councilperson.

Sincerely yours,

Jim O'Malley
City Council

JMO/drs

(END OF REPORT)

The Chair:

Before I go any further, for those who are not aware, Councilperson Sophie Masloff is out of the hospital. She is still not feeling well but we hope that she'll be back within a week and we wish her good health.

Michelle Madoff moved to excuse Mrs. Masloff for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Woods

Council adjourned.

ABSENT:

Mr. O'Malley

PRESENTATIONS

Michelle Madoff:

Would Charlotte Ginsberg Arnold and her husband, John Arnold, and Mary Hall join us, please?

It is with great pleasure that I would like to present a resolution and I would hope that Mary Hall would say a few words afterwords.

Michelle Madoff presents

Bill No. 61 WHEREAS, under Ms. Charlotte Arnold's direction, The Program for Female Offenders, Inc. will open a work-release center in the spring of 1984 for women in the City and the County; and

WHEREAS, The Program for Female Offenders, Inc. has earned a nationwide reputation for its outstanding service to over 1200 women in Allegheny County since 1974; and

WHEREAS, Ms. Arnold was the founding president of Women in the Urban Crisis. Ms. Arnold was the recipient of ORT (Organization for Rehabilitatin and Training) "Social Assistance Award" in 1973, Hand-in-Hand, Inc.'s "Martin Luther King Award" in 1974 and "Person of the Year Award" from the Thomas Merton Center in 1974; was the keynote speaker - Statewide Conference on Female Criminality, at Madison, Wisconsin in 1979; published in Corrections Today - The Female Offender; and

WHEREAS, as the first chairperson of the PA Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Advisory Committee from 1975-78, Ms. Arnold and her committee also changed the face of the juvenile justice system in Pennsylvania through the state legislature by 1) removing the stigma of the juvenile delinquent "label" from status offenders; 2) terming them "dependent children"; 3) insuring their treatment through securing goverment funding of programs; and 4) prohibiting their incarceration in county jails.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby recognize Ms. Charlotte Arnold as "Woman of the Month" because of her outstanding service to the women and children of the City of Pittsburgh.

Michelle Madoff moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to say that I have known Charlotte Ginsberg Arnold for a very, very long time. I have tremendous admiration for her and it is very interesting while we're out on the trail, everywhere I went I heard Commissioner Foerster say, "And you know, she has the lowest recidivist rate of any criminal program in the country." I personally would hope that that program would catch fire and become a nationwide program because it is the only program that I know of with such a low recidivist rate and it really is a model for the rest of the country and is really cost effective.

Ms. Hall:

I'm very happy and proud to be here today to add our voice, that of Mayor Caliguiri's and of the Mayor's Task Force on Women in Renaissance II to the praise of Charlotte Arnold.

I have to tell you that in the last year in working with women's organizations, I believe the most touching moment that I experienced was the day that I went to the program for female offenders when they held their graduation ceremony for members of the program where the young women were being recognized for their academic accomplishments. I see members of Charlotte's staff here and I do want to say that that day has really stayed in my memory and is a real tribute to your work and particularly Charlotte's leadership in this area.

Again, we're very proud to join you here today in honoring Charlotte Arnold.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't want to be repetitive but nobody does anything alone and I'm sure that the people who are here to honor Charlotte today are people who have been very supportive of her and I'm sure her husband has been very supportive. Behind every great woman is a great man, right?

Ms. Arnold:

Thank you very much, Michelle, Mary and John. I really want to thank you for honoring me today because it gives me the opportunity to pay tribute to the staff and to the board of directors, particularly the founding president, Miss Katie Johnson, who is here today, for helping me to bring to you in May of this year with your help and with the help of the County Commissioners, the first work release center for women in the nation and it will be here in Pittsburgh. I thank you for your tribute to me and will try to make sure that the program for female offenders brings you great pride. Thank you very much.

The Chair:

Charlotte, from every member of Council, we extend our congratulations and I'm sure that we're all waiting with anxiety for the completion of the building that you have been working on and I think it's a great contribution to the City of Pittsburgh. Thank you much.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President, members of Council and guests here assembled, it is indeed an honor today to read and present this resolution. In many respects, it represents the combination of at least six years of effort on my part to gain recognition for the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King here in our City, at least recognition that I have felt has been long overdue.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Mayor and all the members of Council and everyone in the City who has been so kind and gracious over the last six years as we have attempted to press the national government to establish a national holiday on behalf of Dr. King. As most of you know, in 1986 the second Monday in January will be Martin Luther King Day, will be a national holiday, and from the bottom of my heart, I thank each and every one of you for being so kind and generous over the last six years working with me to impress upon our national leaders the necessity for this holiday.

This resolution today is one that I think is shared by many and I'd like to have at least two people come forward and perhaps have some comments after its read and adopted. One is Mrs. Katie Everett Johnson from the Port Authority of Allegheny County. She is the supervisor of their Community Relations Department and someone who I've known a long time and I think someone who certainly well represents Port Authority here today. The other person is Mr. Richard Adams who is a member of the Martin Luther King Support Committee, a committee that has been working in our City for a number of years to honor Dr. King on a regular basis. Mr. Adams is also a member of our Human Relations Commission and serves with distinction.

Mr. Robinson presents

Bill No. 62 WHEREAS, the Reverend Martin Luther King, Jr. dedicated his life and endeavors to the achievement of a just and healthy society and the enhancement of respect and trust in our institutions and the insurance that all citizens are treated equally before the law; and

WHEREAS, his outstanding contributions included the Nobel Peace Prize and other forms of international recognition; and

WHEREAS, January 15th is the birthdate of this great American and is celebrated throughout the United States of America; and

WHEREAS, celebrations are held in schools, churches, and community centers; and

WHEREAS, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has designated January 15th as a State Holiday; and

WHEREAS, the United States Congress has designated January 15th as a National legal holiday beginning in 1986; and

WHEREAS, The Port Authority of Allegheny County has honored Dr. King by naming its East Busway in his memory.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, on behalf of its citizens, does congratulate the Board of Directors of the Port Authority of Allegheny County on the naming of the East Busway in honor of Reverend Martin Luther King, Jr. and recognizes all other events, celebrations and memorial services throughout this nation in dedication to Dr. King.

Mr. Robinson moved to adopt the resolution.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mrs. Johnson:

Thank you Councilman Robinson and all of you for deciding to do this for the Port Authority of Allegheny County. We are delighted that we were able to share in the memory of this great citizen by naming the only exclusive busway in the entire country after such a man. It has been a well-received busway; the ridership increases every week and it spans a variety of neighborhoods. We think it's more than fitting that it would carry the name of Martin Luther King, Jr.

Thank you very much.

Mr. Adams:

I just want to say that this is a proud moment for me. Some fifteen years ago, I petitioned the School Board as a high school student to get Dr. King's birthday made a national holiday and followed up with a letter to then Congressman Moorehead who introduced a resolution. Earlier in the spring when I spoke to the Port Authority and before Council here and suggested the busway be named after Dr. King, little did I dream that it would be such a convergence of goals and that the national holiday would come at this time.

So, I'm very proud and happy and I hope that all of us will rededicate ourselves to the ideals of Dr. King and his movement which has inspired so many of us to go forward.

For those of you who are able, this evening Reverend Shuttlesworth, one of the five founders of SCLC will be speaking at a service in Dr. King's honor at Rodman Church at 7:00. I invite all of you to come.

Thank you and God bless you.

The Chair:

The Chair would be remiss if the Chair did not point out that this particular resolution received great impetus from the efforts of Councilman William Robinson. The Chair would like to make that known at this particular time. Mr. Robinson, you were in the forefront of it; you did a great deal for it and the fact that you're commemorating such a deserving individual is doubly a compliment.

Mr. Robinson:

Thank you, Mr. President.

Which were read and referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Woods moved to suspend Rule 8 by providing consideration of the bills only until or after the 9th calendar day following the meeting in which the bills were introduced so they will be on the Agenda this Wednesday.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Givens:

We're having a hearing on this on Thursday, aren't we?

The Chair:

That's why he's moving it so it will come on Wednesday and it will fit in with the Thrusday meeting.

Mr. Givens:

What are you going to do Wednesday? Just hold it, right?

The Chair:

Right, but you want to put it in Committee so it comes on the floor for Thursday.

Mr. Givens:

Is that a vote before this Council?

The Chair:

The motion is to waive Rule 8 so it gets on Wednesday. At that time, we'll hold it until after the hearing.

Mr. Givens:

I agree with that but I'm in no hurry to even introduce this particular ordinance until such time as we have the public hearing and other dialogue that should follow.

The Chair:

Yes, but the proper procedural thing, Dick, is to have it come up on Wednesday, hold it until after the public hearing.

Mr. Givens:

I follow that, Mr. President, but that can be very quickly voted on in the following Wednesday session. Otherwise, the Thursday is the public hearing and the following Wednesday, a preliminary vote on this. I am not ready to move that quickly. I want to hear what the public hearing has to say and I think other actions should come out of this Council even before we introduce it. We do not have to have this legislation before us. The public hearing was set back in 1983.

I think the public has to be fully aware of this and we must get input from our public.

The Chair:

The Chair does not see any problem with it. It's a matter of putting it —

Mr. Givens:

There are certain limitations of time. What's the time, Mike, when the bill is introduced? Is it 90 days we have to act on it or something?

Mr. Perry:

This is the creation of an authority. It's a little different than a regular ordinance.

Mr. Givens:

Normal legislation is how many days?

Mr. Perry:

Normal legislation is ten days.

Mr. Givens:

Ten days. This Councilman doesn't want to make that rapid decision. I want to hear what the public has to say out there about this Water Authority before we move into it. This thing wasn't created over night and I don't think we're going to solve it over night. We should deliberate this, form committees to study it, get our own input. The only thing I've received so far are two documents and both of them came from the Administration. That is not Dick Givens doing his job for the public who elected me out there. I want to study this particular issue; I want to hear from independent and other experts. Not just at the public hearing, Mr. President, but along and beside that, I think this Council should dig into this and dig into it very earnestly as to what actions we want to take on this.

The Chair:

Let the Chair try to make it again clear as to what's involved. It's a matter of getting the legislation in place, as well, tie it together with the public hearing and after that, whatever disposition is to come and that's not taking a yes or no answer on it but you have to have it all together. It's just a procedural matter now.

Mr. Givens:

May I submit that you can bring that off the table this Wednesday and have a quick vote? Five votes and we're into a Water Authority and I don't think the people of the Citv of Pittsburgh want that. I think they want to hear —

The Chair:

I don't think anyone is going to approve it before a hearing, Dick, and I think —

Mr. Givens:

I'm not saying this Wednesday, I'm saying next Wednesday.

The Chair:

What difference does it make whether you waive the Rule then or you don't? It still comes up for that Wednesday.

Mr. Givens:

I'm saying that I then cast a no vote to put this on the floor for debate this coming Wednesday. Table it or otherwise.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't want to be out of order. I want to address the whole issue of the Water Authority. The issue of Wednesday is not an issue to me. We've got to get it in place, I agree with you.

The Chair:

I think that's what should be done, frankly. As far as the Water Authority, that will have to be addressed then. We're only talking about whether it goes on Wednesday's meeting.

Michelle Madoff:

Are we voting on that or are we talking about whether we put it up o the 8th? Is that what you wanted to talk about, Bill?

Mr. Robinson:

Yes, that's what I wanted to comment on, if I might. I'm going to support the waiver of the Rule. Very briefly, my reason for doing that is that we've had a lot of discussion in this Council about the proposed creation of a Water and Sewer Authority and we've taken some actions which have given the impression that we're going to create a Sewer and Water Authority. It seems to me that we ought to now at least consider some legislation so that we can vote intelligently whether we want to have it or not have it. To delay submitting legislation, if that's what the Administration thinks we should do, and I think it's rather obvious that's what they think we should do, then we need to entertain their legislation as quickly as possible. As far as the issue of getting the information that we need, this Council has been rather clear in indicating that whatever information members of Council need in this regard they should get. I have taken my own initiative to have some people look at this issue from the first day I read about it in the newspaper and subsequent to talking to a number of people about this matter. I would encourage everyone to support the whole notion of putting it on the agenda for this Wednesday and I think that I, for one, certainly would be unready to vote on this legislation soon thereafter. Soon thereafter to me means next Monday. I don't think it would be in the best interest of this Council or this City for anyone to trv to rush this thing through this Monday and next Monday. I'm sure that neither the President of this Council or the Mayor is proposing that.

The Chair:

On the motion?

Mr. Givens:

Opposed.

The Chair:

Okay, we have one against. The motion carries.

Michelle Madoff:

On the bill?

The Chair:

Michelle, these are only introductions.

Michelle Madoff:

But I think it's very pertinent that I address that now.

The Chair:

We can't open up for debate during the presentation of papers.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm not opening up for debate, Mr. Stone. We voted in this Council, a majority vote, that we would have an advisor come in, paid for, to address the issue.

The Chair:

Can I do this much then? Can you bring that up under remarks and I'm prepared to talk to you about.

Michelle Madoff:

I thought that's where we — Do you want to wait until the end of the — Certainly. I'll bring it up at that point. Fine.

The Chair:

I don't want to start precedent because there's no debate on presentation of papers.

Michelle Madoff:

No problem. Mr. Chairman, I don't want to be out of order. I'll wait until the proper time.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I would hope you would indulge me. We were severely chastised by the media for having what is known as a violation of the Sunshine Bill when we met in the back room. I thought that what we did was really have a catharsis, sort of a group therapy session. I don't think we violated any laws. We sort of exchanged any hostility or feelings that have been created in the past and we were going to commit ourselves to working with respect for each other and harmony.

I'm a little disturbed that perhaps that intention has not been followed when this Council has voted, by majority, and when I lose I will take it graciously, but I won that one, to have a fiscal person review the status of the proposed Water Authority.

You know I've been very up front with you; I have contacted you personally and shared with you the names of the people that I have spoken to. Is that not so?

The Chair:

Yes, and I have spoken to them.

Michelle Madoff:

I spoke with them today and they did not inform me that they have spoken with you.

I think it is also important that I'm a little disturbed to point out that you had said that you would try to schedule a meeting for Council for today and perhaps you could not do that, to discuss among ourselves and with Mr. Schmeiser and the people sponsoring the authority, the Administration, why they feel we should go to a Water Authority and we would have a chance to exchange some thoughts.

The Chair:

Michelle, hold it a second. I did carry your request to the Mayor and tried to set up for today that meeting. It was the Mayor's desire that he meet with everyone in groups and that's what —

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you and that's why I'm going to address that.

My turn at bat was this morning. I met with Mr. Schmeiser —

The Chair:

It's my understanding he will meet with everybody before Thursday relative to this particular matter.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm disturbed about that and I hope you would respect my objection.

This is what we did on the Stadium Authority. We met independently in the Judge's chamber with the Administration, one at a time. Today I was honored to meet with Mr. Schmeiser, Mr Turner, Mr. Schillo, over at the Finance office. What I did was get all my thoughts together and like Mr. Givens and Mr. Robinson, I, as head of the Water Committee, feel I have a special obligation to learn a little bit about my interest which is the bonding of the City in any event, and out debt service, but the Water Authority which is my committee.

In having spoken to a number of people, I would like you to indulge me while I share with you what I shared with Mr. Schmeiser, Mr. Schillo and Mr. Turner, and they told me that I was right. I think that it's important that this Council know that. My question to them was, why not a water revenue bond, a guaranteed water revenue bond, as opposed to an authority? A water authority bond can be issued by the City by segregating revenues generated by the sale of water. Essentially, these bonds would be paid for with user based revenues and should not affect the City's bond rating except to help in the same way that an authority would hopefully lower rates. This would assure that the control of raising or lowering water rates in the future would remain with us, the City and City Council, and not with an independent bureaucracy that would have only one purpose and that purpose, of course, would be just addressing the water and I'm not even going to go into the sewers at this time, and could in fact ultimately have a large surplus. As you know, Alcosan has a surplus. An authority would have the sole say over rate increases and rates could increase not double but four fold. History has shown that to be true. Authorities do not ever lower rates. Instead, they use surplusses for creating a system which is a Cadillac when an Oldsmobile will do the job nicely. Further, general authority bonds pay a higher rate of return and are generally more costly than other bonds. That was the one point that we did not quite agree on but since speaking to them I will give some additional information when I get to the end of my little one page statement here. I have talked to people to find out indeed it is another issue and it is a higher bond to us. Authorities can become, this is my own personal view, right with bureaucratic jobs over the long haul and are hot beds of patronage. The argument that Pittsburghers pay one of the lowest rates in the country will not hold true and will become moot, I believe, within the third year as proposed by the rate increase of the Administration. Further, other communities who do have higher water rates, are not saddled with an unheard of four percent wage tax. Maybe we deserve lower water rates.

In any scenario, in anything we decide to do in this Council, water rates must be raised to factor in the actual cost of generating the water and delivery. In other words, factoring the capital cost. Once rates reflect the true cost, the large users will be helping to defray the guaranteed water revenue bond without the need for an authority. In light of the fact that the City will guarantee or will still be the guarantor for the insurance of all liability for an authority, I would argue that there is no reason to go to an authority. That's a further argument why not to go to an authority.

Harrisburg, incidently, after using a consulting firm that I have been talking to, decided not to go to a water authority. City Council has put the Mayor on notice there that they will not go to a water authority and the only thing they will accept is either a guaranteed water revenue bond or a general obligation bond. Last year, Harrisburg anticipated a $1.5 million, after raising rates, return to the City for water. They got $2 million which put another half million into their general fund.

I've discussed these issues with Mr. William Cobb of Government Finance Associates of Princeton, New Jersy, and with Mr. Marty Margolis, Financial Management Services of Harrisburg and I also fleetingly discussed the concept of a water revenue bond with Mr. Jack Robbin, the architect of Renaissance I and II, and he didn't disagree with my premise.

The unanswered issue for me until today was whether we were going to have a municipal authority or a state authority because that affects how the PUC would interact and I've learned it's going to be a municipal authority chartered by the state.

I would hope that we would take the time, Mr. Givens and others have stated, to have a consulting firm or individual review the data supplied by Green International and Price Waterhouse to advise Council as to what would be the best route for us to take. Then I believe we would be voting intelligently. We would not have a conflict of interest and we would be voting as an independent body.

I am disturbed that Mead Mulvihill has already been selected as the counsel for the Water Authority and that no contract is available for members of Council to see although the bond underwriters and the counsel, meaning the attorneys for Ed Strauss, for Brook and Russ Lander and Blight Eastman. I've already seen drafts of that same agreement. I have not seen the agreement, the lease between the Authority and the City. I've not been privileged, and I don't think any other member of Council has unless it came through today, to see any contractual arrangement for bonds.

Getting back to the last item that I mentioned that I would refer back to on an authority bond versus a general revenue bond. The reason authority bonds are greater is that you have to have an indenture, a coverage indenture, that is 20 percent higher than you would normally require. In other words, if we need 100 percent to meet out debt, we raise rates to cover that 100 percent of a general bond, we've already put in 120 percent recovery.

The Chair:

At this moment you are quoting whom?

Michelle Madoff:

I'm quoting the statement we got from the Administration by Mr. Katz, I believe, who says that we have to put that money aside.

Now, from where I sit, I think it's appropriate since we have not met at large, we've all met individually with the fiscal people, I think we're at a great disadvantage that way. I want to go on record and I've told the Mayor this, that I personally believe after doing my research, but my mind is not locked in the closed position, it could be changed, as of this moment I believe that we gain nothing by going to a water authority except to assure that water rates will increase, perhaps three and four times, we lose control and we gain nothing really. Even if it were true that a water authority would have a lower rate on bonds, the trade off of giving up the right to control water rates or even lower them and having that money to operate the City is just too costly. I think we have to think about that very, very carefully.

There was an article in the editorial of the Post, I believe, on Ms. Hafer saying that she was wrong in her approach to a bond issue. One of the things they state is that she went at the issue but from the wrong point was that we should not be negotiating our bond, we should be bidding it. I've talked to some attorneys and they tell me that last year Duquesne Light saved $1.5 million on their bond issue by going out on a competitive bid on the bond as opposed to negotiating the sale of the bonds.

I support the Post in that position. I would like to point out further, Mr. Stone, that you've made a statement which I took to be gospel. I figured you know more than I do. I'm not so sure that is correct and I hope you would respect that opinion. How could somebody, a fiscal entity, come in in a very short period of time, in two weeks, tell us better than the other people who have been advising the Administration over a year's period and be able to make a constructive recommendation to us? They said the same thing to me today. I spoke to Mr. Marty Margolis who will call me tomorrow and tell me whether for $500 or slightly more, he would be willing to fly in here on the 19th and based on exactly the same information that this Council has, we have nothing else, we only have what we have, using the same data which I shipped to them Air Express and it arrived Friday, they are prepared to come in and give us both sides of the issue and then let us make up our own minds. Then we are getting our own independent counsel and our advisors fiscally. I think we voted on that and I would like to make a recommendation that if they will come or if you have somebody else, Government Finance out of Princeton are the people who did the Baltimore authority, they recommended the authority and other places they recommended against it.

The decision is going to be ours, ladies and gentlemen of Council. It is really a decision that could go either way. It is really not going to affect the City substantively whether we go to an authority or whether we issue a guaranteed water revenue bond. But we are going to give up the right and what we don't want to do is bite the bullet and raise rates for saying, "Hey, Authority, you go raise the rates" and then we're nice and clean and our hands are clean. I don't think we can do that and I would respectfully ask that we vote this moment on having a consultant come in for the 19th to give us some interpretation since we voted to have a consultant at any event.

The Chair:

Let me just back you up slightly. It is true that you asked me on behalf of Councilmembers to talk with the Mayor and as I've reported to you, the Mayor indicated that he would meet with every Councilperson. It is my understanding that he either has met with all or at least most, but will finish with everybody.

Secondly, you gave me some names, one of which was Attorney Peter Denby. I spoke to Peter Denby and he indicated that the kind of advice that he would give would be legal rather than fiscal.

Michelle Madoff:

That is correct.

The Chair:

You also gave me the name of Mr. William Cobbs at Princeton and I called that number, 609-453-1575. He was not there.

Michelle Madoff:

It's 452-1575.

The Chair:

I got him in New York at 212-466-0566. In speaking to him, he indicated that you had spoken to him some ten days ago. He said he was not aware there was $150-160 million involved in this matter. He indicated that as far as his work is concerned that he felt that he could not, on account of an expeditious fashion, handle the matter. He said that he was looking more toward a yearly or project involvement and indicated that you had talked to him something about $40,000 to $50,000 and he also indicated to me that he was aware of Mr. Katz' organization and while they are in competition, he felt that Mr. Katz was a reliable individual. I told him I would get back to him because I figured this matter would come up now.

I just want to straighten the record that I've done everything I was supposed to do.

Michelle Madoff:

May I respond to that?

The Chair:

Do you agree with that?

Michelle Madoff:

No, not quite. He's a little confused.

The Chair:

That's not my point.

Michelle Madoff:

No, I think you followed through with those two people but I don't think they're the only two people in the whole world that we could talk to.

The Chair:

That's not my point, though. I then did not violate the trust that you had —

Michelle Madoff:

No, I am not saying that. I'm saying that I would like to have a procedure whereby if that person can't do it, I'm groping to find somebody, we should not be at this last minute groping for somebody when this should have been done a long time ago.

The Chair:

The Chair stands ready, willing and able to accept all of your suggestions. I do think, however, that we should try to get the best results, even under the constraints of where it is. That's where I'm at with it, frankly. He indicated that before he could do too much about it he would need to first have the material. Apparently you didn't send the material to him.

Michelle Madoff:

I sent it to the other gentleman.

The Chair:

He indicated after that it would still take some time but that he frankly was looking for annual or project, like a bond issue, kind of deal.

Michelle Madoff:

Point of clarification. The $40,000 to $50,000, what happened is there's a young woman by the name of Miss Ronnie Goldsmith. Mr. Woods said before we discuss a fiscal advisor, and I think other members of Council have said they would like to define what the role of that person would be because if that person came aboard, would they be getting a salary, would they be full-time, what would they do and what extra monies would they need. I got to him through Miss Ronnie Goldsmith. Miss Ronnie Goldsmith is the, and I'd like to share this with Council, the fiscal analyst for the city of Baltimore. The city of Baltimore was in very much the same situation as the City of Pittsburgh was. They Mayor handed down all the information with his input, his advisors. The equivalent of the Allegheny Conference in Baltimore which is the John Hopkins Hospital I believe, head of that hospital who is also head of their equivalent of the Allegheny Conference, felt that the Council of the City of Baltimore should indeed have their own fiscal personage. They went out and hired this person by running an ad in the New York Times which essentially said, the ad in the New York Times to assure the independence of the person hired. The requirements were for a person to have a Masters Degree plus, not just a Masters Degree but plus a Municipal Finance or Economics who had taught at the university level as well as having legislative experience in the field of public finance. They hired this woman; she's now earning $50,000. She works as the head of what we consider our budget office. They have people like Mr. Buckley and Mr. D'Alessandro and others who do the accounting and the bookkeeping. She analyses the data for someone like you, for the Finance Chairman. That is her staff. But when they went out for a bond, they went to the gentleman you called. He was Mr. Cobb in Princeton. The $40,000 to $50,000 figure was her salary; that did come up in conversation. He said he would not recommend having, and that's what I wanted to share with Council, having what I've termed as a "fiscal advisor" and so did the other gentleman I spoke to. They said what you need is an on-going, day by day, fiscal analyst who works in our budget department who is equipped with the credentials that I just outlined. I've spoken to our good people who do tremendous work in our budget office but who agree they don't have these qualifications. At that point, if we decided to go out on a water authority or we had an issue like the Stadium, then you hire one of these people but not as we're doing, in the last ten days.

In talking with Mr. Margolis he did tell me that since there is no other information available other than what Council has received, he could, within a day, digest that information and pointed out to me that a lot of information isn't there, some of the information I'm sharing with you, which was essentially that you just can't look at the Water Authority separately as a bond without looking at the fact that you have to provide the coverage indenture which raises the cost of the Water Authority bonds and he's prepared to come here if his partners agree to it. Here I am at zero hour, groping, trying to do the right thing, and looking for somebody. Well, maybe I don't have one of the 25 people that could come. You talked to one and they said no. I talked to one who said maybe. But we've got to get one that's going to say yes because this Council voted to have somebody. There's somebody that can take the same information that this Council is privy to because that's all we have, and certainly analyze it with their experience a lot better than we could do. We voted for that and I would like to have that come to fruition.

The Chair:

There's no question of that. As I indicated to you earlier, I think the time constraints makes almost that kind of study useless. If we want to waste money we might. But on the other hand, relative to any expert or consultant along these lines, I told you then and you took the availability to come to my office and give me names and I followed it up.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm not criticizing you, Mr. Stone. All I'm saying is that it's unfortunate, as Mr. Givens has pointed out, that here we are at zero hour looking for people. I have somebody who said, and I will quote, I think you missed this, that since there is no other data except what we've been provided for and the contract can be obtained immediately, that they can make some recommendations, both pro and con, to this Council so that we can make up our own minds. They can do that. How can we make decisions on information we don't have either?

So, when you say how can they do it in such a short period of time, the data is there. We have no reason to question the data. It's a matter of interpreting the data. My interpretation at this point is that we should not go to a water authority; we should issue a guaranteed water revenue bond. That's how I feel.

The Chair:

I don't want to go into the second issue because I think we're —

Michelle Madoff:

We still need to have a fiscal person come in.

The Chair:

Whether we have or do not have is not the issue at this point. The issue is whether or not we have a fiscal advisor and the Chair is still willing to take names from anyone and talk to them to see whether or not they can carry out what you intend.

Michelle Madoff:

The problem I had with Mr. Margolis is that I think he's afraid as most consultants would be of killing off his chances of every doing any work for the City by coming in and working for a person. I think it would be improper for him to come in although I have a stipend for the year and I can hire him out of my stipend to come in and by my Michelle Madoff consultant. I would much prefer that the President of Council call and say we have a vote, are you prepared to analyze the data you have and come in and testify on the 19th.

The Chair:

That's exactly what I'm trying to do. I don't know what more I can do for you. You give me a name and I'll call and find out.

Michelle Madoff:

Will you call Mr. Margolis and ask him? He will be in tomorrow.

The Chair:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

One last thing. You talked about Mr. Peter Denby. What you say is correct. Miss Gunther and I went to see him and he had another gentleman who is an expert in authorities. They said exactly what you said. The only information that they could give us would be one of a legal nature. They would not be able to give us one of a fiscal nature and they strongly recommended that this Council get ourselves some economic advisor input. But he did say in reviewing this material that I've just reviewed with you, and he's going to review it and give me some feedback, essentially that it could be one way or the other. Everybody is saying that. So, it boils down to how does this Council want to vote. Do we want to get rid of the obligation and give it to an authority or do we want to keep it and take that responsibility?

The Chair:

No, I think the issue before this Council is, you've already voted for a fiscal advisor.

Michelle Madoff:

For this issue.

The Chair:

For this issue only. The Chair stands ready, willing and able to take any names and investigate to try to get someone who is going to give us a review and hopefully we're going to get our money's worth.

Michelle Madoff:

I thank you very much for that and as I said, if it's just $500, I'd be happy to pay it out of my stipend for staffing. However, I think that becomes bad.

The Chair:

I'm willing to talk to him and then we'll find out where we go. For me, I'm probing what number one, so you know, what services they're going to perform, how much monev they want and do they have any information. If not, once you get it how long will it take for you to assemble it, to absorb it, and be qualified, then and only then, to give us an opinion.

Michelle Madoff:

They're going to work, Mr. Stone, I hate to be repetitious, with exactly the information that we have presently. Council has only been provided with certain documents.

The Chair:

That doesn't bother me.

Michelle Madoff:

They can do that in 24 hours.

The Chair:

The only thing that bothers me is if someone can make a decision before they get the material.

Michelle Madoff:

They haven't made a decision before they got the material. They arrived Friday and they said they would review it and wouldn't even tell me until tomorrow if they'll come in.

The Chair:

I'm talking about one of the others who did not get material.

Just so we understand where we are at this moment. We are not talking yes or no on the Water Authority. We're only talking about whether or not we get the fiscal advisor. That's already been voted on and it's matter now that you give me the names and I'll follow it up. I'm not dodging it.

Mrs. Masloff:

Mr. President, the question is moot, I know, because you voted to appoint or elect or assign a fiscal advisor. I may be naive but I believe that we were elected by the people to make decisions based on common sense. It doesn't make sense to me to pay an expensive advisor to tell us what to do. If we talk to five advisors we're going to get five opinions. If any Councilmember feels the need for information in any matter, he or she has resources to avail themsevles of before they make an opinion. I can't understand why we should pay any exorbitant fees which some of these advisors want for opinions that we may or may not take or even want.

So, I'm against the fiscal advisor. I don't think they can give us anything that we can't get ourselves.

The Chair:

Sophie, we have your remarks for the record but we've already voted on it and it's past.

Mrs. Masloff:

I know. I know the question is moot and I wasn't here.

Mr. Givens:

Mr. Stone, I was somewhat disturbed when this ordinance was introduced today in regards to the Water Authority. It was very interesting that when the legal department that represents this Council mailed out on Thursday to all the Councilmembers what was going to be on the agenda this coming Monday as far as introduction of papers, what we were going to sit down and discuss with the Mayor's staff, this was not a part of it. I came out here at 2:00 to this session and all of a sudden it's introduced in the Chairmanship of Finance. I have not had the opportunity to even look at that document and yet we're even waiving Council's Rule 8 so it will be on the agenda this coming Wednesday with a public hearing Thursday. I can guarantee you that this Council will be forced into a vote by the following Wednesday. Just so all the information that Michelle is talking about, we must sit down and deliberate and study it.

I don't agree with what Sophie had to say. You get five opinions, you're going to get five different opinions. I want more than two opinions on this subject. I want a third and I want a fourth and I want this Council to go out and seek that opinion so when they come in to us, we're not giving them a mandate of anything. We're saying, "You look at these other two documents and you compare and you tell us what we're in store for." And it's not what we're in store for, it's what the public is in store for because the public is going to pay the freight. Do they want to do it on a longer term, under our normal operating budget, which means that we in this Council will have to raise a little bit of taxes over the next ensuing 10 to 15 years to do this? Or do we want to go out and borrow up to that some $145 million at 10 percent and indebt our children in paying this water system off? The water system didn't go bad over night. It's not a catastrophe.

The Chair:

Mr. Givens, I don't mind you talking as long as it's only on the matter of a fiscal advisor. Let's not talk about yes or no —

Mr. Givens:

We're talking about the bill that was introduced —

The Chair:

No, we're not on that issue.

Mr. Givens:

The mere fact of getting information.

The Chair:

We are not on that issue. We are only on the matter of fiscal advisor.

Mr. Givens:

That's what I'm getting down to. We don't have two or three reservoirs to a tower that's swinging like the Tower of Pisa up there that is going to fall over. We've got some water breaks but they're not astronomical to any other city in the northeast. And is everyone running out going into this authority issue? No. Most cities are taking it out of their general operating revenues and I think we have to sit down and say to us, what is going to be the most cost effective to the city of Pittsburgh, not how fast we're going to get this whole system updated in say 5 or 10 years. It took 100 years to get this way, surely it's going to take a few more years to correct the situation. But I am not in a panic situation and I want to be sure, financially and otherwise, that the taxpayers of the City of Pittsburgh get the best and fairest deal. If we wanted to do this, we have to resolutions before us today for referendum questions. Why didn't we put this on a referendum question? If the people want to pay for it, why don't we ask the people if they want to pay for it? If not, —

The Chair:

Mr. Givens, we're not talking referendum.

Mr. Givens:

You're not leaving me finish. That's why I'm arguing.

The Chair:

I can't let you finish because you're going astray of the issue. The issue is only whether or not we have a fiscal advisor. It has nothing to do with —

Mr. Givens:

The issue is to get experts in here. We're going to have one public hearing on Thursday. Bingo. That's it. I will not have any expertise to talk to other than my own staff, our Finance Chair, you. The Mayor is going to take myself and Bill Robinson at 3:30 to give us his viewpoint on it. That viewpoint should have been discussed at 9:00 this morning with every Councilperson sitting down there and we should have had that information last Thursday so we could have gotten and had some intelligent questions to ask the Mayor, food for thought so we could carry it on and when the public hearing came up we might be more atone to it. I don't like the way this thing is being handled.

Michelle Madoff:

On the fiscal advisor —

The Chair:

I'm going to bring it down by saying right after you're finished, that's it.

Michelle Madoff:

For the record. When the advisory board to cable came to give us a recommendation, they said we cannot do it because we need a fiscal advisor. With all due respect, Sophie Masloff. For the record.

The Chair:

Alright. I'm saying again. The Chair stands ready, willing and able to receive any names of anyone who can be a fiscal advisor so we can talk to them about what they can do in this instance.

With that, we'll move on to the matter of Reports of Committees.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

Mr. Woods presented

Bill No. 59

Report of the Committee on Finance for January 11, 1984 transmitting one ordinance and two resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 13

An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance directing the Allegheny County Board of Elections to place before the qualified voters of the City of Pittsburgh a referendum question as to whether or not the voters are in favor of amending the Home Rule Charter of the City of Pittsburgh to provide for an annual salary adjustment of City elected officials' salaries." (AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE)

Which was read.

Mr. Woods moved to recommit Bill No. 13.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, may I make a comment on that? Last week we talked about the time restraints involved here. It was mentioned at the Committee Meeting that we are working under tight time constraints on both referendums —

The Chair:

I think you're accurate. We did mention there were some time constraints but because of the movement of the date I don't know that we're stuck with the same thing. It might be done with a petition, if I recall someone indicating to us. Am I accurate on that?

Mr. Woods:

Right. The Law Department is willing to file a petition in court. As long as we get it there 60 days prior to April 10th.

Mr. Wagner:

To continue, I think it was the belief of Council that both of these referendums had to be rushed through with the suspension of Rule 8, going back a week ago. There's been considerable constroversy over a couple of them and it's sad that we just didn't decide at that point in time that we had sufficient time to discuss both referendums and the detail necessary.

The reason why I'm bringing this up is, today I was going to move to amend Bill No. 13 pertaining to the salary increases. I just want to go on record as stating that I think this Council should have had the proper advice back a week ago pertaining to whether or not we had sufficient time to discuss both of these referendums.

The Chair:

In fairness, Mr. Wagner, what you cited is correct. There is a certain period of time. After we found that that was a problem it was then brought up, I don't know who was the author of the comment, that we could petition as long as we were within the 60 days. So, I don't know that there's different interpretation other than we're updated in view of the problems. We had two deadlines initially.

Mr. Givens:

Who is going to submit the petitions?

The Chair:

This is a motion to recommit.

Mr. Givens:

Okay, you recommit. If that does not get in within the normal 60 days, the Election Department cannot put it on the ballot for this coming April 10th election. Is that right?

Mr. Woods:

Mr. Givens, if I may, the City Law Department will petition the court to put it on the ballot.

Mr. Givens:

That's fine. They will petition. Will that petition come from this Council body in the form of an ordinance or will they just petition?

Mr. Woods:

Once we pass the legislation they're going to have to.

Michelle Madoff:

How much time do we have, Mr. Stone?

The Chair:

Wait, Michelle.

Mr. Givens:

Hold it. We debated this particular subject and everything else the other day. What is the purpose for recommitting? Are you going to change the ordinance, the wording of it? Or are you going to change a lot of money? What are you doing?

Mr. Woods:

One of our colleagues has an amendment up and he showed me and I presume he showed many of you prior to this meeting. We didn't have a chance to discuss it. I didn't have a chance to look over it. One of the other members is not here and I asked him if I recommitted could we bring it up this Wednesday. He graciously agreed so that we can discuss it more informally than at this meeting. I checked with the Law Department and as long as we get it in prior to 60 days —

Michelle Madoff:

What's the 60 days? What's the date?

Mr. Woods:

It has to be in February 10th.

The Chair:

Do you have your answer, Mr. Givens?

Mr. Givens:

I have no problem with that.

The Chair:

Are there any other comments?

Mr. Wagner:

Yes. The procedure of requesting the official opinion, have we obtained that official opinion from the City Solicitor on the time restraints involved here?

The Chair:

I've not been requested by you to do it.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, I am requesting that at this point in time.

The Chair:

Alright. Then we'll ask the Law Department for an official opinion on that. Okay?

Also,

Bill No. 14

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution authorizing the Mayor to issue a warrant countersigned by the City Controller in favor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Labor and Industry in an amount not to exceed $250,000.00 to return excess funds drawn from JTPA grants."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Givens	Mr. Robinson
Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 8 NOES none

And there being two-thirds of the votes of Council in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Also,

Bill No. 18

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement with Grigsby, Gaca & Davies, P.C. for professional legal services for the City Controller."

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

I asked what the money was to be used for. Remember, you asked that at the Finance Meeting, Mr. Stone? I asked you and you said you'd find out by today. What was that money to be used for?

Mr. Woods:

If I may, Mr. Chairman, he did answer it last Wednesday, Michelle. Instead of having a full-time Solicitor, now he's subcontracting one out.

Michelle Madoff:

Oh, excuse me, that's for the Controller's Office, Mr. Flaherty. Yes, I did get the answer. I apologize. No problem.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Givens	Mr. Robinson
Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 8 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Mr. Grabowski presented

Bill No. 60

Report of the Committee on General Services for January 11, 1984 transmitting one ordinance to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 6

An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance directing the Allegheny County Board of Elections to place before the voters of the City of Pittsburgh a referendum as to whether the said voters are in favor of supplementing the Home Rule Charter by authorizing the City to establish a procedure to set aside certain classes of contracts for goods and non-professional services for minorities, women, Vietnam Veterans, and handicapped, by eliminating competitive bidding requirements for those contracts." (AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE)

Which was read.

Mr. Woods moved to recommit Bill No. 6.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

(MR. GIVENS OPPOSED)

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

The Chair presents

Bill No. 63 Resolution approving the re-appointment by Pittsburgh City Council of Dr. Martin Kraus of 818 Cedar Avenue, Pittsburgh, PA 15212, as a member of the City of Pittsburgh Personnel Appeals Board for a 4 year term to expire December 31, 1987.

Michelle Madoff:

Who is the sponsor of the resolution?

The Chair:

I am.

Michelle Madoff:

I second it.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

Dr. Kraus came to my office and explained to me that if he finds out that there is no need for his services, he will resign. What he would like to do is have the opportunity — I've spoken to the Law Department to ask them how he can get in touch with the 300 people that have the right to come to his Appeals Board and avail themselves of the services.

He feels that that cannot be done and there's no need for his entity. If he doesn't have any hearings, he will abandon that board. He also asked me to find out whether that board would be paid if they just meet once a month, just to plan what they're going to do. The Mayor's response was, no, they would be paid.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I am certainly in favor of the appointment of Dr. Kraus, but isn't it the procedure of this Council to bring it to the attention of the Council members what individual is being considered?

The Chair:

This is a renewal of the appointment that was there before.

Michelle Madoff:

You can vote to hold it and vote on it.

Mr. Wagner:

No, I don't vote to hold it. I'm just wondering about the procedure of an appointment to that position, whether or not we should be privy to that information prior to a vote.

The Chair:

Well, the motion is being presented at this time, and this is the time that you decide whether you want to hold it, talk about, vote it up, or vote it down.

Just a couple a quick things, if I may, Mr. Robinson. As you're all aware, we have a public hearing on Thursday relative to the matter of the Water Authority that will be televised since it is a public hearing. Anything else for the good of this organization?

The Chair presents

Bill No. 64 RESOLUTION, WHEREAS, on Saturday, January 21, 1984, the Greater Pittsburgh pro-life community will observe its "Sanctity of Life" weekend, as part of its annual observance of "Respect Life Week"; and

WHEREAS, this occasion marks the annual beginning of a week when many citizens of Pittsburgh will join with tens of thousands of other Americans in Wasington, D.C. to publicly protest the 1973 Supreme Court decision, which authorized abortion on demand; and

WHEREAS, the central purpose of this observance is to proclaim that every person, including the unborn child, is entitled to the fundamental right of life, and should be accorded that right, with dignity and respect;

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Members of the City Council of Pittsburgh, hereby proclaims January 16, 1984 through January 23, 1984 as "Respect Life Week", and encourages the citizens of Pittsburgh, to become aware, to recognize, to respect; and to accord and preserve - this fundamental right to life - for all.

Mr. Woods moved the adopt the resolution.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson:

Thank you, Mr. President. I would like to report on my recent trip to the National Real Estate Development Center's National Strategy Conference for Issuers, Bond Counsel, Underwriters and Investors, which was conducted January 12 and 13, 1984 at the Capital Hilton Hotel, Washington, D.C.

The conference focussed on House Resolution 4170 now being considered by the United States Congress. This bill would affect the issuing of Industrial Development Bonds and Mortgage Revenue Bonds by cities such as Pittsburgh. Both types of bonds, if continued to be authorized, could be instrumental in assuring the continued development of urban areas in cities like Pittsburgh.

I will provide additional information on the trip upon request.

The Chair:

Just tell us that the fact that you met up there will not be changed, and that's all we need. Mr. Robinson's pointing out about the IDA loans is popularly known. There are some proposals which may change the tax advantage on those bills. If that happens, that would be slightly regretful here in this — not slightly but a major regret —

Mr. Robinson:

Right, I would just like to encourage members of Council who are concerned about the development of our City, particularly some of the depressed areas, to become familiar with 4170 and to do what they can to become informed and to contact our Congressmen, because if indeed the industrial revenue bond and the mortgage revenue bond are not allowed to operate basically as they are now, we may find ourselves without the proper incentives to get the kind of private development that we need in the City; and I would encourage everyone to become informed on this issue.

My position is that we must push to have 4170 as it's presently structured defeated. 4170 needs to be changed and amended, and I would suggest that we contact Congressman Walgren, Congressman Gaydos, Congressman Coyne and to express to our delegation our concern about this bill and become more informed on it.

The Chair:

Mr. Robinson, I think both of us ought to mention at this time that the granting of those funds is based on the projection of how many people will be hired, so it is really an unemployment bill, and it's a very important thing. I might suggest, Mr. Robinson, that you make that in a form of a motion and we'll send that to all of the Congressmen from this area.

Mr. Robinson:

So moved.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

This Council supports that concept and would like to see it passed.

Michelle Madoff:

I want to congratulate you because you just threw me a curve ball that I'm very pleased about, and you said we're going to televise the Water Authority hearing because it's a hearing. Well, we have not been televising hearings, and I think that should be the way it should be done, and I think as President, you're setting a wonderful precedent.

Mr. Stone:

Well, in fairness, that comes out of the budget as well, and it's something that is of great importance to this community, and we ought to be —

Michelle Madoff:

I hope you'll continue that precedent.

Mr. Woods:

Well, Mr. President. I'm sorry, Michelle, I wasn't paying much attention. I think you should ask for a vote for that, because that's what we've done in the past, and you know, I've always voted against it, and I will do the same.

Mr. Robinson:

Is that a motion?

Michelle Madoff:

My motion is to congratulate you and support having that hearing televised on the 19th.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, one last item, please.

The Chair:

The Chair, as is said many times, when you get something good, you get something likewise in caution. This is on Thursday a public hearing. We are going to have some people coming here on a major issue. They have a right to be heard, and the Chair will listen to the people who come to testify, and I hope that anyone who has any questions will be short, brisk, get your questions out of the way. It's not time for us to be giving deliveries to them, but rather it's time to collect data from them.

The Chair would like to maintain that kind of stature when we have the public hearing on Thursday. It is data collection and information and recommendations from the people.

Michelle Madoff:

I understand and I'm a little bit surprised, while I paid you a compliment, I'm a little nonplussed on another action that has taken place. I don't know if it's correct and I give you the opportunity to respond. I was told that on the Armour — is there a hearing tomorrow on Armour, some meeting?

The Chair:

No.

Michelle Madoff:

I was told there was going to be a meeting on Armour and that there was a meeting and that nine copies were delivered to you, invitations that would be delivered to all members of Council. I never received one, and I didn't go to the meeting, because I felt that it was intentional that I was not invited. I had been involved in the Station Square negotiations. I got involved in the Equitable Gas —

The Chair:

Only Council people speak at this meeting. Gentlemen, please.

Audience:

How can you sit here and talk about — then you change your mind and then go into a secret meeting by yourselves. What happened to the thing, we were supposed to be there, two of our people from our negotiating team? You sat there like you were going to help us, but now you —

The Chair:

Sergeant at Arms. We will maintain this meeting with decorum. I'm willing to meet with you people after this meeting, but for you and everyone else, when a Council meeting is on, it is for Council members only to speak.

Mr. Ferlo:

How do we get through?

Michelle Madoff:

Gentlemen, I was speaking. May I continue, please?

The Chair:

I will meet with you after, and I'm sure after you hear the explanation, you'll be satisfied. If not, then we'll solve that problem pretty quick.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, may I continue? Was it true that you received a call —

The Chair:

I was not invited. I did not give any deliveries or call any meetings, I came in on a meeting that had begun before I got there, and at that particular point we picked it up.

Michelle Madoff:

I read —

The Chair:

Let me say this much.

Michelle Madoff:

I read it in the papers, there was a meeting with four members of this Council. I thought they didn't want me there, I now find out I was invited, but I never got my invitation.

The Chair:

Now, let me say this much. For everyone's benefit, I would suggest that this matter not be discussed any further right now, and at that point I'm willing to meet with these gentlemen afterwards and we'll discuss it then.

Michelle Madoff:

I was not discussing the merits of the meeting or who's involved. All I wanted to know was that you got an invitation that you didn't give me.

Mr. Stone:

I did not receive a call to call people to a meeting.

Michelle Madoff:

That's what I wanted — I didn't get my invitation and I felt put out that these four people, members of Council, when we agreed to have harmony here and that we were all going to be involved and work together, I felt deliberately excluded, and I thought, oh, we're going back to the same thing again, which I don't want to have happen.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Stone, you were given nine invitations to give —

The Chair:

Sergeant of Arms, I want him out of the room.

Mr. Ferlo:

Well, you're lying to the members of Council —

The Chair:

I want him out of the room. He's been around long enough to know how these things are handled. I want him out of the room. We are going to maintain in this room the decorum that should be done in the proper way.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President, if I might, an issue has come to my attention which I believe that several members of Council are aware of. Unfortunately, Mrs. Masloff was ill at the time this matter was brought to my attention or I would have discussed it thoroughly with her.

This concerns the traffic pattern in Highland Park. As Council is aware, there has been some discussion relative to the change in the traffic pattern, which, in effect, has restricted traffic in the park.

While I recognize there are a lot of related issues surrounding this matter, it seems that the probationary period that we have given for this traffic pattern is coming to a close. I believe it's March that we're supposed to re-evaluate the traffic pattern. Certainly Parks and Recreation is going to re-evaluate it.

I would hope that Mrs. Masloff and perhaps Mrs. Brown would attempt to find some sort of appropriate form into which persons who have concerns about that traffic pattern can place those concerns and have them handled in a fashion that respects all the parties who are involved.

It seems to me that the traffic flow is creating some other problems and may indeed relate to some other issues. If those issues can be resolved by other units of government, we ought to work towards that aim, because certainly there are a considerable number of people who are beginning to protest the traffic pattern.

I have in my possession a petition with at least 136 names of persons who have some serious reservations about that traffic pattern. Let me say that my interest is in trying to resolve the problems at the lowest level possible. I am not attempting in any way to exacerbate an already bad situation and one that probably could get worse, but I certainly will be more than happy to turn the information that I have over to Mrs. Masloff, but I would encourage Council to be aware of this issue, a little more aware so that we can attempt to resolve it departmentally and resolve it without creating any additional community tensions. Thank you.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. Stone, before we adjourn, I'd like to make a formal request relative to the meeting that a number of Council members are going to have tomorrow with members of ConAgra, and I would ask that you call the Chairman of the Board, or whatever appropriate officials out there in Nebraska —

The Chair:

Mr. Grabowski, may I suggest that we meet after this meeting and discuss that matter? I think it's in the best interest of the employees.

Mr. Grabowski:

Okay.

Mr. Robinson moved that Mr. O'Malley be excused for absence from this meeting.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Woods moved to approve the minutes of Monday, December 19, 1983, Tuesday, December 27, 1983 and Saturday, December 31, 1983.

Mr. Givens seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Michelle Madoff

Council adjourned.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to make a comment on those last bills that were introduced for some information that we'll need by Wednesday. Do you want me to wait until we're through all the bills?

The Chair:

As long as you're not going to discuss the bill.

Michelle Madoff:

No, I just need some information to be available to us when the bills come up a week from Wednesday. May I comment on it now or do you want me to wait?

The Chair:

Go ahead.

Michelle Madoff:

The statement on all those bills as read was for the benefit of the residents of the City. Untrue. There will be many, many suburbanites coming in and I think this is one area where we ought to rope off the area and have identification by our own people. I want to know how that can be done, whether somebody would be here from Parks and Recreation. We've done it for tennis courts. I want to know how we could do that when we discuss the bills because we're talking about a lot of money and here's one way of showing the suburbanites what they really get from the City.

Mr. O'Malley presented

Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

And a majority of the votes of Council not being in the affirmative, the motion was defeated.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I now move to amend Bill No. 13. The amendment reads: "Shall Section 310(h) of the Pittsburgh Home Rule Charter be amended to read as follows:

To fix by resolution the salary of all elected City officials, the salaries of all City Councilmembers shall be decreased and they shall be paid at an annual salary rate of $30,500 from July 1, 1984.

From that time forward, no elected official shall receive a salary increase that exceeds the average percentage of increase in salaries and wages paid to all City employees as based on the previous years salary.

Further, the salary paid to elected City office holders shall not be diminished during their term in office."

The Chair:

If I'm reading you correctly, that's changed from the one you made on Wednesday.

Mr. Wagner:

Yes, Mr. President, it's a change from the figure, decreasing to $30,000 to a change of decreasing to $30,500.

Mr. O'Malley:

I question the technicality. I'm not sure changing the figure is actually a change in the legislation. I'd like to have a clarification from the Law Department on that.

Parliamentarian:

The City Clerk has talked to the Deputy Solicitor.

Mr. Perry:

The Deputy City Solicitor informed me that a change in the rate would constitute a new amendment. It's legal.

The Chair:

In view of that, do I have a second?

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, as I indicated, I don't want to talk on this very long. As a matter of fact, I would like to have my comments made in the Committee on January 18, 1984 brought forward for the record here today.

(BEGINNING - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 13 - WEDNESDAY, 1/18/84)

Mr. Wagner:

I motion to amend this bill and I'd like to read the amendment -- to fix by resolution the salary of all City officials, the salary of all City Councilmembers, the salary of all City Councilmembers shall be decreased and they shall be paid an annual salary rate of $30,000.00 from July 1, 1984. From that time foward, no elected official shall receive a salary increase that exceeds the average percentage of increase in salaries and wages paid to all City employees, as based on the previous year's salary. Further, the salary paid to elected City officeholders shall not be diminished during their term in office.

In response to Mr. Givens, the change in the Charter was originally recommended by the Mayor with this referendum, and all I am suggesting is an amendment to that change. I'd like to give you some background information, all of you, because this affects every one of us. Why I feel this way, and I have distributed to each one of you, on Monday, some information that I will be referring to, and also information that was just handed out, I am convinced that the public will vote no on this referendum because they believe it is a matter of voting to give Council a raise by voting yes in the voting booth or not a raise by voting no. Please refer to a Pittsburgh Press editorial dated May 2, 1982, two weeks prior to the vote on this similar referendum approximately two years ago. "If you are a registered voter in Pittsburgh, regardless of which party you are affiliated with, or even if you have no party affiliation, you should go to the polls on May 18 to vote no on this question. Otherwise, Council's salaries are certain to escape all reasonable restraints and escalate beyond reasonable levels. These increases should be tied to the average boost granted to all City employees by Council itself. Of course, by one estimate, the Councilmatic salaries would top $55,000.00." That is what they said two years ago.

If the Pittsburgh Press was printing these types of articles, and other publications, two years ago, they are certainly going to do it again, with essentially the same referendum.

Now that referendum two years ago, I gave all of you a copy of the results of the referendum, was defeated by a margin of 29,696 to 9,231. And some interesting statistics, looking at that ward by ward, indicate that even in our most independent wards in this City, where people should understand what we are trying to accomplish, they voted it down -- in the 7th Ward, the 14th Ward -- by a margin of two to one. In the traditional Democratic wards of our City, such as the 9th Ward, it was voted down by a margin of six to one.

What I am saying is that this is going to happen again and we should be honest with ourselves. If we do not make an attempt to change the wording and to show the public that we are concerned about the economic conditions, we are going to be sitting in the same position two years from now that seven of you were sitting in three weeks ago. I, for one, was not there. I do not want to be there in two years.

There is a flaw in the Home Rule Charter. This is the only way to correct it. It must be corrected. Our goal here is to eliminate the antiquated system for increasing salaries of Councilmembers. I would like all of you to refer to a chart that I put together indicating the projected annual increases, based on a $30,000.00 salary, if we go to that salary, if we approve this amendment and if the referendum is passed. What I have done is, I have put together annual increases ranging from one percent through five percent. I personally think, based on what you hear pertaining to the future economic conditions, the average increase for City employees is going to be somewhere in the area of four percent — I understand this year it was slightly more than that — which means that if Council, if this goes into effect, Council will lose, over a four-year period, beginning this year, approximately $1,306.00 by cutting back our salary right now to $30,000.00. Now that is based on the fact that the original referrendum will not be approved.

Now, if the original referendum is not going to be approved by the voting public, that means that Council will be sitting in the same position as I indicated two years from now as they were in three weeks ago, and they will only be able to vote increases to four members of Council. I, for one, can tell you right now two years from now if my salary is at $32,500.00, and this referendum is not improved, I am not voting for a salary increase, and I have heard that comment from the majority of Council.

So, essentially what I am saying is, in comparing the figures, by cutting back the salary to $30,000.00, or sitting with a salary, which five of us would be for four years, of $32,500.00, and based on the fact we know there are going to be some annual increases, and we are gambling to a degree here, we are gambling and we are hoping that the increases are not one percent or two percent, but I tend to believe they are going to be approximately four percent, and if that is the case, we will only lose, over a four-year period of time, $1,306.00.

Now, that is what we will lose. What will we gain? That is the real question here. What do we gain by cutting our salaries $2,500.00? Well, I sat through those public hearings and listened to all the members of the public that were here, and we all know how they feel, and they would love to see any elected officals — when I say "any" I mean at any level, from the local municipalities to the Congress of the United States — cut back their salary, and we, the City Councilmembers of the City of Pittsburgh, can take a first step that should have been taken long ago by many levels of elected officials.

The Congress of the United States raised their salary two years ago, and we know what happened — the media jumped all over them. The State Legislature and the State Senate raised their salary two months ago by $10,000.00 and we know the outcry that occurred.

We need to imporve the image of elected officials, of which all of us are. We can do that very easily. We can do that by amending this referendum, by giving the voters the opportunity to vote on this referendum and to have, as a first statement in the referendum that elected officials are going to decrease their pay.

Now, Roy Fox on his show last evening took a survey pertaining to whether or not the voting public would cut back — excuse me — would vote for this referendum or against the referendum. He took 200 calls. The results of the poll were 149-yes, 51-no. Several evenings before last night he took another poll based on the referendum that we were originally looking at. That poll failed two to one. That referendum lost two to one.

What I am asking all of you to do is to take a look in a realistic fashion and, not only that, to consider what our constituents would like us to do, and I firmly believe that this is a realistic approach to correcting a problem that has existed since this Charter was originated, and I would appreciate if all of you would consider it.

I would like to comment on Michelle's comments. You can't roll back a salary, you can't just pick out a figure and say cut $5,000.00.

If we are talking about different positions with differrent salaries, you must use a percentage and the percentage we are talking about here for Councilmembers is eight percent.

Now, the reason why I haven't used an eight percent figure is my referendum pertains only to Councilmembers. In addition, in reference to department heads, the Charter states nothing about department heads, and that is not the question here. The question here is elected officials. I have to agree with Mr. Woods, the only way we can address the situation of someone other than elected officials is during budget time, and I just do not want this thing to get blown out of proportion. I specifically am talking about Councilmembers.

If anyone wants to suggest something pertaining to other elected officials, so be it. But I just wanted to clarify these couple points. This proposed cut is eight percent.

I don't want this thing to be blown out of proportion, and it appears as if it is getting to that point.

Now, the department heads have nothing to do with this. We are talking about annual increases, if this referendum passes, whether it is the original referendum or my referendum — annual increases do not pertain to department heads — based on the average salaries of employees. Number one, the question is will Council take the lead themselves, and I don't think we should be here throwing arrows at others, I think the question is we have to look, we have to have some introspection towards ourselves as an elected group of people, and we can't pass the buck and say if someone else is not going to do it we're not going to do it.

The question is, will we take the lead and will we say to the people, to the public, to the people that elected us, that we will cut back, based on the economic conditions of today. If the Mayor chooses to do the same, so be it. If the Controller chooses to do the same, so be it. I, for one, am not concerned about them. I am only concerned about this elected group.

At this time, I don't choose to yield. I'd like to vote on what the amendment is as listed.

I voted no, and I would like to make a quick comment, which is, just to pick out a figure out of the air is not fair. It is not fair to all the elected officials you are talking about when there are different salaries.

I think I proposed a realistic amendment and it's a shame it was defeated.

I want to be on record as saying this referendum is going to fail. I stated my reasons earlier, and it's a shame we can't face the facts, and we have them before us, bcause we have been through this. This is the second time around and we are going to lose the second round.

I have offered a realistic approach, innovative approach to change the salary system for this Council, for this elected group, to show the public that we are concerned about the economic conditions of today, and it's a shame that we can't get five votes out of this Council and I voted no.

(END - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 13 - WEDNESDAY, 1/18/84)

Mr. Wagner:

I'd like to emphasize a couple important points that I mentioned at that Committee Meeting and a couple new points.

Number one, I'm still convinced and the public has convinced me that the vote on the present referendum will fail in the April primary simply because a vote of yes indicates that elected officials will be receiving a salary increase. A vote of no is an indication that they will not receive a salary increase. The economic times are such that the people will vote no at a much greater margin than they will vote yes. This has been proven in a couple of recent surveys; I indicated one the past week on KDKA radio where it lost at a margin of 2-1. There was one on KQV radio Friday on the existing referendum where it lost by a vote margin of 112-no to 51-yes.

I think that my amendment to the referendum is the only way to correct the flaw in the Home Rule Charter. We have to show the public that we are concerned about the economic conditions. I have also provided each of my colleagues with a chart indicating the difference of salary based on the fact that if we take a $2,000 cut in pay in comparison to our salary being frozen for a four year period of time at $2,500, if the existing referendum fails. As all of you can see in terms of simple mathematics, over a four year period of time, if we are willing to take the chance to gamble, to throw the dice, to take a cut in pay, we will get that cut in pay back over a four year period of time with annual increases based on an average increase of approximately four percent per year.

I think the public will understand what we're trying to accomplish here, especially because we're willing to take a cut in pay along with the annual increases that we're trving to obtain. I indicated last Wednesday, I do not want to be in the position that all of you were in four weeks ago at any point in time in the future. For that reason, I think it's very, very important that all of us give high priority to voting on behalf of this amendment for the referendum. Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I think it's really unfortunate that we don't check with each other about when people are going to be away. We just don't know. I mean, everybody has the right to do what they have to do or want to do. I've been trying to take some time off since the election and frankly, I haven't taken it off at this point because of the Water Authority. I feel that I have a strong commitment to that. I believe, based on past performance or history, the two people that are absent today, well one person anyway, would have voted with Mr. Wagner, I don't recall Mr. Givens' vote, but I know Mr. Robinson would have voted with him.

I'm in this terrible position of whatever I do, I'm damned. If I vote for it and it doesn't pass because people aren't here, they'll say, "See, she voted for it because she knew it wasn't going to pass." So, I would like to just set the record straight, if I might, by asking my colleague, Councilman Wagner, did I or did I not tell you last week that I would vote for this bill —

The Chair:

Michelle, we're talking about the amendment now.

Michelle Madoff:

That's what I'm talking about.

Did I or did I not say that I would vote for the amendment? I told you I would, did I not?

Mr. Wagner:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

Okay. I just wanted to be clear for the media so it doesn't get distorted that I had no knowledge the other two members would not be here. I just wanted to clarify that.

The Chair:

Call the role on the amendment only.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the amendment?

And on the question, "Shall the amendment pass finally?"

The aves and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Aves:

Mr. Grabowski Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff

AYES 3 NOES 4

VOTING NO:

Mrs. Masloff Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley Mr. Stone
(Pres't)

And a majority of the votes of Council not being in the affirmative, the amendment was defeated.

The Chair:

On the original bill.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, would you clarify the original bill. Is that the Mayor's bill?

The Chair:

The original bill is the proposal as received from the Mayor which enables Council to give an increase no greater than that received by the employees and it does not say they automatically get it. It says it's an enabling bill giving the authority to do it. It would still need a resolution from Council subsequent if it's passed to approve it.

Mr. Woods:

Mr. President, if I may, I'd like to add in there that it's all City elected officials, not just Council.

The Chair:

Okay.

Michelle Madoff:

That was your amendment the other day, was it not, Mr. Woods? That's what I wanted to know.

The Chair:

Take the roll.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, before I vote I'd like to make a statement, if I'm in order.

The Chair:

You may.

Mr. Grabowski:

When I came through the door I had originally thought that if Mr. Wagner's amendment was not adopted that I would be voting against this resolution because I felt that it would fail at the election on April 10th. But as I look back to the primary election of May 18, 1983, no one gave me much chance of being elected and I sit here today. So, perhaps the unexpected will happen come April 10, 1984, and this referendum will be passed by the voters. I vote aye.

Mr. Wagner:

I vote aye and I'd like to make a comment. First of all, I'd like to thank those of my colleagues that are present and not present that voted on my two amendments. I also wish my amendment would have been passed. It's very obvious that this referendum as it sits now and being voted on now will pass. For that reason I am going to vote aye and I also will attempt to get this thing passed and do whatever PR work should be done as all of my colleagues will in April and I, for one, hope that I do not have to come back and offer another referendum after the April election; however, I doubt it.

The Chair:

I vote aye and I would like my remarks from last Wednesday's meeting brought forward.

(BEGINNING - MR. STONE'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 13 - WEDNESDAY, 1/18/84)

Mr. Stone:

I voted no and if I may just make this comment. We have been talking about Council's credibility, and I think we ought to be looking at ourselves and wondering about the credibility and why the public has some question of that.

This Council went to $2,500.00, talked $30,000.00, talked $40,000.00, and we had a lot of discussion that the position is such that it deserves that kind of salary, and we had pretty much chastised the public because they didn't expect the cost of living kind of increase on referendum that was there. No one at the time was thinking that perhaps we were at fault in not communicating that in the proper fashion so that the public might intelligently make a decision and be aware of the conflict that does exist in the Home Rule Charter. Here we are now talking about cuts, and it seems in obvious derrogation and conflict to what we have been talking about the last two weeks. Certainly the economic conditions didn't change in the last two weeks that would make us make such masterful, innovative, new ideas at this late stage of the game.

I think these kind of resolutions now do nothing to help the credibility. The proposal as given by the Mayor I think helps the credibility of Council. It straight out tells them there is a conflict in the Charter and if you, as the voters, want to make that change, if there is a cost-of-living need, you are asking them to enable Council to do that, not to give it but enable them to do it. If that be the case, it has conditions that say it can't be any higher than any other increase to the employees. It has the kind of safeguards which the public is entitled to know, and the public is entitled to have the ability to vote on it, and I am sure they are intelligent enough that if that is what they think should be done, they will vote for it, and if not, they won't.

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 10

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for Agreement or Agreements with the South Side Local Development Corporation for commercial revitalization services in connection with the South Side Carson Street neighborhood commercial improvement program and providing for the payment of the cost thereof."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. O'Malley	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, I wonder if you would enlighten this Council on a couple of matters. I've been so busy with this water business; I've been up since 8:00 calling all over the country and I have not really been apprised of what is happening with the paramedics. I understand from calls that we're getting that supervisors are being trained to take over their jobs. They have done such an outstanding job. As you know, this Council, and I was in the forefront of that movement, was charging the non-

City residents for paramedic service and third party payees and now Mr. Matter is saying we're losing our $10,000 a day that we're not getting from these entities that came from this Council, things we don't get credit for.

I'm just curious; perhaps somebody here can enlighten me. What is happening? Is this really true that the supervisors are taking over? Are we going to pay the paramedics what the police and firemen are getting? Where are we on it, does anybody know? I don't know.

The Chair:

I don't consider myself an expert on it because no one has briefed me personally on it. I would suggest that you request a report from the Mayor's Office. That might be the easiest way. I don't know any more than what's been in the newspaper. The only thing that I think is happening is that the Administration has tried this year to keep that salary increase somewhere between four and five percent and apparently that's not in the making in this particular bargaining unit. That seems to be where the differences of opinion are.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, would it be out of order for this Council to respectfully request from the Mayor that on matters such as this that our President be briefed immediately and kept apprised of all activities so that you can keep us apprised to what's going on? I really resent reading in the paper what's going on before I hear it here in Council. Would that be in order? Can I make that in the form of a motion?

The Chair:

I don't think a motion is necessary. We'll try to get some information but I think that kind of information, frankly, belongs to the person who is the administrator. Frankly, that's the Mayor and in some of the previous collective bargaining agreements, those units had indicated the exclusive bargaining agent was the Mayor. If you'll look back in the minutes of City Council you'll note that this City Council had received and filed on collective bargaining agreements which means they didn't agree with it, they just filed it. One of the reasons was that we objected to being excluded from collective bargaining but that's now a part of their collective bargaining agreements and they have acknowledged that the Mayor is the sole collective bargaining unit for the City.

Michelle Madoff:

Does that mean that this Council, when we finally come to vote on it, there will obviously be a negotiated contract. If there isn't one, then what happens?

The Chair:

They'll then go to arbitration of some form.

Michelle Madoff:

It is not in arbitration as yet? I thought it was in arbitration.

The Chair:

Well, they're headed in that direction as I see it.

Mr. Woods:

No, Mr. Chairman. The paramedics are not covered under arbitration.

The Chair:

But there's a form of mediation or arbitration they'll be eventually headed toward. That's what they're trying to do.

Michelle Madoff:

According to Mr. Woods, they're not. Is that so, Mr. Woods?

The Chair:

He's saying under the present deal they don't have —

Mr. Woods:

Under the present bargaining agreement they don't have it.

Michelle Madoff:

Couldn't this Council have some input, Mr. Stone? Is there a mechanism where we could?

The Chair:

I think that there's an agreement that they have between them and they're going to have to abide by what's in that agreement. That's their ground rules now.

Michelle Madoff:

Okay. The second item that I think we need clarification is that we're having a meeting tomorrow at 10:00 on the request made by myself and others to be briefed on some of the unanswered questions after the hearing and you said that you promised to have it immediately after the Water Authority hearing. Is that correct?

The Chair:

Council asked for, and I've made available, the opportunity to carry out what they've requested.

Michelle Madoff:

We just talked very briefly coming in here; I'm a little bit confused. I did sit down with Mr. Schmeiser and some people —

The Chair:

If you have any confusions, we can discuss it the same way we did before. I don't want to get into a situation where something was said or not said and now in public it may change from what we discussed.

Michelle Madoff:

That's exactly what I was getting to. Is this going to be a public meeting?

The Chair:

It's an informal meeting that was asked for by Council.

Michelle Madoff:

Will it be open to the media?

The Chair:

At this point, it's an informal meeting at the request of Council and they asked to meet with the administrative team and that's presently lined up.

Michelle Madoff:

So it's not open to the media; it's just an informal meeting. There will be no vote taken, therefore, the media is going to be excluded.

The Chair:

No votes will be taken at all. Council asked for an informal meeting and I have set up exactly what Council asked for.

Michelle Madoff:

You're defining an informal meeting as a private meeting as opposed to being a public meeting.

I have no quarrel with that, I'm just asking for definition. I personally see no reason why we can't ask our questions in the presence of the media. I would have no problem with that personally and I think I was the one who requested the meeting, so I just want to be on record.

The Chair:

On the contrary. It was Mr. Wagner, in a discussion with Mr. Woods, who asked for the informal meeting.

Michelle Madoff:

I asked for it in session.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, pertaining to the meeting tomorrow. Will all appropriate representatives from the various departments be present? Number one, I mean knowledgeable about the sewer system in the City, the water line system, the financing? The same people that were here last week at the public hearing?

The Chair:

That whole team we had, it's my understanding, so you can ask some additional questions subsequent to the public hearing which we had.

Mr. Wagner:

Is it possible to have available to us a map of the water distribution system in the City and also the sewer system in the City?

The Chair:

Mike, make that request.

Mr. Wagner:

Thank you.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. Stone, do you have any idea when the legislation will be voted on pertaining to the Water Authority?

The Chair:

No, I do not. It's coming up for a first discussion on Wednesday, whatever we decide to do.

Mr. Grabowski:

The reason I asked, I'm not sure what action we can take at Wednesday's meeting. I suppose we could vote on it, either up or down.

The Chair:

Whatever action Council wants to take, they would have to take that action on Wednesday. That's the first formal time in the procedure that it comes up for any discussion and resolvement.

Mr. Grabowski:

The reason I asked is, over the weekend, a number of people had watched the public hearing on cable. Many good points were brought out and some of the people that spoke to me indicated that they were sorry that they didn't have an opportunity to participate because they had some ideas that they would have like to have enlightened Councilmembers on.

I am wondering if it's possible that we have the second hearing in light of the magnitude of this legislation to be held in Council Chambers in the evening so that some of the people that were not able to participate would have such an opportunity. I don't, in any way, want to delay the legislation from coming up for a final vote but if, in fact, a second hearing is to take place, I think that that should be in the works.

The Chair:

Whatever you choose to do on Wednesday is what we will do.

Mr. Grabowski:

Is it possible to make that motion at Wednesday's meeting?

The Chair:

Yes.

Mr. Grabowski:

Okay.

Mr. O'Malley:

If I might add to Mr. Grabowski's motion, I think if indeed there are a number of people who would like to have an input into the hearing, that should be indicated to this Council either through a petition or a number of phone calls. There might be one or two people or there might be thirty or forty. There has to be some gauge or barometer by which we can gauge that or maybe a petition with 25 names on it.

The Chair:

Whatever is the wish at that time.

Mr. Woods moved to excuse Mr. Givens and Mr. Robinson for absence from the meeting.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Woods moved to approve the minutes from Tuesday, January 3, 1984.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Woods

Council adjourned.

Proceedings of the Council of the City of Pittsburgh

VOL. CXVIII Monday, January 30, 1984 No. 5

ONE-HUNDRED TWENTY-THIRD COUNCIL

ROBERT RADE STONE President
MICHAEL PERRY City Clerk
LINDA M. JOHNSON ... Asst. City Clerk

Pittsburgh, PA
Monday, January 30, 1984

PRESENT:

Mr. Givens	Mr. Robinson
Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. O'Malley	(Pres't)

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Givens:

Mr. President, if I might have T.J. McGarvey from the Vietnam Veterans Monument Committee, Shamus Maloney from the Vietnam Veterans Leadership Program, and Duke Embry, President of VVI, Inc. come to the podium.

Mr. Givens and Mr. Wagner present

Bill No. 132 WHEREAS, during the past year, Vietnam Veterans in the Pittsburgh area have come together in pride and patriotism to commemorate the efforts of those who bravely served our country in Southeast Asia during the longest war in our nation's history; and

WHEREAS, the Pittsburgh-Allegheny County Vietnam Veterans Monument Committee has worked diligently to select a suitable site for a lasting memorial dedicated to those who fought, died, were wounded in battle, or missing in action; and

WHEREAS, the City administration has joined in this important project by lending its staff and expertise to the Monument Committee to insure the designation of an appropriate location for the monument; and

WHEREAS, all parties have agreed to erect the Vietnam Veterans Monument on the raised observation platform downstream of the Ft. Duquesne Bridge in Roberto Clemente Park.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Members of the City Council, on behalf of the citizens of Pittsburgh, pledge their full support and cooperation for the expeditious completion of this project and congratulate the Pittsburgh-Allegheny County Vietnam Veterans Monument Committee for its leadership in the recognition, planning, and organization of this long overdue honor.

Mr. Givens moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Givens:

I'd just like to have Jack Wagner who is a Vietnam Veteran say a few words and also those three gentlemen that I called up and some others who would like to say a few words. Thank you.

Mr. Wagner:

On behalf of all Vietnam Veterans, I'm very proud to be part of this resolution. I'm very proud that Mr. Givens has taken the initiative to initiate a memorial for Vietnam Veterans, mainly because we know what these people here represent and just as past veterans of our country have represented the country well, they do also. I congratulate them.

Mr. McGarvey:

My name is T.J. McGarvey; I'm here to represent the Pittsburgh-Allegheny County Vietnam Veterans Monument Committee.

My mind right now is flooded with a thousand thoughts and how to communicate them, I'm not certain.

When I was fortunate enough to return from Vietnam and I landed in San Francisco, I got down and I kissed the ground. I was proud to have served but it carries with it a lot of sorrow.

We're here today, as Councilman Givens mentioned, to commemorate the service. I would like to make a few comments regarding that but before I do that I would like to thank, first of all, our Committee which is comprised of virtually every walk of life, it's comprised of citizens of Western Pennsylvania. I especially would like to thank Mayor Caliguiri for his strong support and to quote Mayor Caliguiri, "I'm not your ally, I'm your strong ally." I would like to thank the Chairman of the Board of Commissioners, Tom Foerster, for his full cooperation; certainly, members of City Council who have directly and indirectly, over the last year or so, given us strong suppport.

Relative to what we're initiating today, I have to share a few comments with you. Today is the day for proud men. Today is the day to fulfill promises. Today is the day to remember the past and today is the day to look to the future. We gather here today to begin the final process, not to make political statements, not to offer explanations, not to debate realities. Monuments are erected so the future might remember the past. Warriors die and live and die. We'll let the historians remember the political questions. Those who served, served. Those who have all, live in our hearts. Those who are left, continue to give. Let no one dare to challenge our purpose here today. As long as we remember, there's some love left.

Thank you.

Mr. Maloney:

My name is Shamus Maloney and I'm the Program Director of the Vietnam Veterans Leadership Program here in Western Pennsylvania.

Approximately fifteen years ago, the best friend I ever had I lost in Vietnam. He was buried fifteen years ago but his memory is continued on in my heart. About a year an a half ago in Washington, D.C., through the efforts of a lot of Vietnam Veterans and a lot of concerned citizens, a fitting memorial was dedicated. A lot of people from Vietnam were brought home with that memorial. So too, in Western Pennsylvania, in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, it is time for us to honor all the Vietnam Veterans who sacrificed for their country. When we were called, we served. We didn't debate politics, we went to serve our country. I think that it is extremely important at this point that we pursue bringing these men home finally with the proper tribtue. This can be accomplished through the monument for Pittsburgh and Allegheny County.

I thank everyone for all their cooperation in this. Thank you.

Mr. Embry:

I'm Duke Embry, President of the Vietnam Veterans Inc. of Allegheny County and I'd just like to say thank you.

Mr. McCale:

My name is Jim McCale. I was just doing some counting here now and I was released, you might say, from the service on February 12, 1966. That's about eighteen years to the date. I thank you.

Mr. Givens:

I'd just like to indicate, Mr. President, that if you would like to join us and any other member of Council, so we can give some of the plaques out to the various veterans organizations.

This is only the beginning. Otherwise, this is just a resolution of intent that will go across to Mayor Caliguiri, down to our Legal Department, to draft up the necessary legislation to come back up for this Council to approve to dedicate this site. That's only the beginning. Then it's fund-raising from there and the actual site itself. It's going to take everybody in this room to do it. There is not a memorial to these Vietnam Veterans any place that I know of within the Allegheny County area. Allegheny County, ladies and gentlemen, is the largest veteran county within the nation at this particular time; there's some 58,000, I believe, some 225,000 veterans of all the wars right here in Allegheny County. So, we need this memorial very badly.

Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Givens, may I ask you a question? Where is the monument going to be placed?

The Chair:

Downstream from Three Rivers Stadium.

Michelle Madoff:

Will it be in a prominent place so that people can see it?

Mr. Givens:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm concerned about that. It won't be hidden somewhere.

Mr. Givens:

Do you know where the boat dock is, where John Connelly pulls his boat in? There's little outcropping, a little park right there, like a balconv type of thing. That's where it's going to be located. You can see it from the River, you'll be able to see it from the road. It has a park-like environment.

Mrs. Masloff:

Isn't the pier that sets out?

Mr. Givens:

It's a little pier that sticks out. Yes. It has trees on it. It's a very lovely site and you'll be able to see it from —

Michelle Madoff:

Will it be a plaque or will it be a monument?

Mr. Givens:

No, it will be a monument, a fairly good sized monument.

Michelle Madoff:

And the monies for it would come from contributions from City, County, and wherever we could get some money?

Mr. Givens:

That's right.

The Chair:

Thank you all.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I'd like to ask Mr. Kenneth Dixon to join me at the podium and also Councilwoman Sophie Masloff.

Mr. Wagner and Mrs. Masloff present

Bill No. 133 WHEREAS, F. Kenneth Dixon submitted his resignation as Director of Allegheny County Department of Elections, effective January 31, 1984; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Dixon has been an employee of Allegheny County for 37 years, since 1947; was appointed Assistant Director of the Elections Department in 1970, and rose to the Directorship in 1976; and

WHEREAS, as Director of Elections, Mr. Dixon has earned a statewide reputation as an expert on election rules and practices, being contacted for advice by other county election officers and by the State Elections Department; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Dixon is known as being helpful in exchanging ideas and seeking solutions, and as being easily accessible - offering voting instructions, turnout forecasts, and analysis; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Dixon's concientiousness and devotion as Director of Elections will be greatly missed, though the spirit of his work will remain for many years to come.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of Pittsburgh City Council, hereby express sincere commendation and gratitude to F. Kenneth Dixon for his 37 years of distinguished service with Allegheny County, including his 8 years as Director of the Department of Elections, where he displayed sincere dedication and devotion, and this Council wishes Mr. Dixon a rich and happy retirement.

Mr. Wagner moved to adopt the resolution.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Wagner:

I would like Councilwoman Sophie Masloff to say a few words, please.

Mrs. Masloff:

Jack, you've said practically everything in the resolution. I've known Kenny since he first came to work for the County and his family. I don't think we'll every be able to replace him. There will never be another person in the Elections Department like Kenny Dixon and I, for one, will miss him.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm going to refer to my good friend, Ken, as Ken and he certainly knows me as Michelle. I've gone through seven elections, didn't win them all, and he was a man of dedication, integrity, honor and commitment. I'm buying lunch; you don't have to pay. I really feel very sorry that you are leaving us because I don't think you're replaceable. You know, they say that nobody is irreplaceable but sometimes I wonder. I cannot thank you enough for how you've treated me personally when I haven't always been treated that way everywhere else. I have a special place in my heart for you.

Mr. Givens:

Ken, I've gone through three City elections. I think I'm now going on the fourth State Committee Election and two National Delegate Elections, encompassing the 38th Senatorial District of the State, the 14th Congressional District, the City of Pittsburgh. In every case, Ken, when I went up there and had to file those disclosure reports or any information I needed on those Democrats who were registered in that particular area, you and your staff have to be commended because, in short order, you've come out and I think served the City as well as the County in everything that's happened. Not once in your whole career was there ever one mention about a very close race and any undoings on the part of the Election Department of Allegheny County. There's two of us who are sitting in this room, after some 20,000 votes, there was only 100 votes that separated us. Ken Dixon went in and re-audited that whole report and there's no doubt about it. I mean, we have the elected officials and I think the people of Allegheny County had total faith in what you had done and served this County for. I thank you personally.

The Chair:

If the Chair may, for a moment, Ken, before we give you the opportunity to speak yourself. In this era when unanimity seems to be a bit of a problem, I'm sure, however, that there would be unanimity not only among the Democrats but among the Democrats and Republicans and any other party affiliation that has every existed in the County while you were there at the Election Bureau. They would be echoing one thought, that they were treated with dignity, with pride, and with the kind of respect that should be accorded any citizen or any candidate.

Likewise, you have shown the kind of dedication and devotion that has done honor to this County and if I may, for a moment, perhaps the best way, and you'll pardon me for doing it this way, but I think if the Italians had anything to say about it, since you're about to retire, they would say "Jin dn". The Germans would sav "Hundre yarde". And the Polish would say "Stolat". Other variations of Russians, Serbian, Croation, would all say "Mnog aga ljeta". It all boils down to, "May God grant you many years", and that's what we wish for you.

Mr. Dixon:

Mr. President, Members of Council and ladies and gentlemen, I thank you very much for this. I don't intend to disagree with a word that's been said. But I will certainly cherish it and honor it. It's one of the highest honors I've every received and I also owe the City of Pittsburgh a lot of gratitude for the success we've had in finding polling places, and the cooperation we've had from the Mayor and the City Police and all concerned. I thank you very much.

The Chair presents

Bill No. 134 WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh has always been a national leader in Engineering whether it be research or in actual practice with the engineering community supporting the many building projects, subways, buswavs, bridges and other construction projects underway in our City; and

WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh wishes to recognize the over seventeen thousand engineers and scientists represented by over forty techical societies such as the National Society of Professional Engineers which sponsors "Engineers' Week"; and

WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh recognizes the achievements of the many notable engineers such as George S. Richardson, Past President of Richardson, Gordon and Associates, designers for many of our roads and bridges in Allegheny County and winner of the Pittsburgh Chapter's PSPE 1983 President's Gold Star Award; and

WHEREAS, the City of Pittburgh recognizes the winner of the Pittsburgh Chapter's PSPE 1983 Professional Engineers' Distinguished Service Award to be David F. Figgins, President of Mellon-Stuart Company, contractors for many projects in the Pittsburgh area; and

WHEREAS, the theme of National Engineers' Week, "ENGINEERS: PARTNERS IN PROGRESS" which is quite an appropriate theme considering the teamwork required to transform Pittsburgh into the Renaissance City that it has become.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Members of the City Council of Pittsburgh does hereby proclaim the week of February 19, 1984 through February 25, 1984 as "Engineers' Week" throughout the City of Pittsburgh, and express our appreciation for the achievements of those engineers who have done so much in bettering their communities; and in contributing so extensively to the vitality and progress of the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Woods moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

I want to talk about this. I don't know whether members of Council are aware, but in 1972 a study was done which indicated that outside of Washington, D.C. which has the highest number of "consultants" in general, Allegheny County has the largest number of engineering consultants, probably in the United States and Canada. It is one of our greatest resources and one of the areas that will be vital in generating jobs in this community. We could become the energy, the environmental capital of the world, and to that end, I would like to see this Council moving and working with engineers. My aide, Carmen Gunther, and I will be meeting shortly and we would like to perhaps involve some of the engineering people with a number of the prime legislators, Mr. Coyne, Walgren, Gaydos, etc. etc. In Washington, there will be a number of Harrisburg Legislators joining us to talk about a program which will encompass engineers and some funding, hopefully, that the Federal Government would grant so that this area could be the environmental capital of the world and we could generate some jobs here.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Before proceeding with Presentations of Papers, I would like to welcome back Mr. Al Neri who has been away for about a month. I don't know if he's been missed or not, but I would like to say that I think all of us have missed you, Al. We welcome you back.

Mr. Givens:

I just want to say, Al, I don't know if they give you reporters' combat pay or not.

Mr. Neri:

Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

Services.

Also,

No. 124 Communication from Dante Pellegrini, City Solicitor, requesting permission for himself to attend a seminar on Municipal Personnel and Labor Relations in Washington, D.C., April 14-17, 1984, at a cost not to exceed $750.00, Misc. Services, Dept. of Law.

Which were severally read and referred to the Committee on Finance.

The Chair presented

No. 125 Petition from the residents of Pittsburgh, requesting a public hearing concerning the Port Authority Transit Subway and LRT line to the South Hills in regards to the contract awarded to Union Switch and Signal of Swissvale, PA, a significant portion of which will be done outside Allegheny County.

Also,

No. 126 Petition from the residents of the Citv of Pittsburgh, requesting a public hearing on the Mayor's Report on Military Spending of December 1983 entitled, "City of Pittsburgh Analysis of Federal Income Tax Dollars used for Defense Spending."

Which were read and referred to the Committee on Finance.

Michelle Madoff:

I just had a call before I came in. As you know, Mike, you had told them that they couldn't have a hearing. Thev have now prepared a press release saying they're going to have a post agenda this coming Wednesday. I now just got a call from Angie saying would we please do it Wednesday. I'm very confused. I'm as confused as you are.

The Chair:

They're going to have what?

Michelle Madoff:

Thev want to have a post agenda. We scheduled a post for Wednesday —

The Chair:

They want a post?

Michelle Madoff:

No, I had scheduled a post for Wednesday, which I cancelled because Mike said we could have a hearing. They now, not knowing that, have already planned for their post agenda on Wednesday, which means that Wednesday becomes the hearing.

Do you think you can work that out with Angie and with the gentleman who contacted you?

Mr. Perry:

Okay.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm just doing what they want.

The Chair:

I know we do some things that are way off but I don't know yet that we let anvone call a post but a Councilperson.

Michelle Madoff:

I called the post. Then I called it off at their request saying that it was too fast to do it Wednesday. Mike came in then, after they had called it off, and said, "Oh, I checked with the attorney; I had two opinions. One opinion said I couldn't have a hearing, now we've learned we can have a hearing."

So, I was only relating information or Mike was relating information he had.

The Chair:

We now have it in the hearing form so we'll pick it up then.

Michelle Madoff:

But they've already sent a press release out so we're going to try to reconcile it by either having it as a post on Wednesday or postponing. I would prefer to have the hearing as a separate time, as you would. I am with you but let's see if we can get Angie and see what we can work out.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to have one item that was requested, in writing, from every department head. It still does not appear on the bills. You've got companies and no principles. Not one bill has the principle. When contributions are made to campaign funds, they're made in the name of the person, not in the corporation. I want to know who the principles are.

The Chair:

That would not be in the legislation, Michelle. That would be in the letter to us in which Mike is trying to inform the Council.

Michelle Madoff:

Mike sent a letter to each department head asking them to put the principles in the letters so that he could pick the information up. Have they been providing you with that?

Mr. Perry:

They're in today's bills that were introduced, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

So this is the first time. As of now we'll start to have them?

Mr. Perry:

As of now. Right.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you very much.

Mr. Perry:

They won't be in the resolution.

Michelle Madoff:

Why not? It's two words extra.

Mr. Perry:

It's not necessary in the resolution.

The Chair:

For a good reason, Michelle. You're dealing with whatever is necessary for the ordinance. You don't clutter it up with everything else.

Michelle Madoff:

Where will it appear? On Wednesday's agenda?

Mr. Perry:

It will appear on Wednesday's agenda.

Michelle Madoff:

That's fine. As long as it's on Wednesday, that's the same as having it here. It doesn't matter. I want it somewhere, not just buried in a letter that nobody looks at.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, we have a ruling from Mr. Pellegrini, since you questioned the issue of a floor motion. Floor motions can be generated from the floor; they do not need preparation 24 hours in advance.

The Chair:

Say that again.

Michelle Madoff:

There's a letter from Mr. Pellegrini. Did you get a copy?

The Chair:

I think you were talking about resolutions rather than floor motions.

Michelle Madoff:

General floor motions. It gives the whole ball of wax, floor motions and resolutions.

The Chair:

Yes, but you can't prepare a resolution and then when you violate the time thing, call it a floor motion. If my memory is correct, that's what happened.

Michelle Madoff:

The question was, you were questioning whether anybody could come up with a floor motion and the answer is yes. That is the ruling from the Law Department.

The Chair:

Let me go back so that there is a clear demarcation of where we were. It was my understanding that someone contested the fact that you had put in a resolution and not presented it to Councilmembers. in sufficient time. Thereafter, you attempted, as I recall it, to call it a floor motion.

Michelle Madoff:

The 48 hours pertained the passage of legislation. It says a floor motion is the matter being recognized by the Chair. If there's a contradiction in terms then that's not my problem.

The Chair:

It's my problem because I don't think you're seeing it where the demarcation was and it's important that you see it that way.

Michelle Madoff:

Let me go back and say that Mike Perry is present and I would like to have Mike Perry verify. Mike, has it been at least two years that I've been trying to get a life cost cycling bill?

Mr. Perry:

A good two years.

Michelle Madoff:

At least two years. The state of Pennsylvania in that time has already passed one. For the benefit of my colleagues or anybody who is interested, it means when we go to paint a reservoir or a bridge or whatever, the highest cost to the taxpayer is the actual labor. The paint is secondary. If you use a better paint it can last ten years. If you use a cheap paint, it lasts a year. It gives you a better surplus at the end of that year but you're painting it every year or every three years.

I think that intelligence would dictate that this Council would want to do the best thing for the public and therefore I would like to have a life cost cycling bill prepared.

Since the Law Department has been reticent to do so, since the Supplies Directors have changed twice, Larry Yatch was preparing it and has left, the new Director wants to be approved by the Administration to do it, and since the situation — We have another letter from Mr. Pellegrini, but it is at present the will of the Mayor that we are doing it in any event, what happens if this Mayor isn't there any longer? I think we protect the public by having a life cost cycling bill which —

Mr. O'Malley:

Why don't you write your own legislation and submit it?

Michelle Madoff:

That's exactly what I've been trying to do for two years. In order to prepare that bill, since it has to be couched in legal terms and prepared legally, I am asking this Council to authorize from our funds to have an attorney help me draft this bill and since Mr. Stone changed the law last year that we have to have five votes in order to get such a person, I am requesting that — you asked me to bring it up today instead of the other day — for approval of somebody to draft that legislation, to help me in drafting the legislation. It should be a couple of hours, I would hope.

The Chair:

Let me see if I understand you correctly. You're saying we're already doing it but you want to put a piece of legislation in?

Michelle Madoff:

We're doing it when they feel like doing it. There's no law that says they must do it. It's at the will of the Administration.

The Chair:

Is there any evidence that they are not doing it?

Michelle Madoff:

Is there any evidence that they are doing it? Is there any evidence that if the Mayor drops dead tomorrow that it will be done?

The Chair:

I don't want to enter into a debate with you, I'm just trying to clear the issue.

Michelle Madoff:

I have many reasons to feel that it is not being done. I think politically it would not be expedient to have this kind of bill.

The Chair:

Do you or do you not have before you a letter which states that they are or are not doing it?

Michelle Madoff:

The letter says: "References made to your letter dated January 17 requesting the Law Department to prepare necessary legislation to implement life cycling costing. The Department of General Services presently implementing life cost cycling in it's specifications when couchable and applicable." I want it to be across the board like it is on the state level, not when they determine that it is suitable. "Like the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the City is able to accomplish this cost saving measure as part of the executive function." I don't believe it should be an executive function or disband this Council.

I would like to make it an official ruling in the same way that Mr. Robinson has repeatedly for five years tried to get a percentage of the contracts to go to minorities and women. They said they were doing it. But when the bog was to the wall and they came up with the figures, it was less than one half of one percent. I don't think we're in a position here to demand that every single bill come before this Council to ensure that indeed life cost cycling is part of the method of operandi. I'm asking that that become a bill. This Council has authorized that we do it. They said, "Michelle, go out and prepare the bill, give it to the Administration to prepare." They refused to do it.

The Chair:

Have you written to Danny Pellegrini?

Michelle Madoff:

How many times, Mike?

The Chair:

Has he said he will not prepare it?

Michelle Madoff:

You got it. How many times, Mike? At least ten times.

The Chair:

Has he given any reason why he will not?

Michelle Madoff:

Here's your reason. They don't want any controls. They'll do it when they want to and they won't do it when they don't feel like it. I'm afraid the politics thing would become a very major factor and I think that this Council has an obligation to have the best possible work, the biggest bang for the buck. We get the best work we can for the dollars we have to expend. That's how you get it, through life cost cycling. I don't think we disagree on it; it's a matter of someone helping me draft the bill.

The Chair:

It would appear to me that if it's being done and it should be done, it ought to be done by our City Solicitor.

Michelle Madoff:

I agree with you but he refuses to do it.

The Chair:

I think we ought to find out what the problem is, frankly.

Michelle Madoff:

He's already told us the problem. They do it when they feel like doing it.

I'm making a motion, a floor motion, as you asked me to bring it forward today. I've done it for two years, ladies and gentlemen, and I'm asking you to support me in getting five votes so we can hire someone to help prepare this piece of legislation. That's my motion.

Mr. Givens seconded the motion.

Mr. Robinson:

Question. Wouldn't it be more appropriate for this Council to instruct our Solicitor to assist Mrs. Madoff in putting together the legislation that she feels in necessary and then let this Council determine, along with the Mayor, whether or not we need —

The Chair:

Do you want to vote on that? That's what I'm trying to do.

Michelle Madoff:

May I respond? Mr. Robinson, how often have we felt in this Council that the Administration really controls to some degree what position the Law Department will take? I would like to have an independent adaptation of this state bill prepared for this Council. It's not very difficult. We should prepare the bill; we have the money for our own expertise. I don't believe we should do it in-house.

Mr. Robinson:

Well, I have a couple concerns. One is, I presented to this Council last year a bill which would have authorized us to have our own legal advisor. This Council did not see fit at that time to secure someone and the major reasoning was that we had access to the City Solicitor. I know you did support me in that effort and I believe that — well, the Charter provides for it and I think that those people who prepared the Charter were wise enough to recognize that there would be occasions when this Council would need it's own legal advice. But it seems to me that it's rather clear. The obligation of our City Solicitor is at least, at least, to prepare legislation. We're not asking him for his opinion. Frankly, I think quite often we depend upon his opinion too often. We put him in a bad position. We need him to do technical work now. If he is not prepared to prepare that legislation, then I think it's time for us to sit down with our Solicitor and ask him what is it that he is prepared to do. I don't think that we ought to go out and get any outside lawyers to do what our City Solicitor is hired to do. If it's some other kind of advice you need, I would definitely support you. But I don't think we should at all bypass a very qualified staff that prepares ninety-nine and forty-four one hundredths percent of the legislation of this City. All we have to do is ask them. I will support you if you're going to ask Mr. Pellegrini to prepare that legislation and let this Council and you make a determination as to whether or not the City of Pittsburgh needs it. I believe we do need it. But let this Council decide.

Michelle Madoff:

I would have no problem with that if we weren't two to three years down the pike, having asked Mr. Pellegrini who has just arrived, to do this and have him reject it on whatever basis that he has so determined like we're already doing it; the Mayor has ordered that we do it. I see no reason for this legislation. We've asked for it. It has passed this Council and I would venture to guess that if you introduced another bill saying that we want Council to have its own legal counsel, I think it would pass. I think at that point our own Council would draft the bills and then we would not be in this bind.

But you're asking me, and I think you're being unjust, with all due respect, Councilman Robinson, what you say, Councilman Robinson and Councilman Givens, is essentially correct. But they've refused to do it for two years.

The Chair:

Is it your desire to amend your motion?

Michelle Madoff:

My desire is to ask Mr. Pellegrini if I amend it whether he'll do it.

The Chair:

I don't think that's where we are. Mr. Robinson has made a suggestion.

Michelle Madoff:

Alright, I'll give him one more chance. I'll rescind it and I will ask that tout de suite, within 30 days — in can be done within two weeks, a week, or three days because it's right here — that our Law Department draft up a life cost cycling bill for the City of Pittsburgh almost identical to that of the state.

Mr. Givens:

I just talked to Mr. Pellegrini, our Solicitor; I'd like him to go to the mike. I think there is a breakdown in communication here and maybe he can explain why he cannot do this.

Mr. Robinson:

Point of order. I'd like to appeal to the Chair to overrule Mr. Givens suggestion concerning Mr. Pellegrini for one good reason, for a procedural reason. I don't believe that this is the appropriate time for us to discuss this issue. With all due respect to everyone, I have suggested that perhaps we are unduly pressuring Mr. Pellegrini in a number of situations where maybe we ought to find a more appropriate form to discuss it. I don't think this is the time or place to discuss his technical capabilities in preparing legislation. He is obviously technically capable of preparing any legislation we need.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you, Mr. Robinson. I've just learned that the reason that Mr. Pellegrini has not prepared the bill is that it was an executive order and he doesn't supersede executive orders.

Dante Pellegrini
City Solicitor:

No. There is no state bill. There is a state executive order. What you're referring to in that report is an executive order put out by the Thornburg Administration and not a state statute.

Michelle Madoff:

Why can't we have our own? Are we superseded?

Mr. Pellegrini:

In effect what we said was that the City does have an administrative policy of doing life cycle cost analysis. If you're buying two dollars worth of bolts, it doesn't pay you to do a life cost cycling analysis. It's a fancy name for —

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. Stone, point of order. I believe Mr. Robinson suggested that Mr. Pellegrini not address the issue at this time. Perhaps it would be more appropriate if we brought him before Council at Wednesday's meeting on a post agenda.

The Chair:

Mr. Grabowski, you're 100 percent correct with one problem. We didn't want to hear from Mr. Pellegrini but we had two people quote what he said and in each instance, as I understand, it was incorrect, so his question was whether we should hear from him.

Michelle Madoff:

Why don't we clarify this completely since it's my motion?

The Chair:

Hold on. The trouble with what you're doing — This is the third time we've amended it and I'd like to go back to where we were.

Michelle Madoff:

It's been two years.

The Chair:

Let me get cleared up here for a minute —

Michelle Madoff:

It's my motion; I'd like to change my motion.

The Chair:

Mr. Givens, are you removing your second?

Mr. Givens:

I'll remove it.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm going to change my motion.

The Chair:

Alright. So it's clear at this moment, there is no motion on the floor.

Michelle Madoff:

I am introducing a motion that this Council introduce legislation prepared by our Law Department, as opposed to an executive order, so that we have, in effect, a workable life cost cycling piece of legislation, not a Republican Thornburg order by the Governor or by our present Mayor. I want it as part of legislation.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Mr. Givens:

Can this Council enact that type of legislation or is that the prerogative of the Executive Branch of government?

Michelle Madoff:

I can answer that.

The Chair:

Michelle, will you do me a favor? When other people speak, you let them completely finish.

Michelle Madoff:

I thought he was through. I'm sorry.

The Chair:

Let him finish completely. You're always answering everybody. Just let him finish.

Mr. Givens:

That is my question and there's only one who can answer that question, although he was not allowed to address it. But now that we have this motion on the floor, I would like Mr. Pellegrini to address it. Can this Council do it or can we not? If he needs some time to address the issue and research it, fine.

The Chair:

If the Chair may for a minute. Relative to the present motion, it's more dangerous than any of the two previous ones we've had. We don't know it and apparently there's some problem with it. What we're trying to do is force it down someone's throat without knowing the full ramifications of it. I think the original motion, the one that suggest he prepare the legislation which comes back here for us to determine whether or not we should or should not go in that direction, has more sense. But since we're doing it this way, I can tell you in advance it's not getting my vote for whatever value it means.

Michelle Madoff:

We're going the way you wanted it. We're getting the Law Deparatment to prepare it. What is your problem?

The Chair:

No. Apparently you misunderstood what Mr. Robinson suggested. Mr. Robinson is suggesting that you request from the City Solicitor that he prepare the legislation. Now you have it prepared. You then, would present it and after that, this Council would determine, then and only then, whether or not that was apropos for the City of Pittsburgh.

Michelle Madoff:

And that's not what you want?

The Chair:

That's not what you just said.

Michelle Madoff:

That's exactly what I just said.

The Chair:

No it isn't. You're saying that we go ahead, as of this moment, and put it in.

Michelle Madoff:

No, no. That's not what I said. How could I put it in if it hasn't been drafted yet. I just said exactly what you just said. Exactly. That we order the Administration, Danny Pellegrini, to draft the legislation for this body.

The Chair:

Only that he draft the legislation?

Michelle Madoff:

That's right.

The Chair:

Do you agree with that, Mr. Givens?

Mr. Givens:

I have a question that wasn't answered yet. Does this require an executive order or can this Council do it? I think Danny is prepared right now to answer that if he can come to the podium. Why put him through a lot of work and this Council through a lot of work when it's not going to mean anything?

The Chair:

Let me tell you something. When you second a motion, you're putting us through the trouble. If you didn't second the motion, it wouldn't be there.

Mr. Givens:

I want to hear from Danny.

The Chair:

I know. Some people who second motions ought to understand that they're helping to generate the problem.

Mr. Givens:

I seconded the motion because I think a Councilperson has been working for two years to bring this about. I think we should bring it to resolution today.

The Chair:

The Chair is asking if there is anyone opposed to Mr. Pellegrini speaking right now.

Mr. Grabowski:

I oppose to Mr. Pellegrini speaking now. I would prefer to see him speak at Wednesday's meeting on a post agenda.

Mr. Robinson:

I oppose.

The Chair:

That may come up with the bill.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't want to lose the votes on the bill and then have life cycling costing go down the tubes. I will withhold the bill. We will have a post agenda at your discretion this coming Wednesday, Mr. Chairman. We will then ask Mr. Pellegrini and he should be prepared to answer why he is not prepared to draft legislation for us to make it legislation as opposed to an executive order.

I withdraw my motion.

The Chair:

Are you withdrawing your second, Mr. Givens?

Mr. Givens:

I withdraw my second.

The Chair:

The Chair doesn't have any motion to entertain. We'll move on.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, as you know, each year over the last six we have taken time out of the first week of February to acknowledge Afro-American History Month. This year, again, I'd like to introduce a resolution and so honor Afro-American History Month.

In so doing, I'd just like to indicate that there are a few people present who I think we should recognize and I'd like to do so at this time. While I'm doing that, I would like two people to come forward who will be accepting the resolution and will have some very brief comments. Ms. Marjorie Franklin who is a librarian with the Homewood/Brushton Branch of our own Carnegie Library and also Dr. Jake Milliones who is the President of our School Board.

I should say that this year's theme is Excellence in Education and I think both of these individuals, in their brief comments, will have something of value to say to you.

Also, I'd like to recognize Dr. Edna McKenzie who is a member of the Executive Council of the National Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History, one of the organizations that is sponsoring Afro-American History Month. In fact, it's founder, Carter G. Woodson, founded Afro-American History Month.

Also, we want to recognize the students from our own Community College, Allegheny Campus, the Afro-American History class, Dr. Lela Allen who is with the College Office of Community College and Dean Flora Russell who is with the Center North Campus of Community College.

I'd like to thank all of you for coming and participating in this program.

Mr. Robinson presents

Bill No. 179 WHEREAS, Afro-Americans have been an integral part of this nation, this state, this country, and this City's history for more than 300 years; and

WHEREAS, the first week of the month of February has been traditionally designated to recognize their many deeds and accomplishments; and

WHEREAS, many distinguished Afro-Americans made history as residents of our City, such as, Dr. Martin R. Delany, Louis Woodson, George B. Vashon, Henry Ossawa Tanner, Robert L. Vann, Daisy Lampkin, Dr. Alma Illery, Honorable Homer S. Brown, Honorable Paul Jones, Percival L. Prattis, and the Reverend Baxter Sherman Mason; and

WHEREAS, in February of 1926, Dr. Carter Godwin Woodson, the Director of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, launched the celebration of Negro History Week; and

WHEREAS, this celebration has been expanded to a full month of recognition; and

WHEREAS, throughout the nation, distinguished and honored people of African ancestry will be honored during Afro-American History Month.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of Council of the City of Pittsburgh, on behalf of the citizens of the City of Pittsburgh, shall recognize and observe the month of February as Afro-American History Month.

Mr. Robinson moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson:

Before our speakers make their presentations, I'd like to indicate that each year we have asked some speakers to come forward and share with us some of their insights relative to Afro-American History Month.

Miss Franklin, of course, will speak to us as a representative of the Homewood/Brushton Library, as a librarian at that very fine facility. Certainly our libraries throughout the country are reservoirs of important information relative to the history of people of African ancestry.

Dr. Milliones, who is the newly elected President of our School Board, certainly has shown by his past performance and his past statements his dedication to excellence and education. Those of us who put this little program together thought it would be appropriate for someone of his distinguished character to be here today to speak on the issue of excellence and education.

So, with that, I'd like to have both of them have some brief words.

Miss Franklin:

On behalf of the blacks of the City of Pittsburgh, I want to thank Councilman Robinson and also Council for recognizing us. We've been here 300 years but our history has been lost, strayed and stolen. I am a product of the Pittsburgh schools, so-called good schools. Friendship, in my day, was excellent; Peabody was good. And the only person I ever heard of was Dr. Carver and Booker T. Washington. All of the other greats who had made contributions to this country were lost.

We've heard that Carter G. Woodson started the Association almost 60 years ago, but it didn't get to Pittsburgh fast enough. He has been honored by the nation with a stamp recognizing his activities in this field.

As one of the libraries in one of the black pockets of the City, we naturally do a big thing for Black History Month. This month we are showing black women who have made contributions against the odds. That exhibit will be on display for the full month. We are also having a talk on black aviators in Western Pennsylvania. Backing up to the women, we are also going to have a tea on Sunday, I believe the 26th, because two of the women that the Smithsonian honored as being important are right here in the City of Pittsburgh. We have Maida Springer-Kemp, who was very active in labor movements, and Dr. Polly Murray, who is best known, probably, for being the first black woman Episcopal priest.

The other library in the black pocket is also, naturally, having programs. The Hill District has an art display. They're going to have films and they are going to have the Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History meeting where they are going to discuss the blacks and their striving for education.

With Dr. Milliones here I'm not going to say anything else about that, but thank you again.

Dr. Milliones:

Councilman Robinson, thank you for the presentation of the resolution. Let me just say that it's unfortunate that we, indeed, have to have a Black History Month. In fact, I look forward to the day when black Americans will be properly represented in the history of this country and perhaps there will not be the need for such a recognition in the month of February.

However, be that as it may, it is fitting this year that the theme of Black History Month is Excellence in Education. So, on behalf of the Board of Education, we would like to say to you that we are going to make every effort to see that every youngster, every youngster, both black and white, in the City of Pittsburgh, has the opportunity to be exposed to the best that the educational system has to offer. We are very excited about the prospects of what can happen in education, particularly in some of the low-achieving black schools and I see that we have in our audience Mrs. Doris Bovard who certainly represents the excellence, who is the principal of the Vann Elementary School in the Hill District. She certainly represents the type of principal that we speak about when we talk about excellence. It is one of the highest achieving schools in the City and it has been for a long time.

So, that is our goal this year; to make sure that particularly the low-achieving black schools do indeed achieve and we will have more to say about that in the coming days.

Thank you very much.

Michelle Madoff:

Dr. Milliones, I think any thinking person appreciates the tremendous work that you've done and I think that the resolution today is most appropriate.

I have a concern that I'm sure we both share that is very tied in to what you're doing. Are those children who are going to get the education going to get enough to eat so they can concentrate? Are there going to be hot lunches provided or is that program going down the tubes? I'm very concerned about that.

Dr. Milliones:

Which program are you referring to?

Michelle Madoff:

I'm talking about the federal program where the children get hot lunches. For the families that aren't working now and are unemployed, will there be some money available?

Dr. Milliones:

The federal program would probably be more appropriately addressed to the President. So far as I'm concerned, I would hope that that program will remain with the Pittsburgh system. However, it is a federal program and we have very little say about that.

Michelle Madoff:

What I'm asking, is it in effect now or has the money been cut off?

Dr. Milliones:

It is in effect now.

Michelle Madoff:

It is in effect and the monies have not been cut off as of this point?

Dr. Milliones:

Not to my knowledge.

Michelle Madoff:

That was my concern. Thank you very much.

Mr. Robinson:

Again, I would like to thank my colleagues and the Mayor for their graciousness and support over the last seven years. I think credit should always be given where credit is due and I want to thank those who have cooperated over the years in making this program a success.

Also, I'd like to recognize all those who came out this afternoon. I'd like to thank you for your support over the last seven years. Some of you have been here year after year after year. I see Father McIlvane. I see Lester Cain, one of my former colleagues at the University of Pittsburgh; many of you who have supported this program. I think it's also important that you check your newspapers, check with your local community organizations and groups, particularly in the black community. For the whole month of February there will be programs; some of our television stations have been kind enough to set aside some time to also recognize Afro-American History Month.

One comment on Dr. Milliones' statement about the quality of education in our school system, I think if all of us dedicate ourselves to making our schools better, then that will make all of us who live in the City better and that will give us an opportunity to not only share another's cultures but to share another's understanding and perspective. The economy of our community is such now that many of us will have to be retrained, many of us will have to be educated. Hopefully, as that preparation and education takes place, those of us who truly want to work together and live together in the City will be able to do that and certainly over the years the educational process has provided many, many opportunities for us all to recognize that the City belongs to all of us and if we work hard for its major institutions, particularly our educational institutions, that indeed Pittsburgh will be someplace special.

I'd also like to thank Councilman Stone for being kind enough to hold the proceedings for a few minutes while I took care of some business and also thank him for his cooperation over the last six or seven years in this regard.

The Chair:

Thank you, Mr. Robinson.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 47

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution signifying the desire and intention of the City of Pittsburgh to organize an Authority under the Municipality Authorities Act of One Thousand Nine Hundred Forty-Five, setting forth the proposed articles of incorporation of the Pittsburgh Water and Sewer Authority, authorizing the proper officers of the City for and on behalf of said City of Pittsburgh and repealing all resolutions or parts of resolutions inconsistent herewith."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 48

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements with the Pittsburgh Water and Sewer Authority, a municipal authority being formed under the Municipality Authorities Act of 1945, as amended."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Now we shall discuss Bills 47 and 48 which deal with the Water Authority. The first to have his hand up was Mr. Grabowski, then Mr. Givens and then Michelle Madoff.

Mr. Grabowski:

Thank you, Mr. President.

Since we considered these bills last Wednesday at our Finance Committee Meeting, they have received a lot of attention. In fact, up until this morning we were discussing possible alternatives to these bills. I don't think that in light of the number of alternatives that have surfaced that we have really had time to look at them to see if they are, in fact, feasible and doable.

Based on that, I'd like to make a motion that we recommit Bill Nos. 47 and 48 to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Givens seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

Direction, please. May I make an amendment to the motion?

The Chair:

The motion is to recommit.

Michelle Madoff:

Yes, but can I make an amendment to that motion to recommit? To recommit for two months?

The Chair:

I think you have to recommit and then do it at the table, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

I think there's not enough time if we don't have two months to do it.

The Chair:

But what you want to do is, if you're so disposed to recommit, commit it back to Committee and then from then on do what you want with it.

Michelle Madoff:

There's no point, Mr. Stone, with all due respect, recommitting it for one more week or two more weeks because we don't have enough time to do it.

The Chair:

I might agree with you but I think the way to do it is to commit it back and then dispose of it.

Michelle Madoff:

When would that take place? On Wednesday?

The Chair:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

And there's no way we can recommit and say we'd like to recommit for two months today. I would like to make that as part of the recommitment. Am I privileged to do that?

The Chair:

Yes, but you're committing it back to the Finance Committee and let the Finance Committee, then, determine what disposition it will make.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't think I'm out of order and I would like a ruling from the Parliamentarian whether I have the right to attach to that amendment that at least one month, I'll buy one month, at least four weeks from now. I think I have that privilege and right.

The Chair:

I have a motion to hold the bill in Committee for one month. Do I have a second?

Mr. Givens seconded the motion.

Mr. Woods:

If I may, Michelle, it's always the procedure to recommit. Once you recommit, it's back to Committee. Then on Wednesday, when it would come up, then you would say you want to hold this bill for a month or two months. That's the proper way. Right now all you're doing is voting on recommitting it to Committee.

The Chair:

She's aware of that; I made that point. She wants to still do it.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Woods, you are correct; it can be done that way. It also can be done the other way. They are both correct. We have done it many, many times in a resolution form to say we're going to recommit. We've done it to me, many times, to say for at least — Mr. Stone will say, "How long do you think you're going to need for this bill?" Many times. I'm asking for the courtesy of having the opportunity to do what every other member of this Council has done to say I would like to hold it for a month. I've attached that rider —

The Chair:

The Chair has heard you and you will stop for a moment.

Do you want to amend you're original motion to say one month?

Mr. Grabowski:

I will do that. Let's hold it for one month.

The Chair:

You don't have to. If you want to just —

Mr. Grabowski:

I think Michelle is right. Let's recommit it for one month.

The Chair:

Alright. Mr. Givens, what about your second? Do you want to make it a month?

Michelle Madoff:

He already seconded for a month.

The Chair:

Michelle, please let me preside.

Steve's motion is to recommit until next Wednesday. There has been an amendment. The question is now, he says he does not mind making one motion to include her's which is to be committed and recommitted for one month.

Do you want to second the recommitment for one month?

Mr. Givens:

Yes.

The Chair:

Okay. We only have one motion before us at this time and that is to recommit for the length of one month.

Take the roll.

Mr. Givens:

Aye.

Mr. Grabowski:

Aye.

Michelle Madoff:

Aye.

Mrs. Masloff:

No.

Mr. O'Malley:

No.

Mr. Wagner:

Aye.

Mr. Woods:

No.

The Chair:

No.

The motion having failed, we'll go back to the original —

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me. How does it fail if it's a tied vote?

The Chair:

You need five. On Monday you need five.

Michelle Madoff:

Where is Mr. Robinson? Would it be out of order to ask Mr. Robinson to vote on that? It's such an important vote.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, Mr. Robinson is obviously here, I would think, and it is a critical vote. For that reason, I think we should attempt to find him and have him partake in this vote.

Mr. President, may I add, could we recess for five minutes to see if he is here?

The Chair:

We'll see how much time we lose and if it's not too much we'll continue on.

While we're waiting for Mr. Robinson, the Chair would like you to understand that at the time a vote is called, the vote must be cast at that time. We can't wait for votes. If they're not here, that's regretful. But because of the issue before us, we will permit Mr. Robinson, if he's here within a short period of time, to vote.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, is a motion in order? Another motion?

The Chair:

No. We are kind of at rest for a second, in place. I don't want to change this all over the place. We'll stay right where we are for a second.

Mr. Wagner, I'll entertain your motion to recess for five minutes.

Mr. Grabowski:

Could we have a roll call vote on that recess?

The Chair:

Steve, I'm going to help you. I'm granting a five minute recess.

And on the motion of Mr. Wagner

Council recessed.

And the time of recess having expired, Council reconvened and there were present:

Mr. Givens	Mr. Robinson
Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. O'Malley	(Pres't)

The Chair:

Councilman Robinson, the vote presently, at this time, is to recommit for one month. There has been a request that you cast a ballot.

Mr. Robinson:

Clarification. A vote on which particular bill?

The Chair:

On the Water Authority bills only.

Everyone has voted with the exception of yourself. The issue is whether or not it should be — If you're voting yes, you would recommit for one month back to the Committee and if you are not, we would vote today.

Mr. Robinson:

A yes vote is to recommit?

The Chair:

Correct.

Mr. Robinson:

My vote is no.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Givens	Michelle Madoff
Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
AYES 4	NOES 5

VOTING NO:

Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone
Mr. Robinson	(Pres't)

And a majority of the votes of Council not being in the affirmative, the motion was defeated.

The Chair:

Can I get a motion to approve the bill?

Mr. Woods moved to approve the bill.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

The Chair:

On the original bill, Mr. Givens.

Mr. Givens:

For weeks now, this Council has studied the questions of whether or not to create an authority to finance the improvements of our water and our sewer system. The Administration threw this complex issue into our laps and expected us to have a decision in just two very quick months — one of those months we were already in heavy debate over our own financial budget of 1984 — after they studied this plan, the Administration, for two years. We simply have not had enough time, but as voted in this Council today, you still do not want to give the Council enough time. But other people feel very strongly and very differently about this.

We even hired a financial consultant who just this morning explained to us the ways that we could save tens of millions of dollars through an alternative financing method. I've offered proposals — which I gave and was in your baskets this morning at 10:00 — modeled after a system in St. Louis and Buffalo to create an enterprise fund so that we could pay for the improvements as we go without incurring the long-term indebtedness.

I'd like to read a letter that was received just today from the American Association of Retired Persons. It was signed by Peggy Finklestein, Chairman, Legislative Committee.

"Dear Councilmembers:

On behalf of 1,000 members, I have been asked to convey to you our opinion that the proposal made by Councilman Givens in the Pittsburgh Press, February 5, 1984 and the Post Gazette today, as a compromise solution to the unacceptable water and sewage authority demands by Mayor Caliguiri has merit in our eyes.

We believe that the fur that has arisen over the rush to create a water and sewer authority indicates an aware electorate determined to preserve their rights and one determine through public meetings for progress reports to create a strong check and balance system in our government. We feel strongly that a person elected to represent the people for a four year term has no right to abuse the powers conveyed temporarily by the electorate.

To enact an ordinance that will place an unconscionable burden upon some electorate for 46 years after the term of office has expired is indeed an abuse of the power by both the Mayor and those Councilmembers who support the Mayor's demands."

They especially request that we listen and have an open mind and that we trust that if so, we will support the proposal. That is the one I just so indicated and I would like that entered into, Mike, the official record, it's full contents, because I think it's very important that it be viewed historically in that position.

This particular plan that I have proposed is a plan that our finance consultant suggested that the best method to do the work might be some combination of pay-as-you-go and this is what I had so submitted; pay-as-you-go with some possible small bonding because labor has come to all of us on this Council and said that they are hurting for work. I'm ready to give them that work. And this plan that I have proposed to you, Councilmen, and I dare to say that if I asked three or four of you in here what the five major points are, you couldn't even say what it was or when it was even dated. That's a disgrace!

The big thing that the Administration has indicated to us is that no one has presented a plan, no alternatives. Well, here is an alternative. Where are we, Council, that we want to rush through this thing so quickly? And it does provide for labor in here some $13 million, if this Council so desires; $8 million which is sitting in the pot right now and $5 million which we could appropriate under a very short-term note. After the water rates then would increase, they would have additional monies and end up in 13 years versus 7 years with the same projects done but over half a billion dollars in savings. That is tremendous as far as I'm concerned.

These short-term bonds. The point is not which plan is better. If it's my plan, I don't care if it's better. If the Mayor's plan is better — Jack Wagner had some good input, other Councilpeople have input, Steve Grabowski had some good input, but we haven't had time to materialize them. My people were working on this for two hard months going the whole nation trying to find out where the better water systems go. It was amazing that about 42 years ago, this very Council went to St. Louis to look at an environment control problem that they had at that particular time and it was called Smoke and we had lots of it here in the smoky city of Pittsburgh. Our Council went down to St. Louis to find out what they were doing down there to abate their smoke and their particular environmental problem that they had a couple years later. That same Council approved that four or five years later under Davy Lawrence. It's very amazing why this Council can't go someplace, look at some systems, and make an intelligent decision of what is going on.

So I say, Mr. President, that we must have more time, regardless of what this vote was today, to study all of these possible alternatives. The savings to the taxpayers, and that's who we're to represent, could be two to three hundred million dollars. Think of that. Two to three hundred million dollars. But we need more time to study and make the right decision. We owe it to the taxpayers to be careful with their money.

You know, it's amazing over this past week and the fact that I had to run for an endorsement that I had talked to many of the Ward Chairmen, some 30 that I could count. All the Ward Chairmen in the City, with exception of about 2 or 3, that I spoke to on a personal basis asking them or they asking me, do not vote for this water authority. Every Committeeperson that I spoke to, do not vote for this water authority. All the people that I have spoken to in this City, do not vote for the water authority. Please, Mr. Givens, don't raise our rates. We are senior citizens; we are on fixed income.

What are we going to do, fellow Councilmembers? If we pass this, I feel we are letting down the taxpayers of the City of Pittsburgh.

I'll summarize very quickly, Mr. President, by saying this: This Council must be careful with the taxpayers' money because the Administration is not being careful with the taxpayers' dollar.

Under the Caliguiri Administration, we have seen the budget double in the last six years — we have gone from $126 million to our last budget here of $270 million — and watched the Mayor finance this enormous growth with a doubling of the earned income tax; the tripling of the property tax, and the Caliguiri Administration has more than tripled, ladies and gentlemen, more than tripled the size of the Pittsburgh indebtedness since he's been in office. He has incurred $262 million in indebtedness.

If you just use the normal yardstick that we have been using to borrow $150 million, that puts us some $750 million that we're going to have to pay back. On top of this, we must look at the total City indebtedness which rose from about 6 percent up to almost 19 percent in a city representing some $750 million out there again. That totalling some almost $1.5 billion.

Why has our rating in the City of Pittburgh dropped? That's the reason it has dropped. Why does Dick Caliguiri want to get rid of this water department? So we can free it from the general revenue bonds, put it over there in the water authority and pay for it by the user fees. Well, I hate to tell you, the users aren't going to stand for it and we're going to go out and do more borrowing and more borrowing to pay the people who work in the water department. Otherwise, we'd be taking out of the general fund where I think it should be.

Now, we want to borrow more and hide the almost $500 million indebtedness in the bureaucracy of the water and sewer authority. How cruel! We need only to look at the operation of the transit and the Stadium Authority to see what kind of trouble we will be in if we get into this particular authority. We'll selling our future generations down the river if we approve the creation of this authority. Remember that in 1952, Mayor Davy Lawrence backed down from his proposal to create a similar authority because of public outcry after this Council, after this Council passed it. The citizens of this City went into his office and demanded that we not sell or give away or create an authority.

We cn this Council cannot be deaf to the taxpayers' cries for fair treatment. I, for one, cannot tolerate using taxpayers' money to finance political ambitions, whether on a local or state level. If we create an authority so hastily, we shirk our responsibilities to the people of the City of Pittsburgh. Ask the people to respond. This battle has just begun.

I would also like to have my remarks from Wednesday's session be added to today's session.

Thank you, Mr. President.

(BEGINNING - MR. GIVENS'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 47 - WEDNESDAY, 2/1/84)

Mr. Givens:

I think dialogue is healthy, and I would like to call to the table in that this is the first time that Council, at least this Councilman, had a true opportunity to ask some questions that I feel must be answered as Jack Wagner is saying, that there are questions that must be answered, and if we could, I think I need at least two people, possibly three. One from Engineering, one from our Finance Department, and one of the consultants who wrote the financial report. If they could come to the table, we could have some dialogue back and forth. Mr. Cosentino, could you come back and forth. Mr. Cosentino, could you come down please? Some of the questions I must ask, must relate back to the old Water Department also.

I think some of these questions must be asked. No one right here can answer this particular question but the Council, but I must bring it up for discussion at the table. Despite Mr.

Bingler's last night's testimony, we still have distinct caution about authorities in our Charter. That is very evident in there. It's telling us something. The same month, this Administration has saw to amend our Home Rule Charter, this Administration has also ignored a warning in that same Charter.

The commentary in Article II, Section 219 cautions against formations of new authorities, and the question is how does the Administration justify contradicting the Charter? And maybe that question might best be answered by ourselves here. I don't know how you feel about it, but all the research I have done, I have some real good documentations where people have dug into authorities throughout the land and they're telling us, "Yes, you can have authorities. Yes you can borrow money, but if you do so, you're losing a certain accountability in this particular area." And do we want to give up that accountability? Does anyone want to make comment on that?

Mr. Schmeiser
Director
Department of Finance:

Well, I can comment, Dick. I asked Mr. Bingler to appear last night. I called him and his role as Chairman of the Home Rule Study Commission to see if that in fact was the intent of the Study Commission to prohibit future authorities. He assured me it was not; that that was not in the Charter. It was simply a commentary, and it was a compromise because there were two thoughts on the subject, and I don't think he made this clear in his testimony last night, but he told me that where it is beneficial to the City, it was not the intent of the Home Rule Study Commission to prohibit authorities when it would be beneficial to the City. It's clearly in our mind that this is.

Mr. Givens:

Well, the question I throw out then is, this historically going backwards, there have been at least two new authorities created since I have been on this Council, and the question was asked last night, and I have asked it before. You know, you can have an authority for the Department of Public Works for bridges, just anything you want to in Government. And we can give our whole Government away to authorities, and I don't know — and if I heard from the people correctly last night that they really want us to do that particular thing, but that is a question.

I think that there is no doubt that the Water Department must be regenerated. Evidence of those who worked in that particular department last night so indicated that it was given bottom row attention. Now it has come bite the bullet time.

The other question I have is the green International Study, the engineering report upon which our whole decision is based, characterizes the Pittsburgh water and sewer system as adequate, but in need of improvement. My question is why is it so — why in such a hurry on the first and only plan for an improvement considered. Why are we in such a big rush on this? You can say yes we have received these documents maybe in December, but we were in the middle of our budget, and we are now in the first of February, given 30 days of exploration into it, but many of the documents have just been brought to our attention, and why did we receive a report that was unsigned. That is not a valid report. I have not seen a signature, and I cannot look at that engineering report. It's a draft. And I cannot accept a draft report.

Mr. Berman
Green International:

In can address the second part of that question. As far as the signature of the report if you will, we submitted a draft report to the Administration on the fall of 1983. I'm not sure what the month was. It was August, September, October. We had asked for comments on a report. We received some comments, and we finalized a report and submitted the signed copy of the report on December 9.

Mr. Givens:

You're saying that the Administration has a certified signature copy?

Mr. Berman:

Oh, yes.

Mr. Givens:

Then why has this not been provided to Council?

Mr. Schmeiser:

It has been distributed.

Mr. Stone:

His question is the one with the signature on it.

Mr. Givens:

I have no problem with that. Is there any significant difference between the draft and this right here.

Mr. Berman:

Let me read one sentence out of this transmittal letter. "This final report submission reflects only those minor editorial revisions and additions to the draft report which were required for clarity." Minor editorial changes. The basic elements of this report are identical to that which was submitted in the draft report.

Mr. Givens:

See, nothing goes into law in this City unless the President of Council and the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, and possibly the Controller of the City of Pittsburgh sign the document. You know, we are working with an unsigned draft, and I felt that was -- we were at a disadvantage because the draft is a draft, and I appreciate what you're saying that there are minor technical changes, but I have to review this, and I'd want our engineering people to review it — at least Eddie Albert, who is our capital improvements/engineering experience, and I would like him to go through and review those technical changes. That is just a question I have to bring up, and I think you have answered that. And, Mike, I would like a copy of this, or if you don't have copies, to get them to all the Council members as soon as possible.

We still have to review, you know — that's much thinner document than you —

Mr. Berman:

The draft was double-spaced. This is single-spaced. That goes for the size. Just one comment. There were no technical — none — changes in the document. There were word changes and editorial changes. The drafters of the report have their own style of writing. I did the final review and changed some words around for clarity sake. There were no technical changes in the document.

Mr. Givens:

Okay. The other question I have is why has no one from the Administration discussed alternative plans with us involving a longer time, 15 years for example, and less hasty borrowing? We have asked for that. People in some of the sessions that I did not attend, but had representatives attend asked for this information. We had people who came in last night saying that they wanted this information. The Administration would give it to them, however, no one is in receipt of it. We have not seen any of the alternative discussions and dialogue that brought the Administration to the conclusion that this has to be done in this particular way, and I'm sure you've looked at those alternatives.

Mr. Schmeiser:

By alternatives, you mean extending the Capital Program beyond seven years?

Mr. Givens:

And different other methods you might have looked at and discarded for one reason or another.

Mr. Schmeiser:

We did discuss this as some depth last Friday, and I know you were out of town and couldn't attend that meeting.

Mr. Givens:

I have representation there.

Mr. Schmeiser:

Yes, and certainly that representative must have reported to you that we did discuss this. Again, this is upon the advice of our consulting engineer. His initial recommendation was that the improvements should be made over five years, and we extended it over seven years. I'll let him speak to it but in his opinion, seven years is as long as it should be done.

Mr. Berman:

In attempting to establish a Capital Budget from the engineering standpoint, look at two things. Number one, what has to be done, and number two, what time frame is reasonable in order to be able to actually accomplish the work, getting it designed and getting it built in an operation.

To the first point, what has to be done — our investigations, our tours of the plant and the pump stations, our discussions with the personnel of the Water Department and Public Works Department in our review of all the past records of sewer investigations indicated that there was a need to drastically increase the proposed City's six-year Capital Program. We looked at that. We felt that there would be a — that the amount of work that had to be done could in fact be accomplished in a five-year time frame. The more you compress that, the greater the impact on rates. The longer you stretch that out, the less the impact on the rates. So, at the request of Mr. Schmeiser, we lengthened it somewhat.

It is an old system. It does need help, and the longer you stretch it out, the more the probability there is that something else is going to go wrong. There is no question the system will continue to deteriorate, and so you're asking for more trouble if you delay it longer.

Now, if you're going to ask me, as Mrs. Madoff has asked me once, is eight years all right, I can't say that seven years is a magical figure. Double it, or triple it or quadruple it, the probability is that something else is going to go wrong, and there is a possibility that a section of line might go out with some fire hydrants. There is a possibility that some of the valves that major ones on the pumping system, which probably haven't been operated in years may fail. So, in developing the seven-year program, we felt that the work had to be done. Seven years is a reasonable time to actually get it done but it's not a magical figure. I would not advise stretching it out too much.

Mr. Givens:

In reading the draft report, I did not see what areas of the City that you are going to work in. You just were generally — had so many valves of such and such a size and so many water lines of such a size, the Saw Mill Run was not addressed, which is a major issue before this Council and has been for many years. Do you intend if this thing is approved to come in with specific recommendations?

Mr. Berman:

The specific elements, many of them in the Capital Program are contained in just ongoing records in the Water Department. I think I gave Mr. Wagner a copy of a couple of those lists of which we called information, and the specific sections of water lines that are replaced are listed on there. Now, if we were to put all that in, we would have a report like this. (Indicating) The records are there. The background is there for the totals that are in the book.

Mr. Givens:

Has that been presented to our staff?

Mr. Berman:

I don't think so.

Mr. Givens:

See, these are some of the problems that I have. We do have a staff here, and they're people who have been in the Engineering Department and the Public Works Department and the Sewer Department for many many years with great expertise who could look at some of those and give this Council a feeling as to whether your engineering report is going in the proper direction.

Mr. Berman:

I might add this; —

Mr. Givens:

Could we get copies of what you just mentioned?

Mr. Berman:

I was just going to mention that all of the information that we had to work with came from the Water Department files. Now, we can either recreate it, or Mr. Cosentino could put it together. Either Way.

Mr. Givens:

Did you tell them exactly what areas needed to be replaced?

Mr. Cosentino:

Yes. We have the basic background information available.

Mr. Givens:

You have the historical background data of the City, what areas of the are most critical and in critical need of repair right now.

Mr. Cosentino:

That's correct.

Mr. Givens:

Is there any way that you can provide a chart within, like the six-year plan that denotes those areas, you know, and pencil them in, all the main streets of the City of Pittsburgh as to what areas are going to be hit on a first time basis, second time — do you have a six-year plan, or are we starting from peg one right now?

Mr. Cosentino:

Well, we had a six-year plan originally. This program reconstructs that plan and changes some of the basic elements of the original six-year plan. But we can put something together that can show you exactly how —

Mr. Givens:

I would like to see something, very simple, and pencil in the areas where we are having problems. Like Michelle shows you right here where the major 1,100 some water breaks occured in a short period of time. And we're probably going to the older areas of the City along the riverbanks.

Okay, I'll go on a little bit more if I might. Because this is a highly technical issue, should we not be considering alternatives in the same depth of details as we are the Administration plan to assure fairness for the current and future taxpayers, and the questions here would raise the rates, plus set aside trust and fair returns. An example is the hydro project alternative pay as you go — and there is an attachment handed out yesterday that we could do this whole thing, raising the rates without going into an authority but yet accomplishing the same thing taking a longer period of time and coming at the end of a seven-year period with almost $23 million surplus, you know, to work for emergency uses thereafter, otherwise, perpetual fund, based on the currect water rates that will be generated.

Mr. Schmeiser:

Dick, at the end of seven years, $85 million would be spent, according to the Ms. Rutkowski's proposal, whereas Mr. Berman has estimated with an inflationary factor, $188 million has to be spent, or less than half, and he just explained that prolonging these improvements could cause additional cost.

Mr. Givens:

Well, you know, that is an alternative plan, and I had to appreciate that in looking at the engineering plan, surprisingly the amount of water breaks as reported in our report, which is apparently historical from our Water Department indicated an actual downtrend as far as the number of breaks. No, I have to assume that weather has a lot to do with that. If you have a very hard winter, you're going to have more water breaks. I don't care if you have a brand new system out there. Houston Texas experienced that this particular year when they had a hard frost down in that particular area.

These are alternative plans, and something that is, to me, very interesting to note, and should have been considered. There is an article in Monday's Post Gazette, they had an article questioning the Vice President of Moody's and Standard and Poor in which both officials said that a new authority would not necessarily get a better bond rating.

The question here then is if the Administration is being much of its argument for the creation of an authority on the expectation of a better bond rating, how do we reconcile that with more conservative judgment of these experts?

Mr. Schmeiser:

Dick, that article is very unfortunate because we spoke to one of the two people who is part of the article, and they said they were misquoted.

Mr. Givens:

Why wasn't that brought back into the newspaper.

Mr. Schmeiser:

The reporter was told the person indicated they were misquoted. The second person left for a conference and was out of town, but others in his office also indicated that information was incorrect in that article.

Mr. Givens:

Can we get a letter to that effect from the people from the — we're talking about the Vice President. Now, I'm sure there might be more than one vice president. Can we get a letter from the President then? These are the people that are going to make the final decision on what the bond ratings are going to be for this Water Authority.

Mr. Schmeiser:

I can assure you that you will not get a letter either way. They do not commit themselves beforehand.

Unfortunately, the reporter was inexperienced, and he probably asked the wrong questions and misunderstood the response.

Mr. Givens:

Well, I would ask the Post Gazette then, being they were the authors of that particular article, to call some of these people up here and see if they can get a rebuttal on this. It would be interesting to see if they will give a rebuttal. That is a question, and it's a serious one, and one I had to ask.

Another question, along that same line, is if in fact we would get a reduced rating, what then happens to the Water Authority? Will it be dissolved? Otherwise, we can do it in the City. If the City bond rating is good as the Water Authority, will we then dissolve that thing, and I can almost answer that question, and what I heard last night by that one attorney, Rosemary, that indicated that as soon as you indebt any authority, you cannot dissolve that authority until that debt is paid. If you take a 30-year bond, then we can't — even if that authority goes — or we want to get rid of it, we cannot dissolve it.

Mr. Schmeiser:

No, Dick. If the City, they want to dissolve or terminate the authority, they have 90 days to do so. It is true they have to pay off the bonds that are outstanding. In other words, the City would have to have a bond issue to defease the debt that is outstanding in the authority.

Mr. Givens:

But then what type of situation would you be in if you get a hypothetical one where the bond rating is not bad right now, but when that would occur, you would be at a very distinct disadvantage to go out on the bond market and try to borrow at that specific time. That's a reality that we have to face.

Mr. Schmeiser:

Well, just as the City is today, at a very distinct disadvantage of borrowing this money.

Mr. Givens:

Another question that did come up indicates that the City population is expected to increase, and thus there will be an increase in the number of water customers, but the Pennsylvania Department of Education predicts that our population will continue to decline through the year 2000, and they apparently talking to at least that department and other people in the census bureau indicate that they seem to have a better handle and their predictions have been more accurate than others. How can you say that we're going to increase in population when the school district indicates we're going to decrease?

Mr. Berman:

The increase that has been projected in our report is based on population forecast prepared by the South Western Pennsylvania Regional Planning Commission. They are the official State agency that does the population forecast for this area. That's where the figures came from.

Secondly, the population increase, although it is a plus, is very minor, and I don't know what the Department of Education's decrease figures are, but I am assuming they are going to be relatively minor also. In effect, whatever possible small increase or decrease in population there will be in the City in the next ten or fifteen years is not going to impact too much on either the amount of water used by the residents of the City, so it is almost a moot point.

Mr. Schmeiser:

Also, let me say that the population increase or decrease is more important with the financial forecast, as projecting revenues, and there Price-Waterhouse used zero population growth.

Mr. Givens:

That's fine, but what if the City increasing water rates projected in the seven-year program causes conservation on the parts of the users, that is the residents of the City of Pittsburgh, and I didn't see that figured in on some of your calculations.

Mr. Berman:

We did not anticipate any major conservation efforts being undertaken by the 400 and some thousand to get large numbers of people to do something with their plumbing which is going to decrease water. We just don't think that that is going to be any meaningful change in water usage. I don't think you can compare that to the Port Authority's problem of increasing rates and decreasing ridership which eventually does go up. I just don't think that is — that's about as small a difference in percentage as the change of population is going to be.

Mr. Cosentino:

I would like to add to that also. Back in 1982, when we raised the rates 50 percent, we didn't see any noticeable change in water consumption, and there wasn't any action that would have indicated conservation back then, and that was a sizable increase in rates.

Mr. Schmeiser:

Also, I think our West Penn customers, I don't think there is any evidence that they conserve water although, of course, we subsidize them. It doesn't matter what they use.

Mr. Givens:

See, when that 50 percent rate increase did come two years ago, it was whether or not it was going to be taken out of wages, real estate, or your water rates, and the 50 percent increase in water rates because our water rates were extremely low, and that is good information. I didn't know whether or not our flow rate went up or down. You said it remained somewhat the same. How can you say that when in the report it indicates that the metering that we have at the pumps are not accurate within 30 percent?

Mr. Cosentino:

Well, the accuracy can be questioned, but they do read consistently. Now, whether they are right or wrong is the question, not whether they are reading consistently.

Mr. Givens:

Well, then let's go back then to the actual customer itself, not with the rate increase, but did the water amounts remain the same?

Mr. Cosentino:

Water amounts remained about the same, yes.

Mr. Givens:

And as Jack Wagner said last night, he asked a very simple question, and I know the water rates as you consume more water, your rates go down, that means that the residents of the City of Pittsburgh, the homeowners are paying more than say the major institutions within the City of Pittsburgh. How can we justify that?

Mr. Cosentino:

Well, the City has historically had a declining block structure for the highest user pays the least amount in terms of the unit cost. That policy is certainly a policy that we can look at in the future and try to change.

Mr. Givens:

I'm just about completed with my questions. I have about two more major questions.

In any program of this magnitude, we must be certain that the taxpayers' money is being spent wisely. My question is that in the Administration's seven year program, what percentage of the total money will be for construction cost; that is, in the ground?

I'll give you an example. We say there is going to be $150 million in construction and $350 million financed. How much say, per million dollars, if we give you, this Council $1 million, how much of that money is going to be put in the ground?

Mr. Schmeiser:

Are you counting engineering costs?

Mr. Givens:

The total cost to the borrowing of the money over the program, and the total cost of everything. I have been given a figure of $1 million that we borrow, only $225,000.00 will be actually put in the ground. Meaning that we will go in and replace a pipe or valve, and if that is the cost of borrowing, should we not be thinking of other alternatives. That's why I initially brought that first question up.

Mr. Schmeiser:

Well, interest is not a financing cost. Interest is the cost of borrowing money. You're being able to do the improvements today because if you don't do it today, it's going to cost more for nothing more than inflation, and secondly, because additional deterioration could make it more costly. So, I know that that has been menticned over and over again in these public hearings, but interest is really not part of that.

Mr. Givens:

I can't believe that 80 percent of any money that we borrow, when we think of what the total cost — I'm saying that if we borrow $150 million, what is it giong to cost us —

Mr. Schillo:

That does't include the interest you pay off over the years —

Mr. Givens:

But when you include the interest and the bond and the consultant fees and the engineering and the management then, is that $225,000.00 out of $1 million in the ground, is that a true and a realistic figure?

Mr. Schmeiser:

You can't consider the interest. We're going to be paying back that money with interest over 30 years. Think of what inflation has happened the last 30 years. Today, we probably have .20 dollars compared to what it ws in 1954. And if inflation continues, that's what will happen. We will be paying back in .20 dollars. Now, if inflation does not continue, and hopefully it won't, those interest rates will come down, and we will be able to refinance at lower interest.

Mr. Givens:

And you're saying this is cost effective to do it this way?

Mr. Schmeiser:

Absolutely.

Mr Givens:

Versus in just raising the water rates on that .other plan that was submitted to us and using it as a model to raise money, but we're doing it through the taxing bodies, mainly the City of Pittsburgh, and any other monies we might be able to receive from the Federal Government to update our interstructure.

I can't see any City in the Northeast or any City in the country doing this by themselves. It's almost an impossible task. I think Mr. Pease indicated what it was going to cost just to — in the billions of dollars to take care of the interstructure system. And that is just the front money. And then you add all the interest and the fees generated from that, it's just going to be ten-fold, and I'm just asking that specific question. In your mind, do you feel this is cost effective?

Mr. Schmeiser:

Absolutelv.

Mr. Givens:

Thank vou.

The last question was the last time that Council has such a complicated issue, we created a commission to study the alternatives of cable television in Pittsburgh. I think that we need a study commission to further analvze the many unanswered questions and to protect the taxpayers. My question will then be what is the administrative position regarding the formation of a similar study commission to survey the alternatives?

Mr. Schmeiser:

Well, I know that the Administration has a position on this. I personally don't see the need for it. We have been over and over and over again. We dealt with consultants that Council brought in. We have had meeting after meeting with — this has been going on for several years, and I don't know what else can be brought out.

Mr. Givens:

Well, Ron, I have to indicate that we asked for alternatives, and yet you know, there were none given to us. In the cable TV, which was almost like another utility, this Council sits as a somewhat utility commission in that we have the reponsibility of raising the rates of the subscribers of the cable TV. We labored over that and had a commission, and it took two or three years before we came to a conclusion, and Sophie worked very had on that particular commission, and yet they indicated, what was it, $28 million to build a system, which took more like $50 million or $60 million, but here we are talking about $150 million, and this is a seven year period, and yet it wasn't even our money that we were using. We just wanted to see that our people got a fair shake. That's all that we want to see now; that our people out there, our taxpayers get a fair shake. If we're going to do something, why not a type of a commission. You answered that very quickly. You didn't even give it a thought, but yet it was something that was dealt over to very heavily in the cable franchise.

Mr. Schmeiser:

I don't think that's a good analogy. The Commission, among other things, had to decide among four or five competitors. That was a good bit of their deliberations. I don't think it is a good analogy at all to this situation.

This has been studied for several years. We have had the best talent available, and I think we have responded to all of your questions. I frankly resent that there are unanswered questions. I think we have responded to all of your questions. The other alternatives are more costly. We have certainly looked at them. This is the least costly to the taxpayers. We are as concerned as you are of the taxpayers and the water users in this City.

Mr. Givens:

See, I think you know, Ron, these particular alternatives that you use. We asked for information on that at the Friday meeting. None of that has been forthcoming. Why is that?

Mr. Schmeiser:

At that last Friday meeting, we did present to your consultant the effect of the other alternative which they raised. Each one was more costly. Dick, at that time, we said there were three objectives in setting this up. One is to have the highest bond rating available for the authority. Second is the highest bond rating possible for the City. And third, the lowest cost to the water users. And any other alternative that has been raised is more costly.

Mr. Givens:

Okay. We decided to go into this particular water authority, and yet we have Mr. Pease who came in here from the Allegheny Conference last night and indicated that the conference was doing a total study of the water and sewer and the infrastructure system of, I assume, at least Allegheny County and which probably overlapped in the South West Regional Planning in Pennsylvania. Why can we not wait until we see the outcome of that particular report and can we sue that as a basis to help us along. Here is the major corporations, the best engineerings, the best think tank that probably any city or county has. Why don't we use these people and wait to see what they report?

Mr. Schmeiser:

I couldn't agree more because two members of that committee are Don Berman and myself.

Mr. Givens:

Well, they're indicating this report —

Mr. Schmeiser:

Don Berman was the Chairman of the Water and Sewer Subcommittee of that task force.

Mr. Berman:

If I may. The Economic Development Committee, the group that Bob Pease was talking about last night, and the Infrastructure Task Force are taking a look at the total infrastructure problem in a six-county regional. It's not only a very wide geographically region, but it's a whole series of problems. And there will be no specifics of coming out of that report. That's a kind of a long-range program of what might have to be done in this area to assure us of an increased interest in the industries and commerical establishments moving into the area. It is much more of a planning study long-term, than it is going to be any specific of dollar amounts or anything else.

The road and bridge program has been fairly well defined through the efforts of the City, the county, the state. The airport costs have been fairly well defined. The locks and dams problem is a major problem, and the Infrastructure Task Force is discussing that with Dynamo, the river group. It's when we get into the sewer and water area that there really is no definition of a problem yet. This is probably the most defined — the best definition of a small part of the whole infrastructure problem in the six-county region. I don't see any definitive information coming from the Infrastructure Task Force.

Mr. Givens:

Well, Don, you bring out one of the exact points that I just indicated, and that is, can the City of Pittsburgh go into our water and sewer system by ourselves with the amount of money that is indicated that we're only looking at the tip of the iceberg here when we say $150 million to upgrade our water system. It's going to upgrade it for the seven-year plan. And we know that we are going to have to go beyond that seven years and continue that upgrading process.

We looked at our sewer system, and we got a multi-million dollar project just in the Saw Mill Run. Now, you mentioned the airport and bridges. All of those, the Federal Government subsidized the City of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County to the tune of 80 and 90 percent of the total money. Why can't we in this City then use that same philosophy on our water and sewer system?

Mr. Berman:

Because there are no federal or state funds.

Mr. Givens:

Well, this is not only happening in Pittsburgh, it's happening throughout all of the older cities including San Francisco, New Orleans, St. Louis, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, New York, you name them.

Mr. Berman:

And each one is struggling with this problem just as City Council is struggling with it now.

Mr. Givens:

Then what happens when the Federal Government realizes what is happening, when they tackle the interstructure of our bridges and roadways which, I think they have done a tremendous job, especially in this area, but when I look at this area compared to other areas of the county and the dollars that had been put into our area, I think we are still at the bottom of the barrel, but I think can we not wait and put pressure on our congressional delegation, both our Senate and the House, to ask for assistance here and take the burden off of our taxpayers.

Mr. Berman:

It seems to me that which ever way the City decides to go, that that money will be available if it is going to be available, if Congress does pass the law and there is an appropriation and the funds do start to rule, that whether there is an authority, whether it's City Council, whether it's a revenue bond issue, those monies will be available to any public body that applies and is eligible for applying now.

Mr. Givens:

Should that not tell us to hold in for a little while and when the Allegheny Conference comes out with their final report, you have something to gavel with?

Mr. Berman:

The Allegheny Conference report is not going to assist the City in this problem right now, whatever monies are available.

One more comment. In any federal grant, there will still be a local share. And that local share should still be minimized. Now the question before Council is which is the best way to minimize that.

Mr. Givens:

Well, these are some of the questions I have. I have one more, and then I will be finished. You know, we look at our current Water Department, and I have to address this to Mr. Cosentino, that one half of the projects, 44 percent, when the amount of money is between — well, let me go back. For the past four years, '80, '81, '82, '83, this Council appropriated the Water Department some $13 million, actually 13 and a half, to upgrade our water system. In that period of time, you have only utilized about $6 million, less than half. There are $7.5 million unspent or 44 percent.

Now, if we give you over a seven year period, even if it's a Water Authority or not, using the same engineering staff, I can't convceive that you're going — if we give you $150 million with the same engineering staff, how can you assure this Council that you're going to be able to complete these projects?

Mr. Cosentino:

Well, I don't know the origin of those figures, but all the projects that we have had for the past four years, since I have been involved, have either been constructed or committed. There are no projects that are outstanding at this time. Not one.

Mr. Givens:

Ed, where do we get these figures from?

Mr. Albert:

They're taken from the Controller's printouts on unrestricted and

Mr. Givens:

When you say unspent $7 million or so, does that mean there has been some type of a — has there been any type of —

Mr. Albert:

The $7.5 million is unrestricted.

Mr. Givens:

Not committed. No legislation has come forward to commit that amount of money, and that came from the Controller of the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Albert:

Right.

Mr. Givens:

Thank you. That's all the questions I have.

(REPORT REQUESTED BY MR. GIVENS)

MEMORANDUM

February 6, Monday, 1984

RE: Compromise Proposal to Water System Improvements

TO: President and Members of Council

FROM: Councilman Richard E. Givens

1.-WATER CONTROVERSY

The Administration's proposal to create an authority to improve the water and sewer systems in Pittsburgh has generated a considerable amount of public debate. The Mayor should be commended for the public leadership and political courage it took to confront the serious infrastructure problems within our deteriorating system. It is not easy to talk about rate increases for underground improvements. But after intense weeks of study, research, briefings, public testimony, media debate, and professional consultation, I think there is a practical alternative to remedy the problem.

2.-GOALS

I asked myself three questions: first, is there a cheaper way to finance the needed improvements without so greatly increasing our indebtedness? Second, is there a way to keep our elected officials accountable to the voters for the operation and rate levels of our water system? And third, is there a way to improve the integrity of the management of our water system? After further evaluation, I believe the answer to each question is 'YES'.

3.-NATIONAL SURVEY

With these goals in mind, economy, accountability, and integrity, my office conducted an informal national survey to understand how other municipalities of similar size deal with the management, structure, and operation of their water systems. We spoke with directors, commissioners, deputy supervisors and other administrative personnel of municipal water departments in twelve (12) cities of comparable size to Pittsburgh. The essential information is reproduced in appendix A. From this survey I was able to conclude that most cities of our size maintain a regular city department or division to manage their water systems. These included Atlanta, Kansas City, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Toledo, Nashville, and Seattle. There were four cities with other structures. Denver was an unusual case with its board of water commissioners established in 1918. It was not helpful as a comparison with Pittsburgh because of the unique water distribution problems of communities served by the Colorado River and the federal involvement in diverting some of that water to other western states. But Oklahoma City, Oklahoma is an example of an existing system similar to what the Administration is proposing: a dual system with a water department for daily operations and an authority to finance capital improvements. But this is not exactly analogous to the Administration's proposal for Pittsburgh. Oklahoma City has had this dual system since the early 1900's because of a city charter that sharply restricts the debt the city can incur for water system improvements. And while that Oklahoma City Municipal Improvement Authority is a vehicle to finance water system projects by selling bonds, it must still have all bond issues and rate adjustments approved by the City Council. This vital check and balance on the rates is not included in the Administration's proposal. A significant difference. This brings us to the final two cities, Buffalo and St. Louis, and their practical alternatives that maintain accountability and insure greater integrity for the management of their water systems.

4.-ENTERPRISE FUND

Buffalo and St. Louis have set up enterprise funds in which their water systems are managed as a regular division of city government. All water revenues are segregated from the general budget and must be used exclusively for the water systems. Rate adjustments must still be approved by the City Council in both cities. St. Louis has an additional safeguard to insure public accountability, the board of standardization, comprised of the Mayor, the President of Council, and the City Controller. Again, our Mayor and his administration must be praised for their foresight in realizing that the only way to insure the efficient operation and improvement of our water system is to separate this vital function and revenue source from the rest of the City's budget. But, I believe, they overlooked the alternative of establishing an enterprise fund that retains the accountability of elected officials for rate increases and the general management of the water system. Buffalo converted to an enterprise fund in 1962, while St. Louis' enterprise fund and board have existed for decades, since before the second World War.

5.-THE ST. LOUIS MODEL

Having traveled around our nation extensively, I was always struck with the similarities between Pittsburgh and St. Louis. In the comparison of our water systems, it is even more striking. First, both are river cities, with a rich natural resource flowing right through the city. Beside the comparable populations, our weather conditions and typography are similar. Their water system, like our own, has sections over 100 years old. St. Louis has 1300 miles of water lines while we have about 1200 miles in our system. St. Louis serves 110,000 city water customers hwich is very close to our own 113,000 customers. To all of these parallels add one more: we have the same form of municipal government with a Mayor, Council, and Controller. These numerous similarities invited a closer examination of their water system management. In addition to the creation of a self-sistaining enterprise fund with a construction reserve to pay for capital improvements, St. Louis' board of standardization increases political accountability by having the Mayor, the President of Council, and the City Controller oversee the operation of the water division. An authority as created in the Administration's current proposal decreases the accountability of the elected officials for such things as indebtedness and rate adjustments. This is exactly what our home rule charter has cautioned against. One final point about the St. Louis system. They are able to finance most of their capital improvements to the water system through their construction fund without selling bonds. Bonds and indebtedness to improve the St. Louis water system are the exception and not the rule.

6.-APPLICATION TO PITTSBURGH: PAY-AS-YOU-GO

Can a system similar to the one used effectively in St. Louis work in Pittburgh? Appendix B demonstrates just how a Pay-As-You-Go enterprise fund would work in Pittsburgh. My office has had several consultations with Hydroproject, Shadyside Consulting Engineers, who have worked on water and sewerage systems in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, have had experience and authorities, and completed work at our own airport. Hydroproject uses the same information projected by Price Waterhouse regarding rate increases, revenue, and expenses and demonstrates how we can establish an enterprise fund in Pittsburgh (accompanying legislation would be needed to authorize this change). Because the rate increases set by the Administration would generate a tremendous amount of revenue after 5 to 7 years, a construction fund could be slowly built up, as in St. Louis and Buffalo, that could fund capital improvements on a pay-as-you-go basis, over $23 million after the first seven years without any long-term indebtedness. $150 million worth of work would cost $150 million, not the $500 million (½ billion) proposed under the Administration's plan because of bond financing and interest charges. The basic difference between these two plans is time: the Administration plans on completing the work in 7 years; I am suggesting spreading the needed improvements our over 13 years. But a key question is whether that 7-year plan is a relatistic goal. Can the Administration achieve such a massive improvement program within 7 years? A study of the past performance raises serious doubts.

7.-PERFORMANCE RECORD OF WATER DEPARTMENT ON CAPITAL PROJECTS

Over the past four years, the water department has spend on ly 44%, less than half, of the money borrowed for its capital projects. Appendix C shows the amount of the water department's unrestricted balance as recorded in the Controller's report as of the end of 1983: $7.4 million of unspent money is laying in the bank from past years' bond sales. Appendix D illustrates the value of bonds sold for water projects over the four years from 1980 to 1983, totalling $13.4 million. Only $5.9 million has been spent or encumbered, just 44% of the total monies available. The Administration has taken steps to consolidate engineering functions in a new department; this should account for some improvement in the rate of completion. But in the Administration's 7-year plan, the amount of monev and work is triple the largest amount earmarked for water projects in any recent year (see Appendix D, 1982 figure). And most importantly, this tripling occurs not just for one year, but for 7 consecutive years. Can they really do it? Even though there is a restructuring, the directors within the Administration have testified that they anticipate no substantial new hirings in the water department, the department of engineering and construction, or the proposed water and sewer authority, for the immediate future. We, on Council, have seen numerous cases of capital projects not completed on time. For these reasons, the Administration's 7-year improvement plan will, in actually, take 10, 12, or maybe, 13 years to complete. 13 years? That's how long it would take us to create an enterprise fund to finance the same projects without incurring the enormous amount of long-term indebtedness (see Apppendix B). We could do the same amount of work in about the same amount of time, but save the taxpayers of Pittsburgh about $350,000,000 if we set up an enterprise fund modeled after the pay-as-you-go system currently operating in St. Louis.

8.-ACCOUNTABILITY AND FLEXIBILITY

I think we should adopt the St. Louis model of enterprise fund overseen by a board comprised of the Mayor, the President of Council, and the City Controller, in which all rate adjustments would still need City Council approval. This would increase accountability by placing the operation of our water system squarely on the shoulders of all elected officials in Pittsburgh. Also, this system is more flexible than the Administration's proposal. The Administration's water and sewer authority envisions the selling of bonds and long-term indebtedness as the only way to finance the needed improvements. But the St. Louis enterprise fund, applied to Pittsburgh as illustrated in Appendix B, would create a solvent construction fund to pay for improvements as we need them. And if we needed to, we could inject the system with intermittent capital funds through a small issue of water revenue bonds. This might be a feasible plan in the first year or two of the proposed enterprise fund to get the capital improvements underway. So, we might still be able to accomplish another of the Administration's praiseworthy goals, namely to stimulate our sagging local economy and create jobs now, but without locking ourselves into a ½ billion dollar indebtedness over the next 30 years. This is the kind of flexibility provided in the St. Louis model. And with the creation of a board comprised of the Mayor, the President of Council, and the City Controller, nagging problems like the Saw Mill Run drainage complications, the purchase of West Penn Water, and the sale of surplus water of surrounding municipalities could not be lost in the layer of bureaucracy created by another authority. Elected officials have to be sensitive to these kind of problems because we must face the taxpayers in the voting booth.

9.-HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE

There are a couple of important lessons to be learned from Pittburgh's recent history. In October of 1952, some thirty years ago, City Council approved an ordinance, recommended by then Mayor Lawrence, to create a municipal authority to purchase and reconstruct Pittsburgh's deteriorating water supply system. But public outcry was so strong against the creation of an authority that the Mayor never instituted his plan. Lawrence, ever sensitive to the citizens' concerns, took alternative measures to improve our water system.

And some forty years ago, when I was just a child growing up in Lawrenceville, Pittsburgh was faced with a serious environmental and health problem, air pollution. In February of 1941, eight City Council members traveled to St. Louis to study that city's successful air clean-up program and went on to start our own smoke-control program here in Pittsburgh. Today, faced with another major environmental and health problem, our water and sewer system, it is ironic that we should be looking toward St. Louis again for an example of an effective solution.

10.-CONCLUSION

I trust you are interested in this common sense compromise. Of course, we need more time to study the St. Louis model and its application to Pittsburgh. But if there is a chance to save our taxpayers $350,000,000 and create a more economical, accountable, and efficient water management system, we owe it to the people of Pittsburgh to examine this alternative closely. Water is one of Pittsburgh's greatest most precious natural resources. We must manage it wisely.

(END OF REPORT REQUESTED BY MR. GIVENS)

The Chair:

The Chair would only like to ask one question. For those of you who want to speak, if we're going to give a speech during our vote, can we compromise one way or the other?

Michelle Madoff:

I'm going to do it now and I hope that you'll grant me under Robert's Rules, I'm entitled to ten minutes twice. I'll try to make it ten minutes once.

The Chair:

Fine.

Michelle Madoff:

On November 29, 1982, I shortly thereafter went to see the Mayor of our fine city and said, "Dick Caliguiri, I have just completed a study that shows that we have 1,126 major water breaks - not leaks, breaks - in the last 21 months. Rather than having the media come to you and say, 'What about these leaks, Mayor?' and having you be surprised, let us work together to solve the problem."

In my press release as statement to the Mayor, I said that I would hope we would look at alternatives, not just a water authority.

Subsequently, on July 27, 1983, and for the record, a motion was made to look at a water authority by the Administration. I'd like to read an excerpt from that meeting.

"Mr. Woods:

So moved.

Michelle Madoff:

Discussion. Can someone come to the table, please?

This is strictly the fiscal aspect of the recommended study or the fact-finding that was presented by Greene Engineering on what are the conditions of the lines and the sewers. We're not going to have 'some expert' give us an opinion of what direction we ought to take in going to a way of solving the problem or repairing the water lines and we will not necessarily have an authority, not necessarily any fixed mechanism but come up with some recommendations.

Mr. Schmeiser
Director,
Department of Finance

That's correct.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to know that Council has some input in those meetings they have with you, meaning the Administration, because I don't want to go back to the old position of, "Listen, we want a water authority and tell us that we want one." I want to know that some of us, like myself, are privy to sit in on some of the negotiation meetings or discussion meetings. I want to know what's happening as it's being discussed, how you come to the conclusions as we did in the situation with the steam heat plant. I want to know how you arrive at whatever conclusions.

Mr. Schmeiser:

I understand.

Mrs. Masloff:

I second the motion.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED."

What happened is that we had decided that we would not look at only an authority but we would look at many alternatives. On the air, in front of thousands of people listening, four members, the underwriters, the people who are getting to make the money on selling the bonds, Blythe Eastman, the gentleman who represented Blythe Eastman who testified here, Starr. Mr. Starr, when he was pressured by our consultant by refuting some of the facts, responded with, "Well, frankly, I wasn't asked to look at anything else but an authority. You're asking about apples and oranges. I only looked at apples." Well, we voted in this Council that we don't look at apples; we look at oranges and pears and peaches and bananas and everything else. But he said, and it is a matter of taped record, that he only looked at an authority.

When Mr. Schmeiser was questioned on the issue of going to alternative methods and our consultants for counsel using the exact data provided by the consultants to the Mayor, that would be both Green and Price Waterhouse, using their numbers so there would be no dichotomy, came up with an alternative plan that would save $230 million. The original plan only went for 5 years and didn't extend to the full 8 years.

In response, Mr. Schmeiser said, "We have something better than that.

We have a lot of great ideas on programs and on financing."

We are being asked to vote today on whether we have an authority which is not the issue, or whether we don't have an authority. The issue is, are we going to present the fiscal aspects in the best possible method of saving the taxpayers' dollars.

Personally, I don't support an authority. I don't support it because I don't believe as elected officials we should turn over the decision making process to when rates are raised and to what degree based on history of other authorities where sometimes they're doubled by a fact or ten, not by a fact or two. Using the present rates proposed by the Administration, taking them at 5 years for every hundred dollars that you pay in water bills right now, you will be paying $312 at the end of 8 years. If we go to the proposal. made by Mr. Lopus and Martin Margolis who are our counsel, Financial Management Services of Harrisburg, who only today at 11:00 with nine members of Council present, did an interpretation of the proposal and have, I think, a lot of people listening to his conclusions or his suggestions, said, "I only compared apples with apples but if I'm allowed to go to apricots and pears I may come up with something better." We're talking about $230 million that can be saved the public after 9 years.

Now, let's go back a moment. There is a book that was given to us in the Mayor's Office where Mr. Matter practically threw the budget at me at the time that I found 65 people in the Capital Budget that belonged in the Operating Budget and said, "You don't even know what page your salary is on", — and I think that's a credit to me — but when we discussed this book, he said I knew that there was going to be a water authority; we were briefed in the Mayor's Office. Sure, they presented a water authoritv but did not look at the other alternatives. In this book, City of Pittsburgh, Water and Sewer Capital Financing Alternatives, Blythe Eastman, Paine and Weber, and we turn to Section C that said, "Evaluation of Financing Alternatives" — Can you believe that folks? Is anybody looking? It is one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, lines and there are only about four words on each line. What are the alternatives? General obligation bonds, City revenue bonds, water authority bonds, and no financing plan. We know that there are plans by Mr. Givens. Some of the ones that I've come up with, I'm not married to my plan, some of the ones by experts like Mr. Lopus that can save this City $230 million and not change one iota of the financing.

We could still go to an authority, even though I oppose it; that would be the decision of this Council, yet you're asking us to vote today. One has only got to be very suspicious when that telephone is coming off the hook and there are thousands and thousands and thousands of people tying up the lines saying, "No authority; do not vote for this now."

Furthermore, we have had a position that our water rates are very low and numbers are thrown at us. The other day at a hearing we were told that West Penn Water customers were not 30 percent of the City population; they were only 18. In verifying that number today with Mr. Wagner, within the last hour, Mr. Wagner, was it not close to 30 percent?

Mr. Wagner:

It is 30 percent.

Michelle Madoff:

We're being told anything that will justify the position of the Administration. When they want our opinion they're going to give it to us.

I will tell you that I did not know Mr. Lopus before he came to us. I didn't know whether his work was going to be good or not but I got the feeling from the Councilmembers, and even some of the media today who listened, that the man had something to say and something to offer this City and you won't give us four hours. You who are voting, whoever you are, who are going to vote for this authority today, will not give us the appropriate time to look at alternatives that are substantive to people who are, even though they may have lower water rates today, it has been stated by the Administration that within 3 years we will be on par with the County. In 5 years, we will certainly be on par and perhaps greater and in 8 years we'll have exceeded that but where in this country where people pay higher water rates do they also pay a 4 percent wage tax?

I think this is an alternative bail-out so the Administration doesn't have to bother going to suburbanites anymore because he will now be able to balance his budget, the authority will take this off his back, the water problems, and well, be able to run for Governor. That's my opinion and I stick with it.

Now, in the lease which we didn't get until very late on, and the only reason I asked for it is because, thank God, we have some people from Myland Corporation and Rosemary Markum who is an attorney who has testified and people from Reed Smith, Mr. Peter Denby, suggested that we look at the lease and management agreement.

I'd like to quote something from the draft of the lease and management agreement on page 9, section, it says v but I think they mean something, I don't know, it says c v, whatever that means. "Authority Budget a) The Authority shall submit to the City not later than the first Monday of October of each year a proposed budget for the next calendar year. The City shall include that budget in an unchanged form in it's budget for the next calendar year."

I suggest that we are moving in haste for devious reasons. I would urge you to reconsider. I am going to say something which may end our romance; we've been trying to get along but there are a number of Councilmembers who are going to be running very shortly and I don't think the people are going to forget. And if you don't at least give them a month and give us a month to have some input, I think those people running in two years are going to rue the day.

Thank you.

The Chair:

Can we go to the vote?

Michelle Madoff:

Unless someone has something else to say.

The Chair:

Michelle, when you finish then stop and let somebody else have a chance.

Michelle Madoff:

I have one item to add, please.

The Financial Management Service people who, as you know, are being paid $4,000 while the Administration paid $100,000 to Greene Engineering, $75,000 for another study, just this morning at 11:00 had the opportunity to give us some feeling and interpretation of their proposal. But they were so concerned about the public's acceptance of their figures that they took out of their own pocket monies and paid Main Hurdman, a company of excellent repute, to substantiate their dollars and their dollars show that we can save at least $230 million using the exact same figures that the Mayor and the Administration are proposing and he's not even suggesting, meaning Financial Management, to go or not to go to an authority. We're now talking about how we finance it. I think it is a sick, immoral thing we do today if we vote for an authority without knowing what the actual plan will be, what is actually going to be the dollar figure or how it will be proposed or how the financial plan will be devised when Mr. Schmeiser says, "It is only a proposal; it is not a specific plan." Well, I want a specific plan so that the people don't get it in the necks later on.

Mr. Wagner:

In a few minutes, this Council is going to be voting on whether or not we have an authority. It almost seems apparent that in a few minutes we will be approving an authority and I'm very hopeful that we can, in some way in the next few minutes, convince members of Council, five members of Council, that we can delay having an authority. One of the greatest natural resources that this City has, if not the greatest, we are about to take out of the hands of elected officials. In comparison to other cities in this country, this is a tremendous attribute to our City. We have a river flowing from the north, from New York State, with an unlimited abundance supply of clean water; we have a river flowing from the south, out of West Virginia, with another supply of water. This is something that we must give serious consideration to because, in essence, we are taking the control of that water source out of our hands.

Most of you and myself were at the Democratic endorsement process yesterday. At that time, I did my own informal survey with various ward elected Democratic chair, vice-chair, and Committeepeople. I surveyed 16 of the 32 wards by speaking to those people directly. The results of that survey were: Out of 16 wards, 14 were against the initiation of an authority at the present time; 2 had no comment. All of us realize that if there's any group of people that we stay in touch with as elected officials, it's the members of the Democratic party. I think that group should also be the group that we are most responsive to. I think what they're telling us is that the people do not want an authority today; they don't know enough of the advantages, if there are sufficient advantages for us to vote on it.

I'm making that point because I think that's a significant point. I think they reflect the feelings of the people in their individual wards, their districts around the City of Pittsburgh. I think the people overwhelmingly want us to delay a vote on this issue.

There have been many arguments for a water authority and some of the arguments are not totally accurate. I want to bring a couple examples to light here. One of the most frequent comments that I have heard, and it has been in the media, it has been made by members of the Administration at the various meetings which we've had, is that we are losing 30 percent of our water. The system is not as deteriorated as has been indicated. The statement has been made numerous times that we are losing 30 percent of our water. That statement is not accurate. The correct statement is, and this is indicated in the Greene International Report under Findings and Conclusions, part five, "About 30 percent of the water delivered to the distribution system has not been accounted for by billings". Not that we've lost it, it has not been accounted for. "Water furnished, unmetered and without charge to City facilities such as municipal offices, police and fire stations and recreational facilities, is included in this amount." Might I add that this City has 200 buildings, a fire department that has unlimited use of unmetered water, swimming pools, and let's just imagine the number of water fountains in parks around this City that continuously operate for a six month period of time. Refer to Section 316 of the Greene International Report under "Accounted for Water". The average for the last three years has been 30 percent; in 1980 there was 28 percent unaccounted for; 1981 was 32 percent; 1982 was 31 percent. Items which contribute to the quantity of unaccounted for water in the Pittsburgh system are, and they're listed in this report: 1) what I just referred to, municipal offices, police stations recreational facilities; 2) fire fighting, street cleaning, sewer, water main and hydrant flushing and construction use; 3) back wash water for filters at water filtration plant; 4) inaccurate measurement of quantity of water delivered to the system; 5) inaccurate consumption meters; 6) estimating consumption of flat rate customers — we do have flat-rate customers in this City of which that represents 5 percent or 4,304 customers that actually pay a flat rate and use as much water as they want to use — 7) unauthorized hydrant use; 8) evaporation of open reservoirs; 9) normal leakage; and 10) abnormal leakage, some of which goes undetected and some of which surfaces and is reported and corrected.

The point I wanted to make with this example is, we are not losing 30 percent of our water. In fact, we are probably losing less than 10 percent, maybe 5 percent of the water in this City. The figure nationally for the accepted loss of water is 10 to 15 percent.

The major point I'm raising here is, does the need exist for us to act today on the creation of a water authority which has been said to lose 30 percent of it's water. That's not an accurate statement; it has been made numerous times. I do not think that the need exists for a water authority today.

Other items which have not been addressed. Some very good proposals have been made pertaining to alternative financing. All of the Councilmembers who were here this morning when the proposal was made by Financial Management Services, Inc., all of you recall that they came up with a proposal, a financial proposal, in comparison to the Price-Waterhouse proposal which would save this City $300 million over a 30 year period of time. There was no one at that table that could dispute that. No one. I think this Council needs to take a further look at not only that proposal but other proposals that have been made that are sound proposals. To this date, we have not done that.

Over the weekend I had the opportunity to speak with Congressman Coyne. As many of you know that have been sitting on this Council for a period of time, Congressman Coyne was in charge of the Committee for Water. I asked him of his opinion pertaining to the proposed authority. He didn't know enough about it to comment yes or no but he did indicate that if there is a proposed authority, that part of the proposal should be to take over the portions of the City where water is supplied by other sources; meaning, West Penn Water Company in the South Hills, Wilkinsburg Penn in the East End, and West View Water Authority which is in the upper parts of the 26th Ward. That is not part of this proposal. I would think that that individual has done enough work pertaining to a water department in this City for that statement to be valid. We all know that if we're not taking over those portions of the City where water is supplied by other companies, we do not have any control over those companies, they will not be benefitting from the reconstruction of the water lines in their areas and, to a degree, we are slighting those areas of the City.

I've mentioned numerous times that this is a water and sewage authority. Proposed construction costs of $150 million; one-fifth, or $30 million, devoted towards sewage. I have further mentioned that the number one sewage problem in this City is the Saw Mill Run Sewage Basin. There is still no commitment with this proposed authority to address the problem in that particular area.

I think we should hold off on a final vote on the authority until the proper people from the various agencies can sit down and agree on addressing that problem. We have not done that to date.

I think all of these items that I have brought up, and my other colleagues, indicate that we are not sufficiently prepared today to vote on a water and sewage authority. I would hope that all of you would give that consideration.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. O'Malley:

I'd just like to make a few short comments. I think there's a lot of scare tactics being used by members of this Council and I don't think it's really necessary. I listened to five hours of tapes over the weekend of previous hearings that I was unable to attend and there's one thing that everybody on this Council agrees on and that is that we do need some serious repairs to our water and our sewer lines. Everybody on this Council and everybody I talked to is in agreement that the system has to be repaired and has to be repaired within a reasonable amount of time. What everybody seems to disagree on is, how are we going to finance this and how long is the construction going to go on for. Is the construction to be a 7 year or a 13 year project?

So, taking into consideration that we agree that we are in need of repairs, an authority is obviously the best and the cheapest way to finance those repairs. An authority has been pointed out, and even members of this Council will basically agree with it, that an authority can borrow money at a lower rate of interest in the City of Pittsburgh. Once we take this burden of financing the entire water system from the City of Pittsburgh, then obviously our bond rating might go up and that will enable the City of Pittsburgh to borrow money at a cheaper interest rate for capital improvements.

I discussed the report by our own consultant, Financial Management Service, with the Mayor's people this morning and informed them of the possible $300 million savings. What they said is they gave us the worst scenario of what could happen if we went to an authority.

Michelle Madoff:

Who said it?

Mr. O'Malley:

The Mayor and some of his administrative people. They said they were certainly open to review any options that would enable them to complete the needed repairs at a greater savings to the people of the City of Pittsburgh. Even at the worst scenario of the average household in the City of Pittsburgh using 15,000 gallons of water a day or a month or a quarter, 15 thousand a quarter, it would pay $23.51 for that water. That breaks down to the average water bill of $8 a month. An average water bill for the City of Pittsburgh of $8 a month. At a 20 percent increase, we're talking about $1.60 a month increase in water. Over the next 6 years, until 1990, we're talking a total increase of $8 - $9 a month. That's what this is all about. I don't think that's what is being pointed out by members of this Council. All these scare tactics that your water bills are going to go up 126 percent totals $8 - $9 a month. I think that's a very cheap price to pay for the health, welfare and the future of the citizens of the City of Pittsburgh.

I think Michelle Madoff gave the best argument why we need to repair the system and why we have to go to an authority. A city water system that has 1,126 breaks in 21 months is certainly in need of repair. Nobody has offered any suggestion that an authority that money can be borrowed cheaper than an authority.

The other thing brought out is everybody seems to be scared of an authority. There are three managing, there's more than that, but there's three managing authorities in the City of Pittsburgh. One is the Parking Authority.

Michelle Madoff:

They're not very good.

Mr. O'Malley:

I've been on this Council for four years and never heard any complaints about them.

The other one is the Housing Authority which has won many national awards and has provided good housing.

The other one is Alcosan. Alcosan is a sewage authority for almost the entire City of Pittsburgh and the entire county. We haven't had a rate increase in the past 8 years and as it looks, we'll be able to go another 2 years without an increase. In this day and age, for an authority for any government to be able to go an entire decade without raising the rates, I think, is a compliment to that authority.

I don't think an authority is necessarily all bad. So, it breaks down to three things. The lines need repair, the authority is a cheaper way to go, and at tops, the most it can cost the citizens of the City of Pittburgh by the year 1990 is an additional $9 a month.

The Chair:

Call the question.

Mr. Grabowski:

Before I vote, Mr. President, I'd just like to make one brief statement. I tend to agree with Councilman O'Malley that no one here, including myself, on this Council, disagrees that the system, in fact, has to be upgraded but the big question is how to pay for it. If we vote for this bill before us, however, we will have no say, this Council will have no say, in how to pay for it.

Right now, Council does have the authority to control the water rates. We can raise the rates right now and use that additional money to start to improve the system. The proposal that has been talked about carries with it, there's been a lot of figures thrown out but to the best of my ability, the number that sticks in my mind to finance the needed construction, is $350 million on interest alone. The argument has been used that inflation will eat that up and in the future it won't be a very significant amount of money. Well, I don't care how much inflation we have, $350 million is always going to be a very significant amount of money. I think that if we simply raise the rates now we can avoid this tremendous financial burden.

Based on that, I am voting no.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to share with Council that the American Association of Retired Persons will be meeting tomorrow, Squirrel Hill Chapter, to look into the possibility of taking legal action if we vote for an authority. I think they're absolutely right and I vote no against an authority.

Mr. O'Malley:

I'd just like clarify one thing on what Councilman Grabowski said. I don't think anybody on this Council and certainly anybody in this room for one minute does not think that the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh cannot remove the head of an authority tommorrow if he wanted to. I think that's just an understatement. It can be done, Steve, and it can be clearly done any time the Mayor would wish to remove a head of a department. I don't think any authority in the City would get that far out of line; certainly this Council would not permit it and the Mayor would not permit it.

I don't think $1 a month increase by the average household in the City of Pittsburgh is too much to pay for a complete and healthy water system.

I vote aye.

Mr. Wagner:

Before I vote, I'd just like to say that I don't think there's any member of this Council, if an authority was not formed today, would not vote for a rate increase on water tomorrow. I want to go on record that I realize there is a responsibility for us to do that. I would also like to bring the statements made at last Wednesday's meeting forward into today's meeting.

I vote no.

(BEGINNING - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 47 - WEDNESDAY, 2/1/84)

Mr. Wagner:

Is it the intent of the Chair to have a vote on this today and have a final vote Monday?

(THE CHAIR COMMENTS)

Mr. Wagner:

I'm not finished. It is the opinion of this member of Council that some serious issues have been raised with the proposal of the authority, and I have discussed them in detail all along. Primarily, the area of the City of the South Hills that I have discussed and I hope that my colleagues will be in support of, the fact that we have close to 30 percent of this City that will not receive the benefits of a proposed Water and Sewage Authority. They will receive the benefits of the sewage end of it and reconstruction, but not the water end of it.

It is also true that the subsidy which those people now have on their water bills which amount to one third of their water bill will be eliminated within a two-year period of time, when they will receive nothing in return in terms of reconstruction of the system. It will also give West Penn Water Company an open door to raise the water rates in the future beyond that two-year period of time.

This is a critical issue. This is something that we need to discuss in further detail.

A comment was made last evening by one of the speakers that there is a possibility that a proposed authority could enter contract with West Penn Water Company to provide reconstruction where needed of the water system in the South Hills and other areas of the City that do not following under the proposed authority. That was the first time this Council heard that opinion. That is an important issue. I think that question needs to be answered by those proposing the authority.

One of the other important issues that has not been covered or addressed to date, and I have discussed at length is the Saw Mill Run situation. In the proposal of a Water and Sewer Authority, we cannot in my mind vote at this point and time on a proposed Water and Sewer Authority when the number one sewage problem in the City of Pittsburgh has not yet been addressed.

There was also a proposed alternative financing suggested last evening which I had presented to Mr. Schmeiser and his people, and they briefly looked at it. In that proposal, it indicated that if rates were increased under the suggested program, there is a possibility that all the construction work could be accomplished within a 13-year period of time, and there would be no long-term debt after that period. I think that is an item of possible alternative that we should be looking at and other alternatives of that type.

The most important point I want to make though is that we have had as a Council a proposal put in front of us and we as a Council, as a body of nine members and our staffs should have the capability to suggest improvements to that proposal. If was vote on that proposal today as it sits without suggesting any changes, that tells me that this Council is not capable of adding anything to that proposal made by the Administration.

I for one think that we have the capability at this table to add to a proposal and see if the Administration will accept our suggestion.

And I think we as a group should have further meetings of this type and should make alternative suggestions to financing, to the problems in the South Hills, to the equalization of water rates, prior to a final vote on this issue.

Mr. Berman, based on the fact that your professional expertise in this area, and the Greene International report indicates that we need to spend $165 million to reconstruct our water and sewage system, is it absolutely necessary that this be accomplished within a seven-year period of time?

Mr. Berman:

No.

Mr. Wagner:

Okay. The $165 million is a strange figure —

Mr. Schmeiser:

The first five years with inflation.

Mr. Wagner:

Oh, okay. I said it before, and I'll say it again. Seven years is not a magical number. Six years, eight years, nine years, this is a reasonable program from a design and construction, actually getting the stuff in the ground standpoint. The only problem with stretching it out is how far are you going to stretch it out? Is it possible to stretch it, say to 12 years?

Mr. Berman:

Okay. The further you stretch it — this is like the question when did you stop beating your wife. How much more deterioration are your going to have in this system? I can't answer that question. The probability is that it's going to continue to deteriorate. The more deterioration there is, the greater the probability that there might be a major malfunction where you lose a section of line, where you lose some fire hydrants and fire protection.

MICHELLE MADOFF COMMENTS

Mr. Berman:

It could happen tomorrow. That's right. And it might not happen for 20 years. I can't put a number on that. Based on engineering judgment, the program is doable. It's ambitious, but it's doable. The more you stretch it out, the more the probability is that something — the word catastrophe was used.

MICHELLE MADOFF COMMENTS

Mr. Berman:

No ma'am. I was going to comment on it, but somebody else did before I did. We have catastrophies in the bridge area. Bridges collapse. A major problem in the sewer area is a piece of line goes out and you lose fire hydrants. A continuing problem in the sewer areas is flooding in the basement. Now, that is a catastrophe to the homeowner, but it's not a catastrophe to the system.

Mr. Wagner:

In Saw Mill Run it is.

Mr. Berman:

In Saw Mill Run, it's a major continuing problem. A catastrophe to the people who are directly involved.

Mr. Wagner:

A long catastrophe.

Mr. Berman:

I'm not sure I — I addressed the question. I am not sure I answered it.

Mr. Wagner:

Okay. So, in fact, it is not absolutely necessary that this be accomplished within a seven-year period of time?

Mr. Berman:

You could continue with — the answer is yes. It is not absolutely necessary. You can continue with the same program you have now, which is about a third of ours and hope that nothing happens.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, then is it possible for this Council to be provided with alternative proposals indicating that this could be accomplished in five years, nine years, eleven years, and maybe increments of two years up to fifteen years for us to take a look at those proposals and objectively decide what we feel would be the best way to go in terms of the need for reconstruction and the financing of the program.

Mr. Berman:

Well, the need for reconstruction is there.

Mr. Wagner:

But we're not sure what period of time.

Mr. Berman:

It's almost a proportion, an algebraic formula, I guess. If you want to stretch it out for two years, it doesn't take long to figure out what the rates are going to be, but that doesn't take into account what might happen to the system, and what additional cost might be because of the further deterioration. It is a subjective call. It's not something you can put a handle on.

Mr. Wagner:

And for that reason, I raised the question because the time period necessary for reconstruction has a tremendous impact on the financing of the program.

Mr. Berman:

And eventually on the rates, certainly.

Mr. Wagner:

And for that reason, I think this Council should be provided with alternative proposals to look at other time periods —

Mr. Berman:

Can I ask in a different way? What kind of a progression of rate increases would be acceptable? Now, I know that answer is none, but let's start the other way around. I think the proposal now calls for a 20 percent in the first year then decreasing. Would you like to see what a 10 percent across — Let's say you went with a 10 percent rate increase every year. How many years will that stretch it out? I'm not sure whether it would be double or tripled, but the questions still comes back; are you willing to consider the possibilities that the system is going to continue to deter right over that expanded period of time until you have a real problem?

Mr. Wagner:

The one point that has been brought out at both public hearings that this Councilperson has learned is that the people are not necessarily against the fact that rates must be increased. I think that is a realization that all of us in this City have accepted. The point here is whether or not we need to do it within six years and whether or not we need to go to an authority. So, I think a proposal based on what has been suggested, meaning the suggested rate increases over the next five to seven year period of time, a proposal based on that suggestion, but with a different time frame for reconstruction needs to be proposed or given to this Council to look at and evaluate.

Mr. Berman:

As Mrs. Madoff has said, I'm not a fiscal person. I would defer to Mr. Schmeiser.

Mr. Schmeiser:

We could do that very easily. We can stretch that out over any period of years and tell you what the rate increases would result in. I don't think that has an effect on whether or not an authority should be developed or not because an authority would allow us to borrow at the lowest rates. It would also be best for the City's general obligation credit.

Incidentally, we will look at this each year. This seven-year program is not etched in stone. Each year, we'll have to look at it again and determine what we find as we get into ground and so forth. These are just projections. These are our best estimates at this time.

Mr. Wagner:

I think you understand, Ron, what I'm suggesting is that this Council has one proposal in front of them, and it appears as if we're going to vote on this one proposal when we do not have any alternatives to evaluate, and I think we need that to come to a rational decision as to whether or not your original proposal is the proper proposal.

Mr. Schmeiser:

The original proposal being over a seven-year period, you mean?

Mr. Wagner:

Yes.

Mr. Schmeiser:

Well, this is our best estimate of what the water rates are going to be assuming a seven-year program. Now, we can extend this program out to any number of years you would like, factoring in six percent inflation which is what we use. What we can't factor in is the cost of the further deterioration which is a guess.

Mr. Wagner:

It's a guess for all of us.

Mr. Schmeiser:

So, you're throwing dice to an extent when you extend this, as I understand Mr. Berman's professional advice to us, that beyond seven years or eight years or whatever it is, you're beginning to throw dice.

Mr. Wagner:

My next question is, is the Administration flexible enough to take suggestions from this Council and to incorporate those suggestions into the proposal that you had submitted, such as the suggestions that have been brought up which is to equalize the rates for all users of water because we have, in fact, found out that this is one of the few cities where the person that uses the least pays the most.

Mr. Schmeiser:

Per unit you mean.

Mr. Wagner:

Per unit. When in many cities in this country, those that use the most, pay the most due to the fact that they are — we want them — in those cities they want the large user to conserve the water.

Is this Administration flexible enough to take suggestions from this Council to incorporate into your proposal.

Mr. Schmeiser:

Absolutely. However, before we would make a radical change like that, we would have to determine the impact on industry. We don't want to drive out any industry. And I think we have to have a study made as to what impact it might have. But, yes, we certainly are very flexible and would look to equalizing.

Mr. Wagner:

My last question is to Mr. Cosentino. Have we attempted in the past to market the greatest natural resource that we have in this City to sell it and to profit from it financially?

Mr. Cosentino:

Yes, we have. In the past four years, we have added Blawnox Boro to our customer list. We have also made a connection with Millvale Boro, and they are in the process of using our water at the present time. And we have been negotiating with West Penn Water. We have in the past. There are no recent discussions with them, but we have interconnections with many of the other systems on emergency basis, but we did what we could and where there has been an interest, we discussed marketing the water with Aspinwall Boro, and I know that they have been in the process of making a comparison and whether they should improve their system or buy water from us. So, I know that is underway.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, to what degree have we benefitted financially?

Mr. Cosentino:

Well, I think it has generated additional revenue for us and the marginal cost has been very small.

Mr. Wagner:

Any ideas what figures or numbers?

Mr. Cosentino:

I can't, off of the top of my head, give you that figure but certainly selling water to those communities, we may be looking at a few hundred thousand dollars a year.

Mr. Wagner:

Do you anticipate with or without an authority we can continue to sell water to additional communities outside the City in the future?

Mr. Cosentino:

Well, that's always a possibility, regardless of what vehicle you use. That's always a possibility, yes.

Mr. Wagner:

Thank you.

This Council has too many serious problems in front of it here and for us to approve this bill or to act upon it and move for affirmative recommendation today is not in the betterment of the citizens of this city, particularly the people in the South Hills, and this question here has not yet been resolved pertaining to the rate increase that they will have, with no benefit to them.

The Saw Mill Run problem which I have talked about and which is a most serious problem that exists, we have not yet made any proposal to the original proposal by the Administration to make this a better proposal and that is the major flaw that exists here today. For that reason I vote no.

(END - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS - 2/1/84)

The Chair:

I would like the remarks that I made last Wednesday to be incorporated into the proceedings of this meeting.

(BEGINNING - MR. STONE'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 47, - WEDNESDAY, 2/1/84)

Mr. Stone:

If I may. Before voting, I'd like to make a couple of comments. I have listened to everybody talk and I probably have talked less on this subject and it is about time that I give my views on it.

Relative to the Water Department. I think it ought to be known and anyone that says to the contrary is not telling the truth. The Water Department in the City of Pittsburgh has been a stepchild department to the City of Pittsburgh. We have never done what we should have done and it is not this Administration's fault as the Administration before that and for the last 50 years.

Some past Administrations, even knowing the problem, but in order to satisfy budget deficiencies have even taken moneys from the Water Department. In addition to that, the work that's proposed, even if 100 percent performance was not up to what should have been done, and that has been notoriously well known. The employees in the Water Department historically have been the lowest-paid employees in the City of Pittsburgh, and while the rest of the City was covered and getting overtime past eight hours, the Water Department was the last department in the City of Pittsburgh to get the overtime. In fact, I'm reminded when there was a water break next to my house in which the hole was big enough for an automobile to be in it, where the water employees were down there swimming in the water and the men had to turn a valve 40 times in order to turn it off and they still couldn't. Finally, after a considerable period of time they did, but they had worked 18 hours straight and without overtime pay and then put in an eight-hour day the next morning.

It is well known and the worst thing about this is that one-third of the water in the City of Pittsburgh is wasted in the system. We have a problem and we cant't continue to do business as usual. We must face up to the problem and I would like at this time to commend the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, because he could have done what his predecessor did and that is to leave it alone until it would come up as a major castastrophe but then to pass it onto the next man after him. The fact that he faced up to the responsibility brings it to light, he should be commended and not criticized for that proposal.

I have listened now through a number of public hearings and I have listened to the Administration and I have listened to so-called experts who wanted to change that particular approach and it boils down to the following reasons:

1) It's a $150 million problem.

2) One-third of the Water that we lose in the system, which is good, purified water.

After we pay to take it out of the river and after we put it into our purification system and after we pay and use our equipment to purify it and after we start distributing it, it is now that we lose one-third of this water, so it is costing us more than one-third of the water and is causing a loss in revenues as well as the extra money to produce it because we know it is going to be lost.

Anyone who knows depreciated items obviously knows that the rate of disrepair or depreciation will accelerate without attention as the years pass and I think that is the reason it has been mentioned, a cycle of seven. After you get past that, if that is what the engineers find is that cycle, then it starts getting worse if it is not attended to as it is right now. Believe it or not, in the City of Pittsburgh there are presently areas where we have no pipes and if the dirt weren't solid around it, the water wouldn't go in the direction that it's going.

It has been mentioned about the South Hills. I live in the South Hills and I have concerns for the people in the South Hills. It was my intestinal fortitude at one time to attempt to shut off every municipality south of the river and north of the river because of the overflow of sewage, but nevertheless, that is a problem that can't be satisfied and solved at this table. We need the kind of money that does not exist in the city and does not exist in the county but does exist on the state and federal levels.

Right now pipes going from the Mon River into the Western Pennsylvania Water system are ours. If they buy water from us and we now have a commodity to sell it to them, for the first time the City of Pittsburgh residents south of the river can enjoy the same water that everyone else in the City of Pittsburgh has enjoyed, but the second key is important and that is, for the first time the Western Pennsylvania Water lines are not geared into out water lines and will eventually lead hopefully in what we hope will be the way that it should be done and that is eventually take over the purchase of the Western Pennsylvania Water System. There is no question that we must handle the matter. Likewise, whether it's the City or whether it's the authority, the work must be done because the rates will increase whether we do it as we are now or whether we do it in an authority. General Obligation Bonds are out; revenue bonds are a concept that might solve it.

Relative to that matter, we have had the experts tell us here that if we were to shift from the City to the Authority, this responsibility would aid our bond indebtedness in the City of Pittsburgh, thereby getting us a better bond rating and thereby reducing our interest expense on any bonds that are sold. In that sense it has been listed here that there is a $27 million savings just by the finance operations.

Relative to the authority. The authority being a new pick up in obligations and being more responsive in the sense that the board will do what they have to do and what the city residents should want them to do, then it would appear that they have a better ability to produce what is essential here.

I want to close on one comment. I have been on this Council for 11 years and I do not know of any time in which the Administration's team has ever come here and changed their position, especially on this issue. I want to be the first one to commend everybody who has testified here on behalf of the Administration, including Ron Schmeiser, Director of Finance. I think everyone did an excellent job and I have heard numerous compliments on the presentations. Ron's testimony was knowledgeable and he gave it to us as it should have been given to us. It was clear, concise and understandable.

There have been many people that have come before Council; experts, volunteers and some not so volunteering, but they all attempted to take the program that is before us and offer other alternatives, while they have not stated what has been proposed so far is incorrect or otherwise.

There is no other course for the City of Pittsburgh today. If we want to be responsible and not political, we must go the authority route. We can't wait any longer on messing up the water system as we have done these past 30 to 50 years. I vote yes.

(END OF MR. STONE'S REMARKS - 2/1/84)

The Chair:

I would likewise like to point out that there are some very clear things that are coming out of all the hearings we had. First of all, our water system is not up to where it should be and anyone who has some difference of opinion as to how it might be done cannot, in good conscience, say that our water system is in good shape. We don't need to do anything about it.

We cannot avoid the history and that is for not this Administration but for some 30 to 40 years we have not addressed the issue, even on the yearly basis let alone the overall capital improvement needs. This is a problem that is not here the last 2 years, 3 years, 4 years, but rather 30 to 40 years. I shall not repeat in an attempt as I did last Wednesday, the Water Department has been the stepchild department of the City of Pittsburgh. We've done everything but treat it properly; we haven't even treated it's employees as City employees. It was only in recent years that their wages and their salaries were elevated to a parity with what everyone else had been getting for many, many, many years.

No one disputes that it's $160 million investment right now, not counting the debt service, etc. No one disputes the fact that it's getting worse and likewise, the record of our City, as it is right now, past Mayors, past Councils, and even those of us who are here, have not given the kind of increase of water rates that should be there to carry out the kind of needs.

What need we more than to have that kind of experience factor some 50 years where we haven't done in any of those years what we should have done on behalf of water? We were told it is our greatest resource and, goodness knows, it is. But we haven't addressed it as such for 50 years.

The question here is whether or not we should have an authority. I have not heard anyone who has given me, at least, any indication and logical reason why we should not go into the authority.

It is a financing arrangement and even the arrangement that is before us is not a true authority. It is a hybrid kind of situation whereby the employees are City employees to which the authority pays to the City the services, those indirect costs which they give to the authority.

I don't know why we didn't go the full rate; it may have been better yet.

But yet, there is some control. Relative to the matters, there have been all kind of financing devices given. I don't profess to be the best finance man in the world; I don't profess to be the worst either. I've listened to them. Some people suggest we ought to have general obligation bonds. It doesn't take long to wipe that one out because no good financier would ever attempt to do that and no financing management service would ever recommend it. What they have recommended is revenue bonds, either doing it with the City or with the authority. Recognizing that the best financing vehicle presently is revenue bonds, the next question is where you do it, with the City or with the authority. To me, the weight lies that the best advantage of the City of Pittsburgh is with the authority.

I mentioned on Wednesday that I know of no instance in which the City's administrative team has ever been taken to task as much as it has been on this particular project. Yet, the key to it all is, no one has ever said, even Mr. Lopus, it's most staunch adversary because I don't think he's really in a position of an opponent, has said that the proposal is wrong. What has come up is that there may be alternatives. I think that's wise because two heads are always better than one. If two people agree 100 percent, one is useless. But there comes a time when we ought to stop the mental gymnastics. That's what we have here.

I listened this morning, and Mr. Lopus will pardon me for what I'm about to say, there are many times that Mr. Lopus will start to say something and never complete it and leave doubt but never clear it up. But I think he cleared it up for me this morning. Let me just share, if I may, with you. Under the Administration's proposal, they are suggesting a $30 million loan over 30 years; I'm told that's 10 percent. And then in the year subsequent they'll be paying back 2 million, 3 million, 6 million, 10 million, 13 million, eventually 24 million.

In one of the alternatives I suggested this morning, we were talking about borrowing $78 million, 2-1/2 times more than we're proposing now, over a 10 year period 2-1/2 times more money and in a condensed period, namely 10 years instead of 30. We're talking about 7.25 as the rate. But all anyone needs to do, anyone who has purchased a house and has a mortgage, I don't think there's anybody that bought a house that didn't want to pay it off cash. They would have loved to have done it. Regretfully, nobody has that kind of money around. So, what they do is the next thing. They wish they could pay it off in one year until they get one problem. They say, "What do you have to pay back monthly?" When they see those astronomically high monthly rates, it's obvious that they don't want to pay it off in one year. So today, the average is anywhere from 20 to 30 years. I do know that when you borrow the same money but instead of 40 years you do it in 30, then your rates are going up, what you have to pay back.

I'm not so sure that if I borrow $30 million at 30 years my rate is 10 percent and if I borrow $78 million for 10 years my rate is 7.25, because in the second period, the 10 to the 20 and the 20 to the 30, if you're going over the ful cycle to 30 years, I'm now back out no longer with a fixed interest rate but rather what the market will bear. This City regretfully got caught a couple of times in that kind of a situation. I did get, after three requests, that on the pay back, and it has to come out, that if you're borrowing more money and yet with less years, your pay back has to go up. In that case, comparables, in one you're paying $3 million back a year as opposed to the other, I'm told, $6 million but maybe we get, through some device of investing and re-investing, we're able to bring it down maybe another $1 million. I think the figure, if my memory serves me correctly, was $600,000.

That still leaves me with all the benefits I could possibly get of having to come out with an extra $2 million a year or somewhere along the line. I don't know that anyone has told me that somewhere there's some fat in that budget for which we can pick up the extra $2 million.

We are now not working on what is meaningful but just rather an attempt to destroy something. While we're doing it, we are also playing politics by trying to have the citizens believe that if this water authority doesn't go through — For instance, Mr. Lopus' suggestion you'll save money. But Mr. Lopus said very clear this morning that even with the alternative that he gives us, the rates are the same under that proposal. The rates under the Mayor's proposal and the proposal we got this morning are identical. All it is is a matter of funding mechanism over the long haul and the long years. But, one thing that I find is a concern: Mr. Lopus is indicating that we can borrow at 7.25 and even though we're not going to put it in the ground right away because it's not conceivable that we can spend the $78 million in that short period of time and we can invest and re-invest. And if you invest for higher money than what you're borrowing from, it seems that our laws have tended to that and that's what they call arbitrage. I am fearful that we may be on the bounds of legal arbitrage.

At any rate, I want to be fair to everybody. Relative to the financing proposal that is given to us, that came somewhere in October or November, so they were thinking about it at that time, and I'm sure that the proposed water authority would have to re-look at it. Five months makes a difference, even to someone who already had a pretty good plan five months ago. That does not wipe out the possibility of incorporating any new ideas that are there and even updating the program that is there.

Politically, we who are elected officials have to make some decisions. Some we make because people say, "Don't do it" and then later they, like we, suffer because we didn't have the imagination or the intestinal fortitude to come forward when we should have come forward. We've waited 50 years too long in this instance; we can't afford to wait any more.

I obviously, having no choice, as a citizen and elected official, in the best interest of the City of Pittsburgh, I can vote no other way but yes.

Mr. Givens:

On Bills 75 through 88, Mr. President, we just got a letter that was just on the desk out here when we came out today. I want to read this into the record anyway.

The Chair:

Just insert it. We all got a copy. Put it in the record.

Mr. Givens:

I have a copy but I'd like to read the copy into the records. This is pertinent and you weren't here when much of this discussion came up and a post agenda bill. It's addressed to all members of Council and it's from Danny Pellegrini, our City Solicitor.

"You have requested an opinion as to whether or not Council Bill Nos. 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, and 88 violate Article IX, Section 9 of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

Article IX, Section 9 of the Pennsylvania Constitution prohibits any municipality from giving grants and donations except as specifically authorized by state statute to any corporation, association or individual.

Director Brown has informed me as to the purpose for each of these Bills. Council Bill Nos. 75, 78, 82, 86, and 87 provide for each of these groups to provide recreational services to the City. Council Bill Nos. 76, 77, 79, 80, 81, 83, 84, 85, and 88 provide for performances that can only be attended by City residents in City parks or provide admission for participants in out-of-City programs, e.g., senior citizens centers.

Accordingly, it is the opinion of the Department that, since each of these Bills is for a purchase of services, Council Bill Nos. 76 through 88 do not violate Article IX, Section 9 of the Pennsylvania Constitution."

I might say that they left several bills off that were on that that the Mayor vetoed that indicated that we cannot give grants and donations to agencies that are outside the limits of the City of Pittsburgh or our own residents. These bills, and I don't have them all before me, these bills, if I might, these bills, are not in fact giving entertainment to people outside the City of Pittsburgh when we say that we're going to have the Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre. Now, that's attended, surely, by only Pittsburgh residents.

The Chair:

Tickets, tickets.

Mr. Givens:

Pardon me?

The Chair:

The way they handle that is they get tickets for our senior citizens.

Mr. Givens:

Those tickets don't begin to indicate the $25,000 some that we contribut. Yes, they give us some tickets; they do not give us $25,000 worth of tickets and other amenities that we give them like tax exemption, etc. You cannot say that the Civic Light Opera, professional services which we receive no tickets for, that we get any service from them and that this is southwesternal region in scope. Champion Association appropriated for professional services, 1984 - $5,000. Another one. Here's one for $15,000 for Duquesne University for furnishing dance performances. I imagine that's our Tamburitzens, a great outfit that goes all over the country.

Now, the ones that are being denied, here's $12,000 for entertainment chargeable from Recreational for Three Rivers Art Festival. Everybody comes in for the Art Festival. They even make money on it. The City makes money on it. Everyone makes money on it.

Six thousand dollars, Robert Morris, for services, a group named Pittsburgh Folk Festival during 1984. People coming in, again, from all over. Ozanam, I think, is one of our only true people right there that do work right within the City and go out from the City and bring tradition and very good trophies back to the City as was exemplified during the Dapper Dan Awards Dinner last night. One lady appeared here with the Ozanam.

Here's another. Twenty-five thousand dollars for professional service with Wind Symphony who sometimes is never in the City of Pittsburgh is always on the road and rightfully so. They're representing the City of Pittsburgh. Twenty-five thousand dollars here for the Pittsburgh Opera for furnishing services for the benefit of residents of the City. Another $3,000.

My mark is that the Mayor vetoed about 3 or 4 line items from our budget that fit right into this package right here that were denied by the City of Pittsburgh. One of them was the Friendship House which accommodates people who come into our hospitals and who have generally cardiac problems, that's where most of the people are coming from. The County has already given them $50,000 under CD money. We have still not gotten any CD money; our Finance Chairman used to look into it. Ben, do you have any answers to it? We're in our fifth week right now. I have not received one bloody word from anybody in regards to the Friendship House which is serving not only people from the local area and if you have a heart patient, I don't care where he is, and you live in one end of this town and you know that you can live in another end and be within 2 minutes, 3 minutes, 5 minutes from that hospital, you're going to be there if you're not going to be right in the waiting room which was the problem in all of our major hospitals. We had people sleeping in the corridors, sleeping in the lounge areas and that didn't look too nice for people who were coming in.

So, we provided a service that other cities are providing. Pittsburgh is the city of smiles; we're supposed to be the leaders of this nation and this is a leadership program that we have not given our fair contribution to.

The other one was the high school band from over there in the South Hills that other than their normal band practices are in competition and go out and show Pittsburgh off like the Wind Symphony shows it off, like the Pittsburgh Opera shows it off, like the Pittsburgh Ballet shows it off. We refuse to give our own little kids in that community. We give it to Ozanam but we find, for some reason, under Article IX, Section 9 of the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania that we have something wrong.

We have our own police and fire softball teams that want to have a national tournament in our own City. But Parks and Recreation, they can't come up with a wee little contract for a couple of thousand dollars to bring in people from all over the United States, police officers and firemen. And you know the association they have. When they go back, I mean, they can really blow their horn about this smiling City of Pittsburgh. Yet, we denied them under this same Constitutional thing.

My point, Mr. President, is, if we deny those four that I just mentioned, then many of these that I mentioned here should be denied. I asked for a legal opinion; I got a legal opinion that didn't even address the issue right here. I asked our Finance Chair to do something about it. Nothing. Let the people from Carrick, let the people from Bloomfield and Garfield and let the policemen and let the firemen and those others that I can't even recall right now, be denied and I say then that those who vote for these bills right here in this Council, until that issue is settled and we have it settled in writing, that I think we are denying some people of some neighborhoods something that they should deservingly receive.

I ask to put them back into Committee for one more week.

The Chair:

We're voting now, Dick. How do you vote?

Mr. Givens:

I have a motion that we put them in Committee until this thing is resolved. That's all, Bob. One thing.

Ben, it's your floor. I relied upon you and you said, in good faith, sitting at this table on a post agenda item —

Mr. Woods:

Dick, I do have communication for you and I'd rather not bring it up right now. I'd rather wait until Wednesday. Okay?

Mr. Givens:

Wednesday is too late.

Mr. Woods:

We're voting on these bills now and I think the motion has been made. I think the Clerk was calling the roll.

The Chair:

I have a motion; I've not heard a second. The motion fails.

Let's have your vote now, Mr. Givens. Call the question.

Mr. Givens:

I would very much want to give all these people everything that they rightfully deserve but because of my commitment to those other neighborhoods, whether it be a neighborhood that I'm from or any other neighborhood, I would have to say at this particular time, I have to abstain on these particular entities right here until such a time as our Finance Chairman does something about it Wednesday and I hope he does.

Mr. O'Malley:

I'm going to vote aye because I don't think it would be fair for this Council to deny Arsenal Board of Trade or Brashear or Three Rivers Brass Band the help that they need for groups that we may or may not be able to help. I think what we should do is pass this legislation now and look into helping the other groups later on in the week.

Mr. Wagner:

I vote aye and I'd like to say that last Wednesday in the Committee Meeting I requested information from Parks and Recreation pertaining to the appropriations of the County to these various organizations. I have copies of that if anyone would like to have it. In some instances, we are actually contributing more dollars than the County is when, in fact, people outside the City are probably using these events more so than City residents. I vote aye.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes. and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, I have a very sad task to perform at this time and I would certainly appreciate your indulgence in that regard.

As many of you may be aware, last week we lost three distinguished Pittsburghers to death. These were individuals who most of us are familiar with, most of us have had some association with them. Unfortunately, we cannot control the time that we spend here on this earth, the time that we come or the time that we leave, but certainly we have some control over that which we do while we're here and the three individuals I'd like to honor today, I think, made some outstanding contributions to our community, as many before them have. It's just unfortunate that three of them passed within seven days of one another. They were individuals who I think had a great deal to do with the progress that this City made in the 1960's and 1970's. While there were differences in their age, their style and their sex, they certainly were involved in making this a better city.

I thought it would be a fine tribute for this Council to so honor them with a resolution and to see to it that their families receive copies of this resolution and that the individuals were so honored that they become a part of our permanent history as far as the City is concerned and that their names and their works be forever remembered.

Mr. Robinson presents

Bill No. 219 WHEREAS, God in his infinite wisdom and mercy has seen fit to call to eternal slumber Henry Woods, a former member of the Commission on Human Relations, City of Pittsburgh, Charles Cooper, former Director of Parks and Recreation, City of Pittsburgh, and Mamie H. Lee, a dedicated community servant and former candidate for Council, City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, these three distinguished Pittsburghers succumbed to the ultimate end of the passage of time within the same week of February Nineteen Hundred Eighty Four; and

WHEREAS, their combined service to our City cannot be measured by time alone, nor the number of tasks performed, nor the energy of their endeavors; and

WHEREAS, words alone are inadequate to express our grief and sorrow upon their passing on to their final rewards.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and Council of the City of Pittsburgh does honor the works and accomplishments of Henry Woods, Charles Cooper, and Mamie H. Lee and does extend sympathy to the family, associates, and many friends and loved ones whose lives have been enriched by these three tireless workers in service to all Pittsburghers.

Mr. Robinson moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson:

Just in closing on this presentation, I'd like to say I had occasion to know all three of these individuals very personally and it was a very tragic loss to me personally and I'm sure to all who knew these three individuals. I can't ever remember a time in the history of this City, certainly in my memory, where three distinguished Pittsburghers passed within a seven day period. I certainly hope that each and every one of you will remember them and their families in your prayers. We have indeed suffered a loss but I'm sure the example that they have set for all of us we will follow and will continue to make this a great City.

On a happier note, I'd like to offer a resolution in honor of some very fine women who are doing an outstanding job in our community to make sure that everyone is participating in their civic duty, their civic responsibilities. I'm talking about the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated.

I'd like to have Mrs. Madeline M. Harriston come forward if she will. Mrs. Harriston is a retired Dean of Students at Milliones Middle School. She is the past National Board of Directors of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and presently serving wit the Alpha Kappa Alpha Convention which is being held next week here in our City. She is Vice-President of the Board of Directors of the Pittsburgh Camp Fire Girls Incorporated, Secretary of the Board of Trustees of St. James AME Church and President of two social and civic organizations in or community.

Also to be with us today is Mrs. Mary Jane Page, Principal of Preston Elementary School. I don't see Mrs. Page here but she is the newly appointed person to the Board of Trustees of the University of Pittsburgh and we certainly want to congratulate her on that. She's Treasurer of the Great Memorial Presbyterian Church and the Financial Secretary of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

These two young ladies are outstanding examples of the kind of people we have in our City representing sororities.

Mr. Robinson presents

Bill No. 220 WHEREAS, the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated is the oldest Greek-letter organization established in America by Black college women, having been founded in 1908 at Howard University, Washington, D.C.; and

WHEREAS, this national service organization is 75,000 members strong and shall be celebrating its Diamond Jubilee in the nation's capitol in July, 1984; and

WHEREAS, Alpha Alpha Omega Chapter, chartered in the City of Pittsburgh in 1927, will be celebrating the sorority's Founders' Day on Friday, February 17th and Saturday, February 18th throughout the City of Pittsburgh on a theme of "Women: Energizing Our Political Power in 1984"; and

WHEREAS, the five hundred members of Alpha Kappa Alpha here in the Greater Pittsburgh area are actively engaged in voter education, voter registration, and the promotion of citizen participation in all forms of government and are renewing their long-standing commitment to the organization's goals of sisterhood and unity.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby proclaims Saturday, February 18, 1984 as "Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Alpha Alpha Omega Chapter Founders' Day", throughout the City of Pittsburgh, and extends the City's warmest welcome to Supreme Basileus Faye B. Bryant, of Houston, Texas, together with all the many Pittsburgh sorors of whom the City is so proud.

Mr. Robinson moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mrs. Harriston:

Thank you very much.

Good afternoon. On behalf of Alpha Alpha Omega Chapter, believe it or not, Kappa Beta Chapter, California State's Campus, and Kappa Zeta at Clarion State, I accept this wonderful resolution for the Chapter. I wish that it could be mine but being a part of Alpha Kappa Alpha means that we are a part of the network of 75,000 women strong. Our theme for this is "Our Thrust for Power", economic power, political power, social power, voting power, heritage, and power to deal with the elderly.

We certainly appreciate your making this resolution possible and you know how much we love you, the kind of respect we have for what goes on in City Council. I have been a part of the Margaret Milliones Middle School from whence he came and we had a very, very high regard for anything that he does in City Council.

I thank you for the award. I wish some of you could be available to participate with us in our Founders' Celebration. During the month of February, Chapters all over the United States, the Islands and in Germany, will be celebrating Founders' Day.

Thank you very much.

Mr. Robinson:

I'd just like to mention that I have been asked to present these resolutions again on the 18th of February at the Founders' Day luncheon for Alpha Kappa Alpha at the William Penn Hotel at 12:30.

Certainly I want to thank each and every member of Council for being so gracious and kind to approve this resolution and I will be sure to send your best wishes along to the many sorors for their sticking with, I think, a very fine effort. This is one of the strongest and largest minority organizations in this country. If I'm not mistaken, there's 85,000.

Mrs. Harriston:

Over 75,000.

Mr. Robinson:

Over 75,000 AKA's in this country and certainly we're very proud in the minority community to have them active and working.

I want to thank you again, Mrs. Harriston.

Mrs. Harriston:

If Mr. Robinson had been a college female, he might have made it to Alpha Kappa Alpha.

Thank you.

Mr. Givens:

I'd like to discuss Bill No. 120. As you recall, Ben, I was not here Wednesday but what is this Bill 120? Does anybody know? Providing for agreement or agreements with laboratories for professional services in connection with tests to the City of Pittsburgh employees. Is this a one-shot deal?

The Chair, Pro tem:

I believe it came out of Parks and Recreation for the people who work at the Aviary and work with plants. They use different chemicals and they have to be tested once a year to see what level they have received in their system and when they receive a certain level then they can't work there for a while and they take them out of that particular department.

Mr. Givens:

Okay. So, this is not spot checking of people who might be under drugs or the influence or anything like that?

The Chair, Pro tem:

It's just for that one department out there. They do it every year.

Mr. Givens:

Thank you.

Also,

Bill No. 121

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements with various hospitals and/or physicians (Central Medical Center and Hospital) for professional services in connection with the Administration and evaluation of medical examinations and tests for the Civil Service Commission's Medical Examination Program for police officer candidates, firefighter candidates, and other candidates for employment and promotion; and providing for the payment of the cost thereof."

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements with a Consultant or Consultants for professional services in connection with the research, preparation, evaluation, administration, and validation of Civil Service entrance and promotional examinations; and providing for the payment of the cost thereof."

Which was read.

Mr. Givens:

On Bill 122, there are four bills that I held last week that will be coming up this Wednesday that deal exactly — This is a resolution providing for an agreement or agreements with a consultant or consultants for professional services. It doesn't say in the bill who these people are, if you can recall, but most of them are tied in to police and fire examinations and also consultant services are the people that we got in trouble with with the Pittsburgh Psychological Services. I want to know who this — I'd like for the bill to be held pending the review of the discussions of four bills that are directing at the various consultants that we will be hiring within the City of Pittsburgh in the future. I think this is the bill that pertains to it. These four bills will be coming up Wednesday; it has to do primarily with the hiring of the police officers in the last class. Here we are coming up again.

I'd like, if we could, if someone would make a second to this motion, that we could hear the arguments Wednesday and then pass on this bill at the same time.

I move to recommit Bill No. 122.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Also,

Bill No. 153

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending Resolution No. 21, approved February 2, 1984, entitled, 'Providing for the issuance of a warrant in favor of Noralco Corporation in the amount of Four Hundred Forty Thousand Six Hundred Twenty Five ($440,625.00) Dollars in payment for an Emergency Contract furnished for the benefit of the City in connection with the E. MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Robinson:

Just a moment, if I might, Mr. President. As Council may be aware, some time ago, I guess about two months ago, this Council approved the purchase of the old J & L site on the South Side by our Urban Redevelopment Authority for a possible future development. The Urban Redevelopment Authority is in the process of applying for a grant from the Department of Community Affairs, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in the total of $1,859,800.00. This amount represents a small portion of what it's going to take to develop that site. I am concerned that we do what we can here in City Government to assist the Urban Redevelopment Authority and the eventual developers in getting the necessary money, not only to develop that site, but to engage in a significant economic development in this end of the state.

In that regard, I'd like to remind Council that the State Legislature is considering the Thornburg budget at this time and there are monies designated for the Department of Community Affairs, there are monies designated for the Discretionary Fund. It is out of that Discretionary Fund that the Urban Redevelopment Authority hopes to get money for the J & L project and others. I think it would be in our best interest if we would send a letter to our Allegheny County Delegation, to the State Legislature, requesting their support of the efforts of the Urban Redevelopment Authority to get money for the J & L site development and other economic development monies so badly needed in our City. I think it would do us well to also contact directly the Speaker of the House, Representative K. Leroy Irvis who does represent the City of Pittsburgh also in State Legislature, to ask for his assistance in making sure that Western Pennsylvania, specifically the City of Pittsburgh, gets the money that is necessary to develop sites such as the J & L site. This particular development could mean hundreds of jobs in our area; it certainly will generate the economy of this area.

I think that we need to do all that we can to make sure that every vacant building, every vacant industrial site, in our City in developed. If Council is so disposed, I think letters would be appropriate and any other assistance that members of Council might give, I'm sure would be appreciated by the Urban Redevelopment Authority.

The Chair, Pro tem:

I concur with you, Mr. Robinson. Is there any objections to sending a letter through Mr. Perry, our City Clerk?

Mr. O'Malley:

I think Mr. Robinson should make that in the form of a motion and I'll be glad to second it.

Mr. Robinson:

So moved.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Givens:

I'd like to ask for a post agenda this coming Wednesday on the ConAgra Agreement. I would like to invite someone from the Controller's Office in regards to the deed transfer tax. It appears that the City of Pittsburgh and some other governmental agencies are being shortchanged to the tune of $100,000.00.

For you who did not hear the 12:00 news or the latest news, Kroger has now folded their tent in the Southwestern Pennsylvania, especially that of Allegheny County and the City of Pittsburgh. They are going to sell to independent store owners and Fox Food Distribution, I guess, will be the people who will do it. But it's a sad note and if anything I can say — You talked about unfair labor practices; how would any of us like to work for a company for 15 or 20 years, some of theses people have 20 years with their invested pension rights and everything else, and now be told that they cannot ever again go to work with a particular company. I think somewhere, someplace, this Council, the Mayor's Office, the Allegheny Conference, we must get together and see what is happening to our area around here. ConAgra is just one with the old Armour meat packing plant. We have the Dravo people who are on strike, a member of the Allegheny Conference. We have Station Square people at the Grande Concourse that are having problems right now. We see that U.S. Steel, a part again of this Allegheny Conference, who is buying national steel out in Indiana and Chicago and that area, leaving and just ripping apart our Mon Valley right here.

What are we, as elected officials, what is the Mayor, what are the Commissioners going to do to stop the erosion of our labor power in this valley that we so dearly hold to our hearts? I think something has to be done and done immediately. I feel very frustrated when I feel that Krogers is going to go out and just sell to independent dealers and they're just going to undercut. That's fair practice of business and we can't do anything about that. But what about the souls and the families and the children of all the people who worked for Krogers and what's going to happen to them? The same thing is happening to ConAgra.

I say to this Council, I say to this Mayor, I say to this Governor and our Commissioners, that we must do something that if this is the case, then I say to the people in the neighborhoods, you buy that store, you start up a store co-op and do away with the middleman, do away with the Fox Industries, etc. because what they're telling your people is, they want you to shop at their store but they want to cut out all the people who work from that community in that store. It's not just one, it's about five or six major companies and many of these tie into our Allegheny Conference. When are we going to wake up in this Council and start doing something about it? I know this Councilman wants to do something about it and I think the rest of you want to do something about it. But I think we need a summit meeting and we need that summit meeting so fast and so quick that all of our heads would spin and we should sit down in this Council here and start talking to one another, start talking to the people of the Allegheny Conference, start talking to our State Governor and ask him to do something to revive what's happening here. Otherwise, I suggest to the people, as I so indicated, that they take their own businesses into their own hands, we start up our own mom and pop stores and we forget about big business because big business is raping this area right before my eyes and I feel very sad today to give this announcement to our own Council. But, come Wednesday, we will at least look at the post agenda on ConAgra, one specific area.

Also, Ben, I would like to have someone from the County who does the assessment of these factories, etc., that indicated that they were underpriced, that when all of the billings had come out, etc., that the Armour meat packing plant that we had there was totally underassessed, apparently, that they could come out with a tax stamp almost $100,000.00 cheaper than what they could. It's hard for me to conceive when we're talking about holding jobs, I don't know whether it was before or after, when the IDA, the Industrial Development Authority of Allegheny County, gave this ConAgra a $10 million loan to fix up their company so we could hire our Armour people back. They told Armour, "You can forget about the Armour contracts, you can forget about those labor contracts. To hell with you in the City of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County. We'll take you $10 million and we want you people to come back at $5.00 an hour." You figure it out. Any family man, can he live on $5.00 an hour? The answer to that is absolutely not.

The snowball is beginning to roll up at the top of the mountain and I hope before it gets down here it's not an avalanche and all of us get buried underneath it. That's what's happening and I just want to relay my feelings to you, Ben, at this time and take some leadership role in trying to bring this about, as all Councilmembers, I hope, will and I hope Wednesday is the kick-off point from this Council and from here on in we start developing it. We are the grass-roots; let's tell our own people, then, that it will start here and it will move from here.

Thank you.

The Chair, Pro tem:

If I may, I think we all are in agreement but we had a post agenda two weeks ago and we directed the City Solicitor to look into it and I think he's already started that process. We did meet with ConAgra and the people with SNAC two weeks ago on that same issue you're talking about at a post agenda. Also, at that post agenda was the City Controller and he is looking into it from his end. But, if you want another one, I have no problems with it.

Mr. Givens:

This will be a report that will come from our Controller's Office to this Council. You know, sometimes our Administration, and that's the flag that I'm waving, is not moving fast enough. Apparently the Controller of the City of Pittsburgh wants to come back and report to this Council on his findings.

The Chair, Pro tem:

You want a post agenda on what they've done so far on that issue?

Mr. Givens:

That's right. This Wednesday. And to invite our own people up who were here previously.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I think there's a need for us as elected officials to begin to address this problem a little more seriously in terms of the possibility of setting up a committee consisting of elected officials from the City, County, possibly the State, possibly from Allegheny Conference, to address the problem of plant closings, the relocation of plants, the loss of jobs.

In my short five or six weeks on Council, we have had three or four occasions already where we have had either plants close or the loss of jobs or a relocation of the work and I think the purpose of this Committee should be not to take a side with labor or management but a neutral position in the hopes that we could increase and enhance the communications between the two groups.

Let me ask this question. Is there a committee of that type in existence today?

The Chair, Pro tem:

It's my understanding, I guess that's what Allegheny Conference is supposed to be doing and it's evident that the job is not getting done. Perhaps you're right and I think we all agree that we have to do something so I think maybe we should look into that immediately and try to do something else.

Mr. Robinson:

If I might follow up on Mr. Wagner's concern, I think it's very well taken and certainly as Chairman of Planning, Housing and Development for this Council, I'd be more than happy to work on any committee that this Council would establish that deals with economic development and some of the related problems. I think, also, this Council should be aware that the Allegheny Conference on Community Development, some one year ago, did establish a major committee to look into the economic condition of our Wester Pennsylvania Region. They did issue a report, they did appoint some subcommittees. At that time, I had indicated I thought that it would be appropriate for this Council, through various members, to be represented on those subcommittees. To my knowledge, there are no members of this Council on any of those subcommittees, even though those committees are in the process of making some preliminary plans which include the City of Pittsburgh. I think it is incumbent upon us to indicate to everyone in the private sector who is working to improve this City who might need the help of City government that they might want to involve members of this Council at the appropriate time. Far too often we are confronted with plans and preparations that others have made for us and then we're asked to sanction them, to give a stamp of approval. I think we have borne the brunt of the plant closing issue, we have borne the brunt of wokers layoffs, we have borne the brunt of union frustration with management; yet, we have been least prepared to even begin to identify the problem much less give any answers. I think before we entertain one more group, one more problem or one more piece of legislation dealing with labor management problems, we ought to find out what involvement the City of Pittsburgh has, the Administration or this Council, with the Allegheny Conference efforts to revitalize this area and I think we ought to insist that we have a role in that process. We have a legitimate right to have a role in that process because I think there's every anticipation that the City of Pittsburgh will be cooperating in revitalizing this area. I think we need to let it be known that if we're going to have to take the brunt of the problems, then we want a full role in trying to identify some solutions. I would hope that the leadership on this Council would move very quickly to do that because I think Mr. Wagner's point is well taken and I anticipate that we have not seen the last of the kinds of problems exemplified by the ConAgra situation, Giant Eagle, Kroger, Nabisco, and many others that we could mention. I think if we're going to maintain our credibility and our effectiveness, we must insist on being involved in any effort to revitalize Western Pennsylvania, specifically the City of Pittsburgh, and I think we must insist that the appropriate people on this Council be involved in that process.

The Chair, Pro tem:

I totally agree with both of you and I'd like to take it one step further; that we have to get other elected officials involved in this thing. Just like you said, we take the brunt of everything and we've got very little control, if any, over it. We have to start getting our Legislators involved and we're going to have to drag them in, our State Senators, our U.S. Congressmen, and our U.S. Senators. We have one from this part of the state and all we hear is a lot of rhetoric. We have a Governor from this part of the state and all we hear is rhetoric. So, have to bring these people in plus our Commissioners. I agree. I think it's about time we did something and we should start doing it immediately. I'll work to that end.

Mr. Givens:

Ben, I think tomorrow, then, I would so ask the Chief Clerk that I'd like to have the President or one of the chief spokesmen for the Allegheny County Development Authority, the IDA, that has the $10 million loan, a 3 percent loan, to this ConAgra. I'd like to put that thing on hold and I'd like that personally to be discussed by this Councilman and the people from the IDA. They're an authority. I hope they show up, Mike, and I hope you get the President of that Authority to come on down here. I would hate to see ConAgra get $10 million of our tax paying dollars to turn around and tell our unions to go to hell and come back to work, the meat cutters, for five dollars and some cents and hour. They are not going to get one penny of that if I have anything to say about it and I would like to put some type of a moratorium on that $10 million right now and I'd like to invite them over here Wednesday to tell us what they are going to do; if they're going to hold this or give it to the ConAgra people or not. They are not going to continue to rape our people and if so, this government will step in and if we have to do it on our own, we can do it on our own. We can buy stores and turn them over to the people using our own tax dollars to do it. We are not going to be raped by the multi-national corporations that are coming in here doing the trick and the job that they are doing in this particular, more so than any other area of the country. You can call it union-busting or anything else but when you cut out the legs of a person who is the head of a household and trying to support a family, then that's when I say it's time for us to move in.

Mr. Wagner:

In reference to a point made earlier by Mr. Robinson regarding the Jones and Laughlin site for an industrial park, I would like to see this Council send a letter to the Department of Transportation to investigate the possibility of providing an exit ramp from the Parkway East going west to east for better accessibility to that area. At the present time, there is accessibility coming from the opposite direction with the Bates Street exit but there is not coming from the major arteries of 79 North, 79 South, the Parkway West from the airport, and I think that would play a tremendous impact in terms of bringing potential companies into that proposed industrial site. I think we need to act on it early and see if the potential of getting some federal or state funds involved to actually construct an exit ramp in that area.

So, I move that we initiate a letter to PennDOT along those lines.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson moved to excuse Michelle Madoff, Mrs. Masloff and Mr. Stone for absence from the meeting.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson moved to approve the minutes of Monday, January 30, 1984.

Mr. Givens seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Robinson

Council adjourned.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, it is indeed a distinct honor and privilege to present Resolution No. 78 on behalf of the National conference of Christians and Jews to designate Sisterhood and Brotherhood Week in our City.

On this Thursday, February 23, 1984 at 12:00 noon, the first annual Sisterhood and Brotherhood luncheon will be held at the Station Square Sheraton Hotel.

Our guests today are Miss Betty Pickett who is the Executive Director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews of Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia and Dr. Mary Ann Coffey who is the Co-Chairperson of the Pittsburgh National Conference of Christians and Jews affiliate here.

They will give more details on the luncheon and the fine work of NCCJ in this region. If Miss Pickett and Dr. Coffey will come forward at this time, please, to receive this resolution.

I am doubly honored to have Miss Pickett here today because I serve on the Board of Directors of the National Conference of Christians and Jews and have long admired her dedication, hard work, and commitment to racial, religious and sexual equality. She also serves on our City of Pittsburgh Minority Business Enterprise Review Committee.

Many of you, of course, are aware of Dr. Coffey's fine activities. She served on our Personnel Appeals Board here in the City for a period of time and is an outstanding administration at the University of Pittsburgh and I'm very pleased to have her as a neighbor; we live in the same community.

Both of these ladies are outstanding and I'd like to present this resolution and then they will have some brief comments for us.

Mr. Robinson presents

Bill No. 278 WHEREAS, the National Conference of Christians and Jews will celebrate the Fiftieth Anniversary of Brotherhood/Sisterhood Week February 19 through February 25, 1984; and

WHEREAS, the National Conference of Christians and Jews recognizes that struggles among groups are inevitable in a pluralistic society that allows free expression of aspirations and promises equality of opportunity in fulfilling expectations; and

WHEREAS, Brotherhood/Sisterhood Week symbolizes that justice in a pluralistic society depends on the ability and determination of the distinctive competing groups to interact as peers, free of demanding prejudice and attitudes of patronizing superiority toward one another; and

WHEREAS, in 1934, Father Hugh L. McMenamin of Denver, Colorado inspired the first observance of what was then called Brotherhood Week.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, on behalf of its citizens, does recognize that all religious, all races, all ethnic communities, men and women, young and old, employees and employers, governors and the governed, can and must be heard and their fundamental rights guaranteed, not by total agreement, but by learning to keep strategies and needs fair.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does proclaim February 19 through February 25, 1984 as Brotherhood/Sisterhood Week in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Robinson moved to adopt the resolution.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Miss Pickett:

Thank you Councilman Robinson, Mr. President and all Councilmembers. It is my pleasure to accept this for Brotherhood/Sisterhood Week. As you know, this is the 50th anniversary and we are hoping that with the first annual luncheon we will begin another 50 years of trying to make the ideals of Brotherhood/Sisterhood Week a daily practice that will go on 365 days a year rather than just once a week throughout the year.

Dr. Coffey:

On behalf of my fellow Co-Chairs who could not be here today, George Thomas, Katherine Butchko and Allen Berkman, I want to thank you, President Stone and Councilman Robinson, all the rest of the City Councilmen and Councilwomen here, for the opportunity you have given NCCJ through the years. It is with humility that we stand before you and thank you for facilitating our constant efforts toward achieving brotherhood, in different ways at different times, but always with your support. We look forward to your help for the next 50 years.

Thank you.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President and members of Council, we have here before us today a resolution that's the result of a public hearing which we had last Thursday for Union Switch and Signal employees.

Mr. Wagner presents

Bill No. 279 WHEREAS, Union Switch and Signal division of American Standard, Inc. is a major area manufacturing concern, employing hundreds of Pittsburgh residents; and

WHEREAS, Union Switch and Signal has been awarded a $19 million contract for the Port Authority of Allegheny County (PAT) Light Rail Transit (LRT) Project; and

WHEREAS, Union Switch and Signal has now admitted, after the awarding of this contract, that much of this intricate wiring work will be performed in a new out-of-state US & S facility by workers who have much less experience; and

WHEREAS, Pittsburgh and other Southwestern Pennsylvania communities have been devastated by plant closings and runaway shops, resulting in serious job losses and greatly jeopardizing the job security of other area residents; and

WHEREAS, Pittsburgh taxpayers are contributing a significant portion of the funding for the LRT Project.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that

1. This Council is in complete opposition to any US & S plans to have PAT work performed out-of-state.

2. This Council urges Union Switch and Signal to perform all PAT work in the Pittsburgh metropolitan area, where it has highly experienced workers ready and able to perform the work.

3. This Council urges that the Port Authority of Allegheny County require that Union Switch and Signal perform the LRT manufacturing work at its Swissvale facility.

Mr. Wagner moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Wagner:

Unfortunately, none of the Union Switch & Signal people could be here today. Most of them had to take a day away from work last Thursday for the public hearing and they couldn't do it twice. But as a result of that public hearing, we have requested that all elected officials get involved at all levels beginning at the federal level, the state level, the county and the local level rather than just this Council and our Mayor and Commissioners to address this problem. We're also asking the Port Authority to attempt to set up a meeting with the executives of Union Switch & Signal to see if this work can be done in Allegheny County.

Thank you.

(AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE)

Which was read.

Mr. Grabowski:

If I might ask a question of Councilman Wagner, as I recall last Wednesday at the Committee Meeting, you questioned Superintendent Coll about these proposed increases in fees and you suggested that it might be a good idea that we evaluate actually how much it costs the City to tow a vehicle in and how many of these vehicles being towed in are residents and non-residents and possibly, based on that, revise this schedule.

Was that not your intent?

Mr. Wagner:

Yes, I did make that comment and did ask that question, but Mr. O'Malley helped clarify that in that that area of responsibility has not come under the area of Public Safety or Police in the past. Therefore, the Police Department does not have sufficient data to properly analyze it yet, plus the fact that Mr. Coll indicated at the time that they are going to try to set up some code account numbers so that in the future all costs pertaining to towing can be analyzed and we can further determine, hopefully, what it does cost and readjust the charges for towing.

In other words, it can't be done now but it may possibly be able to be done in the future.

Mr. Grabowski:

My concern is that if, in fact, we're going to revise the rates so that they reflect the actual cost involved in towing a vehicle, I don't know how long it will take, but maybe we should hold this bill.

Mr. Wagner:

Maybe Mr. O'Malley could add to it but I think Mr. Coll indicated that raising the fee to $60 would closer reflect the actual cost but may not be precisely what needs to be.

Mr. O'Malley:

If we would hold the bill, Steve, all it would do is cost the City of Pittsburgh money until we've come to that time when we determine exactly what the cost is. I think we're going to need at least six months to make that determination.

Mr. Grabowski:

Okay.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

Mr. Wagner presented

Bill No. 277

Report of the Committee on Engineering and Construction for February 15, 1984 transmitting sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 116

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements with Chester Engineers (Mr. Alfred E. Baily), P.O. Box 9356, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15225, for Professional Engineering Services in connection with the design in conjunction with the repairs/replacement of the Filter Building and Operation Center Building Roofs, the repair of leaks in the filter tanks and associated work, and providing for the payment of the cost thereof."

Which was read.

Mr. Grabowski:

I would like the record to indicate that I reluctantly vote aye on Bill 116 because the work began several weeks ago before this Council in fact authorized the work to begin. I wouldn't want the contractor not to receive payment because the Director, perhaps inappropriately, gave him authorization to go ahead. But I just would like the record to indicate that.

Mr. Robinson:

I would like to echo Mr. Grabowski's concern. I think we ought to do whatever is appropriate to discourage our department heads from authorizing work in advance of the appropriate approval by Council and the Mayor. I think it does send a false signal to contractors and perhaps puts the Directors in the position of indebting the City without having the legal authority to do so. If indeed there is necessary emergency work that must be completed, I believe that there are some appropriate processes to follow and I would suggest that the City Clerk send a letter to the appropriate department heads indicating that if, in the future, they believe that work should proceed in some fashion prior to authorization from this Council and the Mayor, that they communicate in writing with our President, Mr. Stone, and certainly get his advice in Council as well as that of our City Solicitor.

Mr Wagner:

I would like to comment on Bill 116. In regard to last Wednesday's meeting, I would like my comments brought forward for the record pertaining to the discussion which we had, and furthermore, the post agenda which is scheduled for this Wednesday will pertain specifically to this topic with the appropriate department heads.

(BEGINNING - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 116 - WEDNESDAY, 2/15/84)

Mr. Wagner:

Discussion. Could I ask Mr. Cosentino to please come to the table?

Mr. Cosentino, we have had considerable discussion on this bill. As a matter of fact, we held it for one additional week. The reason why we held it one additional week was we were asking questions to Mr. McDermott, when in fact the work that began on this project began back prior to the creation of Engineering and Construction, when it came out of the Water Department. We then found out that actual work, or approval to do this work, was given back on November 9, 1983, and Council received the legislation to allocate $47,000.00 to pay for the work, and my number one question is, why are we receiving this legislation now, and why did it not come back in November?

Director Cosentino:

Well, first of all, it was my understanding that the resolution being processed prior to that November 9 date, apparently there was a lack of communication between two of my personnel that caused that to occur. I was under the impression that that was being done.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, in your letter, which I have here, that was sent to Chester Engineers, it does not indicate that.

Director Cosentino:

Well, we don't necessarily indicate in the letter if it is being done. We don't generally tell the Consultant that that is being done. I think we did indicate in the letter that the contract was — before the contract was executed that no invoices were to be submitted to the City.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, is this common procedure?

Director Cosentino:

No, it is not common; it is an exception to the rule. We simply don't carry out an operation that way.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, I'm having a problem with this legislation because I am finding out that this is occurring more than it should, and especially in the committee that I have, Engineering and Construction, and there is no need for this to occur.

Council should approve any and every piece of legislation prior to the contractor being notified that they should begin work on a project.

Director Cosentino:

I agree.

Mr. Wagner:

There are other problems with this legislation in that we are asking a consulting company to go out and evaluate whether or not we need a new roof on a building, whether or not we need some filter work done at that location. The problem is that we have the expertise within the City to go out and take a look at roofs and determine what work needs to be done. So, therefore, I think that part of this legislation and part of the cost, $47,000.00, is not necessary. However, the problem exists today in that I suspect a good portion of this has been completed. Is that correct?

Director Cosentino:

Some of the work has been completed, yes.

Mr. Wagner:

How about the work pertaining to the roof?

Director Cosentino:

I believe that has been done.

Mr. Wagner:

So, in other words, if Council does not approve this, then we have Chester Engineers out there not receiving their dollars.

Director Cosentino:

That is correct.

Mr. Wagner:

We are going to have a post agenda in the near future pertaining to this, and I am going to vote in favor of this, but I would like you to know, and other Department Heads, that I will not vote in favor of any legislation in the future that is not first approved by Council.

Director Cosentino:

I understand. I agree with you.

(END - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 116 - WEDNESDAY, 2/15/84)

Mr. Woods:

On Bill 116, we've talked about this for a number of weeks and this isn't the first bill that came up like this and I believe there are going to be a few more. They are reorganizing the Department of Engineering and Construction and there is a post agenda scheduled for this Wednesday with the particular Directors involved. Hopefully, we can get this straightened out and let them know how many other bills are coming up just like this one.

The Chair:

I echo the remarks of Mr. Grabowski and Mr. Robinson. If you will recall, a few years back I was taken to task because allegedly I was riding a Director. It turned out that that particular Director exceeded his authority by $800,000.00. I have yet to see anyone come up and say a few years back, "Mr. Stone, you were right", but I would like it clearly understood that I, as one Councilman, am not going to pay any bill that somebody authorizes to go out on their own. Nobody has the authority to indebt the City of Pittsburgh other than in a proper way; anyone who does, does so at their own risk.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, I would like to make a few brief comments on the letter forwarded to City Council by City of Pittsburgh Controller, Tom Flaherty, relative to our bond counsel, the law firm of Baskin and Sears serving as an agent of South Africa.

In 1982 and 1983, this Council supported resolutions that I sponsored which requested the President of the United States and the Secretary of State to rescind authorization to the Republic of South Africa to establish "Honorary Consulates" in various American cities including Pittsburgh.

Also, upon my initiative, this Council approved legislation to restrict the investment of City of Pittsburgh Pension Funds in business activities in the Republic of South Africa. I would like to refresh Council's memory on this point; the resolution was 1167 of 1982, Pension Reform Press Agreement. There were two agreements and Council was gracious enough to include a Section D in both agreements which reads as follows: Investments shall not be initiated or concluded with corporated entities, public or private, which are owned, managed, or otherwise under the jurisdiction of the Republic of South Africa.

I believe the spirit of our actions was to indicate a desire not to be directly or indirectly involved with governments or activities supportive of undemocratic principles and practices such as apartheid.

At this time, I believe it would be appropriate to create a Task Force on City Investments to examine our investment policies and business practices to insure their compatibility with the principle of equal opportunity and other precepts of democracy.

The Office of the Mayor, City Council, and the Office of the Controller should be involved.

I would suggest that they pattern their efforts after those recently initiated by the state of Connecticut.

For more specific information on the resolutions passed by Council, I request members of Council to refer to the Municipal Records of Monday, March 8, 1982, Monday, March 29, 1982, and Monday, June 13, 1983.

Thank you.

Mr. Woods:

First of all, I'd like to ask Mr. Robinson, are you asking for that task force to be formed now or are you suggesting we look into it?

Secondly, I don't know what happened in the state of Connecticut so if you could enlighten us there —

Mr. Robinson:

Okay. On the first point that you raised, I think that the Task Force should be created immediately. About a year ago, I raised this issue when Resolution 1167 was being considered by this Council. I raised that issue with our Finance Director, Mr. Schmeiser, and also suggested to our President, Mr. DePasquale, Council's President, that such a task force would be in the best interest of the City. I still believe that it would be.

As far as the issue of what happened in the state of Connecticut, the Treasurer of the State of Connecticut, two or three years ago, was appointed by the Governor to head up a task force on investments, investments of monies of the state of Connecticut. Out of the efforts of that task force came an 80 page document which established guidelines for the investment of monies of the state of Connecticut. One of the specific things that the document spoke to was the issue of investing monies in countries such as South Africa, more specifically, countries which practice undemocratic prinicples such as apartheid.

I think that document is landmarked and set to precedent. It was a very well thought out document and I think done with the utmost responsibility on the part of public officials and I think it might provide us with some sort of guide.

I have, on previous occasions, suggested to Mr. Schmeiser that he might want to look at that document to see if there was any way that we might incorporate some of its ideas. I think the question of investments in South Africa only speaks to one aspect of the study in Connecticut. They were looking at the total investment practices of the state and wanted to make sure that they were investing their money consistent with what the state principles and laws were but also recognizing that this issue of investing money in foreign countries often times can become very difficult. You need a responsible policy, one that is responsible to good money management but also one that is consistent with your concerns about democratic government and democracy throughout the world.

Mr. Woods:

I have no problems with the committee or a task force, but I do have problems including the Mayor's Office and the Controller's Office. Every time we form a committee in this Council we're involving other parts of our government. If we want to make a committee, I think it should be done right here in Council and I'm sure we can get all the information that we need and we have the expertise right here. That's the way I'd go with the committee. If this Council does it and we look into it ourselves, we don't need all the outside help. That's my opinion.

Mr. Robinson:

Let me just respond to that very quickly if I might, Mr. President. My interest in the Controller and the Mayor is because of their sworn obligations in the area of this City's fiscal responsibilities. The Controller does have some responsibility relative to our pension fund, as does the President of our Council. The Mayor of our City, of course, is charged with the awesome responsibility of preparing a budget every year and indeed selecting those professionals such as bond counsel to help us make decisions about how we should invest our money.

I simply thought it would be appropriate to involve Council, the Mayor and the Controller in an overall evaluation. I do agree with you that Council certainly has the capability of doing our part and I think if the President of Council saw fit to appoint yourself as Finance Chairman and others to a committee, that certainly you could do a good job and certainly I think this Council could set an example, perhaps, for the Controller's Office and the Mayor's Office in terms of what we think ought to be done in the area of investing this City's monies.

The Chair:

Let me just make a remark here so it's restricted in the sense of which I am making it.

I stand before you not condoning the matter that exists in the Republic of South Africa but, nevertheless, I think a comment in that report needs corrected, at least in proper frame. It's not my intent nor my desire to defend the firm of Baskin and Sears. Obviously, they're more capable financially, in size and ability, than I. But, nevertheless, I would be remiss as a lawyer who would not point out the fact that everyone is entitled to representation, our friends as well as our foe, and obviously, when you're representing someone, you do not, you do not, and I emphasize that, subscribe to everything that they subscribe to.

In light of that, I'm reminded a few years back that there were some people of not the best standards in our community, no one wanted to defend; the Bar Association and the courts felt bound that they in this country, in the democratic society, ought to be represented. I'm likewise reminded by the fact that the American Civil Liberties Union is one of their recent clients as representing a Ku Klux Klanner, which obviously seems to be the total extreme of what is ordinarily their representation.

In that light, let it be known that representation does not determine what the individual does.

I'd like one more comment and I'd like to be on the record with this one as well. I would suggest, since he is here, the Controller — I, for one, have always been disturbed — I'm not saying this now that you are the Controller, Tom, so we understand it — I cannot possibly conceive how, as Mr. Woods has seemed to have indicated, where we have three parts of government participating in something on a daily effort and then who is going to audit, after that, who is going to control. One of the things that I think is always something that sort of caused me to think, if the Controller is involved, and let's take the pension fund for a moment, if the Controller is involved and the President of Council is involved and someone from the Administration is involved, after that, since the Controller is with us, who does the controlling? Who does the auditing? I don't know how that came to pass but it always has been my understanding that a trustee in an organization or an auditor or a controller should not be involved in the daily function other than they oversee what everybody else does. There ought to be some look into that, I think, and again, let me just respectfully say that it does not include the personality rather than the position. If we had some other source that checks us after, I wonder, but we don't.

Mr. Woods:

Mr. President, again I'd like to say that I have no problem with the task force or a committee as long as it just included City Council members and we went ahead and really looked into this thing.

I don't think we should keep throwing the name of Baskin and Sears around for whatever work they do for South Africa because, and it might be a little silly, everybody in this room and probably everybody in the Unites States is just as bad because we all buy diamonds and most of the diamonds are mined in South Africa.

The Chair:

I can't afford to buy them.

Mr. Woods:

I mean it's a big thing and I agree with Mr. Robinson. Perhaps we should look into this but I believe we should look into it as a Council.

The Chair:

On another subject, if I may. At the expense of being redundant, let me repeat because I shall always repeat this matter. Mr. Wagner has brought up the matter of the LRT System and I would be remiss if I didn't take this opportunity to mention that had we been riding Skybus we could have been in it now for three years at $80 million. We are now in an abortive system called LRT, Light Rail Transit, and we're not in it yet; we've got another two years to go and we are already over $500 million. That's $430 million we could have used somewhere else. When anyone tells you we made a mistake on Skybus, ask that individual to look in the mirror and see who made the mistake.

It should not come to pass that we forget that $430 million could have gone a long way. One of the most expensive bridges in the City of Pittsburgh was the Liberty Bridge rehabilitation job and it cost us $35 million. Multiply that through and we could have done a lot of bridges and a lot of roads in this community if, in my opinion, we had not wasted it on something less than what we could have had originally and that was Skybus.

Mr. Woods moved to excuse Mr. Givens and Michelle Madoff for absence from the meeting.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Woods

Council adjourned.

ONE-HUNDRED TWENTY-THIRD COUNCIL

ROBERT RADE STONE President
MICHAEL PERRY City Clerk
LINDA M. JOHNSON ... Asst. City Clerk

Pittsburgh, PA
Monday, February 27, 1984

PRESENT:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

ABSENT:

Mr. Givens

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

The Chair:

It's my understanding we have some resolutions we'd like to present first.

Michelle Madoff:

I wonder whether Mr. Coon and Mr. Leroy Pfoertner would please come forward. That is Mr. Kerry Coon, son of Sheriff Eugene Coon. Is the Sheriff here with us today? I believe I saw him come in. I wonder if he would also come up and join us. I think the apple doesn't fall far from the tree.

I've been out having some work done on my jaw and I couldn't speak for a while which I knew would make my colleagues a little unhappy but I'm managing so I'll try to do sufficiently well to address the issues.

Michelle Madoff presents

Bill No. 308 WHEREAS, on February 20, 1984, Mr. Kerry Coon and Mr. Leroy Pfoertner came to the assistance of a mugging victim. Both gentlemen chased the perpetrator of the crime, on foot and by vehicle, and apprehended the mugger, holding him until police officers could arrive on the scene; and

WHEREAS, both Mr. Coon and Mr. Pfoertner exhibited great bravery in becoming involved, coming to the victim's aid, and apprehending the mugger.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby recognizes and commends Mr. Kerry Coon and Mr. Leroy Pfoertner for displaying dedication to the high social and moral standards that we all want in the City of Pittsburgh and for being outstanding examples of what citizen involvement can do to curb crime.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Council of the City of Pittsburgh wishes to thank Mr. Kerry Coon and Mr. Leroy Pfoertner for their willingness to become involved and making Pittsburgh a safer place to live.

Michelle Madoff moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

You know, in these days where people are just so intimidated, so afraid to get involved, I think we have to look to our youth who are setting examples for many of us. I have known, I can't say young Mr. Coon because I knew him when he was this big, when I started out in the political arena, and I'm very, very proud. I know your family; I know they're proud of you. I want to shake your hand.

I thought they'd give us all the gory details but they don't want to.

May I present you with these awards and I hope that you will set an example to all your friends. Perhaps they can find out what's going on in some other parts of the City and help us there too.

Thanks again.

We have another award today. As you know, our office has an Award of the Month for outstanding women in the community. Some of the women that we've honored have really been well-known in the community, both in the media and in their own communities.

Today we honor a very special lady. She once kept me captive. She didn't even need the Sheriff's people that day. I remember running for office in 1973 and we were on the stage and she said, "They barred the doorway and said no one can leave until we get answers to the questions." I wonder if Aggie Brose would please come forward. Now we're going to hold her captive. Aggie, I'm really proud.

Michelle Madoff presents

Bill No. 309 WHEREAS, the role of women needs to be expanded in society; and

WHEREAS, the accomplishments and achievements, both professionally and personally, of women in society have been largely underrated; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Agnes Brose, wife of Thomas Brose and mother of three children, has worked tirelessly to improve the quality of life in the Bloomfield and Garfield area as an original incorporator of the Bloomfield-Garfield Corporation, served with distinction for two years as that organization's president, and continues as a current member of its board of directors; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Brose has carried that commitment further in her work as president of the Save Our Neighborhoods Action Coalition (SNAC) and as an activist dedicated to protecting the rights of workers and the unemployed; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Brose has exhibited her commitment to her Church and its school system with her active participation in the affairs of St. Lawrence O'Toole parish and as an alternate member of the Lawrenceville Area Catholic Merged Schools Board; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Brose encouraged active voter registration and participation as a Democratic Party committeewoman in the 10th Ward for six years.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and Members of Council of the City of Pittsburgh recognize Mrs. Agnes Brose as "Woman of the Month" because of her dedicated service which has enriched the quality of life throughout the City of Pittsburgh.

Michelle Madoff moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mrs. Brose:

It wouldn't be fair if I didn't say something because today this is not my awar[illegible] but it's the network of people that I work with. It's my family, Junie here, President of Bloomfield-Garfield, Marie Burns, Vic-President, Sam Papp of SNAC, Larry Turner, our Treasurer of SNAC, and it's a reward to me to be part of all these organizations through the years. It's fulfilled my life; it's made me very proud to get up and work and fight for what I believe in. None of this could have happened if it had not been for you people. I'm very proud of you. You're people like me. I hear your remarks whether your think so or not. I hear Sophie saying, "Aggie, I couldn't come to your meeting; my grandson had a tumor in his ear." I respect Sophie because she's good family. I hear Ben Woods saying, "I stayed for your public hearing but I'm really mad, Aggie, because I missed seeing my daughter going to the prom." Jimmy O'Malley says, "Do you want to go to lunch with me; I'm taking my baby daughter." Bill Robinson, he fought, and I support him 100 percent because the kids are going into the arena and being used. You're good. Bob Stone, all of you. I know you all and you've supported us. We could not have achieved what we have achieved. We've confronted you terribly at times. We've challenged you and held you accountable but you are friends and you've made us successful. We are building our neighborhood. I've worked with every Director in this City and I'm glad to know you all; you've helped us. The Mayor has helped us, the people that left Council like Tommy Flaherty, Billy Coyne, they're still with us; they have moved on to SNAC with us.

All we're about, and the bottom line is, our families. The family is very, very important and I know it's important to you. We're now at Bloomfield-Garfield; you'll be seeing us next week. We're on the threshhold of another toll. I'm nothing but a toll. I'm a very supportive person to help anybody who wants to help themselves. I won't do it for you but I'll sure take time to do it with you. And you do the same thing for me. When I help you, you help me to have a better neighborhood to live in. I am a very proud person. I'm very proud for all the people I've worked with over the years and I'm proud of our Council and our Directors and the Mayor and I'm a very happy person and next week I'll be down and we'll be fighting another issue for our real estate. But it's a toll; it's another toll to help us raise our families with pride and dignity. It's the same thing with SNAC. You can't have much dignity if you don't have a job. I know I'm the type of person that if you get to know me you might like me. There's a lot of people who might not like me but I do see today that you respect not me, but you respect what I stand for and that's family, and that's Council and SNAC and Bloomfield-Garfield, apple pie and motherhood and family.

Thank you very much.

Mr. President and members of Council, on Council Bills 207 and 208, last Wednesday I asked Mr. Schillo, our Treasurer, for some information regarding the principles and the two companies to perform the work. The material that I received this afternoon right before Council session does not answer those questions and I would recommend to Council that this bill be sent back to Committee until such time that Mr. Schmeiser and Mr. Schillo can prepare that information for us.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

Discussion. I'd like to ask a question. Who were the principles?

Mr. Robinson:

The information that I have that was sent to me by Mr. Schmeiser, for CTA Incorporated, Janis Kincaid, Principle Contact, John Torquato, Sales Representative; for SRI, Incorporated, William Johnson, 70 percent owner, 30 percent employee. That's the only information I have relative to the principles.

Michelle Madoff:

I want to ask Mike a question about — It's not going to be very long. —

The Chair:

We're moving to commit.

Michelle Madoff:

I know but this is in relation to not having to do it again when it comes back again.

Mike, I have a letter on my desk that was returned to you and you sent to Council saying that you've requested all the principles. You then informed this Council that starting with a certain date you notified all the Department Heads and you would be listing all the principles as they give them to you.

My question is, are they giving them to you?

Mr. Perry:

Some are and some aren't.

Michelle Madoff:

May I recommend then that when you don't get it, so that you don't have it on your back, and we say why didn't you put it in, you just immediately return it because there's enough time then before it comes to Council. I can't accept this bill without the principles.

Thank you.

Also,

Bill No. 209

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution authorizing the Mayor and the Director of Finance, on behalf of the City of Pittsburgh, County of Allegheny and School District of Pittsburgh to transfer its rights, title and interest, if any, for certain Three Taxing Bodies' property in the 23rd Ward of the City of Pittsburgh to the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation. Deed to be in Quit Claim form for a total consideration of $8,300.00 as indicated."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 8 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Mr. Robinson presented

Bill No. 304

Report of the Committee on Planning, Housing and Development for February 22, 1984 transmitting sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 188

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements with consultant(s) to perform an aerial photographic survey for use in updating base maps of the City of Pittsburgh Department of City Planning and providing for the payment of the cost thereof."

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 188, in the five and a half years that I've been here, it seems to me that we have spent a great deal of money on aerial photography. Could someone explain why we're doing it again, what it's for?

The Chair:

It's an update, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

I know but it's $105,000.00 update. I'll get a friend to go up in a plane; we'll get Adam Lynch from the news media and we'll take a couple of shots.

The Chair:

We went into that last Wednesday; I had some questions on that matter. I thought it was done by this aerial crew. It was explained to us that it was essential for the City to be upgraded early, views of the whole City, and it's my understanding that it ties in to the census tracks, etc. It seemed in order as of Wednesday.

Michelle Madoff:

My question is, then, was it a competitive bid? Are there other people to do it? Is there only one company? Is it fixed by price-fixing? It seems outrageous to me. I would question that number too, had I been here.

The Chair:

It prompted me to ask some questions and I was satisfied as of Wednesday.

Michelle Madoff:

Do you think the price is right?

The Chair:

Does anyone have any additional information on it?

Mr. Robinson:

I can't answer the question of whether it's competitively bid. It's my understanding that this particular company is the only one that can do this work and they have been working for us. But I have no information as to whether it was competitively bid. I would assume that it was not. It's a consultant contract and was not competitively bid.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Robinson, have we ever looked into how much money has been spent in the last five years on aerial photography? I have a feeling that we've done this before. My memory is pretty good.

Mr. Robinson:

It's my understanding, as Mr. Stone has said, that the aerial photography work that is required to be done by the City has to be done on a continual basis. We have done this before but the maps have to constantly be updated and this provides us with the opportunity to do that.

Michelle Madoff:

I'll go along with you. Are you satisfied with it, Mr. Robinson?

Mr. Robinson:

No, I'm not completely satisfied. I do plan to check into the situation of how much money we're spending in Planning for consultants and whether or not we're duplicating some of our efforts but in this particular instance, I don't think it's going to serve the City's interest to hold up this particular arrangement.

Michelle Madoff:

That's my point. Are you ready to go ahead with it? If you are, I'll go along with it.

Mr. Robinson:

I'll move on it at this time.

Michelle Madoff:

Okay. Thank you.

Bill No. 202

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements with Massaro Corporation (Joseph A. Massaro, Jr., President) for Professional Consulting Services in connection with the establishment of the Department of Engineering and Construction; and providing for the payment of the cost thereof." (AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE)

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 202. I wasn't here until Thursday and Friday and I was trying to get some more information on this bill. It just doesn't make sense to me that we revamp, we meaning the Administration, revamps the way we do business in the City, takes the Engineering and Construction away from public works, creates a department with Mr. McDermott who I helped bring to the City because I knew his record, I worked with him previously to his coming to the City, and then hiring a consultant for Mr. McDermott, reduced from $95,000 to now $75,000.

Why are we giving Massaro $75,000? Isn't this the same company that worked at the Stadium and fouled up on the turf there and Lord knows how many thousands of dollars it's going to cost to fix that? I understand that part of his reference is his credibility and accountability and his qualifications he listed is work at that Stadium.

I also want to know how much work Massaro has had from the City; I want a dollar volume, the number of contracts. I don't think this bill ought to be passed right now. I don't care that he gave me $200.00, that I got an unexpected check from him the day before I ran for office either.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, in reference to this bill, I have investigated the bill to a great degree. Originally, the bill was submitted with an estimated cost of $95,000. I have met with Mr.

McDermott, I've met with Mr. Massaro in regard to the work that is proposed to be done with the Engineering and Construction Department. We have come up with a more realistic figure of $75,000 as an estimated consulting fee. In other words, the bill was reduced by $20,000.

Now, what is the need for a consultant in the Engineering and Construction Department?

Michelle Madoff:

I don't know.

Mr. Wagner:

First of all, we have a new department, effective January 1 of 1984. There's a tremendous amount of reorganization in that department. It's Mr. McDermott intent to hire three Assistant Directors in that department. As of now, he essentially has none. He has no assistants to work in the area of reorganization. One of the areas of assistance which Massaro will be providing is assistance in the evaluation of candidates for those three Assistant Director positions.

The City is also trying to revamp their approach to construction, going from individual construction projects and managing that project with people on board to a construction management team where, if they have a big important project, they can go to Massaro, such as the Grant Street Project or the Bloomfield Bridge, and ask for their expertise as to how to approach the project.

Massaro has made a commitment; four companies bid on this project. Massaro is the only company that has made a commitment to have their top management people involved in the daily consulting portion of the contract. They have committed their Senior Vice-President, a Mr. Pete Mahaney, and a Vice-President of Construction. I attended a meeting last week with the two of them and Mr. McDermott and also various other representatives, Daryl Smith of the Water Department, in regards to the future work that has to be done for water reconstruction. I found the two people to be very confident, very open and willing to work with the City.

The degree of need of that company in the future is still unknown exactly. It may not be $75,000, or it may be more than $75,000, but I'm convinced that there is a need and I'm convinced that Mr. McDermott's task is a very difficult task in the Construction and Engineering Department.

I think all of you know that we once tried this before back about six or seven years ago, I believe. We attempted to form, or did have, an Engineering and Construction Department. It did not function well. One of the reasons why was that it did not receive the proper advice and expertise by those that are involved on a daily operation with construction companies. Mr. McDermott feels that this is one of the reasons why he does need a consultant. He needs someone out there, outside in the real world, to advise him on what is going on in the real world.

Michelle Madoff:

May I respond? I met with Mr. McDermott when I first met him and his former employer, who flew in on one of his jets. They were not getting any work with the County. They were rated number one whenever there was a listing of three. The company was not getting any work. They wanted to know whether I could direct them and I said I'm the last person that could help you politcally.

But in checking Mr. McDermott out, we became friends over a long period of time. It would seem to me that Mr. McDermott could advise Mr. Massaro. You go back and look at Mr. McDermott's credentials and what he did for a living and you will see that he can advise Massaro.

Massaro has become almost a full-time employee of the City, certainly a political involvement with the City. I don't think anyone would dispute that. When I found out what happened at the Stadium, I was the first one to hear about it. I was told by the Mayor it was nothing. It was only one foot eight by two foot four. It was no big thing. Well, it turned out to be a big thing.

I am distressed that if it didn't work before you went out and found a man who sold his house, moved into the City because we weren't going to keep him otherwise, but his credentials were so great that we wanted him that he now needs consultants to tell him what to do. I don't think that's what's happening. I think this is a political payoff and I"m very distressed about it.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, may I respond? The person who feels that this is needed the most is Mr. McDermott.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. McDermott is going to say that if he's going to keep his job.

Mr. Wagner:

No, believe me. I've had numerous discussions with Mr. McDermott and I have confidence in what he indicates is necessary within that department. He, right now, without a doubt is overwhelmed in the Engineering and Construction Department. He is functioning without three Assistant Directors. His job right now is monumental and will continue to be over the next six months, especially with the creation of the new Water and Sewage Authority. The amount of work that will come from that Authority alone, the majority of it, will come through Engineering and Construction. His task is much greater than what the Department of Public Works has had in the past, simply because he now has Water, he now has Lands and Buildings, he now has Parks and Recreation.

One point that has not been made here. In the consulting work that Massaro is going to do, they will not be permitted to bid and receive contracts done by the City of Pittsburgh which —

Michelle Madoff:

That was my next question. You answered it.

Mr. Wagner:

I think, in itself, indicates that Massaro, in this particular instance, is not benefitting because, for instance, the Grant Street Project which was bid a couple of weeks ago and the bids were open last week, Massaro was not one of the companies and very well could have been. It was a $4 million contract. This here is a $75,000 consulting contract. A tremendous difference in the number of dollars involved.

I indicated that I have met with Massaro. I feel Massaro is a competent company, even though there were some problems at Three Rivers Stadium that pertained to the field at Three Rivers. We all know that there were some flaws there but there were many good things done at Three Rivers Stadium.

I'm convinced, number one, that Mr. McDermott needs help, and number two, that he has confidence in Massaro. For that reason, I move that we vote positively on this piece of legislation.

Michelle Madoff:

Would you answer just one question for me? You said Mr. Massaro is no longer going to be bidding on City work, ever?

The Chair:

He can't consult and bid.

Michelle Madoff:

That's what I'm saying. If he's going to consult then he can't bid. That's it. He's through bidding. He cannot bid with the City anymore.

Mr. Wagner:

This contract here or the amount of money needed or the time to vote it to it, may be two months, it may be two years. It's undetermined how long it will take Mr. McDermott to get his department on line and functioning in the manner in which he wants it to. Therefore, his need for Massaro and the time that he may need Massaro or a consultant, is at this point unknown.

Michelle Madoff:

Are you saying that if Mr. McDermott hires — and I spoke to him a few weeks ago and he had interviewed a number of people, he was about to make his appointment, his choices — if he hires the people, they're ready to come on line and they can function, Massaro will get a portion of the $75,000, depending on how much time he's put in. It will not necessarily be the entire $75,000. Is that correct?

Mr. Wagner:

Depending on the number of hours —

Michelle Madoff:

It's on an hourly rate. What is the hourly rate?

Mr. Wagner:

The hourly rate varies depending on who is involved, whether it's secretarial help, management help, senior vice-presidents —

Michelle Madoff:

Okay and if he's through in two months or a month because Mr. McDermott is about to hire all these people and he doesn't need Massaro anymore, then Massaro then can continue bidding with the City. Is that correct?

Mr. Wagner:

Yes.

The Chair:

I'm not so sure it's that. He can't bid on that on which he consults.

Michelle Madoff:

So if he consults on the Water Department, he can't bid on that. If he consults on the Bloomfield Bridge, he can't bid on that. If he consults in any area of work —

The Chair:

Let me say it again. On that which he consults, he cannot bid.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to see that in writing. Do we have a copy of that? Do we have it in writing that Mr. Massaro will not bid on anything that he consults?

The Chair:

Well, it's kind of a general rule, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't want a rule. I want to see it in writing.

The Chair:

Okay. Call the roll.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm going to abstain because I don't know enough about it.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone
Mr. Robinson	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

(MICHELLE MADOFF ABSTAINING)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mrs. Masloff presents

Bill No. 311 Resolution approving the appointment of Hugh P. Mulvey, Jr., 1009 Davis Avenue, Pittsburgh, PA 15212, as a district member of the Pittsburgh Cable Communications Advisory Committee, to fill the unexpired term of Martin Tyler, term to expire December 31, 1984.

Mrs. Masloff moved to approve the appointment.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

Abstain. I don't know the gentleman at all. I know nothing about him.

On the issue that we did not finish, we were talking about getting it in writing. May I please have the Clerk write to Mr. McDermott to get from Massaro in writing that he will not be bidding — it may be sort of a general rule, but I would like to see it in writing, he will not bid ever on anything that he consults on; and I'd like a copy of that as soon as possible.

I have another item of business. When I was in on Friday and I went outside — most of you people know that the paramedics were picketing the City-County Building. Our offices received numerous, numerous, numerous calls, which have surprised us from senior citizens urging that this Council support the paramedics, and I have just a very brief statement.

When Mayor Richard Caliguiri deemed it appropriate to equalize all department heads' salaries, he did not hesitate to increase some salaries by as much as $10,000. I cannot believe that the paramedics who started out with CETA wages have not been equalized in salary to that of the police and fire personnel. The four percent increase is not the issue; equalization, equal pay for equal life saving work is the issue. For those who will no doubt ask where the money is coming from, Mr. Woods, fortunately or unfortunately, every time U.S. Steel sells a building, we get the deed transfer tax dollars.

There is sufficient unexpected potential revenue in the 1984 surplus that will more than allow for equity, fairness and decency when it comes to our paramedics. It is immoral to shortchange our paramedics. One can only really appreciate their work when we have an unexpected need for their services for ourselves or a member of the family, and they've taken me to the hospital in a coma at one time.

I think they should get comparable worth for comparable work issued. Senior citizens have been calling; they feel they're dependent on them, and I would like to point out something that I find rather amusing. Mr. Matter, the guru, has stated that the paramedics were remiss by not filling out the forms, and we the City could get our $10,000 a day. Well, thanks to people like myself, Mr. Bulls, and Councilman O'Malley, the City is getting that extra $10,000 a day because of bills we introduced. For the benefit of those who were not here, that is to charge paramedic fees for non-City residents and third party payees.

That was money that didn't come until we introduced that kind of legislation. $10,000 a day if you figure it out over 50 days a year, 40 days a year is a lot of money, we're talking about several million dollars. I don't believe that anybody in their heart would feel that the paramedics should not be paid commensurate with life-saving work of that of the police and firemen, and I would certainly hope that we would take that position.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, under old business Council Bill No. 8, which will be the subject of a hearing tomorrow —

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me for interrupting. There will be no hearing tomorrow. I hear eight inches of snow, and they've cancelled everything in the City.

The Chair:

Do me a favor. Let him finish what he's about to say so I know where he stands.

Michelle Madoff:

I apologize.

Mr. Robinson:

Today I forwarded to each member of Council a memorandum relative to Council Bill 8. I'd like to move that the hearing scheduled for tomorrow on Council Bill 8 be cancelled and that the bill be put back into committee so that the appropriate action might be taken on Wednesday.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Mr. Robinson:

My reasoning for making this motion is one to get some clarification as to those issues that will be presented to Council if and when Council Bill 8 or a similar bill is presented to us. Council members are probably aware that there's a great deal of concern on the part of many citizens relative to the issues addressed in Council Bill 8, namely the providing of parking which would abut "A1" zoning districts.

I think there is a question as to whether or not the bill being held now for hearing is indeed a text change, whether it's a clarification, whether it's a zoning change. Those are matters which I believe are legal in nature, certainly in part, and should be addressed by the appropriate legal parties prior to this Council trying to address the more substantive issues.

Also, there is some concern as to whether or not the proper procedures were followed by the Planning Department and the Planning Commission prior to the bill reaching City Council. I think it would be to everyone's best interests to have these issues resolved, identified and clarified at the most responsible level, and I believe that to be the Planning Commission. What I would like to do on Wednesday if Council approves is to make a motion to have Council Bill 8 referred back to the Planning Commission from whence it came and request that they have a hearing on Council Bill 8 and to forward to us at the appropriate time their recommendations relative to that legislation.

I don't believe it would be in anyone's best interests, regardless of which side of the issue you might be on or might want to be on to proceed without us having clarification as to whether or not the issue should even be in front of us. I am taking no position one way or the other. I'm simply trying to save everybody some time and effort in hope that each member of Council has something better to do tomorrow than spend four hours here trying to resolve issues that perhaps should be resolved elsewhere.

I have also requested from Mr. Lurcott, who is our Planning Director and this Council's liaison with the Planning Commission, that in the future where the Planning Commission has been working with community groups and organizations for a long period of time, six months or longer, and from that work comes a document that has to be submitted to Council, it would be in everybody's best interests for Mr. Lurcott as our liaison to at least contact the Chairman of Planning, Housing and Development so that I might properly inform members of Council as to the issue that might come before us.

Without pointing a finger at any one or in anyway trying to sway anyone's opinion on the issues contained in Council Bill 8, I don't think that we are properly prepared to have a hearing tomorrow, much less to answer the many questions that we're getting on the phone and in writing. I think it's in everybody's best interests for us to make sure that where the hearing should be held it is held, and I think that is the Planning Commission. If the Planning Commission wants to take some other steps, then I think we ought to give them an opportunity to do that, but to my way of thinking as Chairman of Planning, Housing and Development there are too many unanswered questions for us to have a public hearing scheduled and to proceed at this point.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, I just wanted further clarification of Mr. Robinson's motion, and I believe his explanation was sufficient.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Robinson, I do want to apologize because I was shocked to hear in my office people are saying at home it was snowing out and that they're expecting eight inches tomorrow, which I found sort of strange. We got a call from Parks and Recreation in our office that — you got a call, they're calling me, and they're calling you, Sophie.

Mrs. Masloff:

Yes, but that's a different —

Michelle Madoff:

No, but I'm just saying that they're cancelling the hearing at 8:30 tomorrow because they expect eight inches of snow, and I was just sort of saying, well, if there's eight inches of snow, we're not going to have any hearings; but I must tell you, Mr. Robinson, that our office has had probably the same number of calls you have, and I'm sure the other Council members as well with reference to this issue. Correct me if I'm wrong; this is the parking in Shadyside of the bank wanting to expand its operation and add more parking. Is that correct, Mr. Robinson?

Mr. Robinson:

No, that's not correct.

Michelle Madoff:

I've been out, that's why I'm asking.

Mr. Robinson:

That's one of the reasons I want to send it back to the Planning Commssion. I think that I have probably been as close to this situation as anybody on this Council and have probably heard from all sides, and I said the same thing to persons pro and con on Council Bill 8, and that is, I don't have enough information, either from my own investigation or information that would be supplied to me normally through the Planning Commission, to say whether I'm for or against Council Bill 8.

The implications of Council Bill 8 are many. One of which is what you suggested, but there's also some other implications for other "A1" areas where there might be parking abutting that area or provisions for parking abutting that area. I think anyone in this City that lives adjacent to a "A1" area has an interest in Council Bill 8.

I think until we get all the issues straight, and until we even find out if Council Bill 8 is necessary, probably the less said about this the better, because I think there are some people who are proceeding on the assumption that the motivation for Council Bill 8 relates directly to one particular set of interests. My little bit of investigation suggests that there are many interests involved here, and with each passing day, and each passing phone call I find out there's another twist to this thing, and someone else has another side of the story; and I just think that we ought to get all those sides of the story in the official record, review it, and then determine if this Council is the appropriate place to address any of those issues.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Robinson, in principle I agree with everything you've said. The only thing that I'm questioning, if you'll hear me out, is that the calls that have come into our office have said please don't cancel, because people have taken vacation days, it's too late, day before, etc., and they don't want to cancel a hearing; and it would occur to me that how better to get educated on this issue whether it has broader implications or whether it just addresses this one issue as I've understood it, perhaps erroneously, than to have the people from Zoning come in and explain to us what it's about and have the other people state their case right out in front —

The Chair:

The Chair's at a loss to understand what you're doing. You're objecting to a postponement. You just predicted eight inches of snow.

Michelle Madoff:

No, no, I'm talking in general principles on this bill now. I'm not talking about the snow storm. I'm talking about — because you might have it transferred to Thursday — if we're snowed out, we might not do it Thursday. I'm just making a point of what the people calling us are saying. I'm addressing myself to the bill, not the weather now. I think we'll probably cancel anyway because of the weather unless the weather man's wrong, and he's been wrong before, but the people are saying, let us be heard; let's hear from the Planning Department.

Mr. Robinson, you and I have had the same complaint since we've been here, that we ask for information — you remember the bill when they picketed my house on having the group homes, and then after they objected, they wanted the group homes and called me and said we really wanted it but we picketed your house because we knew we'd get a lot of attention; let that group home stay in the area.

The way we learn about these things is when the people come to Council having done their homework, and I think these people have to be accountable. The Planning Department cannot do to you what they've done for six months, not give you the information; and I think it's time to call them on the carpet as to say, there's a hearing scheduled, the people have taken their vacation days, they've taken their time to be heard; now why didn't you do it and do it right up front even if you have to have another hearing.

I don't think it should be cancelled. That's just my personal opinion and I hope we can agree without being disagreeable.

Mr. Robinson:

Well, let me just respond very quickly, because I don't think that I plan to defend the actions of the Planning Department. I think if you talk to Mr. Brown, our Zoning Administrator, and Mr. Lurcott, our Planning Director, they will share with you my complete displeasure with the process to-date on Council Bill 8. I think unfortunately 18 months of work has gone into attempting to resolve some parking and related problems in the Shadyside area.

There are those who feel that the end result of that is Council Bill 8, but they don't feel that Council Bill 8 is the result that they were looking for or that they were negotiating for, they were working towards. My understanding of a task force is that you have a task and you have a group of people who work towards the completion of that task.

Council Bill 8 is being presented to us as a text change or clarification. I think there are reasonable legal minds who are prepared to come here tomorrow and take up our time to express their concerns whether it's a text change or whether it's a zoning change, and I'm saying to you that this Council is not technically or legally qualified to make that determination no matter how much information we get tomorrow, whether it be from citizens or from Planning; and rather than compound what is obviously an error on the part of the Planning Commission as far as I'm concerned — now, I'm only speaking as Chairman of Planning, Housing and Development — I don't think it's fair to members of Council who've worked diligently on other issues before this Council to now have to sit here and do Planning's work or to listen to citizens who have some legitimate concerns. There is a place for them to address those concerns. As Chairman of Planning, Housing and Development, I believe the appropriate place is the Planning Commission. I'm saying at least send it back to Planning.

They didn't have a hearing down there. There's a question as to whether or not the Planning Commission which was working with the citizens in Shadyside indeed fell through on the task of the Task Force. Those issues will be brought here tomorrow, but they also could be brought to the Planning Commission. If any member of this Council is so disposed to really get into this situation as I have tried to, I would suggest that if the Planning Commission and this Council decide that the hearing should be at the Planning Commission, that you go to the Planning Commission hearing.

I am disturbed that the Planning Commission did not have enough foresight to contact this Council on this kind of matter, and properly inform us as to the issues before us and ask our opinion prior to preparing legislation and sending it forward and sending a cover letter which said this is simply a clarification. Well, Councilman Robinson with his one year of law school had a question whether or not it was a clarification, but I'm not prepared to share that opinion, certainly not for free with anybody, even with one year of law school.

I have yet to see from our Law Department from Mr. Pellegrini or anyone on his staff a legal opinion on this matter that indeed this is just a clarification. You know, they're just cleaning up the legislation. The implications to me are that it might be a clarification and it might not be a clarification, and I don't like to vote if I don't know what's going on; and this is what you often say, let's not vote if we don't know what's going on.

Michelle Madoff:

Right.

Mr. Robinson:

Well, I'm following right up on your suggestion. Let's not vote if we don't know what's going on. Now, everyone on this Council by now probably understands every issue that the citizens in Shadyside and Squirrel Hill and all the other "A1" areas have, because they have been kind enough to either write them down and send them to us or call us on our private lines, and I'm wondering how they got those numbers, and explain to us their deep concern about this issue. When I add that up and my conversations with Mr. Brown, Mr. Lurcott and citizens out in Shadyside and Squirrel Hill, I recommend to this Council that we not be misused in this process and that we take advantage of an opportunity to tell the Planning Commission we would prefer that they handle this matter and then refer it back to us if appropriate, and then at that time if citizens want to come in, and they have certainly a right to come in, then let's sit here and let's listen to them but listen to what issues we're supposed to be addressing.

Unfortunately, we get a lot of issues before us that I personally don't believe should be here, but we have no way to keep anyone who picks up the microphone from saying whatever they want; but I don't think we should sit here for four hours discussing all the inadequacies of the Task Force, the Planning Commission, Mr. Brown, Mr. Lurcott, or Equibank Bank, Mellon Bank, PNB, or anybody else. I don't think that's fair. I don't think that's the way we ought to conduct business, and as Chairman of this Committee, I don't plan to conduct business that way.

The Chair:

If the Chair might for a moment, relative to the hearing, we should hold them if we announce a time, but I think Councilman Robinson is correct on this issue. I don't have a position either way on this particular situation, but I'm mindful of the area, and anytime we get where you have a conflict between the commercial and the residential or as we have obviously in Oakland and around some of our hospitals, it seems to me we ought to engage in some form of compromise of those people who live there and learn to live together in spite of whatever the problems are with a better solution than having us come a total win or a total loss.

I think he's on the right path, and at least it ought to go through Planning with that kind of understanding so that when they come to us, at least we know on what points they agree and what they don't agree, so at least if we make some decision, it's not hurting someone any more than it should.

Mr. O'Malley:

I agree with Councilman Robinson. This bill is going to have broad implications for the entire City, and it's focussed right now on the Shadyside area, and it's also going to impact the North Side area, and it's also going to impact the Oakland area and maybe push out more residential areas in favor of parking lots, and many of our community groups have been fighting against this for years now.

Michelle Madoff:

It is my understanding that when we have a hearing, we don't vote that day, do we?

The Chair:

We don't.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, at least for a couple of weeks. I don't think there's anything wrong when a group of people in excess of 25 — and this is the Shadyside group — want to come in and talk to us about a real or perceived issue. The time has been scheduled. I have no problem with listening to their input, and I have no problem with the Chariman of that Committee saying to them this has broader implications than just your area. As a matter of fact, can you help us; but I think it is wrong, I didn't create this, you didn't create this problem, to have people take days off work, and cancel the hearing. You just said so yourself.

The Chair:

The only problem with that, Michelle, let me just give you a feel for what I have. Too often when we force them in a confrontation basis to make a posture position, we almost make it then impossible for them to solve their problem; and that's why I think it's better that less be said until they go through this climate of additional compromise, because they spent a lot of time on it. They can't be oceans apart in this particular case. I think that there is some understanding, and we ought to let that method proceed if we can. If not, we're going to have to make that decision, but I think that we ought to let that happen.

I'm going to hope that you're a better predictor of the weather than some of the —

Michelle Madoff:

I'm not predicting it. I just got a call from Parks and Recreation — called our office — called Sophie and me and said your meeting's off tomorrow, and that's how I heard about the snow. The only thing that I am really concerned about is that how do we get in touch with these people, Mike? Is there some way of letting them know?

The Chair:

We have a motion and a second.

All in favor? Opposed?

Michelle Madoff:

Opposed.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Wagner:

I'd like to make a statement. I'd like to compliment our Department of Emergency Medical Services for the mailing-out of the Envelope of Life, which was sent out to actually all residents in the City of Pittsburgh this past weekend. As we all know, it enables us in a more efficient manner to deal with pre-hospital care by using a personal health history form. This is a two-step process, however. The ultimate goal depends on the filling out of the form and placing it in the refrigerator as indicated in the form.

The reason why I wanted to mention it is, I think it's critical that this Council, that the news media, that people that are employed by the City of Pittsburgh promote this program. Without that being done, it won't be effective. Thank you.

Mr. Woods moved to excuse Mr. Givens for absence from the meeting.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson moved to approve the minutes of Monday, February 6, 1984, Monday, February 13, 1984 and Monday, February 20, 1984.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Wagner

Council adjourned.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I had requested some time ago that the City Clerk schedule a hearing with Brother Richard and the Cable Committee, Mr. Brophy and — there must be about ten people, is that right, Mike, that could be involved, Walt Bent from Warner — to discuss how we can put the City-owned properties, whether they're from the Vacant Review Committee, URA, Lands and Buildings, onto the cable station, in addition to which we would advertise in display ads so that everybody out there has the same rights and the same exposure and the same ability to purchase properties that some people in house are having as opportunities. I think it was cancelled because of budget and we were waiting until the new year; I sort of let it go until the new year and then I was out for a little bit. So, I would like to quickly schedule that and I would like to ask if possible, since we don't have to advertise it, Mike, it's already been advertises and it's been notified a dozen times, I'm going to be asking for the cancellation of a hearing next Tuesday. If you want to supplement it, that would be fine with me. We won one; we don't have to have a hearing for a change.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Mike, would you check into that please?

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

The Chair presents

No. 365 Communication from Richard S. Caliguiri, Mayor, City of Pittsburgh, informing City Council of the appointment of Allen J. Cousin of 1215 Beechwood Boulevard, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, 15206, as a member of the Housing Authority Board of the City of Pittsburgh, term to expire June, 1988.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also,

No. 366 Communication from Richard S. Caliguiri, Mayor, City of Pittsburgh, informing City Council of the reappointment of Jim Reich of 5869 Marlborough Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15217, as a member of the Housing Authority Board of the City of Pittsburgh, term to expire June, 1988.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also,

No. 367 Communication from Richard S. Caliguiri, Mayor, City of Pittsburgh, informing City Council of the reappointment of Mrs. Sophie Masloff of 510 City County Building, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15219, as a member of the Stadium Authority Board, term to expire January, 1989.

Which was read, received and filed.

Mr. O'Malley:

What you're saying is, is that an appointment just to the Housing Authority Board, that Council doesn't vote on it? It's the prerogative of the Mayor to appoint whoever he wants.

The Chair:

He must inform us. That's what he's doing. Some of those Boards, he makes the nomination with our consent. On others, he makes the nomination, period, without knowledge.

Mr. O'Malley:

I'm in disagreement here. What Boards do we have to confirm the nominations?

Mr. Perry:

What Boards do you have to? The ones you don't have to is easier.

Mr. O'Malley:

I'd like to have a list of all the Boards and their bylaws and which ones we confirm and which ones we don't confirm.

Michelle Madoff:

Why don't you check them off for us? Put a big star next to the ones I'm on since I'm not on any.

The Chair:

Relative to the one before you, ordinarily we hold for two weeks. Some of these are reappointments and those who are particularly directors, I think in this group is Lurcott and Schmeiser and a few of the others. If you want them to come in here at any rate for discussion in two weeks, then I'll entertain a motion for that effect. If not, if you want to reappoint all those that we know of at this moment, let us so indicate.

Mr. Woods:

I make the motion to reappoint.

Mr. O'Malley:

I'd like to know who they are before somebody seconds that motion.

The Chair:

Okay, we're going to do that now. Read them all off.

Also,

No. 368 Communication from Richard S. Caliguiri, Mayor, City of Pittsburgh, reappointing Ms. Mary Cherubin of 38 Maytide Street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15210, as a member of the Sinking Fund Commission, for a term to expire December, 1988.

Which was read.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, how do these differ from the first three?

The Chair:

On certain authorities as they are set up, the Mayor makes a direct appointment. On others, as they were set up by the Enabling Act from the State, in those cases, it would be where the Mayor, with the consent of Council, approves.

Mr. Grabowski:

It was my understanding that by virtue of the Home Rule Charter that the Mayor indeed made the appointments, all appointments, but Council had to approve all those appointments.

The Chair:

No, Act 62 could not amend what was already there, the State Enabling Act.

Mr. Grabowski:

Alright. I appreciate . that clarification.

The Chair:

This comes up all the time. It's a good question but —

Michelle Madoff:

When he wants our opinion he gives it to us.

Mr. O'Malley:

What I'm saying is, I think the motion was made by Councilman Woods and I'd like to have that withdrawn because I think this Council should have these appointments at least a week or two weeks, even for Mr. Wagner and Mr. Grabowski, who are in their first term and not familiar with the Boards and Authorities and who is being appointed. Myself, I would like to have the opportunity to —

The Chair:

I think it's a good point. Mr. Woods, do you want to withdraw your motion?

Mr. Woods:

I have no problem.

The Chair:

Fine. Mike, read them all and we'll have one motion for all of them to hold for one week.

The Chair:

On all those that are new, Mike, they certainly should come to the table. So, anyone that is not a reappointment, as a general rule, they would be here next Wednesday.

On the others, if there's any that are being reappointed that you would like to have, let Mike know. Anyone is entitled to have that.

Michelle Madoff:

Richard Scaife.

Mr. O'Malley:

I think out of courtesy they should all appear before Council just in case any member of Council would like to discuss something.

The Chair:

Fine. Does everybody agree to that? Alright, fine. Everybody comes, Mike.

I'll entertain a motion.

Mr. O'Malley moved for approval.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

Discussion. I need clarification on an issue.

The Chair:

The issue right now is whether or not they should all appear or not.

Michelle Madoff:

If you answer my question then it will clarify whether they should appear or not. I want to know if this whole process is valid. Is there something in the Home Rule Charter that says that each Board should have a member of Council on it or does it say that every member of Council must be on a Board? Which is it? Does the Parliamentarian know that? Some members of Council do not necessarily have to be appointed to anything. Is that correct? Is that the legality?

The Chair:

I'm not sure but we'll check it out.

Michelle Madoff:

Could I have that checked by the Parliamentarian, please?

Parliamentarian:

You should just ask the Legal Department.

Michelle Madoff:

The Legal Department? We do have a Legal Department?

The Chair:

Wait. Let's not complicate it. She has asked for a legal opinion. Let's get one.

Michelle Madoff:

The reason I'd like to know is that I've been here five an a half years and to date, lucky me, I haven't been appointed to anything yet.

The Chair:

Alright. Let's find out what our requirements are. Okay? Then we'll find out if we can solve it.

Mr. Robinson:

If I might, I'd like to have a copy of all the legislation that was forwarded by the Administration relative to these appointments.

The Chair:

Give him the summary list, Mike, for everybody.

Mr. Robinson:

Like Mr. O'Malley, this is the first time that I have become familiarized with this information and I think it's vitally important that Council be aware of who is going to be appointed or who the Administration is recommending, whether it's a new appointment or an old appointment. I think that the process does provide for our input and I think for a very good reason. I, for one, have some concerns about some of the proposed reappointments and I'd like to address those concerns in public and certainly with all due respect to the individuals that the Mayor has suggested.

Also, I think that it's important that we get some information relative to those Boards and Authorities that this Council has a legal obligation to approve the appointments, whether they be new appointments to reappointments. We need to have that information in writing so that there won't be any misunderstanding when it comes time for us to take the final vote.

Also, I'd like to make the request that I have made on several occasions and that is, we need an updated list of all of our Boards and Authorities, the persons who are serving, and when their term is expired. I have long been an advocate that all Boards and Authorities should have a full compliment and I think that we've found in the past that there are some Boards and Authorities where people are serving way beyond their legal limit to serve. Some other Boards and Authorities don't have a full compliment. Some other Boards and Authorities simply are in a position where people have not been reappointed; no process has been initiated to do that.

I think since we have such a lengthy list of individuals to be reappointed and appointed, now is an appropriate time to look at all the Boards and Authorities and to take the appropriate action. The City Charter does provide that if the positions on the Boards and Authorities are not filled within a specified period of time, that this Council is authorized to take action. I think that we ought to do that because it's in the best interest of the City to have all those Boards and Authorities filled. I think we need to have the appropriate information in front of us so we can make an intelligent evaluation.

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me. We did not get a commitment as to when Mr. Robinson would get his list. He's asked for it for a long time.

The Chair:

Mike, you ought to put that on a word processor and just roll it off.

Mr. Perry:

We have it up to date.

Michelle Madoff:

Could I have a copy of it as soon as possible?

Thank you.

Mr. Wagner:

Just one comment. Mr. President, could we have also, the suggested names, know where those people reside to determine whether or not they are City residents?

The Chair:

It's part of the bill.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, since there was some discussion about Boards and Authorities, I'd like to quote from the Home Rule Charter. It says, "Composition of Authorities and Boards —

The Chair:

Steve, can I make a suggestion? We're going to be going on with this issue for a long time; we're not going to vote on anything today anyway.

Michelle Madoff:

I'd like to hear that; I think it would be interesting.

Mr. Grabowski:

It's only a few sentences. It says, "A member of Council shall serve on each authority board. However, no member of Council may serve on more than one authority board at the same time."

So, I would suspect if we have more than nine authorities we're in trouble.

The Chair:

Thank you. Thank you very much.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, could that be included if anybody serves on more than one board, please? Mike, give us a list of every member of Council and what boards they sit on.

The Chair:

Council cannot serve on more than one board. Some of that other stuff, I think, is not really the true sense of the board.

Okay, let's move on.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I don't know the correct order to do this so I'll do the best I can.

I have a bill pending that was a motion to cancel the hearing scheduled for Tuesday, March 13, 1984, at 10:00 a.m., Bill No. 30. I'm going to read it to you; it's in your Committee.

"An Ordinance supplementing the Pittsburgh Code, Title Six, signs on gasoline stations for all districts, by requiring gasoline stations, service station, or other retail gasoline outlets that sell gasoline fuel containing more than one percent of alcohol to display signs indicating the amount and type of alcohol."

I had a meeting in my office with the representatives of all the petroleum industries and it seems that the only one in this area selling the fuel at this point is Arco. They have agreed to comply by posting this sign on all pumps which says, this fuel is approved by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and meets the American Society for Testing and Material Standards but it also says maximum alcohol content, methanol, and in this case it's four and a quarter percent, co-solvent four and a half percent, which was the purpose of my hearing because in laws regarding blending of alcohol and gasoline have been adopted in Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, etc., etc., and what they say is that you must post a sign.

Now, if I learn or if Mr. O'Malley should learn something further in his Committee, that there is something further he'd like to do with that, I would certainly hope that he would take over. But if we won the battle there's no point in having a hearing and subjecting everybody to the time.

I would like to then request, as I have previously, that we reschedule the hearing on giving people the opportunity to buy properties, let everybody have the same information, make all information available, and again, I'd like everybody to put their thinking caps on and come up with some way that when people call us — Can I buy a piece of property? — One of our chauffeurs had a piece of property and it was taken away from him because they put it up by mistake; he'd like another piece of property. If he knows that on certain days, Monday or Tuesday, we'll show properties in Wards one through five and another day we'll show six through whatever, he can tune in and look. People in the commercial end of the business can look on certain days. If somebody is a realtor, we could have certain days that realtors can have a television in their office to look and buy our books which will pay for the printing.

So, that's the kind of thing I hope to do on Tuesday.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Can I interrupt you for one moment? Michelle, instead of a public hearing on something that is really going to be done in house, getting the different directors together and Warner Cable, Brother Emenecker, couldn't we just have a post agenda on that subject and handle it in that manner?

Michelle Madoff:

Certainly. No problem. We were cancelling this hearing anyway and I thought well, if we want to substitute it, that's fine with me.

The Chair, Pro tem:

I think a post would be much better.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, we have a problem. This Wednesday we have a meeting, right?

Mr. Perry:

I'll schedule it for the 28th, Michelle. It's the last Wednesday in March.

Michelle Madoff:

That's alright with me but you know we've had some real problems, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. O'Malley:

A post agenda on what, Michelle?

Michelle Madoff:

On how we would sell the properties, how they would advertise them on the air and how the people would have the advantage of knowing — For example, one day when I was home ill, I tried to find, just out of curiosity, Channel 17 which is our station, what was on. Do know it's not listed in the Press?

Mrs. Masloff:

It says Government Channel.

Michelle Madoff:

But it doesn't say 17.

Mrs. Masloff:

Yes it does. It says 17 is the Government Channel. You see, it's a cable and they don't list all the cable.

Michelle Madoff:

That's what I'm saying. I think that it's incumbent upon us as part of our budget. There's no point in letting the people being informed if we don't advertise in the paper and say, "You can be informed. Watch Channel 17."

The Chair, Pro tem:

Mike, you'll handle that?

Mr. Perry:

Yes.

Mr. O'Malley:

On that same subject. On the post agenda for Brother Emenecker, I'd like to have included Warner Cable in general.

Michelle Madoff:

They're already invited.

Mr. O'Malley:

My understanding is that they're playing reruns of Council sessions and reruns of the hearings that we have, like on the budget hearing. They're having reruns on anything that they would like.

Mrs. Masloff:

I never heard that.

Mr. O'Malley:

This is what I was told. I don't think anybody here authorized them to have reruns of Council sessions. I know we authorized them to have live Council sessions.

Michelle Madoff:

I think there's two shows now.

Mr. O'Malley:

No, it's reruns. I'd like to have that issue brought up too.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Okay, at the post agenda.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Chairman, the problem we've had is to get Mr. Walt Bent here.

Mrs. Masloff:

Wait a minute. We don't need him. This is Government Channel and we decide what goes on the Government Channel. He has nothing to do with it.

Michelle Madoff:

Sophie, with all due respect, Brother Richard told me that he's going to try to get another channel, the same as the religious station, just get a station devoted entirely to showing properties. I spoke to Mr. Bent about it and Mr. Bent begged off because he couldn't be here, something was going on, somebody was sick or something, in his family. It trying to get us all together that's been the problem. So, when vou do it for the 28th, if Bent isn't here we're back — cancelled again.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Try to get a commitment, Mike, if he can be here on the 28th.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, I would like to submit the following report on my most recent trip to our Nation's Capital, Washington, D.C., Wednesday, February 29, 1984 through Saturday, March 3, 1984.

The purpose of my trip was to attend the Fourth National Policy Institute, which was a conference, non-partisan in nature, for Afro-American elected and appointed officials.

The major objectives of the Institute were:

1) To provide a forum for the discussion of policies that affect Afro-Americans;

2) To develop and expand communications among Afro-American elected officials and between those officials and various resource organizations;

3) To identify specific programs and projects that Afro-American elected officials wish to pursue in the future.

One of the sponsors, The Joint Center for Political Studies, has as it's Chair Wendell Freeland, Esquire, a local Pittsburgh attorney.

I attended the Institute as a Member of this Council and Chairman of it's Committee on Planning, Housing and Development, as a Member of The National Black Caucus of Local Elected Officials, and as a Member of the Congressional Black Caucus Braintrust on Minority Business Development.

Additional information will be provided upon request.

Thank you.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Thank you, Mr. Robinson.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, particularly with your background in labor, I know you share a same concern that I have with what is going on in this community rampantly, one after the other, one after the other. It started with Equitable when I first got involved with the people not having a contract and I think they went back. I just helped them save face and go back. I don't know if they ever did get their contract.

The "misunderstanding" between Mellon and Mesta when they impounded the money and pretended they didn't know it was a mistake, didn't have the guts to admit they made a mistake; I got involved in that. I have been involved in the negotiations at Station Square; I went down to see a gentleman representing them on labor to tell them that this is going to come back and haunt them, the way their treating their employees with their labor negotiations. It seems that there is a concerted effort in this community to absolutely wipe out labor in its entirety.

Now we have the situation, as you know and you're probably much more knowledgeable than I am on the Armour and I'm not really versed on it, you are more than I am and I hope you would share with Council, but I am very concerned about the issue with Union Switch and Signal. Here is a situation where money has been obtained in this area from Port Authority with the fixed dollar of X amount and what they're doing is producing the material out of state, in the South, cheaper, yet we've given them a larger sum, we being indirectly the taxpayers, to Port Authority.

I called Mr. Roddy today and I asked him if he would please look into that and address that but I would like to see if you would follow through on it as well because I know they spoke with you.

I wonder what we, in Council, can do. You know, we were really ridiculed when we supported the plant notification bill as being irresponsible and keeping business out. We haven't even done anything and look what's happening to the business. Is there anything happening? I wanted to ask you about that.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Councilman Wagner has been very, very active with the people from Union Switch and Signal. In fact, he spoke at the Port Authority meeting, I believe, on the 24th of February. He has spoken to Roddy and, in fact, we had a meeting this morning with Jack and I and Bob Stone, Commissioner Foerster and the people from Union Switch and Signal and Mayor Caliguiri. They are setting up future meetings with the Port Authority Board and Union Switch and Signal. Commissioner Foerster and Mayor Caliguiri are trying to get in touch with the Corporate Chairman of Union Switch and Signal in New York to try to resolve this problem. So, there are many people here really moving rapidly on this issue.

Michelle Madoff:

I just thought we ought to be briefed.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Jack Wagner has really been out front on this issue and he deserves all the credit.

Michelle Madoff:

We got a good man when we got him elected.

Mr. Wagner:

I'd just like to say, if you would like any additional information, I'd be more than happy to provide it to you. I don't think it's the best issue right now to express publicly; I think we're better off just trying to be as effective as we can behind the scenes.

Michelle Madoff:

I'll trust your judgment on that and I'm sure you'll brief me if there's anything I should know about.

On another matter, I know that I have talked to a number of our Councilmembers and I had the misfortune of speaking to one of the Mayor's hired hands, hired guns, and that was Mr. Havllar. I said, "Ben, I believe the paramedics should get their increase." It is not a matter of four percent difference, whether we're going to give four percent across the board. The paramedics were formed out of CETA money. Going through the corridors I said, "Mr. Hayllar, I think it's not correct; I think it's immoral." When the Mayor wanted to give his department heads equalizing salaries, he had no hesitancy in coming up with $10,000 equalizing pay. The Mayor had no problem in coming up with $10,000 to equalize his department heads' salaries. When he decided to run for Mayor, there were no taxes in '80. In '81 he raised taxes to an unprecedented 20 percent; there was no media event over that as there was about our salaries.

Here we have dedicated people. I don't want to speak for Sophie but I just told her that they took me to the hospital one time and I was very appreciative. She tells me her husband has been taken a number of times. They do such outstanding work. If you read about one of the paramedics, I don't even think it was our paramedic, trying to release somebody in a car, they almost cut his leg off; there were three hours and the paramedic was in danger of being burned alive. I said to Mr. Hayllar that I believe the Adminstration ought to pay paramedics on par with the Police and Fire and Mr. Havllar said, "Oh no, the Police and Firemen would go out on strike." Well, I've talked to the police officers and I don't think that's the truth. I can't speak for the firemen and their leadership; somebody would have to talk to them, I don't have the best relationship with Mr. Burns since he slammed the door in my face during the election time, even though I was a City Councilwoman, so, I don't speak with him. But I really feel that this Council has an obligation in light of all the calls that come into our offices from senior citizens saying, "Please. The paramedics are doing an outstanding job. Please see that they are back on line and we don't have substitute drivers and nobody to administer to the needs of the patient." I think whether it is a resolution or not, as a will of Council, a floor motion, I would like to go on record as a motion to say that I believe we go on record as supporting the paramedics. I'm going to do that. I'm doing it personally. You don't have to support me but that's how I feel.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Michelle, I don't believe that Council should take that role in negotiating contracts. I mean I understand how you feel and I believe a lot members of Council feel that they don't want them to go out on strike and give them whatever we can give them.

Michelle Madoff:

We're elected people, Ben.

The Chair, Pro tem:

We cannot negotiate contracts. Believe me.

Mr. O'Malley:

I might clarify something for Michelle Madoff since it is my Committee. The issue no longer centers around pay. If the paramedics would accept the four percent pay raise, they would be on an equal plain with the police officers, maybe a few cents ahead of the police officers, at an hourly rate. They cannot be paid the same as the firefighters because the firefighters put in 42 hours a week where paramedics put in 40 hours a week. So, we're talking the difference between a firefighter's pay and a paramedic's yearly pay is 100 hours that the firefighters put in.

Michelle Madoff:

The hourly rate is the same.

Mr. O'Malley:

The hourly rate is the same. A number of things have been settled about their clothing allowance. There's only a few small differences of opinion that I feel will be resolved shortly. There again, since they are in negotiations, I don't think it would be appropriate for us to discuss them here.

Michelle Madoff:

I think it's appropriate as leaders of the community, when constituents call us to address a concern, to say where we stand on an issue. I want everybody to know where I stand; I am in full support of the paramedics. I don't care what anybody says.

Mr. O'Malley:

We all support the paramedics.

The Chair, Pro tem:

May I make the suggestion that since there are negotiations, we should drop discussion. Everyone made their point.

Michelle Madoff:

On another issue, last night at midnight, I got home and my answering service, I have a 24 hour service for constituents, picked up a call that in Broadhead Manor somebody was running around with an M-16 automatic weapon, or semi-automatic, they didn't know. Somebody got the license number. They fired shots at somebody's house. I understand the issue, we're leaving it to the plain clothes policemen because it's a broader issue than the people just involved. I mean, there may be some kind of vendetta between two families. I don't want to be involved, I don't want to know about it, I don't want them to know about me. But the thing that I am concerned about is that a police officer informed me, he said, "You wouldn't sleep nights if you knew how many automatic rifles and guns there were going around the City."

Controller Flaherty, when he was on Council, I believe did introduce a bill on controlling weapons. Is that correct?

Mrs. Masloff:

It was Councilman Robinson.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Robinson? I would like to ask you if you would reactivate that bill. When I hear from our police that we've got M-16 rifles within the hands of the wrong kind of people running around the street that obviously are not registered, I for one, would support the registering of weapons and doing something about it.

Mr. Robinson, I would urge you to reactivate that bill.

Mr. Robinson:

I appreciate your concern and support. Certainly the bills that I suggested before, I believe were very responsible. I continue to do research in the whole area of gun control. I think it's a very important issue for the City and I certainly will keep you apprised of any legislative developments.

Michelle Madoff:

Incidentally, as they left yesterday, as a parting warning, they fired two shots into a home and there was a 13 year old and a 15 year old in the house. The woman was very upset to call me. We talked until 2:00 in the morning. The point that I'm making is that the weapons are the thing that I'm concerned about. I don't want to get into the issue because I'm not knowledgeable. Let the police do their own job.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Thank you.

Mrs. Masloff moved to excuse Mr. Givens for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Wagner seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Wagner

Council adjourned.

Mr. Grabowski:

On that bill, I think it would be more appropriate if, even though it is in the Department of General Services and coming out of my Committee, that Mrs. Masloff present the bills since it does deal with Parks and Recreation. A few weeks ago, there was a similar bill that dealt with revolvers for the Police Department and Councilman O'Malley presented that bill to my Committee. I think that's a more appropriate way to go.

serviced by the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority by providing for sewage service for the service area of South Fayette Township including certain residences located in Cecil Township, Washington County, Pennsylvania, upon certain terms and conditions."

Which was read.

Mr. Grabowski:

Since Mr. Givens isn't here, I'd perhaps a little clarification on the last bill, Bill 312 and perhaps Councilman O'Malley would be able to enlighten me since he sits on the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority Board.

The Chair:

It's one of those cooperative agreements as I recall. In order to get the additional line on, everybody has to consent to it.

Mr. Grabowski:

Part of this service is going to be for residents of Washington County, Cecil Township. Now, when we go beyond county lines, is there a charge that perhaps is greater than that charged those who live in Allegheny County?

Mr. O'Malley:

We want that all new customers over 1979 that tap into Alcosan are charged a higher rate than the older customers that have funded the system for the past 20 years. So, there's a slight increase.

Mr. Grabowski:

It doesn't matter whether they reside in the county or outside the county?

Mr. O'Malley:

No.

The Chair:

Steve, I think the reason for that is much like a water shed. You can't cut the slant out, in half; it all has to go in because if you don't, the top still comes down into you. So, they just take whatever's in that particular flow.

Mr. Grabowski:

I realize that but I have a little bit of a concern in that I'm sure there are certain portions of Allegheny County that are not being services by the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority and here we are going outside the county to permit non-county residents the use of our facilities.

Mr. O'Malley:

Steve, that's not necessarily true. Any municipality that wants to tap into Alcosan, we accommodate them. What happens is, many of the small municipalities like Hampton Township, have their own facilities. Many of them are at full capacity now and the stagnation in their area that cannot have any new industry come in because they can't accommodate any more sewage. So then, at that time, they usually request to tap into Alcosan for the issue permits.

Mr. Grabowski:

It was my understanding there were certain municipalities and certain sections of the county that would love to get on the system but, for whatever reasons, Alcosan won't let them.

Mr. O'Malley:

Not that I'm aware of. You can have them contact me to see what I can do to help them. I don't know about Cecil. Maybe it is what Mr. Stone says; I'll check into it.

If you look at a map of Allegheny County, we have a lot of valleys and cuts and grooves and sometimes we bring in outside of Allegheny County to get through to another part of Allegheny County instead of building the pipelines all the way around. It's easier to go through another small portion of a county that's half into Allegheny County instead of building —

The Chair:

Yes, you're right.

Mr. O'Malley:

I'm not so sure that's here for Cecil but we're doing that to allow us out in Hampton Township; we're going through Millvale and other areas inside the county but are not part of Alcosan now.

Mr. Grabowski:

Is there a great need for this bill to be passed today?

Mr. O'Malley:

I would image if some of these are at capacity and some of their industries are stagnated —

The Chair:

Mr. Grabowski, I would suggest we pass it but, still, if you need additional information, do it. We have everyone on that group — How many of them are there, ten or eleven?

Mr. O'Malley:

There South Fayette on there.

The Chair:

No, the Cooperative Agreement has to be signed by more than them.

Mr. O'Malley:

This also has to be proved by Alcosan's board. So, if we pass it here and you're not satisfied, we can discuss it at Alcosan's board meeting too.

Mr. Grabowski:

I would like to ask that it be held a week, that we recommit it.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

I have a reason; may I be recognized? While we're looking into the bill, I'd like something looked into.

Councilman O'Malley, the thing that I'm very concerned with, having worked with the Alcosan problems since '69, is capacity. We asked the question at the Wednesday meeting and we were told that it's a different part of the system. You know, that's not where we have a shortage of capacity. I don't believe that and I want that proven to me.

Alcosan has a limited capacity with basic oxygen demand and with it's cement lines you can't stretch lines. We ran into that problem in Greentree with the Kossman Development and also having some housing development in that same area. We put in, which was my bill, a parallel sewer line. We did not have a capacity problem or relieve some of the overflow problems which had to do with Saw Mill Run, incidentally. There was some overlapping and bringing up the water level.

But I just want to know whether we're accommodating some people who are in business or whether we indeed have the capacity. Tom Foerster since early '70's was trying to get Alcosan Two and Alcosan Three because the capacity was exhausted. I didn't find the answer palatable. It was just, "Yeah, we have no problem; we have capacity there." I'd like to check that further.

Mr. O'Malley:

Alcosan is only running at 50-55 percent. The plant is only running at 50-55 percent capacity. With that capacity is mainly the pipelines that feed into Alcosan.

Michelle Madoff:

But Alcosan is responsible for the lines that feed into it. What I need to know is, are you going to expand the lines? Are you going to put some new lines in? What's Alcosan going to do?

The Chair:

Wait a minute; we're going to get too far here. It's recommitted so let's pick it up on Wednesday, okay?

Michelle Madoff:

Fine, but I'd like an answer to that.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, may I make a comment in reference to that? I just wanted to request that we did request at the Mayor's Conference Meeting a week and a half ago that we be provided with information pertaining to the rate differences between Allegheny County and Washington County. That has not yet been provided.

The Chair:

Acquire the rate differences for us, Mike, for Wednesday.

Mr. Wagner:

It was mentioned by Mr. Gaetano at that time that we do have the capacity within Alcosan to accommodate that plus any communities within Allegheny County which may tap into the system in the future.

Mr. Wagner presented

Also,

Bill No. 296

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution further amending Resolution No. 279, approved March 19, 1981, effective March 26, 1981, as amended by Resolution No. 388, approved April 22, 1981, effective May 1, 1981, entitled, 'Providing for a Contract or Contracts for the Reconstruction of Streets, Lighting and Waterline for various areas of Pittsburgh's North Side in connection with the UDAG Program', by reducing the total project allocation by $3,711.50."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 297

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution further amending Resolution No. 474, approved June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976, as amended, entitled, 'Authorizing the Urban Redevelopment Authority of Pittsburgh to act as the agent of the City of Pittsburgh in matters of property acquisition and relocation required for street rights-of-way which are federally assisted,' by increasing the total allocation by One Million Five Hundred Thousand ($1,500,000.00) Dollars." (AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE)

Which was read.

Mr. Wagner:

I'd like to amend Bill No. 297. Section 1 presently reads, "Section 3 of Resolution No. 474, approved June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976, as amended," should read, "Section 1 of Resolution No. 621, approved June 14, 1982".

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Also,

Bill No. 338

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for a Contract or Contracts, or the use of existing Contracts, for the purchase of task lighting equipment for the Finance Department; and providing for the payment of the cost thereof."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. O'Malley	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. O'Malley:

I want to make one short statement because I was cut off, in regard to Michelle and Steve Grabowski and the information they requested.

In Michelle's, the plant is not at capacity but many of the feeder lines are at capacity. You just don't build a whole new pipeline from Penn Hills all the way into Alcosan.

In regards to Steve, he's right. There are a couple municipalities that are requesting to become part of Alcosan that we don't have room for right now. The reason being is that when Alcosan was incorporated, I believe in 1955, all municipalities in Allegheny County were contacted and given the opportunity to become part of the system. At that time, many of them turned the opportunity down believing it would be more economically feasible to have their own plants. Since that time they've changed their mind and want to tap into the Alcosan plant. But there again, the feeder lines are at full capacity. One of the problems we're having is O'Hara Township, Penn Hills, that line that runs down from Penn Hills, across the river, down O'Hara Township, Blawnox, Aspinwall, into Highland Park, is completely full. We had to get a special permit to have the Waterworks Shopping Center, a special temporary permit.

So, if some of our own counties and municipalities can't tap in, it's because the lines are at capacity. We're working on putting new lines in all over Allegheny County, Steve, but if you have a specific municipality you let me know and I'll check on it for you.

Mr. Grabowski:

So, what you're saying is that the feeder line from Washington County or that general area is not to capacity and it would be able to accept the sewage from Cecil Township.

Mr. O'Malley:

Right, but the feeder line from O'Hara Township and Penn Hills is running 100 percent capacity. We're looking at building another line on the other side of the river all the way from Penn Hills into the Highland Park Bridge.

The Chair:

Or to accommodate the Allegheny County people, you either provide the pipelines for that in that so called sewage shed, if I can use a loose term, or else it's going to come overground into that system at the same time.

Mr. O'Malley:

Let me know what townships you're concerned about and I will look in to find out why they weren't accepted, if indeed they're not accepted.

Mr. Grabowski:

No, your explanation was satisfactory.

Mr. O'Malley:

If you want to hold the bill, I could have Mr. Creehan to come in Wednesday and address any other questions that I might not be able to address.

Michelle Madoff:

On the same subject, I would like the total gallons of effluent, the additional total gallons of effluent, if you would providing me with that, and I would also think that we ought to be briefed - I've asked for this for five and a half years - that Mr. Creehan come to Council and brief us with a map, very simply, where we are at capacity, where we can expand capacity. For example, the effluent that Councilman O'Malley is referring to is the sludge from our own water treatment plant which we did on a one year experiment to see if they could indeed handle it. I don't even know the end result of that because they were going to take it, then they weren't going to take it, then they were taking it again. I think we ought to be briefed on that.

Mr. O'Malley:

Let's do this, Michelle. Why don't you write up a list of questions that you have, give it to Mr. Perry, and we'll recommend a post agenda.

Michelle Madoff:

I prefer to ask my questions at the post agenda. Would you just schedule it?

Mr. O'Malley:

Yes, but I'd like to request what you want to know so they can bring the appropriate maps in.

Michelle Madoff:

Okay. I just want to be briefed on what the capacity is, period. What they can do in what areas. That's not very complicated because my understanding was they could not take anything, the lines could not be stretched, and that is why the Saw Mill Run problem could not be dealt with Alcosan. They just could not expand or put in any other feeder lines. Meanwhile, they are in the black, are they not? And they could be putting in all their feeder lines if it were possible. Then why weren't they putting it in at the Saw Mill Run area?

Let's just have a post agenda and have the people here who know all the answers and we'll ask the questions then.

Mr. O'Malley:

Do we have anything else on for Wednesday, Mike?

Mr. Perry:

This coming Wednesday?

Mr. O'Malley:

Yes.

Mr. Perry:

We have the appointments.

Mr. O'Malley:

We should just have this by itself. How about the following Wednesday?

The Chair:

Set it up but then make sure you freeze out everything else, Mike, because it's going to take time.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President, I'd just like to report to Council on the activities to date of the task force on investment policies and business practices. We did meet on the eighth of March; all the task force members were present. There is a copy of the transcript which I will forward to the President with a short written report. Any other members of Council who would like to have copies of the transcript may have it. We plan to have a transcript from each meeting available for your perusal.

One of the things that we came to agreement on, and I just want to touch on this very briefly, is that after we set our agenda, which will be outlined for you in the written document that I sent to you, it was agreed by the task force members that Council Bill 302, which is now in Committee, specifically speaks to the issue of having a hearing. We felt that that hearing should be set subsequent to our next meeting which is scheduled for March 23, 1984, at 9:30 a.m., here in Council Chambers. We are suggesting the following dates for that hearing: March 27, March 29, April 3 or April 5. We would hope that the President of Council who is Chairman of the Hearings Committee would move expeditiously to set the hearing.

The Chair:

Submit those dates to us so Mike and I can work it out.

Michelle Madoff:

What are the days of the week, Bill?

Mr. Robinson:

March 27 which is a Tuesday, March 29 which is a Thursday, April 3 which is a Tuesday and April 5 which is a Thursday.

Michelle Madoff:

Try to do Tuesday, please.

Mr. Robinson:

On one other matter, if I might, Mr. President. I'd just like to read for the record a copy of a letter that I forwarded to Mrs. Constance Wellons who is the Chairperson of the Pittsburgh Commission on Human Relations. This is dated March 12, 1984.

"Dear Mrs. Wellons:

Last week the Pittsburgh Press printed two articles, Sunday, March 4th and Monday, March 5th, relative to the City of Pittsburgh's employment patterns for black white collar workers in municipal government.

The article is written by Press reporter Jerry Byrd and left the definite impression that not only didn't the City, the Mayor and the Director of Personnel, know the status of our minority and female employees but our City lagged behind other major metropolitan areas in developing opportunities for women and blacks to hold decision-making positions.

I believe that much of the misunderstandings about our City policies and practices can be traced to the somewhat passive role of the Human Relations Commission, the passive role that is played in actively working towards parity in the workplace in the City of Pittsburgh and its authorities.

Section 653.03, Powers and Duties of the Human Relations Commission, in the City Code, clearly identifies a positive role for the Commission in this regard. If Council is to continue to support the allocation of tax dollars for the workers' commission, it seems reasonable to expect assistance in advancing the concepts of minority business development and parity in the workplace. I do not believe we in the City of Pittsburgh should be placed in the position to have our Human Relations Commission operating in a fashion equivalent to that of the presently constructed United States Civil Rights Commission. The mandate of our Commission is clear.

I do hope your fellow commissioners and your legal counsel will review Sections F, G, and H, of Chapter 653, Human Relations Commission, 653.05, Powers and Duties, to determine what role you can actively play in identifying and bringing to resolution the problems of this City.

Your cooperation will be deeply appreciated."

I sent a copy of this letter also to Mr. Gabriel who is the Executive Director of our Human Relations Commission.

The Chair:

Okay.

Michelle Madoff:

Councilman Robinson, I will yield to you because I requested of Mike Perry today that he set a post agenda, I think, for Wednesday to have Melanie Smith, and I would certainly hope you would include the other people to whom you sent the letter, to bring us up to date since they're so unclear and since what I read in the paper is gobbledegook and the information they supplied to the papers saying, "Well, what we really meant was and what really is, isn't", to tell us specifically how many decision making minorities, blacks and women, there are in the City. I'd like to know exactly how many there are.

Now, if you prefer to postpone that and do it in another manner, I would defer to your decision. If you wish to continue with the post agenda on Wednesday, that's fine with me. What is your wish?

Mr. Robinson:

I plan to raise this issue at the Human Relations Commission meeting on Wednesday. I do believe that the Human Relations Commission is charged in our City Charter as well as in our City Code would addressing the issues that now have spilled over into three articles. There was another article written subsequent to the first two by the same reporter. I think that certainly the Human Relations Commission should be asked to meet its responsibilities and I think it is appropriate for this Council to do that. However, if members of Council would like to hear from Miss Smith or the Mayor, both of whom responded on behalf of the City, I think the appropriate place to do that is right here in Council Chambers.

The Chair:

I think the question to Bill is whether or not we do it Wednesday or after you've been to the Human Relations Commission. I think that's her question, frankly.

Michelle Madoff:

He's saying it doesn't matter.

The Chair:

It might. Let me find out.

Mr. Robinson:

My concern only is that we use the appropriate form. My letter to Mrs. Wellons and my appearance before the Human Relations Commission relate to what I understand their mandate to be. If they are the appropriate agend of City government to address the concerns in the three newspaper articles, and I was a little bit distressed that no one from the Human Relations Commission was asked to comment. I think both the Mayor and Melanie Smith were put in a position that they were discussing something that I don't think they fully understand and those people who work in that area 24 hours a day have been excluded, at least on three occasions that I'm aware of. I don't think that speaks well for the City.

The Chair:

Let me go back. I understand your point but the next one is, was it not you who asked for the post on this matter.

Mr. Robinson:

Mrs. Madoff asked for it.

The Chair:

Okay. Let me just get this much straight so we don't have a problem. Is it your desire to go ahead on Wednesday?

Michelle Madoff:

Providing Councilman Robinson concurs. That's what I wanted to address.

Mr. Roibnson:

I have no objections.

The Chair:

No objections to what? Having it or not having it?

Mr. Robinson:

I have no objections to her continuing on Wednesday.

Michelle Madoff:

The reason I pointed, out, Councilman Robinson, you're to be commended. For five years, you tried to get information, since I've been on this Council, on the percentages of people doing business with the City and we were told they were striving for 15 percent. We never got that information until you actually pushed it to its limit. Then we found out it was less than one-half of one percent. While you are pursuing it through the Human Relations Commission, I would ask also that they be present. I think it's important that the liability or the responsibility of the Administration be here not to drag it out for another five years in getting the answers.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President, if I might. In that same regard, I'd just like to read a letter that I also sent to the Pittsburgh Press which adds, perhaps, a little more illumination to this subject. This is sent to the Editor.

"Dear Sir or Madam:

I want to thank you and the Pittsburgh Press for the responsible manner in which you have covered the issue of black administrators in the government of the City of Pittsburgh. The facts and figures in dispute are exemplary of a much larger situation that relates to our City's committment to provide employment opportunities and career options to all segments of the population.

I would hope that the reporter, Jerry Byrd, who wrote three excellent articles on this subject, will proceed to identify what the City's policy is in regard to employment opportunity for women and blacks and what implementing mechanisms have been utilized.

Our City is developing a new national reputation as some place special. That reputation, I believe, should provide for us affirmatively working through Council, the Administration, and the Pittsburgh Commission on Human Relations to explore career development opportunities and an honest, credible, evaluative process to determine what we have and have not accomplished.

One means to more adequately address the situation is to draw upon the expertise of the National Association of Black Administrators who will conduct their annual meeting in Atlanta, Georgia this April.

Our Pittsburgh Commission on Human Relations is charged through our City Charter and City Code with taking the lead in the arena of affirmative action and equal opportunity."

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to yield to you, Councilman Robinson, if you would like to chair the meeting on Wednesday. I think you're, perhaps, more knowledgeable, right on top. Are you willing to do that?

Mr. Robinson:

I will be available for the meeting but I think it would be more appropriate for whatever mechanism we have to go forth.

Michelle Madoff:

The mechanism has been that whoever calls the post agenda chairs it. Therefore, I'm asking if you would like to do it.

The Chair:

No, that has not been the process. They don't chair. What they do is lead the questions because they called the person. The gavel still stays with the person who sits in that seat.

Michelle Madoff:

Alright.

On another item, Mr. Stone. When we pay our four percent wage tax to the City of Pittsburgh which encompasses both school and City, do we pay the school tax to the City of Pittsburgh and they in turn pay the Board of Education?

The Chair:

You mean after we collect the total, do we deduct something they owe us?

Michelle Madoff:

No, no. Let me rephrase that. On your salary for the year, our salaries which is public information, $32,500, we are assessed, like everybody else is in the City, four percent. Is that correct? It's gone up to four percent.

The Chair:

It's not up to four in my knowledge.

Mr. Grabowski:

Three point six something.

Michelle Madoff:

With school tax?

The Chair:

We didn't get to the four yet. That's the point I'm making.

Michelle Madoff:

I thought with school tax it was at four now.

The Chair:

Steve is closer. It's three something. I forget exactly.

Michelle Madoff:

When that three point six, which is paid to the City, do we pay a separate check — You see, I don't pay mine; my accountant pays it. Is it paid to the school separately and to the City separately, or in one lump sum to the City?

The Chair:

Michelle, I don't do my own tax to be honest with you. I'm not sure. But I would think that if it's collected by the City their part comes out of it and if not, it's divided —

Michelle Madoff:

You're sure of that? I'm not sure; that's why I'm asking.

The Chair:

That's the reason I was not venturing in it.

Michelle Madoff:

Let me tell you why I'm asking the question. My accountant filed for a rebate on my City tax last year. I'm not pressed for money but there are a lot of people out there right not unemployed who probably are pressed who paid it. My accountant assumed it was $161; it seems that there are no deductions allowed. They changed the figure to $38.59 and I'm not contesting it, it's irrelevant really. We paid the tax last year and we're due to pay it again this year. One year ago.

I got my check from the City for $22.62 of the $38.59. It says earned income, City share. I'm just curious about people who are hard pressed out there who paid it to one entity but now waiting for two entities to reimburse them. I'm not sure of that and I thought, perhaps, as Finance Chairman you might know that.

The Chair:

That mechanic I'm not familiar with.

Michelle Madoff:

Could we check that out? I think it might be important to see that if they take it all, they pay it all and that we don't take a year to —

The Chair:

I would suggest you call Mr. Schmeiser and he'll give it to you in a minute.

Michelle Madoff:

Calling Mr. Schmeiser, it's been a year since I got my refund. I'd like to know how many other people waited a year.

The Chair:

Since his office handles that, it might be wise to tip him off so if there's other errors —

Michelle Madoff:

Oh, I've tipped him off several times. I'd like to trip him.

The Chair:

Okay.

Michelle Madoff:

On another matter. I have raised the issue of interim approvals; there are three that I am distressed about, two that I am particularly distressed about.

One was February 29 to pay for damage by a refuse truck doing approximately $10,500 damage to a heating air unit, heating unit, down at, I presume, at the City garage. A mechanical contractor for extra work in conection with the new heating system presently being installed. It is not the first time anybody parked there to know that if indeed, as I was told, it was a heating unit over the garage door and it's for $10,500.

I think the public has the right to know. I don't like these interim approvals, these little quickie things. My name is not on it. No one asked me to sign it; I would not have signed it. Well, I think I was asked and did not. I don't like that kind of shenanigans.

There's another one here. This one is on the hiring of an auditor to audit the financial statement of the City or City pensions, an audit which will include the City pension, and it goes on to close, "This date is critical; we have to have it by April 30 so we can proceed with the bond issue." We never get asked anything until it's critical so we have interim approval. Again, I didn't sign it and I noticed I wasn't even asked to sign it. March 9. I don't sign these interim approvals. I don't want to see that many interim approvals and I find these two very distressing to me.

The Chair:

They still have to come back for us to approve, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, but they get slid through and nobody really knows; they're not discussed in any kind of detail. It's right back to the same old business which brings me to why I brought them up.

Some time ago I did some research for this Council and there is a brief that was prepared to go to court when we had a 4-5 vote to get a fiscal advisor for Council. We moved, as you know, on the bond issue, the water authority to have somebody come in sort of at the last minute to give us some information.

I reported to this Council that in Baltimore, Maryland, the set up that they have in their budget office is a fiscal analyst. Then they have people like Mr. Buckley, Mr. D'Alessandro, etc., who work for the fiscal analyst. They do the analysis for the Council Finance Chairman. When a major issue comes up, like a water authority, they do go out into the private sector and hire a consultant.

This is exactly what the Administration does. However, we are asked to always accept what we're being told by the Administration, that their information is the only information. There's sometimes more than one way to do or to carry out an obligation. For example, in the water authority, we voted for the water authority 5-4; four of us voted against it feeling it should be kept here in Council. The information that we got from the consultant to Council differed from the Administration's consultants to the point where when confronted, the underwriters did not know that their own firm had issued zero coupon bonds that very morning in a greater amount than they said could be done.

I think it is imperative that this Council not look for fiscal ongoing analysis when there is a pressing issue but do it on a day to day basis because the budget ends up at the end of the year in a hassle the day after the election and we have only a certain couple of days in which to vote because we have deadlines to meet. I think we ought to seriously consider taking the route of revamping our budgetary office to have a fiscal analyst hired. Think about that very, very seriously. I think it would help our Finance Chairman, I've mentioned it to him but I didn't know he wasn't going to be here today. But I think it's something we ought to be rethinking. The vote has been finally 4-5 and I think it's time, Mike, that I introduce my resolution for the third time, fiscal advisor, only this time I'd like to change it to a fiscal analyst similar to that that is being performed in other cities the size of Pittsburgh, particularly in Baltimore. That would be the system that I would like to see emulated. I would like to have our Finance Chairman, Mr. Woods, go to Baltimore if he would, take a look at the system, meet with the person who does it. Incidentally, they hired her from an ad in the New York Times through the pressure or instigation of what is there, the equivalent of the Allegheny Conference, chaired by the hospital, whose name I never remember, in Baltimore.

The Chair:

Hopkins.

Michelle Madoff:

John Hopkins Hospital. Thank you, Mr. President. The president of John Hopkins felt there should be separation of powers and there should not be a conflict of interest and that indeed their City Council should have their own fiscal analyst and not be relying on what the Administration and their Mayor tells them. Their Mayor didn't like it any more than our Mayor is going to like it. We cannot vote in a vacuum. When the Mayor called us in to the Judge's Chambers on the Stadium — I like the judge, I helped him get elected; he's not going to lie to me. But I don't know that.

I would like to have a fiscal analyst and when I asked Mr. Buckley and the other members of our budgetary office if they are fiscal analyst or fiscal advisor, they say no, that it's not their expertise or training. I have a feeling they would welcome that kind of input.

The Chair:

Okay.

Mr. Wagner:

In regards to Councilwoman Madoff's earlier comment. Employers do make one check out to the Treasurer of the City of Pittsburgh in regard to wage taxes.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you. I thought so.

Mr. Wagner:

That includes the 1.8 or 1.9 percent for school and the remaining for the City of Pittsburgh.

In regard to the interim approval, the Administration has been meeting to make a further recommendation on that procedure to Council. We anticpate that within the next week or two, I hope.

One other point that I would like to bring up that has recently been brought to my attention —

Michelle Madoff:

Can we deal with the two you just brought up? I'd like to respond.

On the tax that's paid in one lump sum, don't you think people should be paid back in one lump sum instead of having to wait for two checks?

The Chair:

That's what I was trying to say to you earlier. If you collect the total money, you then distribute to them and they do their own bookkeeping. All you're doing is paying one source and it's divided.

Then you asked the other thing. The question was whether or not we could make some deductions, as I recall. I would say no because you'd totally upset that whole balance at that point.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, there is always a running tab on monies we will owe the school authority. You just deduct it from the amount you have to pay them that year if you have a rebate. If we take it collectively, we should pay it back collectively. I don't think people who are really pressed for funds should be put to that kind of effort. In my instance it's not pertinent but it just brought an issue to light that may affect some people who are hurting financially.

Mr. Wagner:

My initial thought to that would be that to pay it back collectively would be more costly to the City and probably taking it collectively is more costly to the City.

Michelle Madoff:

If they take it collectively they ought to pay it back collectively. It's only a bookkeeping procedure where you deduct everything you pay back in a total and take it off what you still owe them. It's the Board of Education. It's just a bookkeeping thing; a very simple bookkeeping thing.

The Chair:

I think everyone has made their position known.

Mr. Wagner:

My last comment. I believe that all checks paid to City employees are handed out openly within the City. At least that has been brought to my attention recently. I think there should be some degree of privacy with a check, a person's wages.

The Chair:

Is that before or after we read it in the budget book?

Mr. Wagner:

Well, for the elected officials, the public knows our salaries.

The Chair:

We know the salary of every employee in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Wagner:

That's true. But I don't think it's good that checks should be handed out openly. I think there should be some degree of privacy as exists in all corporations in this country with the employees that work within the City.

I would like to make a motion that we suggest as a Council, as a group, to the Finance Department in the City the consideration of putting those checks in envelopes prior to being handed out.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

You're suggesting they look into it?

Mr. Wagner:

Yes. Investigate the possibility.

Michelle Madoff moved to excuse Mr. Givens and Mr. Woods for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff moved to approve the minutes from Monday, February 27, 1984.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Michelle Madoff

Council adjourned.

ABSENT:

Mr. Givens

PRESENTATIONS

Michelle Madoff:

I wonder if Mr. Pat McNamara would please step forward. I know he's here somewhere; he's so short I couldn't find him.

I want you to know that Pat wasn't very happy about this; he said he was shy and he'd be embarrassed and we said you're going to have to learn to suffer like the rest of us.

I think some of his friends are coming up to join us. I'm going to read the resolution and then I'll let Pat introduce everybody that's with us.

Michelle Madoff presents

Bill No. 466 WHEREAS, on March 15, 1984, Lieutenant Patrick McNamara was installed for an unprecendeted fourth term as President of the Fraternal Order of Police, Fort Pitt Lodge No. 1; and

WHEREAS, Lt. McNamara began his career as a Police Officer in 1966, and later, while working as a Police Officer and attending college, became actively involved with the Fraternal Order of Police; and

WHEREAS, through his diligence and hard work, Lt. McNamara was first elected President of the Fraternal Order of Police in 1978, and in 1979 was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant; and

WHEREAS, under his leadership as President of the F.O.P., Police Officers in the City of Pittsburgh have received substantial (and well-deserved) increases in salary, health benefits, longevity pay, and pension benefits, thus helping to better the morale of the Pittsburgh Police Force; and

WHEREAS, Lt. McNamara's concern for social and moral justice has enriched the lives of many, and has earned him the honor of being named 1980 Man of the Year for Labor by the Pittsburgh Jaycees.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Members of Pittsburgh City Council hereby congratulate Lieutenant Patrick McNamara on his election to an unprecendeted fourth term as President of the Fraternal Order of Police, Fort Pitt Lodge No. 1, and commend him on his many years of outstanding service to the betterment of the Pittsburgh Police Force and to the citizens of Pittsburgh.

Michelle Madoff moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

Before I turn the mike over to Pat, I do want to add just a personal note. Any time there's been a problem, you can always go to Pat McNamara; he really cares about the people before he cares about his political liaisons. I think he's really to be commended; I find him to be one of the most honorable people I have ever met. I would hope that in his next term he will work to do something about getting more police for the City of Pittsburgh. One hundred and five police below minimum security. I went back with my aide and we were reading your notes before I got to Council, and Mr. DePasquale's notes, talking and screaming that we need more police officers. Well, we've all been saying that and we don't have them. We are having some problems, as you know, with garages and my garage bill is going to be amended somewhat and we're going to address that and I would hope the police would give us some good ideas. Pat, I can always count on you.

Thank you. It's an honor to have you as my friend.

Lieutenant McNamara:

I'd just like to take a few minutes to thank everybody for honoring me here today. I'm a little backwards when it comes to things like this but there's some fine people who have been behind me these six years and I think everybody recognizes that we have a citizen who works in our F.O.P. office who has been with us for years. She is the F.O.P. Mrs. Tilly Frank, the Secretary of the F.O.P. I think my first Vice President, Harry Miller, who was also just elected with me, he's been with me since I've been in the Fraternal Order of Police; my second Vice President, Gabe Cocheres, and Mr. Dick Kearns who is connected with the F.O.P. and also the Veterans Police, representing their organization here today.

I want to say to all the members of Council, I thank you for this honor; I know what you go through because I know what I've gone through, especially this weekend when we recognized two police officers being attacket off duty and a shooting early this morning in a burglary out in the Negley Avenue area. It keeps you going twenty-four hours a day and something like this keeps you going. I appreciate it very much.

Thank you all.

The Chair:

Pat, I'm sure I speak for all members of Council in the sense that having gone through your now fourth term and being re-elected, I think that is because of your service these past four terms and that is indicative of the high regard your membership has for you and the high regard we, likewise, have for you.

Good luck and continue the good work.

What are we going to do with those who weren't here Wednesday?

The Chair:

Have them come in.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, Mr. Scaife was not here, is that correct? Neither was I.

The Chair:

That's right.

Michelle Madoff:

I think it would be a tragedy in light of the monies and the effort and involvement that Mr. Scaife and Fran Scaife have done for the City to insist that he appear. The only reason I wanted him here, to be truthful, was to congratulate him on what he has done and I thought we ought to do it in person.

I was at the opening, the pre-opening, I think I was one of the privileged people to be at the preliminary opening of the Station Square and I don't think that we should even — I'm sure he has a lot of things on his mind — insist that he be here.

The Chair:

You don't mind accepting all the good things he's done?

Michelle Madoff:

Not at all.

The Chair:

Okay. With the exception of Scaife, all the others have appeared. Does anyone have any objections? Does anyone have any objections to voting en masse? Hearing none, I'll entertain a motion to approve all.

Motion to approve all.

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements, with Volpe-Rogal, Inc., for professional services in connection with the Workers' Compensation Program and providing for the payment of the cost thereof."

Which was read.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, I'd like to read a letter from Controller Flaherty, dated March 19, 1984, which relates to Council Bill 424.

"Dear Honorable Council Members:

I urge Council to hold for a week Bill No. 424. This bill extends the Volpe-Rogal Workman's Compensation contract for two months, at a cost of $100,000.

The Controller's Office is now in the midst of a serious evaluation of this contract's cost effectiveness and needs only a few days to evaluate new information.

It should also be noted that the Citv has appointed Baskin and Sears in this contract upon a 30 day withdrawal notice option to serve as Volpe-Rogal's counsel. Baskin and Sears' slice of this annual $578,000 contract is now unknown. Various opinions range anywhere from $100,000 to $300,000.

In view of Councilmember William R. Robinson's resolution regarding Baskin and Sears, this is another reason to hold the Volpe-Rogal contract.

I urge support of the Robinson resolution. Baskin and Sears has already been enriched with $2 million of South African blood money and would most probably continue in their role of purveyor of misery and oppression if they were not exposed.

Considering this fact and their representation of the Japanese Auto Manufacturers along with other foreign entities, I deem it the highest degree of moral callousness and insensitivity to continue to reward this firm with Pittsburgh public tax dollars.

The damage is done, the City should sever all relations with Baskin and Sears regardless of their big political contributions and seek in the future a counsel of the highest credibility and repute.

Personal regards,

Tom Flaherty"

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I would like to ask a couple of questions. When you said in the last paragraph, "regarless of their big political contributions", I'd like to point out that I am a small recipient of political contributions, not large.

I would also like to ask, where is the resolution introduced by Mr. Robinson. I was looking for it and I haven't seen it.

Mr. Robinson:

I read Controller Flaherty's letter; I am not responsible for the contents.

Michelle Madoff:

What I'm asking, Mr. Robinson, is there a resolution today?

The Chair:

No resolution has been introduced today to my knowledge.

Michelle Madoff:

I just read about it in the paper and assumed, of course, that it was going to be today and I was not here. So that is a moot issue at this point?

The Chair:

The Chair recognizes the fact that Mr. Robinson read a letter of March 19, 1984 from the Controller.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)
AYES 6	NOES 1

(MICHELLE MADOFF ABSTAINING)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for a Contract or Contracts, or the use of existing Contracts, for the installation and removal of Flashing Signals at School Crossings at various locations within the City of Pittsburgh; and providing for the payment of the costs thereof."

Which was read.

Mr. O'Malley:

On Bill No. 315, installation of school crossings at various locations, I think members of this Council asked for a list of those locations. Did we receive that? I'd like to move for approval on the bill but I'd like to ask Mr. Perry to send down and ask for those locations.

The Chair:

Mike, so there's no problem, let's once and for all send a uniform letter to all directors that where the term "various locations" is used they shall provide a list of those locations.

Also,

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski Mr. Robinson

Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. O'Malley	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

Mr. Robinson presented

Bill No. 462

Report of the Committee on Planning, Housing and Development for March 14, 1984 transmitting sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 36

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending Resolution 1204, approved November 19, 1981, entitled, 'Providing for the designation of certain districts and structures as being of historic and landmark significance under Section 3 of Ordinance 20, approved July 30, 1979. These certain districts and structures are known as the Manchester Historic District'."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 189

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution authorizing the Urban Redevelopment Authority of Pittsburgh to submit an Application for Financial Assistance in the amount of One Million Eight Hundred Fifty-Nine Thousand Eight Hundred ($1,859,800.00) Dollars to the Pennsylvania Department of Community Affairs for the J & L Project."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Mr. Wagner, you asked about the J & L Site. I've already made inquiries, for what it may be worth, into that nine mile arterial, that's coming up from Second Avenue to the other end of the Squirrel Hill Tunnels, in hopes that that will help the development there.

Mr. Wagner:

Is there any proposal for an exit ramp?

The Chair:

I'm trying to find out presently whether we can work with it. This is something that's been on and off the boards a couple of times; I'm doing with SPRPC and we'll bring it back here and see that we can work with it. I'll give you an update as to where we're going with it.

Mr. Robinson:

One comment on that, Mr. President. We were supposed to have from Mr. Brophy today some written documentation in response to Councilman Wagner's concern. That written documentation is not here. I think it would be inappropriate for us to move at this time on such an important matter.

The Chair:

Regretfully, we've already moved on it.

Mr. Robinson:

I still think that that bill should be reconsidered. If the Council President will permit me, I think it would be foolish at this time to move because this Council still has to approve the master plan and the zoning change for this project. To move in the face of a member of Council's request being ignored, I think, is very imprudent and unwise. Why are we trying to create a problem? If indeed the Urban Redevelopment Authority and the Regional Development Corporation are going to address this concern, certainly we can get something in writing when a respectful request has been made. I think the Chair, on numerous occasions, has indicated that requests from members of Council should be honored. Not only did Councilman Wagner make this request, I made this request as Chairman of Planning, Housing and Development, and I respectfully requested the Chair address this issue in a fashion other than which has already been addressed.

The Chair:

Do you have any problem with approving it, Mr. Wagner?

Mr. Wagner:

Is it possible to hold it for one week?

The Chair:

That's what I'm asking. Do you want to hold it or do you want to approve it?

Mr. Wagner:

We have made numerous requests and I thought possibly that some of that information was provided Mr. Robinson or to you, the President, but in finding out that it has not been provided, I think we should hold it for one week.

The Chair:

Alright, without making a big issue out of it, does anyone have any objections to recommittal?

Mr. Robinson moved to recommit Bill No. 189.

Mr. Wagner seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I'd like to make one comment on this. It is about time, like Councilman Robinson said and Mr. Wagner — Too many time we ask for information and we let it go lightly if we don't get it. I think the message has to be sent back that we're not going to do it anymore.

The Chair:

Fair enough.

Also,

Bill No. 329

Which was read.

Mr. Robinson:

I vote no on Bill No. 416 and my reason for voting no is that in Section 2 of that bill, Part C, it indicates that approval of the Urban Development Action Grant, as submitted to HUD. I am not in support of the Urban Development Action Grant as submitted to HUD on the Grant Liberty Project. I vote no on 416.

Michelle Madoff:

Who typed the bills this week? There's a typo in this one and there was a big typo in the resolution we gave to Pat McNamara. There have been several errors in typing and I just thought I'd point it out. It must have been done in a hurry.

The Chair:

Sometimes word processors are too efficient. They don't take out what was already in there.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm just being supportive of Mike and his problems. He's trying to resolve them and I just want to let him know I'm with him.

The Chair:

Alright, Mike, you stand supported.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

The Chair:

Before I go to the rest of you, I'd just like to cover two things myself.

Mike, I would like to place this as a post agenda, not this Wednesday but the following Wednesday and I'm hoping there's nothing there.

I was somewhat distressed this morning to receive a call relative to the delivery of butter and cheese this morning in which in the South Side and Allentown —

Mrs. Masloff:

All over the City.

The Chair:

All over the City, and the regretful thing about it is, it turns out to be solely a delivery problem. I'm appalled by the fact that apparently the trucking company that was to haul the cheese was supposed to be there last Friday. They had a breakdown and some other difficulties but at least they owed a responsibility to tell someone from Friday, Saturday and Sunday, or at least provide a different kind of vehicle, even if it had to be rented. The tragedy of it is, all the volunteers were there and from the information that I have received, at least in four places, there were lines at least three and four blocks long. I find that very distressing; it's bad enough to have to have that need without it being abused as it was and I'd like that brought up on a post agenda, Mike. I'll give you a list of people that I'd like to have there and have that resolved once and for all.

I understand there's to be some changes but that should not be left uncovered by this Council since it concerns those people in great need.

Mrs. Masloff:

On the same issue, I received several calls in connection with that. Unfortunately, they told the people to be there in the morning. They told them it would be open at 1:00; when they came at 1:00 it still wasn't open, they still haven't been served.

I agree with you that it's a deplorable situation.

The Chair:

I called cold storage this morning. They had the products there and the delivery vehicles had not come. I pleaded with the manager there and it was only in getting to him and requesting it that it was my understanding they were going to deliver within the hour.

Mrs. Masloff:

What time was that?

The Chair:

About ten or ten-thirty.

Mrs. Masloff:

At 1:00 it hadn't been delivered yet.

The Chair:

The regretful thing about it is that the line had already been there almost an hour. That's not fair.

Michelle Madoff:

You know, Mr. President, I think the issue is a very serious one, but there are a lot of very serious subjects that we don't bring up at the post agendas and when we do have them they're not on camera for the public to view because this Council, I believe in a close majority vote, voted not to show post agendas where really the guts of these hearings take place. I think we really bore people, basically, when we say, Resolution No. so and so, and if there's no discussion, aye, second, all in favor, and there's really not an opportunity for the people to plug into the issues that this Council addresses itself to. I mean, in the real world it's not impossible for you, certainly as an attorney and as President of this Council, the clout that you have, to call the people, the federal government or the state, whoever is supposed to be supplying the cheese, and take care of the matter and deal with it either through the media or through demanding a change.

If we're going to have a public hearing, in essence a post agenda, and have people say, "I didn't get my cheese" which we know they didn't and they're entitled to it and it's an abuse of everything we deem correct and moral, I'd like to see the cameras here so the people know what we are doing, that we do deal with some substantive issue, and not only because you're holding that hearing but when we do have other subjects that are very important. I think it's appropriate at this time to suggest that we extend our televising on Channel 17, the Government Station, to having the post agendas and all substantive public hearings. When we have a hearing that takes five minutes and nobody is objecting to a zoning, I don't think we need to put that on camera. But we had people here saying, "We don't have police in our area and we're upset", and other communities can realize that they are going to get some help, they should also know that this is a vehicle and a mechanism and a place they can come to their elected officials.

I really find it offensive that we are not having the gut and the major issues of this Council televised. I would urge that we do that and I think it's appropriate that I mention it and I would like to make that in the form of a motion now.

The Chair:

Michelle, I think you're going to have to put that in and then we'll cover that in Council in the proper order.

Michelle Madoff:

When would be the proper time?

The Chair:

Insert a resolution, then that will come up like the other resolutions.

Michelle Madoff:

Mike, would you put that in in a form of resolution that we extend the hearings — We do have a problem with that. You know we were to have the people from Warner, Brother Richard; we scheduled a hearing, how many times, Mike? Five times on that hearing.

The Chair:

If we had a vote on that now and the question would be you'd either have to vote over what we did or rescind what we did.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, we really need a post agenda on it.

I'm not through on that subject. We are supposed to have a meeting with all the parties involved. Rumor has it that Warner is going to be bought out; rumor has it Warner is going to a partnership; rumor has it in the weekend paper that they're buying back their own stock. I don't know what's going on; I don't think any of us do. But I think it's important that we have Brother Richard here to see that —

The Chair:

Wait, wait. We're still talking about this one subject. We'll change and I'll give you the opportunity. Hold on.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm on the same subject; I'm talking about —

The Chair:

You're talking about the sale of Warner and all we're talking about is butter and cheese.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm talking about having Warner supply the time, that they say they don't or may not have, to have the camera people and the equipment to be here for the post agendas and the hearings. They were supposed to be at a post agenda. I want to get that post agenda scheduled.

The Chair:

I think the Chair has to tell you that we have a resolution on it and the only way you can change it is to formally do the same thing we did at that time. So, it will need another vote.

Michelle Madoff:

One second. Did you introduce my resolution? I didn't hear you introduce it.

Mr. Perry:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

It is introduced for a week from Wednesday?

Mr. Perry:

Right.

Michelle Madoff:

Okay.

Mr. O'Malley:

If memory serves me correctly, I think it was Brother Emenecker who explained to this Council when this resolution, Michelle's, was brought up previously, that he has other time restraints and other obligations for the goverment channel. That is one of the reasons why he cannot tie it up four days a week on City Council business. There's other obligations that he's obligated to.

Michelle Madoff:

That is why I called for the post agenda and had Warner because they had given other circuits, other lines, to other entities and I was wondering whether we could do it, somehow or other Warner could supply the time, and whether we could make this a priority. I listen and watch some of the dribble on 17 and I'm wondering whether the post might not be more important, and the hearings, than what we are doing on a Monday meeting.

The Chair:

Introduce the motion, Michelle, and we'll handle that in the proper order.

The other one that I'd like to cover before I go out, and I'd like to do that, Mike, two weeks from Wednesday, and that's the matter that has just begun in certain areas in our City and I want to find out how far it has extended. That is the matter of certain insurance companies finding upon themselves, after thirty-five years of no claims on a house, to cancel out because of certain things that happened in the area, even though it's not immediate to that particular area.

If that's going to be their practice then we ought to bring it out and let everybody know about it. If they're not going to be responsible and understand, then people ought to know about it. If they're in violation of the insurance laws, we're going to make sure the Insurance Department knows about it but we're not going to let people who receive a call on the telephone telling them they're getting their insurance cancelled without a letter. That's not the proper way to do it and it's going to be done in a different way. I'll give you a list of people I want; I'll get you the name of the insurance company, Mike, the individual involved, and a responsible individual from the Insurance Department.

I'm beginning to get a little alarmed about some people who think that they can cancel out people indiscriminately and just add to their burdens and hope that they won't say anything. It's about time someone comes to their assist and I'm hopeful that in this fashion we'll start putting everybody back in their proper frame of where they belong. That's two weeks from this Wednesday.

Michelle Madoff:

Are you talking about red-lining?

The Chair:

A form of it.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, on the issue of bond counsel for the City of Pittsburgh and specifically the situation with our present bond counsel, Baskin and Sears, I'd like to read a letter that I received relative to this matter. I think it's appropriate to have this letter read into the record.

As Council is aware, when the issue came before this Council to the extent that our bond counsel was serving as an agent for the Republic of South Africa, I did get in contact with our bond counsel, Baskin and Sears, and with the Mayor relative to this issue in an attempt to try to resolve this matter and at the same time not jeopardize the City's bond standing. I did request that the firm of Baskin and Sears make some decision as to how they felt the matter should be resolved. They chose to take some actions which are identified in this letter, dated March 14, 1984 and I think in light of the fact that we will be going out on a bond issue sometime in May that this letter becomes most relevant. It says:

"Dear Mr. Robinson:

Pursuant to your request, this confirms that as of February 29, 1984, John Sears, Philip Hare, John Ward, and Robert Kelley, formerly of our Washington, D.C. office, withdrew from our firm. Beginning March 1, 1984, they no longer have any interest in our firm, nor do we have any interest in their new firm.

The Sears firm will have its own telephones and its own number and its own employees and the two firms will be clearly delineated in all directories so that it will be clear that there is no connection between the two. As I told you, temporarily, while we unwind our present long-term lease obligations on our space, the Sears firm will continue to use some of the space in the second floor of the building in which we are located at 818 Connecticut Avenue. Both parties are planning on a permanent separate physical arrangement as soon as practicable.

As you know, John Sears and the others named above, while a part of our Washington, D.C. office, had been representing the Government of South Africa, and with their withdrawal our firm no longer has any connection with, or interest in, the government of South Africa or in any fees or payments of any kind from said Government. Nor is there any kind of referral arrangement of any kind involved.

The name of our firm will be changed by April 1 which will be the start of our firm's fiscal year. We are in the process of ordering stationery and taking all the other steps necessary to carry out this change.

We appreciate the fact that you have publicly stated that the acts which we have taken comply with the desires of the Mayor and City Council and that we can put this matter behind us.

Very truly yours,

Philip Baskin"

The record should also reflect that the check that I was holding as Treasurer of the Public Auditorium Authority has been signed and has been forwarded to Mr. Baskin for proper disposition. I think his letter is self-explanatory and, hopefully, this will give Council some direction in our future dealings with bond counsel.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I'd like to have the comments brought forward from last week's Committee Meeting pertaining to the increase in user fees of the Aviary, Phipp's Conservatory and the Zoo put into the record.

(BEGINNING - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS - WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1984)

Mr. Wagner:

The cost of operation, Ms. Brown is $1,600,000.00?

Director Brown:

For '83. For '84 the budget is $1,700,000.00.

Mr. Wagner:

What is the cost of operation for the Aviary? What was it last year, in '83?

Director Brown:

It is here.

Mr. Wagner:

And Phipps?

Director Brown:

Do you have that, offhand? It is on a yellow piece of paper. Of the Aviary, cost of operation for '83 was $412,900.00; for '84 it is projected $443,000.00.

Mr. Wagner:

What were the revenues generated at the Aviary?

Director Brown:

In '83 admission $63,209.00, concessions $25,300.00 — I am rounding off a little bit here.

Mr. Wagner:

Total revenues generated at the Aviary were $91,000.00 approximatley?

Director Brown:

Eighty-eight.

Mr. Wagner:

Eighty-eight thousand?

Director Brown:

Right.

Mr. Wagner:

And Phipps Conservatory?

Director Brown:

Operating budget in '83, $638,000.00; in '84, $708,000.00, total operating budget. That includes the trust fund expenditures as well as the tax dollar expenditures. Total revenues in '83 — do you want them broken down by admission and concession?

Mr. Wagner:

Yes, please.

Director Brown:

Admission $211,220.00, concessions $73,918.00, total $285,000.00.

Mr. Wagner:

For all three, the Zoo, the Aviary and Phipps, it appears as if there is an operating deficit at the Zoo.

Director Brown:

They are not a profit-making organization.

Mr. Wagner:

The Zoo, if you will permit me for one second, $800,000.00; at the Aviary approximately $325,000.00; at Phipps Conservatory approximately $350,000.00?

Director Brown:

That is correct. The Zoo we have a 760 difference. I don't know.

Mr. Wagner:

Okay, where does that money come from?

Director Brown:

The way that we have, forever, City Council and the Administration, have dealt with these three facilities is that a 100 percent of the operating need is appropriated by City Council in the budget. As the revenues some in they come back, then, into the City, so it is not a matter of where does it come from, it is appropriated annually in the total operating budget.

Mr. Wagner:

Okay. That leads me to my next question. For the Zoo, what percent of the people that use the Zoo are not City residents?

Director Brown:

We have not conducted a study this year, but a study that was conducted two years ago by the Pennsylvania Economy League estimated, since they didn't hit it every day, was it 80 percent or 75 percent?

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

MRS. MASLOFF COMMENTS

Mr. Hayes:

Three out of every four of our visitors live outside of the City.

Director Brown:

Fifty percent live outside the County, then there is another percentage that lives outside the state.

Mr. Wagner:

In the Aviary, what would it be?

Director Brown:

The Aviary was 50/50, maybe even more City residents.

Mr. Wagner:

And Phipps?

Director Brown:

Phipps was less than the Zoo but maybe about between 60 and 70 percent non-City. Still a higher percentage of non-City. I'll check those figures. I think we probably need to do another survey.

Mr. Wagner:

So, in other words, if you were to take those figures, 75 percent for the Zoo, 50 percent of the Aviary, 65 percent for Phipps, there is no doubt that the City residents are subsidizing somewhere in the area of a million dollars for the use of our facilities by non-City residents?

Director Brown:

Absolutely.

Mr. Wagner:

That leads me to my next problem, that means we are paying $1 million; we are increasing the user fees of our facilities; if any City resident goes to Mt. Lebanon or Fox Chapel or Churchill, or anywhere, and they use their swimming pool, they use their tennis courts, they use any facility, they pay a user fee greater than the residents of those communities. There is, in this proposal for increasing the fees, there is no proposal being made to increase the user fees for non-residents.

Director Brown:

That is correct.

Mr. Wagner:

How can we in good conscience require our own City residents to continue to carry the burden for the people from Fox Chapel and Mt. Lebanon when in fact we know that the average family income for those people is much greater than that of the City residents?

Director Brown:

I think we even talked about this, Councilman. We would like very much to be able to do that. These facilities are definitely regional, if not larger than regional, attractions in the City, and they do, obviously, as the statistics show, generate a lot of admission from non-City residents; however, all the charges are the same. I have discussed this with all of the facility directors regarding the potential of doing that, and the bottom line comes down, not only for these facilities but also for our swimming pools, and also for our parks, and also for our big events, there are a lot of non-City residents that swim in our pools, too, that we are trying to deal with, it becomes a very expensive administrative problem to differentiate between City residents and non-City residents at the site, at the Zoo.

We do have the free day that we hope the City residents will take advantage of, but, of course, non-City residents can do that also. I think the Mayor mentioned on numerous occasions some other ways of dealing with this problem of the non-City residents use of our facilities through State legislation. We have applied to the County for a Grant to help the improvements at the Zoo. We have just received a letter saying it will be on the agenda of theirs in the next couple months, so we hope that is another way that we can, somehow, balance out this inequity of our problem, and it is really not mine, it is Mr. Hayes' problem at the Zoo. On a good Saturday, which is when the people come, you will have seven to ten thousand people, and to try to identify where one lives by Zip Code in the City or not in the City, is administratively very difficult and will definitely not be appealing to City residents as well as non-City residents in terms of continuing our population increase and admission increase at the Zoo.

Mr. Wagner:

So, have we attempted to determine the cost of a card that would be provided to each and every City resident that would be used at these three facilities?

Director Brown:

We have talked with Mr. Schmeiser, and the Finance Department, about doing that and it would be extremely expensive to issue and insure that 423,000 people got a card, in terms of having to mail it to them. We didn't feel it was fair to ask City residents to come downtown and line up in the Treasurer's Office and show identification to get a card. That was another way we looked at it. We have not discarded it or not been concerned about this effort.

The fact that two-thirds, or three-quarters of the people that come to the Zoo live outside the City, this increase for adults, particularly, will hurt them as much as the City residents. There are more of them. We are not increasing this for children. It is almost impossible to identify children in terms of residency and proof. They don't have drivers' licenses; they don't have any kind of official identification.

Mr. Wagner:

I agree with the point that you are not increasing the user fee for children, even though the children may live outside the City.

Director Brown:

Or senior citizens.

Mr. Wagner:

I have great concern about the adults. I would venture to say if we were to issue a card to each and every City resident, the cost of the manufacture and issue of that card, with their name on that card, permitting use at a certain fee at the Zoo, at the Aviary, at Phipps, it could be done for a fee not greater than $1.00 a card, meaning that it could be done for $400,000.00. Now we can easily increase the user fees at these three facilities, say, for instance, with the adult admission to $3.00 for City residents, but also increase the user fee to non-City residents to, say $4.00 or $5.00 for adults. We could do the same at Phipps.

Director Brown:

I would not recommend that.

Mr. Wagner:

The point is, we are spending $1 million out of every taxpayers' pocket, and I am paying for the people from Mt. Lebanon, Fox Chapel, Churchill.

Director Brown:

That is not — wait a minute — I meant there is no Zoo in the country that is self-supporting, and it does not come from admissions. I think if you raise anybody's fee to $5.00 or $6.00 your attendance would just go way down, way down, so you would not make up that difference.

Mr. Wagner:

Rather than do that, let's decrease the amounts for the City residents and leave it the same for non-City residents.

Director Brown:

Again assuming there is a procedure in place that can identify City residents.

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

You may lose the few dollars, but the City resident is benefitting that they are getting a service from this City cheaper than the person who lives outside the City. I personally think the increase in users fees of all three should be greater. Someone using Phipps can certainly afford more than $2.00 based on the average person that uses Phipps, and the Aviary, and not as much the Zoo, however. It seems to me, along with this proposal, we should be making a valid attempt to institute a system where those that do not live in the City pay more, and it is difficult for me to say, yes, let's increase the fees when we increase the fees for our own people.

Director Brown:

You mentioned a procedure that everybody could get a card for $1.00.

Mr. Wagner:

Yes.

Director Brown:

That means — what was our attendance, 500,000.

Mr. Wagner:

You are talking about adults only.

Director Brown:

There were 300,000 adults and 75 percent were outside the City. Then we would be requesting 400,000 people of City residents pay for an admission, basically, even if they don't want to go there.

Mr. Wagner:

You are through? We would be paying for the issue of a card, but we would address a long-term problem that has existed too long, and there is no intent to correct the situation.

Director Brown:

I would not say that. I am very open and the Administration is, to ways we could implement this. The Mayor has asked me to look into ways we could implement this that are not so costly that it costs the taxpayers more, and that are fair and equitable and can be done in an Administrative way at the facility.

Mr. Wagner:

Have we looked into a way, based on issuing a card? Have we found out what it would cost to provide a card for every person?

Director Brown:

We did that when we were working on the swimming pools as well.

Mr. Wagner:

What is the cost per card?

Director Brown:

The card itself is not expensive. It is the administrative procedure, making sure people live in the Cty, what address, that you got everybody at those addresses.

Mr. Wagner:

What is the cost per card?

Director Brown:

I have no idea what it is now.

Mr. Wagner:

We haven't investigated that possibility?

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

Director Brown:

Yes, as part of that proposal to get — it is a fee back as a substitute for this commuter thing. I am not minimizing the point, other than the thing we always had in attempting this thing, the control factor, of having the extra employees, then, on the hours that there is no big volume I still have to have someone there, and it is a costly thing. I wanted to point these things out as well.

Mr. Wagner:

My own personal opinion, I think this Council needs to be provided with information pertaining to an effort taken by the Administration to increase the fees of non-residents for these facilities. These are not the only three facilities in this City that non-residents are using at a price equal to that of a City resident. I don't see how in good conscience we can proceed any further, based on the economic conditions that exist in this City, and even think in the past, or in the future of tax increases, etc., when we are giving away on these three facilities $1 million a year on other uses, money I am sure equal to or greater than that they are taking, making the effort to implement a system to address this problem.

May I make one more last point? I feel if Council passes these increases this problem will be pushed aside, and I think action should be taken immediately to address alternative approaches to implement user fees prior to this being passed. I do not think that our residents should continue to carry the burden, and I would like to see this Council hold this until something is done along these lines.

Director Brown:

To hold it would take several months for us to do that kind of research that you are asking for, and what our concern about it is, whenever, just like any business, whenever you change any kind of fee or price you've got to do it in the beginning, not at the end, and the Zoo business really starts April, May, when the weather gets nice, and memberships are sold, and there are a lot more people coming. It would be my recommendation we not do that; and change it in July, that would be really tough to pay $2.00 one day and the next day $3.00. There are a lot of people that are return visitors.

Mr. Wagner:

We all know this topic has been discussed for years.

Director Brown:

Forever.

Mr. Wagner:

And nothing has been done. My fear is that it's going to continue. I personally have no qualms with increasing the parking fee equally. Mr. Hayes indicated the difficulty in the parking area. Personally, I think the way other cities have done it, townships do it, to identify who is a City resident —

Director Brown:

But they are small populations with small facilities. We are talking about a big, regional attraction, which is a benefit to Pittsburgh above and beyond the facilities there. One of the reasons we were rated fourth most livable city is the Pittsburgh Zoo. It has advantages from an economic standpoint. I agree with you.

Mr. Wagner:

To be quite honest with you, I feel it has no economic advantage as long as our residents are paying for non-residents. This City could exist, I think, without a zoo, even though a zoo makes it extremely attractive; however, we should not be paying for those.

Director Brown:

Our residents are paying for non-residents all over this City, for everything, for our streets, our police, for our parks, our pools, and that is what the Mayor, I think, has over and over and over tried to persuade the State Legislature to address that problem, whether it is on a piecemeal basis, where you discount an Aviary, or some other way. That, as the Mayor said, is the only way we're going to really solve the problem.

Mr. Wagner:

But we have the opportunity here to implement a program, and there has been no attempt to implement a program to make non-residents pay more.

Director Brown:

As Mr. Hayes has said —

Mr. Wagner:

I feel until the Administration shows this Council that they have attempted to implement a program and cost involved in implementation of that program, and nothing has been done today, I think this Council should not be acting on this type of increase.

MR. O'MALLEY COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

I have one question, Mr. Chairman, our procedure of voting on this today, does that mean these fees become effective, and there is no need to vote on Monday.

MR. PERRY COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

In other words, this is the final vote on this?

MR. O'MALLEY COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

I disagree. Is it possible to break this up into various categories and vote on it, Mr. Chairman?

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

I move that we break these up into various categories and vote on them.

I would like to see the parking fee remain the same, and prior to voting on admission fees for the Aviary, Phipps, and Zoo, I'd like to see some efforts to address the problem that was brought up today.

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

I personally would like to see us move to vote on parking.

(END - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS - WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1984)

Michelle Madoff:

I have a couple of items. I'd like to take the opportunity — I was not here last week — of thanking the reporter for the Post Gazette for his story on March 15th with reference to the "Council OK's Hiring Lobbyist". It's refreshing to see a story come out that says in truth where the idea originated, even though the Mayor runs with the ball, or the Administration, many, many good ideas come from many members of the Council here and it always suddenly springs from the head of Zeus and we're relegated to not having done anything substantive and I would like to thank the reporter publicly.

On another matter. Mr. Wagner, I apologize to you for not having brought this to your attention because it falls in your purview, but the mail just arrived. I've been away; Mr. Stone is aware of it. I didn't get this material until the last couple of days; it was sent by some special air express.

If you look at today's bills, on Bill 347, the bill where we're transferring project code accounts to reflect the reorganization created by the Department of Engineering and Construction. We go on with all the pages of items that are being transferred to Engineering and Construction.

As you know, and I've made no secret of it, I was very distressed that Mr. McDermott, who comes from Kimball Construction, who is an expert in organizing, that's what he did for Kimball, needed to have Mr. Massaro be hired as an advisor to Mr. McDermott. I was in Mr. McDermott's office, as was Mr. Wagner, and I did speak to Mr. Massaro on the phone, with reference to a letter he was to supply us with, the letter saying that he would not bid on any contract that he advised on. But then he clarified that and said, "Of course that would be during the time that I'm advising; I would certainly not be adverse to bidding on it afterwards." He also went on to state, and Mr. Wagner said substantiate and so did Mr. McDermott, that he was not going to do anything on any particular project but just deal, in essence, with structuring procedures, how one would do construction and engineering procedures, accounting. Is that essentially correct, Mr. Wagner?

Mr. Wagner:

He would advise in construction management procedures.

Michelle Madoff:

So, essentially not deal with any particular project.

I have talked to a number of people and it seems that that is not a possiblity because you cannot design in the abstract; you have to have a project in which to have a formula designed for that particular project, whether it's water lines for the Water Authority, whether it's going to be a branch or so on.

So, I took it upon myself to contact a company in Canada. Now, before anybody jumps at me saying, "Well, they're not a Pittsburgh firm", 80 percent of our purchasing, according to our Supplies Director list, printouts that I have in my possession, are done out of the City. This is a company called Barlow Associates; they're in Toronto, Canada. They do not do construction; they do not bid on any projects. All they do is show you how to set up systems. They were gracious enough to give me the names of three other companies who might possibly be able to do the same thing. So, there would not be any conflict of interest but certainly not even the appearance of conflict of interest.

It just happens that Mr. McDermott, who is heading this new Department of Engineering and Construction, attended a course for $2,500, I believe before he even came to the City, with this particular company and said it was the best course he ever took.

I strenuously oppose the company that is now going to have to have $94,000 worth of repair jobs for Three Rivers, in the infield, being the advisor to Mr. McDermott, which is a joke. And I might add to that that when I was told by a private source that there was a problem at Three Rivers, trying to be a responsible Councilwoman and not trying to appear that I was a publicity hog — Incidentally, I don't think there's anything wrong with being a publicity hog because unless you have a few million dollars and you can buy time in the paper, the only way you get the message out to the public is to go public and if that brands you a publicity hog, so be it. I had heard about this problem at the Stadium and I went to the Mayor and I said, "Gee, I hear you have a problem with the Stadium" and he said, "Oh, it's only two feet by four feet; it's a little nothing." This little "nothing" turns out to be worth $94,000 and they're still going to be the consultant to Mr. McDermott.

I do not know whether Dr. Massaro is directly related to Massaro Construction. Does anyone know that?

The Chair:

He doesn't have anything to do with that turf over there, does he?

Michelle Madoff:

I'm just wondering, why don't we change the City of Pittsburgh to the City of Massaro? I'm just beginning to wonder.

The point that I'm making is that I would like to turn this over to my colleague, Mr. Wagner. I'd like him, if he would, to pursue the concept of having an independent, unbiased, somebody who is not going to get five cents of construction work, and the Massaros get it in the millions, and are very close allies of the Mayor and very strong supporter of his run for Governor, to have this taken into a non-political arena. I feel very strongly about that.

My third and last item. For some time this Council has been very distressed about non and slow payment by our Controller's Office. The Controller's Office has come to our Council meetings saying, "We get the bills; we pay them in three days. But we can't pay them if we don't get them". I was told when I got here five and a half years ago that Mr. Whitmer was hired as an expediter; that he was a person who would go through the departments to see that bills were expedited so I would not have a number of ward chairmen calling my office saying, "My son-in-law hasn't been paid for his demolition work" and other people calling to say they haven't been paid for things that they supplied the City with and the second time they go out to bid — First of all, nobody wants to bid; we get one or two bids. And then they have to go borrow money because they're not going to get paid quickly so they add onto the price.

Well, when I picked up this article in the paper that appeared on Sunday by Jon Schmidt with reference to, and it lists the items, that we are paying more for many items in the City, retail, than the City could probably get them wholesale, and that we do business in this manner. I'm glad for one, that you have introduced, Mr. Stone, you said some procedure that you were going to share with us, to see that some mechanism was going to happen to keep these prompt payments in place. I do want to tell you that I have conferred with the Controller's Office and our office is about to come out with a prompt payment bill which has the support of the Controller's Office. We will certainly share it with every member of Council; we're still working on it. But I think this really goes to the gut and the heart of patronage, political pay-offs. I don't want to see, not only political pay-offs, but bad management. I think this says something about our Administration and I think, Mr. Robinson, it all ties together, who spends five years trying to find out that fifteen percent of the work is supposed to go to minorities and women and it turns out to be less than one-half of one percent.

We need, in this Council, our own on-going fiscal analyst so that this kind of garbage, and this is garbage, that we are paying more than we should be paying or anybody else would be paying, that we have $94,000 jobs that they're going to somehow take care of. We need some help on an on-going basis. I'm glad that we're finally starting to address the issues. We talk about doing, you've talked about doing it, I've asked this Council and I've seen nothing substantive yet.

The Chair:

With your indulgence, we'll pick that up when it comes up on the agenda.

Michelle Madoff:

I want to know whether we're going to have a post agenda on this and if not, I would like to schedule one.

The Chair:

I think we owe it to you to find out about it.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you very much.

Mrs. Masloff:

I have a motion, Mr. President. I move to televise, on Government Channel 17, the public hearing scheduled for Thursday, March 22, 1984 at 10:00 a.m., Bill No. 126 and the Mayor's Report on Military Spending.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Mr. Woods:

Opposed.

Mr. O'Malley:

I think we should check with Brother Emenecker to see if that time slot is available.

The Chair:

Subject to the cable people being available, take the roll, Mike.

Michelle Madoff:

Everything that happens in this Council and is a priority should be televised and the answer is aye.

Mrs. Masloff:

I don't think everything should be televised but I think this should be.

Michelle Madoff:

I said if it's important.

Mrs. Masloff:

It depends upon what people think is important but this should be televised. Aye.

Mr. O'Malley:

I vote aye because I think everybody has a right to know where their tax dollars are being spent, what percentage is being spent on military hardware.

Mr. Woods:

I vote no and I think everyone already knows where their tax dollars are spent; it was in the paper.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. O'Malley	(Pres't)

AYES 5 NOES 2

(MR. GRABOWSKI AND MR. WOODS VOTING NO)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion was approved.

The Chair:

Let me just say something at this point. I think it needs to be said and I just want to make the record clean.

I think that we, before we advertise or at least put on Channel 17 any of these programs, it's not going to be depending on who puts any pressure on and who doesn't; it's going to be placed on some more logical, equal system so it applies to everyone. Let that be clear. My vote is for this at this time but in the future, as President and as a member of this Council, it will be determined by a general policy for all, equally, or for none.

Mr. O'Malley:

How are you going to do that?

The Chair:

We're going to have to set up a program. But I don't think it's fair to be denying one and then giving to the other.

Mr. Woods moved to excuse Mr. Givens for absence from the meeting.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Woods moved to approve the minutes of Monday, March 5, 1984.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Woods

Council adjourned.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, it's a distinct honor and pleasure to offer this resolution today because I think it symbolizes what people can do when driven towards a positive goal and that positive goal is to participate in perhaps the finest government experiment the world has ever known, and that's American democracy.

So, I'm very honored that there are people with us today who have taken of their time and their effort, many volunteer hours, to indeed register thousands of people in our county, Allegheny County, to make a decision of their own choice as to who will represent them in years to come.

I am very honored to ask the Reverend Ralph Newell, Pastor of the Saint Paul AME Church in Beltzhoover here in our City, to come forward and accept this resolution. Reverend Newell has taken a good deal of his time as a pastor to make sure that people of all faiths and of all political persuasions have an opportunity to participate and I think that we certainly owe him a debt of gratitude for doing that and all the other organizations that worked along with him.

I'd like to read this resolution, if I might.

Mr. Robinson presents

Bill No. 518 WHEREAS, the very foundation of the Democratic process in the United States of America is founded upon the principles of majority rule and due process; and

WHEREAS, the ultimate right of every citizen, as guaranteed by the Constitution, is to freely participate in the selection of public officials and to use the franchise to legitimately affect the decision making process; and

WHEREAS, in our City, the Pittsburgh Alliance for Voter Registration Sabbath, which includes community organizations, churches, student groups and numerous individuals, has accepted the responsibility to increase citizen participation in the voting process by conducting a massive Voter Registration Drive culminated by more than 4,000 new registrants; and

WHEREAS, special recognition should be given to Reverend Samuel Ward of John Wesley AME Zion Church, Reverend Ralph Newell of Saint Paul AME Church, Reverend Joseph McMahon of Warren United Methodist Church, Reverend Gail Buchwalter-King, and Reverend Bill Reid of the University and City Ministries for their outstanding contributions; and

WHEREAS, ACCORN, NAACP, Urban League, NOW, and Hunger Action Coalition also worked diligently in this regard.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and Council, City of Pittsburgh, does hereby recognize and congratulate the Pittsburgh Alliance for Voter Registration Sabbath for their efforts to improve the quality of the Democratic process in Allegheny County.

Mr. Robinson moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson:

Before Reverend Newell makes a few comments, I'd just like to recognize some of the people who are here today who work very diligently in this effort. If they would be kind enough to stand, I'm hoping that everyone here, including my colleagues, would give them a round of applause.

The Reverend Samual Ward who is the Pastor of the John Wesley AME Zion Church; Stuart Cohen who is the Director of Planning at the Urban League of Pittsburgh; Joni Rabinowitz with the Hunger Action Coalition; Jesse Lewis who is an Executive Board Member with ACORN; David Ector, Margaret George, JoAnna Steele, Mildred Ware, Stanley Kain, and Robert Foster. Would you give them a round of applause please?

Reverend Ralph Newell:

To the President and members of City Council, indeed as I receive this certificate, this resolution, I do not receive it for myself; I am merely the spokesperson of the organization; not the president, just it's spokesperson. All the ones who you saw stand, the organizations which you have heard mentioned, all of those are the people who made it possible. We have dedicates ourselves not only to registering persons for the primary, which we have, but we're also looking toward the general election. We know that the democratic process is one which is the best process anywhere in the world; we wish to preserve it. We wish to teach others and show others how that preservation can take place and we still believe that America is one of the greatest countries in the world. That is why we have endeavored to do what is being done, what has been done, and what will yet be done.

Thank you for the resolution.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Wagner:

Members of Council, ladies and gentlemen, today we'd like to present a resolution to a person that has served this City in an excellent fashion for approximately forty years and we'd like her to come up at this time. Mrs. Rose Luongo.

Rose, we may have a record crowd here today for a resolution. First of all, I'd like to ask you how many busses did it take to get the people here?

Mrs. Luongo:

In fairness to the senior citizens, they came on their own; we chartered no busses to bring them in today.

Mr. Wagner presents

Bill No. 519 WHEREAS, on February 24, 1984, Mrs. Rose Luongo retired from the City of Pittsburgh, Department of Parks & Recreation; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Luongo began her 40 years of service in 1944 as a Recreation Leader I at Allegheny Dwellings, and subsequently became Acting Center Director; and

WHEREAS, in 1963 Mrs. Luongo became Central Division Area Supervisor, where she organized various City-wide programs for girls; and

WHEREAS, with all the responsibilities as Area Supervisor, Mrs. Luongo worked vigorously with the administration to provide facilities, assistance, and diversified programs for senior citizens; and

WHEREAS, as a result of her devotion in this area, Mrs. Luongo was officially made Supervisor of the Senior Citizens Program, and Project Director of the Allegheny County Area Agency on Aging; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Luongo's conscientiousness will be greatly missed, though the spirit of her work will live on.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of Pittsburgh City Council, on behalf of the citizens of Pittsburgh, hereby express sincere commendation and gratitude to Mrs. Rose Luongo for her 40 years of service to the City of Pittsburgh where her dedication, devotion, and sensitivity has enriched the lives of many, and this Council wishes Mrs. Luongo health and happiness in the years to come.

Mr. Wagner moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Wagner:

I would just like to make one comment. This Council views this resolution not only as a tribute to Rose but also to the senior citizens of this City who she has served for many so years. We congratulate her.

Mrs. Luongo:

First I'd like to thank everybody for coming. You all know that I had a job that I was supposed to do; I loved doing it. I got paid for doing what I did but believe me, I retired but I didn't die. Nobody but nobody is going to take advantage of the senior citizens in any way, shape or form, and I don't care who it is. You people are all in a class all your own. You deserve whatever the City, County, State, Federal Goverment, gives you. I don't want you to ever feel that you're taking something away from somebody else.

I just want to cite one thing. When we first started the senior citizen program out in Homewood, I'll never forget, it was all men. They use to say to me, "Mrs. Luongo, don't invite any women here; they'll want to marry us." Now, we have men and women and the women want the men to come and the men want to be there. So, times have changed.

Also, the senior citizens have started a lot of, what would I call it, a lot of new ideas. You think the younger generation started shacking up? Forget it. I'm embarrassing my Director, Louise Brown, but she knows me, she knows I say what I have to say. The government made them do it. They started the trend because the government was going to cut their social security and who knows what else they weren't going to cut. So they decided in order to survive, they'd live together. Then the younger generation thought, well gee, that's a good thing; let's try it. So, there are a lot of things that the senior citizens started.

Also, I get a little bit tired of hearing people say, "Oh, those old senior citizens; what do they know?" Believe me, what they forgot the younger generation will never know.

Also, I'd like to bring one thing out which is very, very important. Don't ever lie to a senior citizen. They can read right through you and they know you and they'll never trust you again. It takes a long time to build up their faith and confidence but once you have it, don't abuse it.

For the senior citizens who are here, and the staff, I didn't forget you. I'm around and I know that the program will continue. I want to take this opportunity to present Mike Senko who is going to carry on this program like I did in the past. Mike, will you stand up please? He has been chosen Acting Project Director until some future date. I hope that future date never comes.

Thank you very, very much for this citation or proclamation, whatever you call it; I really appreciate it. Will I be arrested if I get copies of this made and give them to each center? I just want to make sure I don't wind up in jail for my last days. Some people have already asked if they could have a copy of this for their center; I'm going to get copies of this made for each center.

Thank you very, very much for the recognition and I love you all.

The Chair:

First of all, Rose, you can say anything today; it's your day.

Second of all, I was always afraid of getting old because I thought they said we were going to stack up.

Thirdly, I would like to commend all of you senior citizens who came here today. Too often we forget those people who have served us over the many, many years, and I think that Rose Luongo has typified the kind of person that's dedicated themselves to doing a good job. The fact that you respond today in this little way of making her heart feel a great deal of pride, I think you're to be commended.

To Rose from all of us, long life and good health and may you always remember us. I just want to share with all of you that we extracted a promise from Rose before she even came up here and before we passed this resolution; that was that she would never be a candidate for City Council.

Michelle Madoff:

Rose, just say you changed your mind.

The Chair:

If all of you will bear with us a minute, Rose is going to go down and let's see if we can get a photograph with all the senior citizens.

While she's doing that, Louise, would you care to say a few words?

Director Brown:

Rose could never embarrass me. I have had the pure joy and delight of working with Rose since I have been Director of Parks and Recreation. It has been a fascinating experience. As you all know, Rose is a wonderful human being and her heart goes out to everyone. I just want to say that I think we're all so fortunate, be we senior citizens or not, to have had Rose for the many years in the Department of Parks and Recreation, to have had her dedication, her loyalty, and her service, and her wonderful, wonderful advocacy for the people of Pittsburgh, particularly for the senior citizens. As she said, she is not dead yet, and I am sure we will see a lot of Rose Luongo and I'm hoping that she will be back, not only Downtown, but in all the centers because I think more than anything, she's a real good friend of all of ours.

Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

I wonder if the Clerk would please give me some of the dates of the checks on the back of those bills?

Mrs. Johnson:

October 12, 1983. They're all October 12, 1983.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't understand that. Are they cashed checks?

Mrs. Johnson:

No, not yet.

Michelle Madoff:

Would you care to comment?

The Chair:

They're not cashed yet.

Michelle Madoff:

That's my point. Why weren't they in the bank drawing interest? October, November, December, January, February, March. I thought you had a lock box —

The Chair:

Which bill are you talking about?

Michelle Madoff:

All of them have checks attached.

The Chair:

After we approve it, they have the money in front to go out and advertise.

Michelle Madoff:

Why didn't we put the money in the bank to draw interest anyway? That was what you have a lock box for. The money can be refunded. This is what they found —

The Chair:

That's one of those peculiar quirks in government. There's a logical way and the way the government does it.

Michelle Madoff:

You mean it's close enough for government work? Is that the concept?

The Chair:

No. They don't use the check — They don't take out of one person's account and put it in the other person's account and then be accountable for interest.

Michelle Madoff:

If the check draws interest —

The Chair:

It will stay where it's at and draw it's own interest in the account from which it has not yet been withdrawn.

Michelle Madoff:

The whole concept of a lock box is to keep records and put the checks in right away.

The Chair:

This is not that situation.

Michelle Madoff:

I understand but all checks should be deposited.

The Chair:

The lock box is basically our money as opposed to getting money in advance to create an escrow account from which you now have a responsibility to gain interest from it, from which you now owe an accounting back to the parties whose monies you have receive prematurely.

Michelle Madoff:

What we're talking about, Mr. Stone, is issuing a check as a refund if we don't accept it. Is there going to be one check issued as a refund out of that?

The Chair:

These have time levels which is a problem, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

The problem is that it's October, November, December, January, February, March, and that money should have been in the bank. What amounts are they?

The Chair:

The City has not and will not lose money on this deal.

Michelle Madoff:

How much money is there?

Mrs. Johnson:

Seventy-five dollars.

Michelle Madoff:

Each check is $75.00? I'd like to know how many $75.00 checks haven't been deposited when they could be drawing interest.

The Chair:

But they're still drawing interest in the bank account of the person whose money it belongs to until it's finally acquired by us.

Michelle Madoff:

We have the check; we should deposit it.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone
Mr. Robinson	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

Which was read.

Mr. Wagner:

made and bring them forward.

(BEGINNING - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 189 - WEDNESDAY, 3/14/84)

Mr. Wagner:

Discussion. We requested, as a Council, several weeks ago, to determine in the development of the J&L site as an industrial park whether or not in that development there has been consideration given to exit ramps from the Parkway East coming from west to east, and entrance ramp going back onto the Parkway. I feel that is paramount in the development of this site. Have we found anything out about that to date?

MR. ROBINSON COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

What are we looking at in terms of a date to be actually building the facility?

MR. ROBINSON COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

Is it correct to say, in the reconstruction of the Parkway East — I believe that area of the Parkway East will be reconstructed this year — there will not be any consideration or any type of ramp installed with that reconstruction?

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

Just to mention for a moment the problem with the J&L site, it has always been a problem, even when it was an operating steel mill. In order for trucks to go from east to west, they had to exit the Parkway at the Boulevard of the Allies and go around the Public Safety Building to get back onto the Parkway East.

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

We all know the traffic jams that have existed in Downtown Pittsburgh due to the lack of having proper ramps at the J&L site, and I think by us beginning to address this problem at this time we can properly institute it into the development of the site, if, in fact, it is going to take five or ten years to develop.

(END - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 189 - WEDNESDAY, 3/14/84)

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone
Mr. Robinson	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

Also,

Bill No. 333

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution approving execution of a Contract for Disposition of Land by and between the Urban Redevelopment Authority of Pittsburgh and John McGoogan for the sale of Block 4-H, Lot 30 in the Eighteenth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh. (RESALE FOR REHABILITATION)"

Which was read.

Mr. Wagner:

I vote no on this bill and I'd like my comments from last Wednesday's meeting put into the record on Bill No. 333 pertaining to the review of the property at 168 Arlington Avenue. I think the Urban Redevelopment Authority should be looking into acquisition of that land and marketing that land at a higher price than they presently are.

(BEGINNING - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 333 - WEDNESDAY, 3/7/84)

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I have some concerns regarding this and I think someone from the URA should be here.

I would like to state that one of the concerns that the residents had was that the property was appraised by the URA and in that appraisal they indicated that this property is worth approximately $4,500.00. I have some questions pertaining to this appraisal. As a matter of fact, the appraisal is in error in view of the piece of property itself — the land is at $250.00.

Yesterday afternoon we went out to the property, and I'd like to pass this around to each member of Council, and took photos of the property and viewed the property in the City of Pittsburgh. This property has an unbelievable majestic view.

MR. STONE COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

It's right below the Liberty Bridge and approximately a block and one-half from Station Square. Slightly 150 feet above the road (Sycamore). An appraisal was made of the property and as I indicated, it would be good if someone were here from URA because they made the appraisal and I don't know how they can assess this piece of land at $250.00 when it has such a view of the City of Pittsburgh. The property no doubt is not worth more than as indicated on the appraisal which is approximately $4,000.00.

I personally think that the taxpayers of the City of Pittsburgh are being cheated by us moving to sell this property at this time, rather than the total sale of the property being $6,600; it should be three or four times that amount.

As we all know, there is a tremendous development going on in the area and I spoke with Mr. McDermott this morning and he indicated that the new Sycamore Street which will lead to Mt. Washington will be completed in the fall. We know that the Liberty Bridge was reconstructed and know that the new LRT system is only one block away and the Grand Concourse Restaurant and Station Square is a block and one-half away and Arlington Avenue is going to be rebuilt, so this property has tremendous advantages. I think it would be remiss for this Council to move to sell the property. This has nothing to do with the individual that is attempting to purchase the property. I feel the error here is in the procedure which exists within the Urban Redevelopment Authority to appraise this property.

I'd like to just state a couple of other comments here. I don't know if anvone knows where Hartford Street is, Excelsior Street or Gassell Street, but in making an appraisal, they evaluate a piece of property based on similar properties of its type.

Mr. Brophy, we have before us Bill No. 333, Arlington Avenue being sold for $6,600.00. I also have here in front of me a copy of the appraisal done by the URA and a Mr. Vernon Brown and I was out at the property yesterday and we took some photos of the property and the view of the City of Pittsburgh and it's an unbelievable view. This appraisal, the land value of the property was appraised at $250.00. I personally think that that is a tremendous error on the part of the appraiser or not. How he reached that figure I don't know. He compared this piece of property with three other properties, Hartford Street, one of Excelsior Street and one on Gassel Street. Are you aware of where those streets are and whether or not they have a view of the City?

Paul Brophy
Executive Director
Urban Redevelopment Authority:

I'm not aware of it.

Mr. Wagner:

To my knowledge, they do not have a view of the City and how he can compare and come up with a dollar figure based on comparing with homes that do not have a view, I do not know. I think the appraisal of the property itself is accurate but the land is not.

Just to summarize what I have been stating while you were out in the hall, I think the City would be remiss to sell this property or the Urban Redevelopment Authority while we are involved in rebuilding that total area, around Arlington Avenue. The value of this property is far, far greater than what is indicated. I personally would go out and buy this property today — I'd go to the bank today and get a loan to buy it for double the cost.

Director Brophy:

May I just clarify one thing? In order to answer the question on this particular property, I need to take two minutes to simply describe the intake process for this property. This comes to us through the Vacant Property Review Committee which is a committee which is in business to review properties outside of redevelopment areas that are blighted and after declaring them blighted and after appropriate notification to the owner, we are able to acquire the property and sell it. The way the Vacant Property Review Committee operates is that we typically don't go out and simply pick up properties, but very often and typically what will happen is an individual will come to us having contacted the private owner of the property and not being able to find that owner typically because it's an estate or it's got a title that is very encumbered and approaches us and says that he is interested in buying this property and our general arrangement is that if we proceed to acquire the property, we will sell the property for the appraised value plus our costs of the transaction which in this case is $6,600. We did not own this property and in fact still do not own this property because we have not filed a declaration of taking. Our purpose here is to remove blight. We are in a situation where we have someone who has approached us that says in effect that no carrying costs to the Redevelopment Authority on this property since he is paying an appraised value which we would have to put into court to pay the owner should the owner ever show up, and the carrying costs, they will take this property and rehabilitate it. So we are facilitating that transaction; we're not in a position because we never owned the property in the first place. And to give you that context — in order to help explain why I think in this instance the appraised value for the carrying costs seems to us to be the fair price on this property because the purpose here is not for us to make money on the sale of property, but to get the property out of its blighted condition and get it rehabilitated.

Mr. Wagner:

All right, I understand that but when it comes to the appraisal, how do we reach the figure of $250.00; the value of this land?

Director Brophy:

Mr. Brown is a professional appraiser and we use a range of professional appraisers at the Authority and frankly I'm not in a position to second guess but he is appraising what he considers to be comparable property in the area.

Mr. Wagner:

So we then view the property with a view to a higher degree than the property that does not have a view of our City.

Director Brophy:

I don't know the answer to that.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, is it possible for the URA to consider reselling the property at a future date and possibly various other properties along Arlington Avenue area to assure this City, with all of the government funds that are going into the immediate area that the properties themselves will be developed in the manner which will enhance the area?

Director Brophy:

Legally we could do it, although from a practical viewpoint I would have to ask the question, "Should we?" We are limited but I am willing to pay you an appraised value of your cost. I think, one, if we took on a policy or someone approached us and we began the process with the individual and then toward the tail end of the process went out for bid, I think we would not have to rehabilitate because we would not have a failure.

MICHELLE MADOFF COMMENTS

Director Brophy:

We don't own the property.

MICHELLE MADOFF COMMENTS

Director Brophy:

Michelle, we are not in the business of advertising.

MICHELLE MADOFF COMMENTS

Director Brophy:

Michelle, you don't understand. He can't buy it from the current owner because the current owner is not to be found.

MICHELLE MADOFF COMMENTS

Director Brophy:

If Council will appropriate the funds we can do that. We didn't have the $6,600 to buy it and hold it.

MICHELLE MADOFF COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

I wasn't aware of the fact that this was an abandoned owner. The property should be advertised and if anvone in the City is a higher bidder they should be able to purchase the property. There is a tremendous volume here for the citizens to benefit from selling the property and I don't think we are taking advantage of it.

MICHELLE MADOFF COMMENTS

Mr. Wagner:

One last point. Is it possible for the Urban Redevelopment Authority to purchase the properties along this section of Arlington Avenue — either to hold the properties and wait until development arrangements can be made, or the LRT system is completed and resell it for a profit?

Director Brophy:

The only answer to that is that all of the properties that are currently there are vacant and clarified as blighted and in order to take any property that is not vacant, we would have to certify this area as blighted and then go for the acquisition of the properties and a new redevelopment area would be established by City Council and by the Redevelopment Authority. Short of that, we don't have the legal right to take by condemnation any properties that are in that area.

Mr. Wagner:

If the area is blighted, if that were to happen, what procedure do you have to sell this property, or do you have the right to sell it then?

Director Brophy:

Yes, we can do that.

Mr. Wagner:

Then I think its to our benefit and to the City's to obtain it and to resell it at some point in the future and to make a profit.

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

Director Brophy:

If they are occupied we don't do it. We would have to certify the area as a redevelopment area and come to Council and explain that.

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

Director Brophy:

There are approximately one dozen homes at least.

James Brown
Zoning Coordinator
Department of City Planning:

We have started within the last month receiving permits to rehabilitate the private homes. The people that do own there intend to rehabilitate them and we intend to see more activity within the next year. They are private individuals now.

Mr. Wagner:

Several of those homes are vacant and abandoned and boarded up.

MICHELLE MADOFF COMMENTS

Mr. Brown:

I don't know if they are all privately owned and I anticipate that a few of them will be rehabilitated and used for residential purposes.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Brown, do you think that we are acting prematurely here in terms of not evaluating that entire block and one-half to determine which ones are abondoned and which ones can be resold at a bid price and a profit can be gained?

Mr. Brown:

Probably a quick study would indicate which properties are privately owned and which ones are publicly owned and which publicly-owned properties are worth rehabilitating. If you can determine that, then the property would be worthwhile in the area such as a smaller area.

Also, with a NEGATIVE RECOMMENDATION

Bill No. 414

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution requesting the Pennsylvania State Police to inspect City vehicles involved in accidents." (SPONSORED BY MICHELLE MADOFF)

Which was read.

The Chair:

In order not to confuse you, if you're in favor of the State Police doing the inspection just vote aye. If you want to vote the same way you did last Wednesday, vote no. We're just voting on the bill rather than getting into a lot of mental gymnastics as to how we get around the negative recommendation.

Michelle Madoff:

May I make a comment on the bill before we vote? I think it's important to remember that there are going to be probably thirteen lawsuits from the people hit by the City truck delivering the refuse to our dump site. That was out of the City area; Turtle Creek area, as a matter of fact. I think it's really distressing that since we, the taxpayers, are the underwriters, we don't have insurance, we are the insurers of the damages that are done, to prove that there is no negligence. By having the State Troopers come in as I did on that particular vehicle, and incidentally, they were in on another refuse truck the same day because there were icy conditions in Turtle Creek, they stated that there was no negligence, that our truck was in superb condition, and the police officer on duty in Turtle Creek also stated that the vehicle involved was not remiss and was not negligent and that indeed it was weather conditions.

I think when a jury or a judge is awarding damages on negligence it is generally, I think we would all agree, a lot higher than when there is no negligence. This is a way of saving the City a lot of money. If we had not had proof that there wasn't negligence, who knows what the claims could end up being. I think that we're being very foolish if we don't support this bill.

Mr. Grabowski:

Before I vote I want to be sure; if I am against this legislation —

The Chair:

Vote no.

Mr. Grabowski:

I vote no.

The Chair:

I vote no and I request my remarks from last Wednesday to be brought forward.

(BEGINNING - MR. STONE'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 414 - WEDNESDAY, 3/21/84)

Mr. Stone:

Discussion, if I may.

Number one, I don't think the State Police are going to do it. And now we are talking about a general, across the board thing.

Secondly, if it is done and because of the political levels, I think it brings in somewhere in the future, the possibility of a political opinion.

Thirdly, since it involves a potential lawsuit, it would appear to me that we should not have anyone but our own people inspecting our vehicles so that we can prepare our case in the form that best befits the City of Pittsburgh.

That is not intended to put a blanket approval to cars that are in violation, so that we understand it.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, yesterday there was a banquet honoring these individuals and Councilman Woods and I were in attendance. We actually made the presentation to these people at that point; we felt it would be more appropriate. They were very grateful that Council did recognize them. Also, we had the City Clerk receive prior approval from the majority of the members of Council.

Michelle Madoff:

It was done on interim approval.

The Chair:

The Chair recognizes that you're proposing two worthy persons and, therefore, this Council could not possibly vote against it.

Mr. Grabowski:

I didn't think so.

Mr. Grabowski presents

Bill No. 520 WHEREAS, on March 25, 1984, Helen Migalic was honored for her over fifty years of service to the Croation Fraternal Union by Pioneer's Lodge No. 1; and

WHEREAS, Helen Migalic, having served 11 years as Nest manager for the Pioneers during her many years of unselfish dedication to the organization; and

WHEREAS, in addition to Helen Migalic's service to the Pioneers, she served terms as Treasurer and President in the Ladies Auxiliary of the Croation Center; and was most active in the Lodge's Western Pennsylvania activity, as well as serving as National Delegate to the 1971 convention; and

WHEREAS, Helen Migalic's zeal, enthusiasm and unending labors have resulted in happiness, growth, and opportunities for members of the Croation Fraternal Union, as well as residents of the City of Pittsburgh.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, on behalf of the citizens of Pittsburgh, hereby recognize and salute Helen Migalic for her "50 plus" years of distinguished service and loyalty to the Croation Fraternal Union where she displaved sincere dedication in cultivating high social, moral standards and ethnic awareness, and wish Helen Migalic further happiness and richness in her years to come.

Mr. Grabowski moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Also,

Bill No. 521 WHEREAS, on March 25, 1984, Louis Z. Marohnic was honored for his over fiftv years of service to the Croation Fraternal Union by Pioneer's Lodge No. 1; and

WHEREAS, Louis Z. Marohnic, being the son of the late Joseph Marohnic, a most respected past-president and builder of Lodge No. 1, serves the Society and Lodge as their legal counsel; and

WHEREAS, besides the many honorable services carried out for the organization by Louis Z. Marohnic, he has been named by the Croation Fraternal Union's Scholarship Foundation, as well as, by Pioneer's Lodge No. 1, as "Man of the Year"; and

WHEREAS, Louis Z. Marohnic's vigor, unselfishness and dedication have resulted in the advancement and growth of the Croation Fraternal Union, and those associated with it in the City of Pittsburgh.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, on behalf of the citizens of Pittsburgh, hereby recognize and salute Louis Z. Marohnic for his "50 plus" years of distinguished service and loyalty to the Croation Fraternal Union where he displayed sincere concern for ethnic awareness, high moral standards, and social concern, and wish Louis Z. Marohnic continued happiness and richness in his years ahead.

Mr. Grabowski moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

I would just like to mention, if I may, relative to this particular lodge and the fraternal group, Croation Fraternal Union, we would like to commend the local lodge as well as the fraternal group because it is typical of the kind of commemorative banquets of honoring its worthy members that we have in this area. Many may not know it and I could not miss the opportunity to mention that the City of Pittsburgh has probably more fraternal headquarters than any other county in the United States.

Secondly, there are one million fraternalists in the state of Pennsylvania and, regretfully, good news is never publicized as much as bad news but if anyone took time to publish it, they would know that these organizations have contributed greatly to the local communities as well as the county and the state and the United States of America. Their loyalty is second to none and that is gratifying but we should mention it when the opportunity surfaces.

Michelle Madoff:

For the benefit of my colleague, Mr. Grabowski, I checked with the City Clerk, Mike Perry, and it is in order and I've checked with the Law Department to have a floor motion without having notification, as you've requested, twenty-four hours in advance. I did give you the courtesy of explaining it to you.

Mr. Grabowski:

I'm only concerned when amendments come before this Council affecting legislation. It has nothing to do with motions.

Michelle Madoff:

Fine. I just wanted to be sure that you know I wasn't deliberately not honoring your request.

It has come to my attention and I'm sure a lot of people in Council, that the stories in the paper about TCI buying out Warner, a fate of compli, it's just a matter of transferring it, that there's nothing really very much, that it's just a routine matter. People do not understand that it's a very binding contract, that's it's probably going to become a very, very hot issue in this Council. In talking to my colleagues, there are already many divergent viewpoints.

I have great concern that we don't, again, like the Water Authority and the Stadium issue or other issues of magnitude on major bonds that come before this Council, that at the last minute, under pressure, we say, "Well, they're going to shut down and shut-ins and senior citizens who rely on television as their only form of entertainment aren't going to have the availability of reception."

In that spirit, I would like to make a motion that we invite Mr. James Roddy who has an intensive, extensive background in cable, who has no interest, direct or indirect, in this particular purchasing, in Warner or in TCI, to act as an advisor-consultant in the reviewing of presentations to Council so that we don't later say, "Well, it's a little early; we want to wait until we get some presentations." He would be effective in evaluating even presentations made to us that are going to be forthcoming in the near future with relevancy to either the turning over, possible bankruptcy, any strong-arming that we may encounter along the way saying, "Well, we just can't keep losing money; if you're not going to let us do that we're going to do this." The business-like way of transferring an operation, he is a businessman, has a fairly good reputation, I think an excellent reputation, in this area, and I've spoken to the Mayor about it and he thinks it's an excellent idea and asked me to convey that message to Council. I've heard one of my colleagues who is not here, Mr. Woods, say, and I'm very fair about this, that he thinks it's a little early, that we ought to wait and see what is presented to us. I'm worried that, as usual, when we look for a consultant — it was, you know, a week or so before we voted on the Water Authority; I didn't know the consultant, it was the best I could do in the time frame I had to find somebody. Here we've got somebody who has great expertise and I would like to make a motion that we ask him whether he would be willing to be an advisor to this Council.

The Chair:

The only problem the Chair has with that is that we don't have any legislation on it before us. At the time of the introduction, I think that might be more in order, frankly. That's my thought. We're going to hire a consultant to do something for which we have no legislation.

Michelle Madoff:

The thing that I'm concerned about, Mr. Stone, and I don't think you would disagree, is that when the legislation is presented to us, I'd like him to evaluate that as well.

The Chair:

Obviously, if that were presented at the time of the presentation when there's a bill there, then at that time there's going to be a public hearing. And let there be no question, if it has become an understanding that this is a fate of compli, let whoever has that imaginative thought forget it. We're going to have a public hearing on this matter and until we vote and five people give their assent, there will be no transfer.

Michelle Madoff:

I know that and you know that but I'm just saying —

The Chair:

I would like it understood very clearly.

Michelle Madoff:

The letter we received said we've made an arrangement to sell. A lot of people think that even though it has to come before Council, that it's going to be a very minor issue. There's the minority issue that has to be dealt with. I presume Warner is making some arrangements, my understanding is to come to an understanding with the groups. I know that Brother Richard, and I've spoken with him and Marv Fein called me today to say that provisions are in the initial contract which will mandate if TCI takes over Warner's contract, that everything in it will be — everything in the Warner contract would be in whoever takes over the operation.

I'm afraid that if I were a betting person, that in the real world the reason they went under is because they promised what they couldn't deliver. At some point this Council is going to be called upon to make some very hard decisions and I think that we ought to have somebody right up front, available to us. I don't think it's really that premature.

The Chair:

I would suggest it be the day of the introduction of the legislation, if you don't mind.

If I just may comment on this Warner thing, I've been quoted inaccurately as saying tha unless that $10.00 comes off by April 1st, Warner is going to get a deaf ear from me.

Michelle Madoff:

What $10.00?

The Chair:

That disconnect charge. I'm becoming increasingly disturbed when we make a fool out of people by telling them, "Try the service, try the service", and then somebody tries the service and then they inject the charge underneath. Now that they've got you up there, if you drop it you're going to lose $10.00. I do not have any fault with them charging a disconnect or even a reinstallation on someone who every day decides to change their mind. But the bulk of those people, it seems to me, bordering on asininity, to be attempting to take a disconnect for $10.00, it's not enough money, when it's probably cost them 72,000 cards, $1.00 and that's roughly $7,000.00 they spent to tell people about it. I'm suggesting strongly, and I hope one of them is listening to me, that they're going to remove it before Friday because as far as I'm concerned, I'm going to give them a deaf ear if it's not off. We are not going to be making a fool out of our people and that's what's been the problem with Warner. They come here and ask for an increase and don't tell us they're about to raise some other charges and then come forth. That's not fair. I don't mind trying to do what's best under the circumstances but I'm not giving anyone the edge to come in the back way indirectly to do some things they have not been able to do directly.

No more can I mention than the fact that this will not be accomplished until after a public hearing and after we've heard all of the facts. But I just want it known in advance that we bought a cadillac system and we expect a cadillac system when it's over. That's what we bought and I would suspect that we're going to get it and we're going to have it. They made sure that we didn't share in their profits and I just want them to know that the City is not going to share in their losses.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, procedurally, what is your intention? I think the public is wondering about this and there are some concerns and it's a good time to let the public know, procedurally, what's going to happen.

The Chair:

First of all, there is no legislation before us.

Michelle Madoff:

How would the legislation come before us?

The Chair:

When it comes before us, at that time it will come in like the normal legislation.

Michelle Madoff:

Who would be submitting it?

The Chair:

Whoever. Probably the Mayor's Office on behalf of Warner. When it comes here then we'll decide what to do and obviously it's going to have a public hearing. So, there's some time involved.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, to follow up on that topic, it is known that sometimes things come at this Council rather quickly and with all our obligations we sometimes can't address a particular situation in the depth that we would like to. So, I think it's a good idea that we begin to think about this Warner situation now and proceed in some direction. I would like to see us, as a Council, have a group meeting with Brother Richard Emenecker at some time in the near future so that he can bring us up to date on exactly where Warner stands with the existing contract and what he views as being the various options of the future, meaning, if they have completed their commitment or if they have not completed their commitment and what the City can do from that point forward rather than this being proposed to us and us simply reacting to it. I'd like to see us prepare to react to it.

The Chair:

I think it's a good point. We'll arrange that.

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me, question. Whatever happened to my bill on fiscal analyst? Do you know?

Mrs. Johnson:

It's on the agenda for Wednesday.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, may I make one last point? Is it possible for this Council to establish some types of procedures or some minor procedures to follow for post agendas? It appears to me as if we have a particular type of meeting entitled post agenda but it has no agenda. I guess what I'm getting at is I think that the post agendas could be much more meaningful if we could identify some certain criteria that we could be looking for and some conclusions we would be trying to draw as a result of the post agenda. Possibly by — just an idea — identifying the areas of concentration in the notification of the post agenda so that even those participants in the post agendas are more prepared with the background information that we're trying to obtain.

The reason why I suggest this is that I have sat through approximately eight or ten of them so far and I think they're good, I think there's good interaction back and forth. But our post agendas are not — we're getting up and we're not having conclusions based on the various discussions that we're having. Not only conclusions but commitments by the participants to address the areas of concern that all of us Councilmembers are bringing up. I get the feeling that we're not accomplishing as much as all of us would like to accomplish.

So, is it possible? I would like to see this Council look into the possibility of identifying some agenda for post agendas.

The Chair:

If I may just bring some history back to you. First of all, the post agendas were part of the regular agenda and because they were taking so much time, then we completed the agenda and went into the post, which was really an extension of the regular agenda.

I, for one, believe that they're just a little too loose and they need structured a little bit better. I'll be coming up with some suggestions for you so that we do something that's more meaningful. I think that just constant roaming, as we're doing now, in a kind of a loose operation is not in anybody's best interest.

Michelle Madoff:

May I add to that that perhaps we ought to start televising them and put them back as part of the meeting because that's where the people really know what's going on. This meeting today had really nothing of tremendous magnitude. The public gets bored; they turn it on and turn it off. I think when we get to the post agenda, the interaction is where it really happens and they're entitled to know where it is.

I, for one, would be happy to eliminate post agendas and make them part of the agenda and really have some substantive interaction where the public can know what's going on.

The Chair:

Part of the reason, and I'm not taking sides, but one of the reasons the post agenda was handled that way was because of what was happening in the post. Hopefully, we'll clean up our acts this year and maybe it will all work itself out.

Mr. O'Malley:

I was just going to say at the reorganization of Council in January, all of us were supposed to make recommendations and structural changes in this Council. I think that when the President calls a meeting on that issue, that would be a good time to present your views.

The Chair:

I think it's something we all want, frankly.

Michelle Madoff:

Something that I called for has been honored and I'm very pleased that we're no longer having supplementary agendas that have fifty items on that we've never looked at before. They're very short and I think that's very productive.

Mr. O'Malley moved to excuse Mr. Givens and Mrs. Masloff for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Wagner seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. O'Malley moved to approve the minutes of Monday, March 12, 1984 and Monday, March 19, 1984.

Mr. Wagner seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Michelle Madoff

Council adjourned.

Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. Robinson	(Pres't)

ABSENT:

Mr. Givens
Mr. O'Malley

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and I'd like to offer Resolution No. 235 which I think is very timely and important in light of what appears to be an increasing difficulty in our community with attempting to keep facilities, whether they be public or private, operating, serving the people they're intended to serve and, by the same token, keeping people employed.

This resolution specifically relates to the Western Restoration Center which the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, through the Department of Welfare, has determined should be closed.

I'd like to offer this resolution and in doing so I'd like to have the following people, if they're present, to come forward. Essie Biglow who is the President of AFSCME Local 2339 which services the Western Restoration Center, Jackie Reynolds who is the Vice President of Local 2339 of AFSCME also serving Western Restoration Center, Mrs. Thelma Lovitt who is the Chairperson of the Proposals Committee for the Project Area Committee in the Third and Fifth Wards of the City of Pittsburgh and certainly someone who has been deeply involved in attempting to keep this Center functioning, Catherine Delewski who is with the Pittsburgh Neighborhood Alliance, one of the organizations working along with AFSCME and other local groups attempting to keep the facility open, and Marie Thompson from PSEA, one of the other labor unions active in this whole pursuit. Also, Darlene Hall who is the secretary of Local 2339 of AFSCME. These ladies represent those individuals who have been working very diligently to keep the facility open, not only to keep it open but to keep it a vital part of the Hill District community.

Mr. Robinson presents

Bill No. 562 WHEREAS, The Western Restoration Center located on Bedford Avenue, Fifth Ward, City of Pittsburgh has been an integral part of the Hill District community for many years; and

WHEREAS, this Center serves a client population in need of specialized medical and mental health care; and

WHEREAS, The Western Restoration Center and its employees and administrators assist in the stimulation and stabilization of the economy of the Hill District; and

WHEREAS, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, through the Department of Welfare, has determined that The Western Restoration Center should be closed and its patients transferred and its employees re-assigned due to Department of Welfare budgetary restraints; and

WHEREAS, the facility does serve the people of Pittsburgh, and its closing would produce an undue hardship on the City of Pittsburgh and the Hill District.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED that the Mayor and the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does request that the Department of Welfare, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania cease and desist any and all efforts to close The Western Restoration Center.

Mr. Robinson moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson:

The individuals I asked to come forward would like to have something to say; there are, I think, some comments that only they could make about this project. I'd just like to say one thing; as far as the budgetary restraints of the Commonwealth are concerned, I think we're all aware that there is a surplus in the lottery fund and while I'm sure we all can appreciate the needs of our senior citizens, the vast majority of senior citizens in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania do not benefit from the lottery fund. The vast majority of senior citizens do not own property and the lottery fund is only designed to offset taxes on property by senior citizens.

So, there are resources that the Commonwealth has available that with the appropriate negotiations could be utilized to not only keep this facility open but to realistically approach this particular problem.

With that having been said, I'd like to ask first Essie Biglow to make some comments, then Jackie Reynolds, Thelma Lovitt, Catherine Delewski and Marie Thompson.

Ms. Biglow:

My name is Essie Biglow, President of Local 2339. I'd just like to say that in the last two months, or a little longer, we have really been fighting to keep this institution open because we, the workers, know how important this facility is, not only to our patients but to ourselves and the Hill District. Although we have been fighting very hard in the last two months we will continue to fight until it's no longer necessary. Hopefully, that won't come about. But we will continue to fight and we really are appreciative of your support.

Thank you.

Ms. Reynolds:

I'm Jackie Reynolds, Vice President of Local 2339. We're here to ask probably Mr. Cohen and Thornburg to change their minds and keep us open. We do good care, good quality care. Our patients are good clean patients and we take very good care of them. Our facility houses the Meals On Wheels and they also serve with the senior citizens and we are asking that if you'd like to come up and visit us to see what good care we give, then we'd like for you to come up to see it and also to help keep us open. Your support is greatly appreciated and we thank you very much.

Ms. Thompson:

I'm Marie Thompson and I'm with Social Services Union and shop stewart. A facility like Western Restoration is unique in that it is the only facility in Western Pennsylvania which serves as an interim placement to prepare patients for community placement in private nursing homes. This is a necessary function and the deinstitutionalization process because most private facilities are reluctant to admit patients directly from mental hospitals. We have been doing this for three years and we have found that nursing homes are just afraid of patients coming directly from the mental hospitals and we have the patients with their psychosis in remission and we work with them to reach their optimum functioning and then we place them into the community.

Ms. Lovitt:

Thank you Councilman Robinson for giving us this opportunity to present to the people of the City of Pittsburgh our concern about the Western Restoration Center closing. I come to you as a resident of the area and also as a retired social worker who heretofore sent patients to the Western Restoration Center. I do know that that Center has been a tremendous help to many, many people. You know, when we think in terms of this facility being located in "the Hill District", sometimes the connotation of anything in the Hill District, people begin to think that it isn't worthwhile. We're proud of the Hill District and we're proud of the Western Restoration Center which is located in the Hill District. I recall when the Center first opened, it was a restoration center; they rehabilitated people from all over Western Pennsylvania and sent them back into their community. They did an evaluation as to what type of care that individual needed; either they needed to go into another long-term facility or they were returned back to their home or some went into the foster homes. But they rendered an excellent service and as our previous speaker indicated to you, she would hope that you would come up into the area and visit the Western Restoration Center and see first hand the kinds of care that people receive there. It is a caring institution. The staff there totally care about the patients; they see them as individuals and take care of them just as they would their own loved ones. I would hope that the State would reconsider the closing of this institution, that they would think about it because there are funds available. Heretofore, the Western Restoration Center was under the Department of Aging. I would hope that perhaps they would be able to find funds under that Department to continue to serve the area with the Western Restoration Center.

I thank you for giving me this opportunity to present my understanding of Western Restoration Center. Thank you Councilman Robinson and President Stone.

Ms. Delewski:

Ladies and gentlemen, my names is Catherine Delewski; I'm Vice President of the Pennsylvania Nurses' Chapter of Western Restoration Center. Anything I have to say would be anti-climactic to the things you've heard here but there are a few things that I would like to bring out. Our patients receive an in-depth medical examination; their medical problems are not only addressed but also their psychosis is addressed. Our patients are placed in the proper facilities; their needs are addressed, the families have input, the patients have input and the nursing staff has input. Our patients receive a unique treatment at Western Restoration Center. They're evaluated by a panel of nurses, physicians, and all the department heads in the hospital that have anything to do with nursing and the social services workers. It's not just one person who evaluates and places these people, it's a conglamorate effort by all the departments in the hospital, so you have input into these people's placement. They're not just kept there for awhile to spend a few months or a year and sent out into the community. We have a building that meets all the criterion for every state regulation that you could possibly ask for. The few dollars that it would cost the State to keep our building open, it seems to me, would be well worth the care, the unique loving intimate care, that our patients receive. If you can't spend a few extra dollars for the care of the elderly and the mentally ill patients that we handle, then this whole State and the Government is going down the drain. Whenever you pull money out of a service that is giving you a unique service, a service that's really needed, something that's done with loving care, — our place is a very intimate family-like association. We could tell you the family's names; we're intimate with the family. We become involved with the family and their problems; it's not just a fly by night operation. This is something that the City really needs and it's something that Pittsburgh can be proud of and if it's taken away, part of the renaissance of the Hill District is going to go down the drain, the people are going to suffer, and needless to say, the employees will have to be replaced. But our main concern is the patient care that is given at our institution. It is unique, in spite of what you may hear. If someone will tell you it is not unique, it's the way we do it that is unique.

I thank you for your attention.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Robinson, excuse me. Could we get an update on the status of the funding out of Harrisburg? How does it appear now?

Mr. Robinson:

I'm going to request, with the approval of Council, that we have a letter sent to the Governor and to the Secretary of Welfare indicating our support for maintain Western Restoration Center and very specifically, asking for the difficulties that prohibit the State from keeping it open. I'm sure if there are fiscal constraints that the Governor and the Secretary will forward that information to us and I think that will be an appropriate way for us to get an update.

So, if Council gives me that approval, I will draft a letter that we can forward to get that kind of information and also show our support to keep the Center open.

Michelle Madoff:

If that's a motion I'll second it.

Mr. Robinson:

Thank you.

The Chair:

I assume everyone's in favor of forwarding a letter on to the State. Is that correct? Is anyone opposed? If not, Mr. Robinson, you have our unanimous thoughts along those lines.

I would just like to mention one remark, if I may. The Chair is at a loss to understand how, in these trying times, when there seems to be an increase of the need that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania finds the ability, without understanding, to constantly cut the service. I think that we need, and I hope that this letter will at least remind our State officials that we're going in the wrong direction and to have those people out on the street when they need the care is not in the best interest of the State or this community.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Chairman, I echo your sentiments and the only thing I want to be sure is that we haven't had a lot of rhetoric and good intentions that are lost in the sea of good intentions. I would like very much — we send a letter and who knows what happens — could we have our lobbyist, we now have a paid lobbyist in Harrisburg, report back to this Council — we're paying him — what is the status of that bill and what is happening? That's why I wanted a lobbyist.

The Chair:

We can direct an inquiry, Michelle. I don't see that's problem.

Michelle Madoff:

Do you understand what I'm getting at? We make the big motion, it all looks good, we really care for you and then nothing happens. I would like a report from the lobbyist and I'd like it within — let's see, what would be reasonable?

The Chair:

Send a letter, Mike. Let him get back to us.

Michelle Madoff:

Grabowski, what's a reasonable time to hear from a lobbyist on this bill? Three weeks?

Mr. Grabowski:

I'd say a week.

Michelle Madoff:

Our former Legislator says one week. I'd like a response in a week as to the status of the bill.

The Chair presents

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

Michelle Madoff:

On the bills that were just read, the first couple of bills, on the birds at the Aviary, I have some friends who have become volunteers at the Aviary and I have heard some very interesting things that I would like to follow through on.

The Chair:

Michelle, let me just caution you. This is introduction of bills; we don't do anything with them.

Michelle Madoff:

I know. I'd like to have the information available to us when we discuss it. All I'm going to do is ask you to ask the appropriate people to have the information. It could be erroneous information, it may be good information. What I want to know is, do we have a surplus of birds and could we sell them to make money. I understand that we do have a surplus. I just want to check. That's all. This does not include Council.

The Chair:

There are exotic birds here.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

Mr. Woods presented

Bill No. 555

Report of the Committee on Finance for March 28, 1984 transmitting sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 425

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution transferring the sum of Four Million One Hundred Three Thousand, Twenty-five Dollars ($4,103,025) from the Unrestricted Cash Account, Department of Public Works, Capital Fund, to the Unrestricted Cash Account, Urban Redevelopment Authority, Capital Fund."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 426

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending the 1982 Capital Budget to increase the authorization for the Parkway Center Highway Ramps project in the Urban Redevelopment Authority."

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill Nos. 425 and 426 and 418, which all pertain to the fiasco with Mr. Kossman, I am making a protest vote of no and I would like my statement and dialogue with Mr. Paul Brophy to be brought forward so that this kind of situation will not repeat itself.

(BEGINNING - MICHELLE MADOFF'S CONVERSATION WITH DIRECTOR BROPHY - 3/21/84)

Michelle Madoff:

Is this Mr. Kossman, our good friend Mr. Kossman, who didn't bother to tap his property and the land fell on our highway roads and we supply the City policemen at City taxpayers' expense to clean up his mess? The same Mr. Kossman?

Director Brophy:

This is Mr. Paul Kossman.

Michelle Madoff:

And you are going to raise the fee from $4 million to $8 million?

Director Brophy:

That's correct.

Michelle Madoff:

Is that a loan?

Director Brophy:

Yes, that's a loan.

Michelle Madoff:

Entirely?

Director Brophy:

Yes, entirely.

Michelle Madoff:

And he will pay it all back?

Director Brophy:

He will pay it all back.

Michelle Madoff:

Did he pay back any money loaned to him to date?

Director Brophy:

None has been due yet.

Michelle Madoff:

None has come due yet. Is part of this project to help create jobs in that area?

Director Brophy:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

For City residents?

Director Brophy:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

How many City residents will be hired from this effort?

Director Brophy:

To date, the number of Pittsburgh employees as of December 31, 1983 at Parkway Center Mall, was 356 residents of the City of Pittsburgh that have been hired.

Michelle Madoff:

Since the beginning of this project or prior to this project?

Director Brophy:

In the mall itself.

Michelle Madoff:

How many since Mr. Kossman came to us for money?

Director Brophy:

Well, the mall was built contingent upon the UDAG being funded, so all these jobs are subsequent to event.

Michelle Madoff:

All are the result of the development?

Director Brophy:

Correct.

Michelle Madoff:

Including when he built the initial mall prior to coming back to us? We are done talking about the initial development in that area; we are talking just about the mall?

Director Brophy:

That's correct, none of the earlier stuff was within City limits.

Michelle Madoff:

So these are additional jobs created?

Director Brophy:

That's correct.

Michelle Madoff:

How many again?

Director Brophy:

Three hundred fifty six City residents.

Michelle Madoff:

How many non-City people?

Director Brophy:

That's of a total of 865.

Michelle Madoff:

So of 865 people, about roughly one-third or a little bit over, almost one-half?

Director Brophy:

Almost one-half.

Michelle Madoff:

Half are City residents and half are not City residents?

Director Brophy:

Correct.

Michelle Madoff:

And the other half of the money is going to come from dollars that the City is not going to go after so they can supply their own funds for their own jobs or is it all coming out of our allocation dollars?

Director Brophy:

The figures on this we had received $4.6 million from the federal government which is part of the UDAG, the remainder of the funds and because, as part of the requirement of the UDAG, the City is to construct the necessary public improvements associated with it, it is a City responsibility to build those public improvements, including ramps. The arrangements we have been able to work out with the developer is that the City's advance of the funds to build the ramp which will be reimbursed over time such that there is no cost to the City for having borrowed the funds.

Michelle Madoff:

I am a little confused, Paul; bear with me. You say it's the City's responsibility to put in the ramps?

Director Brophy:

Correct.

Michelle Madoff:

But he is going to reimburse us for our responsibility?

Director Brophy:

That's right.

Michelle Madoff:

At what ratio? By the number of how many years?

Director Brophy:

Basically, we have been working with the City's Finance Department to work out a loan arrangement with Mr. Kossman so that the cost of borrowing these funds to the City would be fully reimbursed and reflected in the interest rate that we charge Mr. Kossman on the loan and over the same turn of the loan. So, if you picture the City having borrowed funds out of the Capital Budget, the bond issue that was done —

Michelle Madoff:

Thirty years say?

Director Brophy:

Thirty years, then this loan gets cast in the same.

Michelle Madoff:

And he will have 30 years and it will be like adding on to his mortgage and he has 30 years to pay it back too? He will be paying back so that there will be no cost to the taxpayer for those ramps?

Director Brophy:

That's correct.

Michelle Madoff:

None at all?

Director Brophy:

None at all. We exactly constructed it that way so I can answer that way.

Michelle Madoff:

If anything happens to Mr. Kossman and he sells the development, that liability would be passed on automatically?

Director Brophy:

It triggers a repayment or an assumption, that's right, but we are secured on the loan.

Michelle Madoff:

Why has the number gone up to double?

Director Brophy:

Back in 1979 and 1980 when the UDAG funds were applied for and received, an environmental assessment was done which was done at that point by the Department of City Planning which indicated that improvements to the tune of about $2.6 million would be needed in order to accommodate the additional traffic. If you remember back at that point, the Borough of Greentree objected and further environmental work had to be done and at that point. It was concluded that in order to get the UDAG, the City would be required to commit itself to building ramps.

When the initial work was done by consultants at that point, based on very general assumptions about the quality of the soils and the nature of the ramp that had to be built —

Michelle Madoff:

Who paid the consultants?

Director Brophy:

The Urban Redevelopment Authority paid the consultants. The assumptions were made based on what would have been cleaning and typical fill and at that point there was some indication from the federal highway people that a slow ramp off the Parkway would be more acceptable than a higher speed limit; those assumptions were made which led to 1980 cross figures which were assumed to the ramp, a roughly $2.5 million, when in fact the cost figures for that ramp are now close to just over $6 million.

The fundamental reasons for the changes is that as the engineering work got detailed a few things happened; one is the soil was much more extensive than was anticipated because the fill was not sufficiently compacted and it had to be compacted much more —

Michelle Madoff:

Who is responsible for the initial fill not being compacted.

Director Brophy:

I can't answer the question.

Michelle Madoff:

Was it the City? Was it Mr. Kossman's responsibility at that time? This is the kind of fill that he did and the tapping that he didn't do which was the reason some of the earth fell in on the highway?

Director Brophy:

I would have to call in on Jerry Detorre, our Department of Engineering, for that, but the owner, some of this land was owned by Kossman and some wasn't but the fill itself which had been a fill site over the year —

Michelle Madoff:

The point that I am raising is when you came to this Council —

Director Brophy:

Can I just finish this?

Michelle Madoff:

Sure.

Director Brophy:

The other problem is the ramp, by itself, has changed. The federal highway people did not allow for a slow speed limit off the Parkway, but rather a faster speed limit to meet the federal requirements and that meant a longer ramp with a different kind of bridge —

Michelle Madoff:

When did you find that out?

Director Brophy:

That was basically in early 1983 as the detail work progressed.

Michelle Madoff:

The thing that I am concerned about is the game plan, that you come here and say we only need $2 million and then once we are into the project, you come back and say now we need $6 million. The engineer who did the original work for URA, is that correct?

Director Brophy:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

Was either incompetent or competent engineer and if he was competent he did some soil testing, he found out if he had yellow clay, he found out the land was going to shift, he found out if you had the proper compacting, he found out if you had proper clean fill. Did he post a bond that he was responsible for his recommendations?

Director Brophy:

We looked at that very carefully, Michelle. The piece of work that that consultant was dong at the time was GAI, which is an engineering firm, was an environmental assessment and it was done in an effort to get preliminary figures on these cost and fairly gross assumptions were made. This was clearly a ballpark kind of situation.

Michelle Madoff:

Have you learned something from that?

Director Brophy:

We learned a couple of things from it. One is on all of these kinds of pieces of land, I think it is important to know up front what the obligation is and in this instance, there was a certain league of faith that indicated that if there were overruns we would still be in the position to cover them. I think there's where the —

Michelle Madoff:

It's more than just a little overrun; it's $8 million.

Director Brophy:

I think what happened here was we were able to negotiate a successful agreement with the developer and that happened way back in 1982 as the costs started coming in that it would not be a City obligation to cover these costs permanently but rather that this advance and repayment situation would be worked out.

Michelle Madoff:

What really happened is that Mr. Kossman couldn't go to the back and get the kind of rates that he is getting from the City and he came to us, got $2 million, $4 million and now he is getting $8 million and he just put his finger in the dial and put his whole hand in and what I am concerned about is do we have, and I don't know and maybe you can clarify this for me, are there only X number of dollars allocated to a community from the federal government?

Director Brophy:

Under the UDAG Program —

Michelle Madoff:

I want that very clear; are there only X number of dollars allocated to a community so that Mr. Paul Kossman puts out his hand for $2 million, then $4 million and then $6 million and that means somebody else can't get that money no matter how you work at the back payment and we become his banker and we bankroll him which is very clever.

Director Brophy:

I think that the issue here is back in 1980 when the City assumed the responsibility for making the necessary public improvements in order to get the grants; we basically made a commitment that through an angle whatever the cost for those items were.

Michelle Madoff:

And we didn't know what the cost would be because we didn't have good engineering work.

Director Brophy:

We obviously didn't know what the costs were because the costs were so much lower than what has actually materialized.

Michelle Madoff:

That's also because we did not have good engineering work.

Director Brophy:

I think that is accurate.

Michelle Madoff:

How do we correct that in the future, Paul?

Director Brophy:

I think that there is a couple of things; I think the scope of work for this contract was much more limited than it should have been in the sense that the detailed soils work and the detailed discussion with the federal highway people that followed if one Monday morning quaterbacks ideally should have been done back then so the numbers would have been in place. And I think what it means is that when these initial studies are done I think they need to be recognized as simply that; they are initial studies and the cost contained quite substantially to that.

Michelle Madoff:

And what you are saying is it might be wiser, if I hear you correctly, to spend a little bit up front and if you are going to go into business for example, you are better off to spend some money and maybe lose that money than to spend too little and then end up with the big hunk at the other end of the spectrum.

Director Brophy:

The difficulty is that on a project like this, to get the right answer, you can't just spend a little bit of money; the overall engineering cost on this project is over $1 million at this point so it is a very substantial amount of money and the question is making the trade-offs as to how much information do you need.

Michelle Madoff:

Shouldn't that have been Mr. Kossman's problem, that $1 million to make the evaluation? Should not that have been Mr. Kossman's obligation?

Director Brophy:

Unfortunately, the way that the UDAG Program was being worked, the City had to assume responsibilities for the public improvements —

Michelle Madoff:

We no longer do that, do we?

Director Brophy:

We have been very careful about that; that's why we made an arrangement with Mr. Kossman that in order for us to honor our obligations above the $2.6 million that we were getting from HUD for the public improvements that those cost would eventually be borne by the developer.

Michelle Madoff:

Where does the balance of that money come from? Capital bond that we are going to borrow and give him?

Director Brophy:

What you have before you is legislation that would move funds within the Capital Budget into this account so that this could be covered.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, did you hear that?

Mr. Stone:

I heard it.

Michelle Madoff:

You were the Finance Chairman for a very long time. We are going to, as taxpayers, borrow money for Mr. Kossman which he will pay back like the City would pay back limiting our borrowing power somewhat because that adds on to our borrowing ability. This is unconscionable —

Director Brophy:

May I respond? I think the way you are rephrasing it as borrowing money for Mr. Kossman is, in my opinion, a very narrow way of defining the issue here. This is a project which the City committed itself to in 1980; it's a project —

Michelle Madoff:

Which I voted against incidentally.

Director Brophy:

It's a project that has very important economic implications for this City; we talked about the number of jobs —

Michelle Madoff:

356 out of 800.

Director Brophy:

Looking at what this project has done to the assessed value of the land to the taxes that are being paid both in property taxes and wages, our projection for 1985 is that this project will produce, between the land taxes, building taxes, school taxes and the earned income tax, $.5 million a year in taxes.

Michelle Madoff:

That will more than cover our obligation on —

Director Brophy:

It's above all of that because the loan arrangement with the developer is that the loan is going to be repaid.

Michelle Madoff:

Separately, it has nothing to do with the monies —

Director Brophy:

This is $.5 million in taxes that is being generated for the City and School District.

Michelle Madoff:

Do you agree, Paul, and I am not into that, I think you and I both agree that hindsight is a wonderful thing and if we had known this we would have done it differently, you would have done it differently, you are doing it differently now and I am out to I think you did what you thought was right at the time. I think we both agree with a little more work done up front, we wouldn't be in the situation we are in today and that what you have done is do the best you can and probably a very good plan in making sure the difference is going to come back to us and that it is not going to cost the taxpayer.

Director Brophy:

Correct.

Michelle Madoff:

But you would agree that the burden on the capital borrowing does effect substantially our borrowing ability?

Director Brophy:

This is obviously $4 million that we are putting into a project —

Michelle Madoff:

I just want an answer.

Director Brophy:

That's right.

Michelle Madoff:

You know for those who may not know, I have not liked Mr. Kossman's business ethics; I don't like the way he does business; I have never liked the way he does business and I would like to ask one last question and then refer to my colleague. How many minorities and women were hired of those 300 jobs?

Director Brophy:

As of December 31, 1983, I am showing 64 permanent minority jobs on this and 451 low and moderate income persons that were hired.

Michelle Madoff:

And of course a lot of them would be women because we are the lower income women, we do the menial jobs. How many minorities?

Director Brophy:

Sixty-four.

Michelle Madoff:

So sixty-four out of a big hundred is what percentage?

Director Brophy:

Probably in the neighborhood of 8 percent.

Michelle Madoff:

Eight percent. It is suppose to be 15 and I hope that you may prevail on Mr. Kossman that we would like to see 15 percent. Thank you.

MR. O'MALLEY COMMENTS

Michelle Madoff:

When were you aware that this project was going to have to escalate in this cost? How long ago?

Director Brophy:

Well, we knew the costs were getting higher and we didn't know specifically what they would be until we went out for bids and received bids.

Michelle Madoff:

How long ago was that?

Mr. Detorre:

December 23rd of last year.

Michelle Madoff:

That's when you knew it was going to be up that much higher?

Director Brophy:

That's right.

Michelle Madoff:

And what's the date today?

MR. O'MALLEY COMMENTS

Michelle Madoff:

How long is that?

Director Brophy:

That's three months.

Michelle Madoff:

That's exactly the point that Councilman O'Malley is making. Why wouldn't you have told us?

Director Brophy:

Because I didn't want to bring legislation before you until I had an arrangement worked out with Mr. Kossman that, in fact, he was going to reimburse us for what he borrowed.

Michelle Madoff:

Would you agree we would be much more receptive in helping you solve your problem, because you are between a hard place and a rock? Is that correct?

Director Brophy:

That's correct.

Michelle Madoff:

But if Councilman O'Malley felt that if you had not waited three months to tell him we were approaching this thing, the Stadium, the Warner Cable, the Water Authority and now Mr. Kossman, you come to Council and you say you have 20 minutes to decide if you don't do it, the price is going to go up and Council, you are responsible for everything that happens. Well, this City is run by the Administration and when they want our opinion, they give it to us and I, for one, concur with my colleague; we are not rushing it.

Director Brophy:

I simply will not live with that paraphrasing of what I said. All I said was I felt it was my responsibility to put on the table the risk of holding.

Michelle Madoff:

You have known this three months ago; you could have held an informal meeting with Council and said we have run into a problem, the cost are going to go higher. Would you do it in the future?

Director Brophy:

Yes, I will.

Michelle Madoff:

That's all. I have no problem with what you are doing. The last question, obviously the company that did the ground testing knowing the BFI and everybody in the world knew that that was hills and valleys and Mr. Kossman was brilliant and that he built his buildings on the solid ground and built his roadways and his parking lots on the fill, is that correct?

Director Brophy:

That's correct.

Michelle Madoff:

Anybody knowing anything about that project knew that we knew that you couldn't sustain buildings and there the question comes up, couldn't sustain a road. When we found out, when URA found out that indeed there was going to be a road built over this land, it was tested, is that correct? And that is what we call "preliminary perusal study" done by this GAI?

Director Brophy:

It was not tested; that's the point that Councilman O'Malley was making.

Michelle Madoff:

Then you get into an engineering firm that designs. Did the engineering firm put their seal on?

Director Brophy:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

Did they test?

Mr. Detorre:

Yes, there was extensive work.

Michelle Madoff:

Then sue the engineering firm.

Director Brophy:

You are misunderstanding, Michelle. If I may, the engineering firm is Gannett-Fleming; they have produced detailed drawings, they have done detailed corroborings, they have put their seal on —

Michelle Madoff:

On the new plan and not on the old plan. Is that what you are saying?

Director Brophy:

The old plan wasn't nearly detailed enough to put a stamp on it; it was a study.

Michelle Madoff:

You mean to say we came up with a commitment that now is at $8 million and was originally at $4 million on the basis of not having a thorough engineering study? Who authorizes this kind of work? It's like the pool that was built in Schenley Park, that we pay four times the cost of the pool because nobody passed the plan from Parks and Recreation to another department to say is this a plan; are the sewers going to hold up? Is this designed the way we use to do it many years before I was here? Somebody signed it in every department. How could this have been allowed to happen?

Director Brophy:

I can't explain how it happened. I can simply add to that, however, that there is one important difference here between a pool project or something else and that is that before the City agreed to proceed with this they had an agreement with the developer that any extra cost that the City had would be reimbursed by the developer.

Michelle Madoff:

That is commendable, I think you need to be congratulated for that.

Director Brophy:

It's not an unimportant difference.

Michelle Madoff:

It is. It is very important and you are to be congratulated for that and I am not taking one bit of that away from you. What you have done is essentially cover the City's proverbial and that's to be commended. You are between a hard place and a rock, but I don't want to have this Council between a hard place and a rock all the time. Every time there is a decision, it's always two minutes before deadline and please when you see this kind of problem coming up in the future, would you let the Finance Chairman know and we would be briefed.

(END - MICHELLE MADOFF'S CONVERSATION WITH MR. BROPHY - 3/21/84)

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, let's clarify something. Bill No. 418 is not being voted on at this time.

The Chair:

She's joined it with what we had joined on Wednesday but he is correct.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm terribly sorry; that's under Mr. Robinson's Committee. Thank you.

Mr. Wagner:

I vote aye and I would also like my comments brought forward from the last two weeks on Bills No. 425 and 426 to be put into the record.

(BEGINNING - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NOS. 425 AND 426 - 3/21/84)

Mr. Wagner:

We all know what it is like to be traveling on an interstate highway at 55 mph, come around the corner and all of a sudden to have the exit ramp right in front of you; and not only do vou have to get to that exit ramp, you have to weave in and out of tractor trailers that are traveling at a speed of 25 mph.

I think we should, this Council, should be briefed on this exit ramp, why it has to be so long, why it has to begin at that location, why it cannot be a shorter ramp. I personally don't think there needs to be an exit at that point along this road and I would like PennDOT to explain exactly the reason behind it.

Mr. Brophy, to follow up on Mr. O'Malley, based on the consultant that did the work, GAI, does the URA have any type of agreement with consultants as does the City of Pittsburgh to hold them liable for any errors made?

Director Brophy:

It depends on the nature of the work; in the case of the environment assessment GAI did, we did not have that kind of requirrement in the contract. In other incidents were you are involved in detail engineering work, we carry that kind of requirement.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, it seems that with this particular project, we all know that was a landfill. Anyone that passes that or has passed that for the last five years knows that, I believe, it was Browning, Ferris Industries had a contract with Kossman to fill that valley with landfill and for a consulting engineer to go in and to assume that that ground is stable is an indication that that person is not competent in their consulting work without doing any test borrings or any other follow up engineering work.

The City of Pittsburgh has an agreement that I would like to see begin to be enforced with various consultants where we indicate the consultant shall not withstanding the acceptance and approval of the City of any work performed or completed under the terms of the consultants contract continue to be responsible and liable on the contract for any expense or damage incurred by the City in remedy errors or ommissions in any part of the work performed on a contract. And I would like to see the URA and I would like to see the City of Pittsburgh some time in the future where a consultant is in error, and it appears as if they obviously were in this particular instance, to take legal action to make them pay for any future cost that may be incurred. You indicated earlier that that is not the case, that the Legal Department has investigated this?

Director Brophy:

Correct.

Mr. Wagner:

And it is not possible in this instance?

Director Brophy:

Correct.

Mr. Wagner:

Do you have an agreement such as this with consultants doing work for the URA?

Director Brophy:

The answer is the GAI contract was more in the order of a study. On our engineering contracts where there is actual work going on, we carry that language.

Michelle Madoff:

The engineer approved it from that study?

Director Brophy:

Pardon me?

Mr. Wagner:

In other words, GAI did not officially approve this study, is that correct? Is that the reason why we can't hold them liable for any errors?

Director Brophy:

I am trying to distinguish here between the environmental assessment work that they did which was to give us some indication of how, what work would have to be done to accommodate the Parkway Center Mall and distinguish that from a detailed engineering contract that says here is the work that has to be done in detail; here is where the ramp needs to go, here is where the wall has to be such that it's built according to specifications and you got a retaining wall that falls down three years later and it was built according to their specifications. We have some legal action to take. The nature of the GAI work was more of a planning study than it was an engineering piece of work.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, even in the planning study, it was very obvious that whether it was a 30 mph ramp or 40 mph, it doesn't matter what the length of the ramp was that it had to go over sanitary landfill; therefore, certain test borrings should have been done of the land to determine if in fact it was capable of holding a ramp.

Mr. Detorre:

Mr. Wagner, if I could rest that, GAI knew that the soils were a worry and in their cost estimate they allow for $200,000.00 for their soils work in the estimate. It wasn't that they recognized it, that there were soil problems. I think that something to think about is the fact that these had to be taken over the PennDOT after they are built and it's a matter of how far did they want us to go in stabilizing the soil, PennDOT. What did PennDOT require in terms of stabilization? We probably spent double than what we thought we might spend on solid stabilization.

There are other areas where, on one section of the Parkway because of the ramp lengths, if you know the area where the Parkway was filled, when it was built we had to widen those areas and had to place walls in those areas, but those slopes there were not as stable as we anticipated; those were designed because those weren't known at that time.

Mr. Wagner:

Does the URA have an agreement with consultants where you can hold them liable for error?

Mr. Detorre:

When the contract is for design, either that or engineering, yes.

Mr. Wagner:

But this wasn't done as engineering?

Mr. Detorre:

This was a planning study to work with the City Planning staff on the assessment of the project.

Mr. Stone:

Mr. Wagner, before you leave that point, if I may. I think we better clear something up here because there is some strong language used and from what I am hearing from Mr. Brophy, it doesn't apply here.

First of all, you asked a good question. He is saying, on the error and ommission, is it only because that was not part of the contract here with GAI that we can't sue them or because it was not in GAI's original scope of work, for which they are responsible for the rest of the work?

Director Brophy:

Both. It was a planning study, not an engineering study and therefore it did not carry that language and --

Mr. Stone:

Whether you have the errors and ommissions then, it doesn't make any difference. They were not responsible.

Director Brophy:

That's correct.

Mr. Stone:

So that's the question and you almost left it with him because it didn't have errors and ommissions. Therefore, that's why we can't sue them, even if they are wrong. Let me correct it and then we go back to him, I don't want to take it too far. If I am understanding you correctly, it's an early study for which they were not responsible to determine whether this soil was able to withstand whatever it might be in the eventually.

Director Brophy:

Correct.

Mr. Wagner:

Will GAI do any additional consulting work on this project.

Director Brophy:

No.

Mr. Wagner:

The City is going to borrow $4 million, at what interest I am not certain. It is written into the contract for repayment that the repayment of those dollars will be equal to the interest rates at which we borrow the money?

Director Brophy:

Correct.

Mr. Wagner:

One last item. I was sent a copy of the engineering plans and to some degree I question the engineer of this project. What we have is, we have Parkway West coming from the Liberty Tunnels; we know when you go up that area of the Parkway, there are three lanes and the right lane is the truck lane, the slow lane. As soon as you get around that curb into the lane, what you have is an exit ramp beginning a long exit ramp leading into the Parkway Center Mall. My question is, with slow traffic being in the left and right lane which is these three arrows indicating the lanes, you are going to have the truck traffic traveling at a speed of anywhere from 15 to 25 to 30 mph. They are not going to be exiting in most instances at this exit. The vehicles that exit are going to be the ones in the middle lane or the outside lane that are following this slow traffic. As soon as you get around this curb, you are going to have truck traffic trying to go from the right lane to the middle lane and you are going to have automobile traffic trying to move into the right lane. So, my question is, in the engineering design of this, has that been considered? Do they know that they are creating potentially unsafe conditions that can cause accidents, due to the dropping of traffic?

Mr. Detorre:

Mr. Wagner, as this project was designed there was a leading analysis done and, of course, all the plans have been approved by PennDOT and the federal highway people. That's one of the reasons why the ramp is so long. You will have weaving and it wasn't deemed to be a serious problem; it was considered as part of the design.

Mr. Robinson presented

Bill No. 557

Report of the Committee on Planning, Housing and Development for March 28, 1984 transmitting one ordinance and sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 145

An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance amending the Pittsburgh Code, Title Nine, Zoning, Article III, Chapter 921, Section 921.02, Zoning District Map No. 11 by changing: From "M2" Limited Industrial District to "R5-H" Multiple-Family Residence District all that certain property bounded by : Centre Avenue; Lot No. 282, Block 84-E in the Allegheny County Block and Lot System; the "R4" zoning district boundary line located south of Centre Avenue; South Negley Avenue; the "R5-H" zoning district boundary line located east of South Negley Avenue and south of Centre Avenue, 7th Ward."

Which was read.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, on Bill No. 145, I'd like to move to recommit that bill to Committee and the reason for my motion is, I believe at the public hearing I expressed concern about this zoning change taking place and the development not going through. If that development did not go through, then we have a piece of property that is zoned residential which is currently zoned light industrial. If this high-rise does not go in there, I'd rather see that property remain light industrial in light of the poor economic times we have. At least that's another section where some employment might be generated. I asked the Law Department to draft such an amendment and they said it couldn't be done. There was not much discussion about it and I'd like it to go back to Committee so that we can expound on that.

The Chair:

Mr. Grabowski, as I recall, I had also spoken on that subject. Legally, I think where the prohibition might be, you can't say what you really want to do because it seems like it's discriminatory, you're doing it for these parties and not others. I have no problem with you getting more explanation on it.

Michelle Madoff:

I moved to Pittsburgh in 1961 and live at Centre Negley which is practically directly across the road from that building. I had a one and a half year old child and I would urge this Council to make this a residential area. It does not belong as a light industrial. The area is being renovated or upgraded; there's a beautiful apartment house across from the Centre Negley. There's the Centre Negley Apartment then there's the new apartment house that's across the road. It is literally surrounded once you get to Baum Boulevard, which is a separation, sort of a dividing line with tire manufacturers, automobile sales places. Centre Avenue ought to be brought back as residential. There are some restaurants there. One restaurant has had the worst luck; it's going out of business about eight times under different management. It's finally making it. I don't think we ought to do anything to hurt that area but keep it residential.

The Chair:

In fairness to Mr. Grabowski, I don't think he's saying he's opposed to it; he's just fearful that if it doesn't happen, what happens?

Michelle Madoff:

Let's have another residential venture go in there. Some townhouses. Something.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, out of deference to Mr. Grabowski, I'd like to make a motion to recommit Council Bill 145.

The Chair:

He's made that request; do you want to second it?

Mr. Robinson:

I'm sorry, I didn't know he had made a motion.

I second the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Also,

Bill No. 418

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending Resolution 1348, effective December 31, 1982, entitled, 'Resolution amending Resolution No. 1147, approved November 8, 1982, effective November 22, 1982, entitled, 'Amending Resolution No. 1067, effective October 29, 1981, entitled, 'Providing for a Cooperation Agreement or Agreements with the Urban Redevelopment Authority of Pittsburgh in connection with the Administration of the Parkway Center Shopping Mall Urban Development Action Grant Project; and providing for the payment of the cost thereof.' to increase the funds provided from $4,626,000 to $9,126,000 and to provide for the transfer to said Authority of any funds realized by the City from tap-in fees in connection with the Alpark Sewer is hereby amended by correcting the project code number and decreasing the funds provided from $9,126,000 to $8,426,000' is hereby amended to increase the funds provided from $8,426,000 to $12,626,000." (AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE)

Which was read.

Mr. Robinson:

On Council Bill 418, I'd like to have my comments from the last two weeks relative to the Parkway Center Shopping Mall included in the record.

(BEGINNING - MR. ROBINSON'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 418 - 3/28/84)

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. Chairman, on Council Bill No. 418, I'd like to offer the following amendment. Each member of Council should have in front of them a printed copy of this amendment. This amendment is only on Council Bill No. 418.

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

Mr. Robinson:

The amendments have to go first. The amendment would read, "Principle and Interest Payments, when paid to the Urban Redevelopment Authority by Paul Kossman, the Kossman Development Company, their successors or assigns, shall be deposited in a trust fund in such a manner that one-half, 50 percent of the principle, and all of the interest, 100 percent, shall be restricted for use in economic development activities that have a stated purpose of developing employment opportunities".

This amendment is only being made to Council Bill No. 418 which very specifically relates to the UDAG arrangement. The moneys that I'm referring to are any UDAG moneys that are forwarded pursuant to the three pieces of legislation and they would be returned and deposited according to this amendment, only the UDAG moneys, no bond fund moneys or other moneys.

MR. STONE COMMENTS

Mr. Robinson:

Half of the principle and 100 percent of the interest.

MR. STONE COMMENTS

Mr. Robinson:

If I'm not mistaken, there's a genreal trust fund now that URA has complete latitude over and that's where that other 50 percent would go.

I'd just like to make a couple of quick comments. One, if we look back to the history of this project, I think the concerns that Mrs. Madoff raised and also that were raised by Mr. O'Malley are very valid. I don't think we should forget for one minute that one of the difficulties that we had originally in approving the UDAG and approving the project was the issue of traffic exit ramps and at that time Mr. Kossman was unwilling or unable, out of his own resources, to provide for those ramps. Because of a number of community concerns and concerns raised by this Council, we made a valid attempt to accommodate him and we did extend ourselves by indicating to HUD that we would accept responsibility for those public improvements. I think, unfortunately, we probably made a bad deal and that bad deal is now one that we probably have to live with because of the economic consequences and also due to the fact that we're pretty far along with this project. But I think it was a bad deal and we ought to admit that we made a bad deal and I think Mr. O'Malley's suggestion that we try to prevent this in the future is very appropriate and I hope Council will give due consideration to the legislation he's going to be drafting.

(END - MR. ROBINSON'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 418 - 3/28/84)

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, I'd like to make a comment about Bill 418. It has generated some controversy. As I understand this legislation, it represents the final phase of a project that the City agreed to support back in 1980 or 1981, whenever the original agreement was signed. It's unfortunate that at that time no one estimated that it would cost this greater amount of money. Nevertheless, all the parties agreed back at that time that this project was good and needed and, you know, I feel we have an obligation and rather than have the City being accused of compromising it's integrity, I feel incumbent to support this legislation.

Michelle Madoff:

I think the City is between a hard place and a rock on this bill and since there are enough votes to support it, I reiterate, I'm going to vote no on 418 as a personal protest against Mr. Kossman and his dealings with the City which are odorous and I would hope that in the future he will learn that we're not going to put up with that kind of action.

Mr. Robinson:

On 418, I'd just like to indicate that I do think we made a bad deal initially and to correct it would make a worse situation.

Mr. Wagner:

I vote aye on all bills and I'd just like to comment again, not knowing which bill pertains to the specific amount of dollars, whether it be 425, 426, or 418, that all the appropriate comments be brought forward.

(BEGINNING - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 418 - 3/28/84)

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Brophy, first of all, I would like to thank you for the information that you have provided me with since last Wednesday's meeting. I had three concerns last Wednesday on number one, the interest incurred by the City in floating the bonds would be repaid by Kossman and you have indicated that it will be done. One quick question. What happens if Kossman goes bankrupt over 30 years?

Director Brophy:

We have been working with his first mortgage lenders in such that we are secured; we will have a mortgage filed on the property that would put us in the position that we can recover these funds upon foreclosure. If you'd like a more detailed answer to that, I'd call on Joe Garrity our general counsel, to describe the nature of the security.

Mr. Wagner:

Just as long as we're sure in the event that he does go bankrupt.

Director Brophy:

We're covered.

Mr. Wagner:

Number two, the question I had pertaining to the engineering design of the project and the information that you have provided me with indicates that the fourth ramp will be approximately 540 feet in length prior to actually getting on the separation of the ramp from the Parkway, which appears to be adequate distance for preparation to get off. We all know the problems of the Parkway East in the past. The design of the exit and entrance ramps have been horrible. Examples are Squirrel Hill/Greenfield; also the Greentree exit and entrance ramps. I'm pleased to see that the proper engineering has gone into this exit and entrance ramp mainly because of the bend in the road that exists there. We need to prepare the people for that exit ramp and just one suggestion I have and I would like you to incorporate it, is that a sign prior to the bend indicating "Prepare to exit" sign on the Parkway I think would eliminate some confusion and would further alert the public of the exit ramp.

The third item pertains to a safe, harmless agreement with the consultant. We know that this is important due to the fact that the present fill in the area is not stable and it's extremely important that that consultant be providing the proper information for the construction of that exit ramp and if, in the event that exit ramp is constructed and it's found to be not a quality ramp after construction is completed, we want to be sure that we can hold that consultant legally responsible and you are assuring us that that does exist.

Director Brophy:

Yes, on that last point Councilman, we have language in the contract that holds us harmless from any problems that result of negligence of the consultant with respect to work performed under the agreement. We also have the requirement and it has been met for professional liability insurance for this engineer so that we know that the engineer can handle any liability that comes up.

Mr. Wagner:

Thank you.

(END - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 418 - 3/28/84)

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. Robinson	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 6 NOES 1

(MICHELLE MADOFF VOTING NO)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

Also,

Bill No. 439

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements with the University of Pittsburgh for a study in connection with the Infant Mortality problem in the Pittsburgh area at a cost not to exceed $10,000.00." (SPONSORED BY MR. ROBINSON)

Which was read.

Mr. Robinson:

On Council Bill 439, I'd like to have my comments from last Wednesday and Mrs. Madoff's questions and my response included in the record.

(BEGINNING - MR. ROBINSON'S CONVERSATION WITH MICHELLE MADOFF ON BILL NO. 439 - 3/28/84)

Mr. Robinson:

Also, I'd like to have attached to the bill a copy of a letter that was forwarded to the Mayor and Members of Council from Mr. Arthur J. Edmonds who is the Executive Director of the Pittsburgh Urban League, extending the assistance of the Urban League and also suggesting the involvement of additional medical personnel in this particular study.

The initial amount is simply to conduct some basic research. It is anticipated that additional moneys will be needed. Whether or not those moneys will be requested from Council at this point is unknown, but the $10,000.00 is to gather some research data and a report will be made to Council and the Administration and then some recommendation from that. I anticipate that what the Mayor is going to do once the report is complete, is appoint a blue-ribbon panel to carry out the recommendations and I'm sure part of those recommendations will be securing the necessary funds to try to arrest the problem.

Michelle Madoff:

I believe that there is a program established already — we're making a contribution of $10,000.00 to it an it is a much greater sum of funds that have already been allocated.

Mr. Robinson:

Which program is that?

Michelle Madoff:

To study the problem of infant mortality on this bill. It is something I read about in the paper as I recall it.

Mr. Robinson:

If I might Mr. Chairman, I think I know what Mrs. Madoff is referring to . This bill specifically is going to provide money to study the issue of black infant mortality in the City of Pittsburgh. There have been numerous studies conducted over the last 20 years, some of which have been conducted by physicians in the City of Pittsburgh, some of which have been conducted by physicians and University personnel in the City of Pittsburgh. This particular study is going to be conducted by 15 doctors at the University of Pittsburgh who are affiliated with the University Health Center. I would anticipate that their study would be supplemental. Mr. Edmonds' letter indicates some activities that have been going on; it indicates some activities that the Urban League is engaged with the March of Dimes and he also very specifically indicates that my suggestion that black doctors be involved in this particular study be followed by this Council, that we indeed insist that there be some black doctors involved in this study and he has given the names of two doctors who he thinks would be involved. I plan to share that information with Dr. Thomas Detrie at the University of Pittsburgh who had put the task force together as well as the Mayor, and hopefully by Monday some black doctors will have been added to the task force. You are right, there are several things going on being funded. This is just an additional funding for the same purpose.

Michelle Madoff:

What I am saying is that $10,000.00 is a joke. This is a horrendous situation; we're just making a contribution of $10,000.00 to a great sum I would hope.

Mr. Robinson:

I don't think there's any doubt that the work of the task force and hopefully the Blue Ribbon Commission cannot be achieved at the level of $10,000.00. There are some people who have indicated that they think the $10,000.00 can be more wisely spent by contributing to an on-going study. I don't think that there's any reason not to allow the people at the University of Pittsburgh to get involved in this process and I think $10,000.00 is an appropriate figure. I think we are going to have to, in this City, determine whether or not we want to address the issue of black infant mortality, what it's going to cost and who should be involved in that process. This particular study should take about three months. During that period of time, some of the concerns that you have raised hopefully will be answered and I think if the Mayor requests of this Council any additional funds, that certainly we ought to indicate that those funds should be appropriate to the task.

(END - MR. ROBINSON'S CONVERSATION WITH MICHELLE MADOFF ON BILL NO. 439 - 3/28/84)

Mr. Robinson:

Also on 439, I'd like to indicate that I have attached to the legislation three letters, one from Dr. Oswald Nickens, one from Dr. Robert Kisner, both of whom are black physicians in this City, both of whom are experts in the area of obstetrics, and also a letter from Mr. Arthur J. Edmunds who is the Executive Director of the Urban League of Pittsburgh.

My reason for attaching these three letters to the legislation is that these three distinguished individuals have made some recommendations that I think are very important if indeed we are going to seriously address the issue of black infant mortality in the City of Pittsburgh. Both Dr. Nickens and Dr. Kisner feel that it would be appropriate to include on the task force that would do the study some black physicians who have a long history in expertise in this area. I think that their comments and suggestions are well taken and I would recommend to the University of Pittsburgh that they indeed include some black doctors on the task force that will actually accomplish the goal of gathering statistics on black infant mortality.

As far as Mr. Edmunds' letter is concerned, his letter very clearly identifies some other efforts being launched in this area and Mrs. Madoff made reference to that about a week ago, other efforts in this area. I think it would be wise for the task force to take advantage of additional information by way of efforts of the Urban League of Pittsburgh which has been working on this particular problem for a number of years.

Also, I think it is important to note that in the legislation as presently drafted, it does not specifically indicated black infant mortality. I think for purposes of clarity, Council Bill 439 should be amended, and I so make that motion, that the legislation specifically be amended to deal with the problem of black infant mortality in the City of Pittsburgh.

The Chair:

I thought I saw that. Hold on.

Okay, I'll accept that motion; the word is not there.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson:

Just one last comment, if I might, on Council Bill 439. I also forwarded a letter to the Chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, Dr. Wesley Posvar, relative to this issue. While I recognize the limits of the task force and the study, I think it is important to note that probably one of the base problems that relate directly to black infant mortality in the City of Pittsburgh is the lack of adequate medical care. This is not a problem that is indigenous to Pittsburgh; it is a problem that exists in every major city in this country where minority people live. The American Medical Association, in attempting to address the issue of health care in urban areas, at their recent convention, 1983 convention, indicated that unless a major commitment was made to produce and develop black health care professionals, namely doctors, in the 21st Century there will not be any health care for minority people in urban areas because survey, white doctors have indicated that they are not going to service urban residents who are black. I certainly don't presuppose to speak for the American Medical Association —

The Chair:

I hope that's not part of the new oath they took.

Mr. Robinson:

I hope not either. But I hope that certainly the University of Pittburgh, as one of the outstanding medical schools in this country, will pick up the challenge and make a major commitment to recruit, train and graduate black doctors over the next ten to fifteen years so that at least in this City we will have some assurances that people of color, particularly mothers, will be receiving quality care.

That letter to Dr. Posvar certainly was sent with full recognition of the University of Pittsburgh's outstanding record in the field of medicine and also the outstanding reputation that our City is developing as a center for medicine; also, because I think the efforts of the University of Pittsburgh in this whole area of black infant mortality should be recognized and should be congratulated. But I think I would be remiss if I didn't indicate that there are some other things that the University can do to make sure that there are the health care professionals available in our City to take care of all segments of our population.

The Chair:

Mr. Robinson, I should not let pass that comment we just made. I sincerely hope that the students who are going to med school at all of our City of Pittsburgh schools are intending to render aid to all patients, regardless of color, race or creed. I find it rather shocking in this century that we would now have someone of a particular color or creed handling their own people.

I have some very strong feelings about our Univerity, particularly the University of Pittsburgh Health Center. When we can bring doctors from all over the world, we just can't take anybody from this community. I would hope that they would find some way to mend what they're doing because I don't think it's fair to the community who tolerates them being on tax-free property. It's about time we start addressing that subject.

Mr. Wagner:

I would like to make a comment on Bill No. 439. I questioned at last Wednesday's meeting whether or not this was a sufficient number of dollars for such a study of this magnitude. I, for one, would be in favor in the future, if it is not a sufficient number of dollars, for this Council supporting additional dollars for this type of study.

Also,

Bill No. 440

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the Issuance of Certificates of Appropriateness for exterior work on various residential structures in the Schenley Farms, Manchester and Mexican War Streets Historic Districts and for exterior work on a commercial structure in the Market Square Historic District, in the 4th Ward, 21st Ward, 22nd Ward and 1st Ward respectively."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. Robinson	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

Mr. Grabowski presented

Bill No. 558

Report of the Committee on General Services for March 28, 1984 transmitting one resolution to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 437

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the letting of a contract or contracts or the use of existing contracts for the furnishing and delivery of Wheel Locking Devices for the Department of Police, Code Account Number 1452, Equipment and Machinery, and for the payment thereof."

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm confused. Is that not Mr. O'Malley's bill?

Mr. Perry:

Mr. O'Malley presented it but it went to the Committee on General Services.

Michelle Madoff:

Is there a companion bill with that?

Mr. Perry:

The companion bill is in the Committee on Public Safety.

Michelle Madoff:

I vote no and I'd like to explain my vote. I think it's unfortunate that things are taken out of context and one of the advantages of being able to speak for yourself. I have not said the people should not pay their penalties. When you get a ticket and you're guilty, like I have been in the past, I pay them. I can get tickets fixed; I don't get them fixed. I wish everybody else who could get them fixed would also say the same thing.

I also believe that in these times of tremendous unemployment, so many people out of work, students trying to get a place to park, the amount that we charge for violations, whether they're parking overtime or more serious violations, $32 and $37 plus a $35 fee for booting is excessive. When I asked Superintendent Coll why we didn't start with the 20 ticket offenders first of all, he said, "We have so many of them", but I never got a direct answer.

The Chair:

Hold on for a second. We are now only on whether we buy them or not. Not the other bill which is, I think, what you want to make an amendment to. This is only to purchase 15,000.

Michelle Madoff:

To buy the boots to be used for maybe people with 30 or 50 violations.

The Chair:

I think that's defined in 438.

Michelle Madoff:

I'll hold off and make my motion on the other bill.

The Chair:

How are you voting on this one?

Michelle Madoff:

Sure. Buy them. I know a couple of people I'd like to use them on.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. Robinson	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Mrs. Masloff presented

Bill No. 559

Report of the Committee on Parks and Recreation for March 28, 1984 transmitting one resolution to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 435

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an agreement or agreements with an independent contractor to provide professional services in connection with the Department of Parks and Recreation's recreational programs, and providing for the payment of the costs thereof."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. Robinson	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Mr. Robinson for Mr. O'Malley presented

Bill No. 560

Report of the Committee on Public Safety for March 28, 1984 transmitting one ordinance to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 438

An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance amending the Pittsburgh Code, Title Five - Traffic, Chapters 501, 521, 523, and 525 by defining 'booting', permitting immobilization, providing for the hearings for immobilized vehicles and towed vehicles, and setting fee for release of immobilized vehicles."

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

I did not say, and I am fully in support of scofflaws, including Michelle Madoff and other members of this Council, paying their fines. If you're guilty, you pay them. However, when I asked Superintendent Coll why we could not start with really scofflaws with more than 20, I did not get an answer. In this time of great unemployment, and the students having great difficulty finding places to park, sometimes with the best of intentions, even Councilpeople who are tied up in issues, cannot get down within the appropriate time to pay their fine and therefore we do have to pay a greater amount. I do, however, feel for the unemployed, for students and others, that the amount that we're paying right now, the fee, is really out of line with the crime; $35, $32, $37 for booting fees and penalties for parking violations are really excessive and with 10 or 20 they really add up.

I can't do anything about that law; I believe that's set in Harrisburg. But I would ask this Council to amend the bill so that we go after, in these times when the streets are all torn up — you can't even find a place Downtown; business is hurting; Market Square calls all the time about not having parking facilities; there's no where to park in the Downtown areas down near Kaufmann's — that we amend it for this first year, at least, while the City is torn up, to not put a boot on someone under 10 violations, particularly 10 violations, and since there's no way of discriminating of just overtime at a meter. I think it really would be the moral, the right and humane thing to do. I think people are hurting very badly financially. We have so many scofflaws, according to Superintendent Coll, that are well over 20; let's start with them. My concern is that a policeman is going to have a printout list, he's going to see a car with a license, the name's on the list, it's five tickets, on goes the boot. I just would like to amend Bill 438 by changing the number from 5 to 10 the number of unpaid summons issued against a vehicle to authorize the City to immobilize said vehicle by means of a wheel-locking device known as a boot.

The Chair:

The bill does not call for five. What he said was, that was a policy decision that they were making. I don't mean to abuse you but if I can, just for a moment —

Michelle Madoff:

Gee, I'm glad you don't mean to abuse me.

The Chair:

You said you had five tags. On each one of them —

Michelle Madoff:

I have none that I know of right now.

The Chair:

Before you paid them, how many notices did you get on each one?

Michelle Madoff:

They come almost immediately and the ones that I got parking on the side of the building —

The Chair:

You, originally on the day that it happened, got a tag.

Michelle Madoff:

Right.

The Chair:

Then after that you got a notice —

Michelle Madoff:

I parked, because I was out of the hospital, three times within a very short period of time on the side of the building. I didn't have the time to get down there.

The Chair:

That's not my point. How many reminders did you get after that?

Michelle Madoff:

The reminders came while I was getting the other tickets and wasn't in the frame of health to get down and I kept calling to say I was going down and never got there.

The Chair:

That's not my point. Take the oldest one you had; how many notices did you get prior to the time that you had paid it?

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, I don't know that exact figure. I'm sure it's what you would consider a reasonable length of time.

The Chair:

You probably have gotten five notices somewhere along the line.

Michelle Madoff:

The point that I'm making is, if we want to be specific, the Crown fiasco was going on, I was trying to save the City some money. The point I am making is that we had so many issue pending in Council, I didn't have five minutes to myself. I tried to get down to pay the tickets, kept calling to say I would get their, and something happened beyond my control and I couldn't get their. Other people are in the same situation. I was guilty. I do not plead mercy; I pay my tickets. I'm wrong. But I don't think that we should go out in these times and boot people with 5 violations before we boot people with at least 20 and I'm willing to settle for 10.

The Chair:

The only point I was trying to ask you because out of experience you would know how many notices you got off of that first tag. It's my understanding that roughly before they do anything, there are five possible notices.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't believe that to be fact. I think they send you two notices.

The Chair:

If a person has 5 tags, they've got 25 notices of some sort. And that's before they start dunning him, before they threaten to pick up his car.

You know, there are some people in this town, when they get a tag, they can't run fast enough to go and pay for it. That's how much they're afraid to wait.

Michelle Madoff:

There are some who get a lot of tickets who never pay. They get them fixed.

The Chair:

That's right. That's why I pay anything I get but I don't get them in the first place.

Michelle Madoff:

Let's get the big ones first. I tried very hard, since I've had some bad experiences, not to get tickets. I make every effort. I certainly make every effort not to park on the side of the building. I can't afford another new car; I just bought this one and it isn't paid for vet.

The Chair:

I didn't really want to bring you into it other than you would know how many times you got a notice on a tag.

Michelle Madoff:

I think the image that is being left with the media is that Michelle Madoff thinks she is above the law. That is not true. When guilty I pay my tickets. But I think that a police officer looking at a sheet that has five tickets on it for overtime parking, maybe it's only five minutes, is going to say, "Put the boot on!"

Mr. Woods:

Michelle, I think if you read one section of this, it says, "5 unpaid tickets within an 18 month period". That means if you have these 5 tickets for 18 months and they're not paid, then they have the right to do that. If somebody doesn't pay them in 18 months, shame on them.

Michelle Madoff:

Gee, even I don't do that. I might go a couple of months, 2 or 3 months because I'm tied up with business of Council.

Mr. Woods:

That's what the legislation says.

Michelle Madoff:

Where does it say 18 months, please?

Mr. Woods:

The second page, all the way down to the bottom of the page, the last paragraph; E. If the magistrate determines that 5 or more unpaid parking violations or citations within an 18 month period are outstanding —

Michelle Madoff:

I'm sorry, I'm not with you. You're too fast for me. What section is that?

Mr. Woods:

Under E, the bottom of the last paragraph under 3.

Michelle Madoff:

It says within an 18 month period. It doesn't say after an 18 month.

Mr. Woods:

If they haven't been paid within 18 months — if you get the first one today and you get five more, in a year and a half from today, if you haven't paid this one then you're on that list. But if you pay this one in 17 months then you still only have 4 so you're not on that list.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Woods, I hate to be the expert on scofflawing but when you down to court and I'm sure that's how I'll be headed in today's paper, but if you go in and you pay a ticket and the others haven't come in yet; they don't even hit the record office and computer for 2 or 3 days, if you go to pay it in advance you can't do it. I've tried to pay my tickets when I received them and sometimes you can't pay them that day or the next day because it has not hit the computer. So, what happens is that I would prefer that it said after 18 months. I don't think it should be 18 months; I think it should be 6 months. My only point is that I don't want it on 5; I would like it on 10.

Mrs. Masloff:

If you pay the first one you only have four so they won't boot you.

Michelle Madoff:

But you might have another ticket. There are people who I am sure, and I use the example of calls I get in my office all the time, who are students.

The Chair:

Hold on a second. Ben, I think you threw us a curve here; let me straighten it out. He's talking about Section 3, Subsection B. I thought you said E.

Mr. Woods:

Paragraph 3.

Michelle Madoff:

Within an 18 month period.

The Chair:

I stand corrected, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, would it be in order to amend that to say, 5 tickets, if you want to leave it that way, or 10 tickets, within a 3 month period?

The Chair:

What is your pleasure?

Michelle Madoff:

Is it in order to amend it?

The Chair:

If you want to amend that paragraph you may.

Michelle Madoff:

I think that would be very helpful.

The Chair:

Is that your motion?

Michelle Madoff:

My motion would be to amend it, not pay 10 tickets within a 3 month period. Let's get that wording corrected so that I don't do what we did on salaries. I want to make it as a motion to amend Paragraph B that whether 10 tickets or more —

The Chair:

Where it says 5 you want to make it 10.

Michelle Madoff:

— 10 have not been paid after and let's make that 6 months. Ten tickets after 6 months —

The Chair:

I have a motion. Do I have a second?

Michelle Madoff:

You don't have a second.

The Chair:

It seems to me that this Council, in its infinite wisdom, has exercised —

Michelle Madoff:

I hope the first boot is for somebody on this Council with 5 tickets and I hope it isn't me.

The Chair:

If it comes they deserve it but I hope it is not.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I'd like to know if it's procedure within the City of Pittsburgh for those who receive parking violations or any type of violation, that a notice is sent out to them with each and every violation or with a certain number of violations. Can that question be answered?

Michelle Madoff:

I'll answer it. They send it on each one and you have no idea the number of tickets you have until you get down there.

The Chair:

That's the question I was asking you before.

Michelle Madoff:

Right. The other thing that happens is that when you go to settle your tickets, they somehow find all the tickets you've been exonerated from and the tickets you have paid and you pay them again and you're too angry to say, "Hey, you're charging my for more tickets than is due." That's because our good Mayor, in his infinite wisdom, decided that department heads, big burly department heads, males, should park on the side of the building but we little women should go under in the dark, the rain, the sleet and the hail — It's one I lost but you can't win them all.

Mr. Wagner:

What I do know is that in having several parking tickets in the past, I for one, have not received any notices from the City of Pittsburgh that I have accumulated them. It is quite possible that any individual could receive parking tickets, especially, and have that parking ticket removed from their car or else blown off the car and be unaware of the fact that they have had a ticket or several tickets. To my knowledge, it is not the general operating procedure that a notice be sent out to the individual owning the car that they do have or have had a ticket placed on that car.

Mrs. Masloff:

Jack, that's not so. If you get a ticket on your car, in 30 days you get a summons.

Mr. Woods:

Fifteen days you get a summons.

Mrs. Masloff:

You get a summons and you either pay them or you don't. If you don't it will continue. But you are notified that you indeed were in violation.

Mr. Wagner:

Well evidently they're missing me.

Mrs. Masloff:

Then how did you know you had a ticket?

Mr. Wagner:

Well, along with this legislation, what I would like to see the City of Pittsburgh do, and I don't know if suggesting an amendment here or not, but with the implementation of the boot, that a notice be sent out to all violators with 5 or more tickets, that this boot is now effective and that it can be used on their vehicle if, in fact, the Police Department chooses to boot their car. I think by sending out a notice to anyone who has 5 or more tickets that the possibility of receiving payment for those violations would increase drastically and we would not have to go out and boot all those cars and spend all the dollars and time involved in booting those cars.

The Chair:

Correct me if I'm wrong. I thought that Coll had indicated that that was what they were going to attempt to do in the first instance.

Michelle Madoff:

What Mr. Wagner is —

The Chair:

I know what he's talking about. He figures that if you send out a mass mailing to everyone you may not have to boot them and they'd pay.

Michelle Madoff:

Superintendent Coll indicated that policy was going to be such that we would go after scofflaws with 20 tickets or more. Unfortunately, if there's a printout with somebody with 5 tickets who is unemployed, looking for a job, doesn't even have enough money to go into a parking lot, takes a chance and parks on the street; they're really in trouble. I'm not worried about people like myself; I'm really worried about people who are really going to be hurt. I think if their name is on a printout at 5 tickets for just running over a meter, in these times with the streets dug up and nowhere to park, I think it's a little unfair. With all the best intentions in the world, their name will still be on that printoutsheet and if a police officer sees the name, that person will be booted. That's the issue. That is the real issue. And as far, Councilman Wagner, as the public knowing that if they have 5 five tickets they'r going to pay or be booted, they're going to know; we've got enough people from the media here today and somebody covered it on television. It's going to be very well publicized. People will know about the 5 tickets; we don't have to spend any money on mailing.

Mr. Woods:

Mr. President, I know for a fact that unless you accumulate 5 or more tickets, at least when you hit the 5, a final notice is sent out that you have these tickets, these summons. When you hit 5 that final notice is sent to you. I know that for a fact.

Michelle Madoff:

If you're an unemployed steelworker, where are you going to get the money?

The Chair:

Michelle, wait. I think we might pick that up as a letter from us, Mike, indicating to our Traffic Court, on those who have the violations, maybe a mailing in an effort to try to nudge them along a little bit to paying prior to the day of reckoning. That kind of a way.

Michelle Madoff:

Why? It's going to be in all the newspapers.

The Chair:

I don't think we have to do it as a requirement but I think maybe it will help expedite the collection process.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, with all due respect, this is going to be all over the newspapers and that's a waste of taxpayers' dollars. I personally don't want to see the least able to pay, the people who have been trying, maybe, to get a job or going out to buy some groceries, not able to park, parking where they're taking a chance and having only 5 tickets running over on a meter. That was my only concern. It was not a concern for me; it was a concern for people who are hard up.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I am in total support of this legislation. I think the City has a tremendous amount to be gained here; somewhere in the area of, we all know, $4.3 million. If it's people with 3 tickets, 5 tickets, 10 tickets, I think we should somehow get the dollars that is coming to the City. I think we could do that at a much less cost by some type of a procedure at the start where we would send out, for instance, a post card which would cost 13 cents to however many violators we have, 1,000, 2,000, 3,000, to indicate to them that we do have a new program, a boot, the potential of their car being booted exists and they have a certain period of time in which to pay those fines to reduce the possibility of that happening.

The Chair:

As I indicated earlier, I think we ought to just recommend it to the Superintendent to do it rather than create a legal impediment in front of it.

Mr. Wagner:

So we will send a letter to the Superintendent suggesting that —

The Chair:

Recommending or suggesting that he might do that.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, could you clarify something for me? The $32 and $37, that is set in Harrisburg? That is not something that we've done here? I know we've raised some rates at meters and we've raised rates on towing.

The Chair:

I think that was part of what they called the Benetta Bill with all the increases. That's the last increase of all the fines. That was when we needed money for the highway system.

Mr. Grabowski:

The General Assembly acts on about 4,000 bills a year; I can't remember that one.

Michelle Madoff:

It would be nice if we collected all the money, Mr. Wagner, and then we could lower the penalty.

The Chair:

Call the roll.

Michelle Madoff:

In principle I support the bill. I just think under the circumstances, the way they are today, the unemployment and the difficulty parking, I would like to make it 10 and since I can't get that, I will vote no.

The Chair:

I vote aye and relative to the boot situation, it's about time that we quit wasting our monies, our manpower, on encouraging people always to comply with the law. I don't think we owe them any courtesies now; it's about time they learn to be law abiding citizens and pay those tags that they have.

Michelle Madoff:

And I would hope that this Council would do the same thing and make sure they never get a ticket fixed.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. Robinson	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 6 NOES 1

(MICHELLE MADOFF VOTING NO)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Mr. Wagner presented

Bill No. 561

Report of the Committee on Engineering and Construction for March 28, 1984 transmitting two resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 443

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending Resolution No. 938, effective October 8, 1982, entitled, 'Providing for a Cooperation Agreement or Agreements with Carnegie Library Central Branch for design and construction to provide handicapped accessibility to the main entrance of the Central Branch; and providing for the payment of the cost thereof,' by increasing the total project allocation by Twenty Thousand ($20,000.00) Dollars."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 444

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements with Salvucci and Associates, Inc., (Joseph Salvucci, President) for Professional Engineering Services in connection with the In-Depth Inspection of the Ohio River Boulevard Bridge No. 1 over Verner Avenue and the Ohio River Boulevard Bridge No. 2 over Eckert Street; and providing for the payment of the cost thereof."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. Robinson	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

The Chair:

I believe we have a couple of motions in order.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, it is a distinct honor and pleasure to nominate Mr. Michael Perry as City Clerk, City of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Linda Johnson as Assistant City Clerk, City of Pittsburgh, for a term to begin April 2, 1984 and terminate the first Monday of April, 1987.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, before I vote on this, I'd like to make a comment. I'm sure you're aware that, at one point in time, Mr. Perry was my supervisor in this office when I was an employee of Council.

The Chair:

Since that time he's our supervisor.

Mr. Grabowski:

I remember the way that he treated me some years ago —

Mr. Woods:

You just lost a vote, Mike.

Mr. Grabowski:

I wholeheartedly endorse and support this renomination.

The Chair:

Relative to both individuals, I think that City Council has been blessed in having two understanding and qualified people and it's good in City government to have people who are able and desire and do, in fact, serve. To my knowledge, I have heard no Councilman complain about either of them and they've shown the ability to work together and that obviously is to our benefit.

We wish them well in this Council, not only for the three years, but hopefully, for many, many years serving and helping all of us.

Michelle Madoff:

I forgot to ask him whether he wants a fiscal analyst but I vote for him anyway.

The Chair:

All those in favor?

The motion is unanimously carried for both Mike Perry as City Clerk and Linda Johnson as Assistant City Clerk.

(BEGINNING - REPORT AND RESOLUTIONS FROM MR. ROBINSON - PENNSYLVANIA LEAGUE OF CITIES, SOUTHWEST DISTRICT MEETING)

April 2, 1984

Dear Sirs/Madams:

I would like to take this opportunity to report on my recent participation in the Pennsylvania League of Cities Southwest District Meeting on March 30, 1984 in New Kensington, Pennsylvania.

I attended the meeting as a Member of the Pennsylvania League of Cities, Energy, Environment and Natural Resources Committee.

The purpose of the meeting was to receive an update from the staff relative to legislative developments in Harrisburg and Washington, to elect District Officers, receive information relative to the State Convention in June, and to adopt resolutions to be considered at the Convention.

I introduced two resolutions at the District Meeting which were adopted.

One requested the Pennsylvania League of Cities support Pennsylvania House Bills 1275, 1278, 1279 and 1281 of 1983 which would authorize all units of local or municipal goverment in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to levy the "Land Tax" or "Site Value Tax".

Two, a resolution in support of Pennsylvania Senate Bill 1179 which would authorize local justices of the peace to sentence misdemeanor offenders to supervised programs directed towards community services.

If passed by the legislature, Senate Bill 1179 would give our local justices the power to order misdemeanor offenders to work for organizations such as the Pittsburgh Clean City Committee.

A copy of both resolutions is attached to this report.

Additional information relative to the Southwest District Meeting will be made available upon request.

Respectfully yours,

William Russell Robinson
Chairman
Planning, Housing and Development

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the Pennsylvania League of Cities has demonstrated a consistent and substantial concern for the fiscal stability of all political subdivisions in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, the revenue base for most communities in Pennsylvania is deteriorating and the burdens of financing municipal government are increasing; and

WHEREAS, one solution to the continuing problems of fiscal stability and financial solvency and flexibility is to allow local units of Government greater latitude in taxation; and

WHEREAS, the Pennsylvania Legislature is presently considering House Bill 1275 of 1983 which specifically would authorize some local units of Government, Boroughs, to levy different rates of taxation on land and buildings; and

WHEREAS, House Bills 1277, 1278, 1279, 1280 and 1281 of 1983 also give to Townships, Towns, and Counties the same authorization contained in House Bill 1275.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Southwest District, Pennsylvania League of Cities, does encourage the Pennsylvania Legislature to support and enact House Bills 1275, 1276, 1278, 1279, 1280 and 1281 of 1983.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Southwest District, Pennsylvania League of Cities, does encourage the Pennsylvania Legislature to support and enact Senate Bills 690 and 696 which provides for local units of Government to levy separate rates of taxation on land and buildings.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the Pennsylvania League of Cities has demonstrated its concern for the environment of our Commonwealth; and

WHEREAS, the disposal of solid waste, recycling and beautification efforts are primary objectives of our environment program to improve the quality of life in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, the establishment of comprehensive anti-litter and beautification programs require the enforcement of existing laws and regulations as well as administrative procedures.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Southwest District, Pennsylvania League of Cities, does support the purpose and intent of Senate Bill Number 1179 of 1983 (Pennsylvania General Assembly), which would authorize district justices to sentence persons found guilty of misdemeanors, to participate in public service programs which could have as their object the improvement of the quality of the environment.

(END - LETTER AND RESOLUTIONS FROM MR. ROBINSON)

Mr. Woods moved to excuse Mr. Givens and Mr. O'Malley for absence from the meeting.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Woods

Council adjourned.

Mrs. Masloff moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

While we're on this subject, might I on behalf of my family and the family of my brother Nick, extend our heartfelt thanks to everyone who paid their respects and helped to lessen the load during our trying times this past weekend.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, Members of Council, ladies and gentlemen, all too often we hear negative things about our youth. I'm very happy today because we can talk about some very positive things about our youth.

Today is a happy day for me, for the community of Brookline, and also the City of Pittsburgh. Our Lady of Loreto girls' basketball team and Resurrection boys' basketball team recently won the State Catholic Basketball Championship. Both are from the same community, the community of Brookline. I do not know of any time in recent history when that has been achieved and I think it's a real tribute to the Brookline community.

First of all, I'd like to ask our lady of Loreto basketball team to step forward for the reading of Resolution No. 284. We have seen great stides in recent years in athletics for women and I think our Lady of Loreto is an example of that.

Mr. Wagner presents

Bill No. 593 WHEREAS, on March 25, 1984, Our Lady of Loreto Grade School girl's basketball team captured the State Catholic Elementary Girl's Championship title by defeating Saint Joseph of York by a score of 37-29; and

WHEREAS, because of their brilliant regular season play, which resulted in 36 wins and only 2 losses, the Loreto Lions are deserving recipients of this award; and

WHEREAS, helping lead this Brookline team to its second State title in five years were: Maureen McConnell, Sherri Ray, Alisa Favero, Cathy Doyle, Michelle Little, Colleen McDermott, Michelle Talak, Melissa Talak, and Tina Vezendy; and

WHEREAS, the Loreto Lions, through their outstanding team play, have brought honor and prestige not only to themselves but also to the entire City of Pittsburgh.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of Pittsburgh City Council hereby extend their congratulations to Our Lady of Loreto "Lions" basketball team, and their coaching staff headed by Dan Kail, on their outstanding regular season play and for winning the State Catholic Elementary Girl's Championship title.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Council also congratulates Pastor Father Chat, Principal Sister Rita, and the entire administration and faculty for their supportive efforts in helping to form the character necessary to make champions.

Mr. Wagner moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Wagner:

We would like next to read Resolution No. 283 and then we're going to have Father John say a few words for both teams and also Mayor Caliguiri.

Would the Resurrection team and coach please step forward.

Also,

Bill No. 592 WHEREAS, on April 1, 1984, the Resurrection Grade School boy's basketball team won the Pennsylvania State Catholic Elementary Boy's Championship title by defeating St. Paul's of Scranton by a score of 59-42; and

WHEREAS, this victory culminated a brilliant season of 28 wins and 5 losses, and distinguishes the team as being the first and only Resurrection team to win the State title; and

WHEREAS, the members of the Resurrection Raiders basketball team that have achieved this esteemed goal are: Chris Sestilli, Billy Joe Spratt, Bill Lonero, Dave Binkowski, Steve Rossa, Jim Walsh, Mike Brown, Anthony DeLuliis, Darren Thomas, Frank Battista, and Mario Panucci; and

WHEREAS, the Resurrection Raiders, through their dilligent basketball skills and team spirit, have brought honor and prestige to their school and to the City of Pittsburgh.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of the Pittsburgh City Council, hereby congratulate the Resurrection "Raiders" Grade School boy's basketball team, Head Coach Angelo Masullo and Assistant Coach John Lee, on their brilliant regular season play and for capturing the Pennsylvania State Catholic Elementary Boy's Championship title.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Council wishes to commend Pastor Father John McMahon, Assistant Pastor Father John Marcuci, Principle Sister Claudia, and the entire administration and faculty for the support and inspiration they have given to these boys in helping them to achieve the honor of being called "Champions".

Mr. Wagner moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Wagner:

Father John, would you please step forward to say a few words on behalf of both teams?

Father John Marcuci:

I've been chosen, I guess, by both groups to kind of say something and I imagine I mght say something in terms of the deep appreciate we have that the Council of this City would take some time out to honor some young folks who have really done well. Certainly I speak on behalf of Father Chat and Sister Rita and all the folks of Loreto and Father McMahon and Sister Claudia and the people of Resurrection and I thought that maybe I could say three brief points, if you don't mind.

Number one is athletically; if you were at either of those games you'd know that these young people, these eleven guvs and these nine girls, are typical Pittsburgh athletes; we are defense people. You know that with the football teams, you know that at the baseball games, and these two teams are just tenaciously defensive and that's precisely how they blew out everybody in the State that came against them. They just have a tremendous defense and they are just part of being Pittsburgh.

The second point we make just in terms of Brookline, that we really feel a sense of being part of the City and I'm sure the youngsters will always remember what the Council of this City has done for them this day because no matter what people say about whatever in this City, the folks in Brookline have backed their political people, have backed their Mayor, have backed all those who have a responsibility in the City and that's what these young people learn, not only in the Catholic schools where they go but from their families and the whole sense. As Jack mentioned, you sometimes find some youngsters that don't really live up to the standards of being American or Christian or Jewish or Muslim or whatever, but these young people are not in that category and they represent, I think very finely, what this City is all about.

Maybe just thirdly, religiously, since they come from two Catholic grade schools, that's it's just a very fine thing for us in Brookline. Our Lady of Loret is celebrating it's 25th anniversary as a Catholic Christian community this year and this just fits right into that celebration. The Church of the Resurrection is celebrating it's 75th anniversary as a Christian community and all during this year we're kind of building up to our May 20th celebration, which even Mayor Caliguiri is going to share some time with us in our celebration, and so this just fits very nicely into what we are doing as two parishes. For those that know the history of the Catholic church in Pittsburgh, at one time they were all one church, one Catholic community of Brookline that had become so increasingly Catholic and so dedicated to the Gospel that they broke into various Christian communities. But way back in our hearts we're still all one in the Lord Jesus in that community and these young people really represent that in a great sense.

We'd like to thank, obviously, Mr. Wagner for recognizing both of us this year and certainly the time that Council has afforded us in allowing us to come because we honestly believe that this is an experience that these young people, and us oldies, probably won't forget. We just want to let you know that whatever the action is of this Council, that it's certainly in our prayers each day and in our commitment to God as our Father we'll remember your intentions.

Thanks a lot for recognizing us.

The Chair:

I would now like to present the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, the Honorable Richard Caliguiri.

Mayor Caliguiri:

Thank you Mr. President, Jack, Members of Council, friends and teams. With that kind of enthusiasm, Father, I don't know how we can lose. That's just marvelous and that's the way it should be.

Since the Steelers and Pirates haven't been winning lately, I'm so happy to see that we have our two champions here. You're both to be congratulated because it's not only the professional sports teams that we're very proud of because we have more of our high schools and grade schools playing across this state. I'm just so pleased to see two teams from Brookline, a City neighborhood, do so well. When I see those impressive records — How tall are you? Six two? Ann said he's five nine but that's for the record; he's really six two.

But I think it's just marvelous that you keep the tradition of Pittsburgh which is the City of Champions and, of course, we're so very proud of you because Pittsburghers are proud people. Friendly but proud. I'm sure the others across the state are so envious of us today. You just make me so proud, myself and members of Council, that we're part of this City; that you've given us the name once again, Pittsburgh, a City of Champions.

I wish you well again in the future. Good luck and best wishes to both teams. Thank you so much.

The Chair:

Permit me to present on the left side, the Our Lady of Loreto Grade School Girls' Basketball Team, State Catholic Elementary School Championship Team.

On the right, the Resurrection Grade School Boys' Basketball Team, Pennsylvania State Catholic Elementary Boys' Champions.

I'm sure, Councilman Wagner, you wouldn't want them to leave until they got their just rewards and I think you have a resolution for all of them and we'll take time to make that presentation.

Mr. Wagner:

I'd like to end by simply stating that we'll hand these out outside individually because I'm not sure which one goes to whom. But we do have three resolutions that are framed and then we have loose resolutions. If there's not a sufficient number, we will have others made.

Lastly, I'd like to thank both churches and schools for making Pittsburgh a better City and outside in the hall we have some refreshments for all of you and we'd like to join you out there.

Thank you very much.

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 504, the bill on Firefighters is introduced, — Is this the changing of the test? I would like to address this bill.

This is a crucial public safety issue. Once again Council has been asked to vote without adequate background information. With the approval of the President of City Council and the approval of my colleagues, I'm requesting that we view the new firefighters' test. I would only take five and a half minutes time before a very crucial vote. The Cable Bureau has prepared this film so that the public, after tomorrow, could also view the exam. I would like to view it before the public sees it.

It is my understanding that no member of Council has, as yet, viewed this tape. I would, however, caution my colleagues that this is an enactment of a new exam and we cannot compare it to the 1978 exam because the Cable Bureau was not in existence at that time. As usual, Council was expected to vote on this crucial issue without adequate background information. Not only did we not see this film but it was only this morning that I received a written copy of the physical exam with illustrations. The 1978 test, developed by Dr. Verducci, and he is not using it now, was found illegal and invalid in a class action suit against the City of San Francisco in 1979 or in 1980, we're not sure whether it was the end of '79 or the beginning of '80.

Since that time, all major cities have been searching for fairer tests involving many dollars in lost back pay and salary compensation. The test was found illegal because it must meet three criteria; it must be job related, valid and fair, no unfair, adverse impact on all groups, particularly 90-95 percent of women had failed the previous test.

Certainly, as a Councilmember and as a representative of the public, I don't want any test that is going to endanger the public's safety.

This is not a male versus female issue but let me remind you that physical testing in the Fire Department only began in 1972, coincidentally after the civil rights legislation of the '60's and court ordered enforcement in 1972, under Federal uniform selection guidelines. The new test was supposedly developed after detailed analysis of firefighting duties actually instead of perceived. In other words, what really goes on as opposed to what we think goes on. They found the first test not to be a valid test; they found that this test is a valid test. The test is used to keep women out and not to test the qualifications of firefighters. If this were an important test, firefighters should have to pass it at least every fifth year. We're talking about the original test. There is one woman firefighter and she carried the sandbag.

As Councilman Robinson point out on Wednesday, if this testing is crucial, why does it not continue? Why aren't tests given, as I point out, at least, I think he pointed out every year and I'm saying every five.

I've taken the liberty, my office, my research assistants are both here, Carmen Guenther and Linda, have taken the liberty of examinating the workers' compensation report of October 1 to December 31, for the last quarter. We found a staggering number of claims which were work related but not related to the dragging or carrying of victims. I think it's over $2 million and it had nothing to do with the carrying of victims but rather to injuries which were strains and sprains, working with hoselines and so on. I believe the total comes to, which would not surprise us in light of the fact that we have a $40 million, last time we had the figure, on unfunded workmen's comp debt. It comes to $2.8 million for the last quarter. The type of claims that were made were for picking up or pulling a hose; somebody sat down and had a heart attack and weren't even near a fire; people being in fire, cleaning a hose, emptying a hose, not related to working with hose lines, straining a back with a ladder. Some of the heart attacks had nothing to do with lifting anybody at all.

In summary, I think what I'm saying is that the new test was designed not to be discriminatory against those women who are capable of pulling —

The Chair:

I assume you're for this?

Michelle Madoff:

No, I'm saying that I'm for the new test, not the old test.

The Chair:

That's what I said. That's what this is.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm sorry. I am supporting the new test and I'm asking that we see the new test in the five and a half minute film. Is that alright with the President of this Council and my colleagues?

The Chair:

Do you mean now?

Michelle Madoff:

Yes. We've got it ready to go. They're waiting. We also have the body; we have the sandbag ready. I believe Mr. Wagner requested that.

Mr. O'Malley:

I second that motion.

The Chair:

Alright.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm tired of voting without having information.

The Chair:

Alright, alright. Don't get your dander up. You asked for something and you're going to get it.

Michelle Madoff:

If I don't get my dander up, do you promise never to get your dander up?

Mr. Woods:

Mr. President, would it be proper to make a motion to recess for five and a half minutes?

The Chair:

We'll recess for the purpose of —

Michelle Madoff:

Why? Why not show it?

Mr. Woods:

Just so we can get up. That's all I'm saying.

The Chair:

Wait. You asked to see the movie, right?

Michelle Madoff:

Yes.

The Chair:

I'm going to let you see the movie. That's all.

Michelle Madoff:

Fine. But we don't need to recess, do we?

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I have gone to great lengths today to obtain a sandbag from the old test and also the dummy of the new test. We have them both with us today and I would like for us to look at both sometime after the test, and the actual use of those items and the testing procedures.

The Chair:

Do you mean after the movie?

Mr. Wagner:

Yes.

AT THIS TIME, THE FIVE AND A HALF MINUTE MOVIE ON TESTING PROCEDURES FOR FIREFIGHTERS WAS SHOWN.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I think that test —

The Chair:

Before you do that can I ask you a question? Would you rather do the other test immediately and then come back to your comments?

Michelle Madoff:

That's exactly the point I'm on. Exactly the point, sir. I would think that that proves that that is a very rigid test. I went back myself; I weigh 110 pounds, soaking, and I couldn't lift that body. I wouldn't pass that test but those women who can should be allowed the opportunity, the same as men, and it should a non-discriminatory test. Mayor Caliguiri couldn't pass it either. I take my shoes off and we eyeball each other.

Mr. O'Malley:

Michelle, what does that dummy weight that has to be dragged through the course?

Michelle Madoff:

One hundred forty-five pounds. Go try and pull it; I just did.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President and members of Council, I have a few things I want to say. There is a dummy in the other room; it is not the same dummy that is in that film. It does not have a rope behind it's shoulders.

Michelle Madoff:

At least they can see what it's like.

Mr. Wagner:

It weighs 145 pounds.

Michelle Madoff:

I want to compare the two.

The Chair:

Let him finish first. Let him do what he wants to do.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President and members of Council, this sandbag was used in the 1978 physical examination for firefighters; it weighs 125 pounds. The firefighters were required to lift this sandbag, put it over their shoulder in a firemen's carry, and run with it through an obstacle course up to 500 feet long. Today's exam requires the use of this dummy that weighs 145 pounds, 20 pounds more, with a rope behind the back. First of all, I want you to know that a firefighter will never find a person with a rope like this behind their back, number one. Number two, it is much easier to grab this dummy behind the back, as they suggested in the film, and pull like that. That is a very, very unrealistic situation in a fire. You do not pull a person downstairs, upstairs, down a ladder, or through debris or possibly even through a fire.

So, this portion of the present exam, which I suspect is a critical portion of that exam, is not realistic to life or the type of situation that a firefighter encounters. This bag, as awkward as it may look, is more realistic. The reason being is that a firefighter is required to lift this, to dead lift it, put it on their shoulder and carry it through an obstacle course, not drag it, but actually lift it. In order to lift 125 pounds, which is less than the average human being, is much, much more difficult than pulling that dummy.

So, what I'm saying to you quite frankly is, we are lessening the standards of those that we are attempting to hire in the Fire Department. Consequently, we are subjecting the people of this City and the firefighters that we hire to greater hazards and possibly are actually subjecting them to loss of life and increasing the liability of the City of Pittsburgh.

City Council knew essentially nothing about this examination; we've had no input to it. We do today have some input because we are being asked to allocate approximately $18,000 of taxpayers' money for the proctoring and the administration of a physical examination. I feel this is an inferior physical examination. This Council has the responsibility to use our tax dollars wisely; I feel if we are giving or if we are allocating $18,000, it should not be for a test that pulls something that is not realistic to an actual, everyday fire.

I'd also like to state that I spoke with Chief Lewis today and he indicated that interestingly enough, firefighters are required to rescue, do you know whom the most? Firefighters. Many times, firefighters become disabled in a fire and another firefighter must then lift that firefighter up that may be unconscious, that has inhaled too much smoke, and carry that person out of the fire. You cannot drag someone out a window when the window may be this high. You cannot drag them out that window; you have to lift them. I challenge anyone, I know I'm not going to do it because I may not be able to do it, to lift this 125 pounds up. I may not be able to do that.

Michelle Madoff:

But there may be some women who can.

Mr. Wagner:

Let him finish and then we'll go back. Don't start any crisscross debates on it yet.

Mr. Wagner:

My final point is that if we expose the past examination, which is a far superior examination, to the 2,600 applicants that we have left, those people, no matter who they are, will be able to train and will be able to prepare themselves physically so that they can pass that test. I don't care who that individual is and that includes lifting 125 pounds. We know that people today are much more into body building, weight lifting, physical activities. What I am suggesting is that the City of Pittsburgh is not properly exposing the past test, the requirements of the test and is taking the easy way out by adopting new standards that are inferior standards and are subjecting not only the firefighters but the residents of our City.

Michelle Madoff:

May I respond, Mr. President? Let's deal in the real world. In the real world, when we got into the auto emissions monies that were shut off, we couldn't build bridges. The real world says that the new test is the legal test. If we go back, Mr. Wagner, to the old test, we do not get — It becomes illegal and perhaps we hold up the hiring of firemen. I'm concerned about that.

Secondly, everybody who knows anything about fires knows that what you want to do is stay as low as you can because there are more people hurt from smoke than there are from anything else, from fire actually. So, the closer to the ground, and I presume that's one of the reasons they do the dragging of the person —

Is there somebody here from the Fire Department? Is anybody here that is presently in the Fire Department?

The point I wanted to make is, I assume that when the talked about the strap, and it needs clarification, and as I said, we only got this information this morning, is that there must be a strap put around the person so that you can drag them out. I don't presume you're going to pull on their clothing. There must be something they take up when somebody is found to put on to drag them out. Nobody, I presume, is born with a strap; Mr. Wagner, I agree with you.

The thing I'm very concerned about is two things. One that we don't hold up hiring of firemen because it was found to be illegal. Secondly, I think the test, it appears to me, to be non-discriminatory, the new test, in that it provides for both males and females passing the test.

Important as the people who are here today, they had somebody in their community who had to be taken out of a fire physcially. I don't want to diminish that. I think that it becomes very important to address two major additional issues. One is, if indeed we are going back to the old test, Mr. Wagner, then I would presume you are saying — I'm not saying that you are saying but I want to make sure I'm not speaking for you incorrectly — that you want every fireman to take that test every year?

Mr. Wagner:

Would you please restate that?

Michelle Madoff:

Would you like the original test, if we went back to using the illegal test, which you think is better, would you like to have the firemen tested every single year — is that what you're saying — to prove that they can, indeed, carry a body out? You're talking about people being in shape, etc., etc. I don't think that's what the firemen would like to do and that brings me to my next point when you answer.

Mr. Wagner:

May I respond? The question at hand is hiring new personnel. I certainly feel that firefighters should be fit, not only when they're hired but also while they're working. But I think what we're talking about today in this piece of legislation is the hiring of new people. Therefore, I can only address that particular issue at this time.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm afraid I don't buy that, it doesn't wash, because the issue is public safety and we're not going to send out a fireman who has just been newly trained, that has just taken the test and able to lift somebody. What are you going to do if you get a fireman who has been on the staff for a number of years? Say you're fired because you can't lift the body. Is that what you're saying, Mr. Wagner?

Mr. Wagner:

No, I have not said that. I indicated, I don't know if you recall what I just said, but I believe that firefighters should always be in good shape and capable of rescuing people at any time during their employment.

Michelle Madoff:

Do you think then it would be a good idea to have a public hearing and then perhaps during that public hearing go down to the fire stations and watch the firemen lift the bag to see if they can do it?

The Chair:

Michelle, I think he stated his position. If you differ with it, you may differ with it.

Michelle Madoff:

No, I want an answer to that. That's the gut — This test was redesigned because the original test was illegal, discriminating against women. We went back over the stats and we found that rarely, rarely, is someone ever lifted. Practically never. Tremendous workmen's comp on minor issues.

I don't want to put the public's safety in jeopardy; I don't think any member of this Council does. It would seem on the surface that we ought to say let's go back to the old test. We can't do it because it's illegal; that means we can't hire new firemen.

Now, I want to know what Mr. Wagner is saying. I'm not trying to fight with him because I respect his opinion.

The Chair:

I think Mr. Wagner has very clearly made his point.

Michelle Madoff:

I didn't understand him; I want to be sure I understand him. Are you saying that the public safety is not going to be pertinent if we have a fireman who is already hired by the City for ten years, but cannot lift a body? That would not be important?

The Chair:

I think the Chair understands him to say that at least if they can't do it when they start, they'll not likely be able to do it later. He says at this time they ought to pass the test to get it and later he would hope that they stay in shape so they can continue to do it. It's quite clear, his position.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, may I respond to one point? There has been some false statements made on this issue and it pertains mainly to the fact that several people have stated, and Mrs. Madoff you just stated, that firefighters rarely ever lift a person. That is false. In each and every incident where people are rescued from buildings, they are not dragged; they are carried from buildings. Especially where you have a situation where, we all are aware that most bedrooms are on the upper floors of buildings and in most situations, people are rescued at night, when fires occur most often, and during those rescue operations they either have to come down a pair of steps, the firefighters have to bring them down a pair of steps or down a ladder. That can only be done through carrying the person that they are rescuing.

Therefore, I just want it to be known that, yes, this is a necessary, common part of firefighting. Lifting an individual and carrying an individual. That is how the firemen's carry, which is used in the military, came about. The reason why it's called the firemen's carry is that firemen pick people up, put them over their shoulder, and carry them to safety. You cannot have an examination for newly hired people and exclude that portion of the rescue operations. That is the most important part of the rescue operations and we are doing that with the new exam.

Michelle Madoff:

You're saying we're excluding it with the new exam?

Mr. Wagner:

It has been excluded with the new exam.

Michelle Madoff:

How would we deal with the legality?

Mr. Wagner:

I would prefer to face the consequences of arbitrary or a legal ruling, opposed to the loss of human life or property.

Mr. O'Malley:

In support of Mr. Wagner and to address Michelle Madoff's concern, if she'll remember, I think it was in October of 1983 that I wrote and introduced legislation that we conduct the study of height, weight and physical agility study of all our police, our firemen and our paramedics to address her concerns that once they had been on the job for a number of years are they still physically qualified to do the job that they were hired for. That piece of legislation just came out of the Law Department the week before last and it was sent over to the University of Pittsburgh and I expect to have that study finished within a three month period.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, do you recall a bill I introduced in this Council in relation to having smoke alarms in multiple buildings, particularly apartment houses and multiple buildings, became law in the City? Does anyone recall whether that bill required having them in private homes? I remember that the fire people, our fire chiefs came and testified before us saying that the greatest number of fires and the greatest deaths took place in homes because there wasn't enough warning. But we did not, if memory serves me correctly, perhaps Mr. Perry recalls, we did not insist that individual homes have smoke alarms. Is that correct? Am I correct in my memory? Sophie, am I right?

Mrs. Masloff:

Yes, that's right.

Michelle Madoff:

Now, rather than having a discriminatory test which I'm rather concerned about, and I really believe that we can have the same as we have with policemen and policewomen who sometimes function in different capacities, sometimes a smart woman can figure out how to get somebody out of a building, maybe with a chute, I mean a slide, whereas you don't have to lift or lug the person for a great distance of time.

I'm really more concerned that we have a fair test. I'm not qualified to make that judgment; I don't think any member of this Council is. This information has been sprung on us last week assuming we just go along with it. When we ask our personnel people — are they here today; they didn't think it was important enough — they said that the test was fair, they felt it was fair to women. Both of them are women, incidentally, that's Melanie Smith and Michelle Cunko. I am concerned that women be allowed to be firepeople and perhaps maybe not be the person that goes up to lug the body who is out cold out of the second story. You wouldn't have the Mayor do that either or have Michelle Madoff do it because I'm not strong enough to do that. But I would like to see this piece of legislation not discriminate so that women cannot serve where they can serve in capacities in the Fire Department. I agree with you that there may have to be some kind of a test that allows for the public safety but doesn't discriminate. How you arrive at that, I don't know. So what I would like to do is hold this bill until we can come up with some information from our Law Department, we have a briefing with our Law Department so that we don't act hastily against the public interest.

That's a motion that we hold this until we get some more information.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Mr. Woods:

Comment on the motion. I have no problems with recommitting this bill. I think the tests are going to be April 25, 26, and 27. I would like to have Chief Lewis when we discuss this bill this coming Wednesday come right up to the table when this bill is brought back up and also Melanie Smith and whoever has anything to do with this test. But we've got to have somebody from the Administration, particularly the fire chief, who knows about this.

Mr. Robinson:

On the motion. My lack of unreadiness on this bill stems from some comments that have been made by both Mrs. Madoff and Mr. Wagner relative to the development of the test and its intended purpose. I think it's fair to assume that the City of Pittsburgh is attempting to include in its firefighting force persons who historically have been excluded for a number of reasons. With that being the case and with the overriding implications for disruption within the Fire Department, the psychological impact of introducing new persons into a new work situation, it seems to me that Council is again being requested to make a judgment based on little information, little perspective, and little cooperation from the Administration. Certainly Councilman O'Malley, as Chairman of Public Safety, should have been better informed on this matter; certainly Councilman Wagner's concerns that he raised are valid and should have been addressed by someone in the Administration by someone who understands the big picture. I think Mrs. Madoff's concern that we make sure that women are fairly treated and adequately represented in all phases of our employment situation is not only important but it's necessary.

We have yet to hear from anyone in the Adminstration other than a department head, Melanie Smith, concerning this matter. This is the second time in less than 30 days that Ms. Smith has been asked to try and respond and explain a very difficult situation. The first was trying to explain why this City does not have an affirmative action program, why this City does not have any type of procedure for making sure that women and minorities have an opportunity to serve in supervisory capacity. That was the first time.

The second time was last Wednesday when she was trying to explain why the firefighters' exam was being changed. While I have a great deal of respect for our front line supervisors, I think there's some areas where they are not prepared to discuss with members of Council policy decisions. It's a policy decision in this City that we're going to provide opportunity for everybody, male and female, black, white, brown, red and yellow. That's a decision that's been made by this Council, the Mayor, the Human Relations Commission, and the other appropriate policy making units of this government, not by front line staff.

We are talking to the wrong people. We need to be bold, courageous and intelligent and request the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh to sit down with us as elected officials, in the appropriate setting, to discuss this City's policy relative to including minorities and women in the work place. We can talk about tests, we can talk about dummies, we can talk about qualifications, we can talk about physical fitness; but we're talking about the wrong issues. The issue here is, what is this City's policy and what is being done to implement that policy? I think what Councilman Wagner is suggesting is that we are perhaps doing the right thing the wrong way. I think Mrs. Madoff is saying that we must do the right thing, let us find out what is the right way.

I want here in front of us any information from the Mayor or any of his top level people explaining to us the purpose for changing the exam. Melanie Smith only told us that this related to trying to increase the female participation on our fire force after Mr. Wagner persisted with his questions around the technical aspects of the test. She did not come to us and say, "The City of Pittsburgh is trying to fulfill it's commitment to minorities and women and we believe the best way to do that is to alter this test and it in no way is going to change the potential performance of our firefighters." We don't have in front of us now any valid criteria to determine if any firefighter in the City of Pittsburgh today is qualified to fight a fire. We just simply don't have that. Even if this exam is thrown out and we go back to the old one, that exam still does not tell us if any firefighter today is qualified to fight a fire. We know that most of our firefighters don't spend their waking hours or their hours on duty fighting fire. I'm simply suggesting that we're discussing the wrong issues and we have the wrong people.

When this bill is sent back to Committee, I would hope that we will request that the Mayor come and sit with us on this policy issue and try to explain it to us. With all due respect to Chief Lewis and Melanie Smith, they are not setting policy for the City of Pittsburgh. This is a policy issue. Most of us are aware of the difficulties that many American cities are having trying to get minorities and women into their uniformed services. And there's lots of techniques that are being used. San Francisco has used a technique, the City of Pittsburgh is trying to use a technique. Some of those techniques are good and some of them are bad but the objective is still the same. If this City is committed to including minorities and women on the fire force, then let's do this together. Let's do this with the cooperation of the people who have the expertise and let's do it with the cooperation of the people who are setting policies.

I, for one, want to hear from the Mayor or someone on his senior staff relative to why we have this policy of trying to include minorities and women and how we're going to make it happen.

The Chair:

Alright. We're only on the recommittal. I don't want to talk about the merits of the bill. Okay?

Michelle Madoff:

On the recommittal, sir. When I started to ask for the recommittal, obviously Mr. Robinson makes a very valid point. The Mayor makes policy; the Mayor should be interacting with this Council. This is something I have begged and pleaded the Mayor to do for years. However, I also think that in case he doesn't show up, you know, we can't drag him in here and he's going to do what he wants to do, that we certainly ought to request at Wednesday's hearing that we have the Law Department explain why we must or may or whether we have to go with the new rules. Also, I would like to have the fire chief and if Mr. Perry would be gracious enough —

The Chair:

There's already been a request that he be here.

Michelle Madoff:

If Mr. Perry would be gracious enough for that Wednesday to pull the bill on smoke alarms because the basic concern of this bill, bottom line, is public safety. If we had smoke alarms in everybody's houses, if it were mandatory as the Fire Department wants, we wouldn't have to worry about carrying people out in more cases.

The Chair:

Michelle, we are solely on one matter and that is the recommittal.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to be sure that that information is available on Wednesday.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I would also request that due to the fact that the Civil Service Commission has been involved in the reorganization of the physical examination that someone from that Commission be present at the meeting on Wednesday.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, I'd just like to make a comment. I agree with Mr. Wagner but I'm not sure that all this discussion is relevant to this bill. After all, it's only for a warrant to provide payment for the proctors and it doesn't deal whatsoever with the requirements of the test itself.

The Chair:

I would hope that at this point, and I think Mr. Grabowski is on a valid point, if we're going to recommit let's recommit and bring it up on the merits on Wednesday rather than trying to be a proponent or opponent of the bill before we get to the meat of it. We're only on the recommittal.

All in favor? Opposed? The bill is recommitted.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Also,

Bill No. 505

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the issuance of a warrant in favor of Rosenberg, Kirschner & Kaleugher, in the amount of $2,612.00, in payment for additional services furnished for the benefit of the City in connection with the litigation of various lawsuits; and providing for the payment thereof."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 8 NOES none

And there being two-thirds of the votes of Council in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Also,

Bill No. 506

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution transferring the sum of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars $200,000.00 Unrestricted Cash, Bond Fund, from the Department of Public Works to the Department of Fire."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 507

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the filing of a petition or petitions for the sale of certain property or properties acquired at a tax sale in accordance with Act No. 514 of 1947 as amended."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 8 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

Also,

Bill No. 525

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution transferring $72,000.00 from Code Account No. 1750, Chemicals to Code Account No. 1702, Municipal Obligations for Non-City Water Agencies."

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 525, with reference to the transfer of money from the chemical. I want to hold that bill in lieu of the fire that took place that I heard about on the news at 11:00 last night. I'm deeply upset that neither Director Cosentino of the Water Authority nor myself were called at home. The fire chief heard it on the news and I don't know whether we're going to need money to replace chemicals or certainly monies to repair the water building, the Aspinwall plant. I think we better hold that a week to be sure.

Mr. Woods:

Mr. President, if I may. This money is used to pay West Penn Water for the residents of the South Hills who we —

Michelle Madoff:

That's not my problem; I know what it's for, Mr. Woods. I just don't want it taken out of that account, out of the chemical account.

The Chair:

We can reprogram if we have to, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

Pardon me?

The Chair:

We might reprogram if that becomes necessary.

Mr. Woods:

There's more than enough money in that account, in my understanding, because we budget it for the whole year and now we have the Water Authority supposed to take place in May. So there will be more money coming in in a general —

Michelle Madoff:

Do you know how much damage was done at the Aspinwall plant? Do you know the dollar figure?

Mr. Woods:

No, I don't.

Michelle Madoff:

Are you prepared to take out $72,000 before you know that?

Mr. Woods:

I am prepared to pay the South Hills residents' water bill —

Michelle Madoff:

Fine, but don't take it out of that account.

The Chair:

Wait, let me back up for a minute. Ordinarily, there are sufficient funds there to transfer as has been represented by the Director. However, what Michelle is saying, there was a fire and I'm saying to Michelle that if it becomes necessary to take from a fund, we can just reprogram. Taking from one or the other, this bill has to be paid and I think we ought to —

Michelle Madoff:

Fine. Let's take the money out of another account. How often have you sent a bill back yourself? How often, Mr. Stone, as Finance Chairman or as a member of this Council, have you sent a bill back to find another account to take the money out of?

The Chair:

That's not my point. I'm saying that we can pass it and if we have to reprogram from another account to this account, we can do that.

Michelle Madoff:

Another reason, Mr. Woods, why we need to go to Baltimore and get a fiscal analyst so we know where are monies are at a moment's notice. Thank God we're getting computers.

I'm going to abstain on Bill 525 because I want to be sure where the money is coming from, what Committee, what code account. I want to make sure it isn't coming out of chemicals.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone
Mr. Robinson	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

(MICHELLE MADOFF ABSTAINING)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Also,

investigation expenses for the Bureau of Police, Department of Public Safety, by deleting the payees named therein and naming the Superintendent of Police as payee; and by changing the amount of the fund from $8,000 to the total of the amount existing in the fund at the time of the issuance of the warrant."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bill?

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 469, I'd asked for a report and we haven't received one, according to Mike Perry, as to whether the material works. There's $7,000 involved and I don't want to pay it until I get some report.

I'd like to hold that bill.

The Chair:

We have a motion to hold Bill 469. Is there a second? Hearing no second —

Michelle Madoff:

Do you want to pay it without knowing whether it worked?

The Chair:

Michelle, I don't have a second; let's leave it go now.

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 8 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

Also,

Bill No. 484

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution authorizing and directing the Director of the Department of Public Works to cablecast on the City of Pittsburgh's Government Communications Cable Channel Public Hearings held before City Council, which are determined by a majority of Members of Council to be substantive value to the residents of the City of Pittsburgh as a whole." (AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE) —(SPONSORED BY MICHELLE MADOFF)

Which was read.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, before we vote I'd like to make a comment on Bill 484. That's the bill authorizing public hearings to be broadcast by our cable channel.

I stated at the Wednesday Committee Meeting and I'll state again that this bill is unnecessary, it's redundant.

Mr. O'Malley:

What bill is that, Mr. Grabowski?

Mr. Grabowski:

Bill 484.

The Chair:

Bill 484, the bill dealing with cablecast.

Mr. Grabowski:

In the past week, Council has determined certain hearings, like the Water Authority, that should have been televised, and it was; we dealt with the hearing on military spending, that was televised.

Weeks ago, and at this point, we have the authority to do that right now and this legislation is unnecessary and I will vote accordingly.

Michelle Madoff:

May I respond? Unfortunately, many of the major things that have taken place in this room have not been televised, including the consultant that advises Council when we finally got down to the nitty-gritty on the Water Authority, which I think the public would have found very interesting and I believe was the end result of saving of $230 million of the taxpayers' money. They suddenly came up after we voted with a new way of doing business.

What has happened is it's been those who have been in power, the 5-4 on this Council, who have determined what hearings will be heard. I would like to hope and think that the new members of this Council, and there is a new attitude in this Council, that we would have more hearings televised.

Now, you may feel it's unneessary but until now it's been at the discretion, sort of, of the President, not of the majority of this Council.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, let me just read; I think I can read rather well. "Section 2 The majority members of City Council shall determine which public hearings are of substantive value."

We're not changing anything.

Michelle Madoff:

That's my bill. You're voting for it; I thank you.

The Chair:

He's saying that's already there; therefore, this is redundant. You don't need it. That's his point.

Mr. Grabowski:

Exactly.

Michelle Madoff:

But I'm telling you that nobody has raised the issues every time we have something of substance instead of saying let's have a post agenda.

The Chair:

Michelle, he's still saying to you, you don't have to say it twice to mean it. That's all he's saying.

Michelle Madoff:

Okay. I just think the public should really know what goes on and they really don't have a feeling from the regular meetings. It's the post agendas where the action really takes place.

Mr. Grabowski:

This doesn't apply to post agendas.

Michelle Madoff:

And hearings. I want post agendas but I got ruled out on that. I'm making a statement that that's where the action takes place. In the post agendas and hearings. They should all be on with the exception of three minute hearings where there's no opposition on a zoning. Everything should be on.

The Chair:

Michelle, if the Chair understood you correctly, you asked to rebut him. His point was only that it's repetition of what there already is.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm through; I'm finished.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, just to understand this piece of legislation prior to voting on it, I have a question. Does this bill state specifically that each and every public hearing in front of Council, there will be a vote by Council and it will require the majority of Council for that public hearing to be televised?

The Chair:

It is my impression we removed the majority vote on that, did we not, Mike?

Michelle Madoff:

We added the majority. We added that.

Mr. Perry:

Majority is still in there.

Michelle Madoff:

It wasn't in originally; it was added, Mr. President.

The Chair:

Section 2 does.

Mr. Wagner:

Okay, in comparison to now, Mr. President, what is the difference?

The Chair:

That's Mr. Grabowski's point. Mr. Grabowski says that's what we have now and this is nothing more than a repeat of what we already have as the policy. That's exactly what he's saying.

Mr. Wagner:

Am I correct in saying that now, at the present time, someone must make a motion for a public hearing to be televised?

The Chair:

On a particular matter, yes.

Mr. Wagner:

On a particular matter or else there is never a vote on that particular public hearing?

The Chair:

Correct.

Mr. Wagner:

This legislation would simply make sure that every time a public hearing is to come in front of Council there will be a vote as to whether or not it should be televised?

Michelle Madoff:

That is correct.

The Chair:

Same thing.

Mr. Wagner:

If I'm correct, there will be a vote each and every time; a vote is mandatory with a public hearing.

The Chair:

The sense of the bill is, first of all, will it have a hearing and what it seems to be saying, you'll vote as the second issue as to whether or not it should be televised. Mr. Grabowski is saying, that's what we're doing now.

Michelle Madoff:

Not so.

Mr. Wagner:

But in response to Mr. Grabowski, I do not think it's part of the procedure that we do that now.

The Chair:

We haven't done it but he said it's there already.

Mr. Woods:

Mr. President, if I may. Does this legislation mean that every time there's a public hearing that perhaps the Clerk would read off that there's going to be a public hearing and you, Mr. President, would have to say, "All in favor of televising this hearing signify by saying aye and those opposed, no."? It doesn't say that here.

The Chair:

What it is saying is — and Mr. Grabowski is right in what he is saying. He's saying right now, you vote for a public hearing. If you want it televised then somebody makes a motion and it becomes televised. In certain instances those things that were obviously of substantive value, the Chair has permitted that. I think Mr. DePasquale did that in his years. On others, it needed a motion from Council to do it. If the motion was not forthcoming, it was left in that respect.

This one is saying nothing more, really, than the same thing other than you can have the hearing if the majority votes for it.

Mr. Woods:

I am saying that some member of Council would have to say, "I make a motion that this particular public hearing be televised."

The Chair:

Correct.

Mr. Woods:

This doesn't make it that we automatically vote; it has to come from a motion off this floor.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, would it be in order for me to hold the bill for a week? The reason I'd like to hold the bill, sir, is that on Section 2, the intent, as you said that's where the intent is, the majority members of City Council shall determine which public hearings are of substantive value. That's the key two words. Substantive value to the resident of the City of Pittsburgh as a whole and, therefore, which public hearings shall be cablecast.

My original bill said that anything other than a five minute zoning hearing where nobody objected, was of substantive interest to the public. They have the right to hear everything other than a five minute hearing that we can tag onto — As a matter of fact, they can hear everything as far as I'm concerned because we could tag that onto the day we're having hearings.

Now, I want to be sure the public does have the opportunity to participate by knowing what is going on in this Council and what really happens is at the public hearings and I've been outvoted on the post agendas so I'm going to let that one ride. But I would have no problem to amending the bill by either holding it a week and adding the language but it would essentially say, Mr. Wagner, that it is mandatory before we — that the setting of a hearing, at the time of setting any hearing, the Council is asked to vote as to whether we will televise that hearing by a vote of five. By adding that paragraph. Every time we have a hearing it would be put to a vote; shall we televise that hearing? We do not do that now.

Mr. Grabowski:

Why don't you simply make the motion whenever we set the hearing?

Michelle Madoff:

Because I'm not hear all the time. Sometimes I could have the flu or be out and there might be somebody else who feels they're just going to get squashed like I have and not get the hearings.

The Chair:

If I understood you correctly, you want a motion?

Michelle Madoff:

I'm just asking which would be preferential. Do you want to amend it now or should we hold it a week and amend it?

The Chair:

I think we ought to entertain a motion if we're going to have it. If we're not, then we'll go on and vote.

Michelle Madoff:

Then may I amend the bill right now? I'm going to add an amendment that at the setting of every hearing by the President of Council, the determination to set a hearing because you haven't set the date, right? At the determination of setting a hearing, Council will be polled to see if we have five votes that would require a hearing.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Mr. O'Malley:

Could you rephrase that again?

Michelle Madoff:

Would you read back what I have, Mike?

Mr. Perry:

I didn't hear it all.

Michelle Madoff:

Would the steno-typist read it back? I think I have that very clearly stated.

Steno-typist:

I don't know what you said either.

Michelle Madoff:

But then again your things are way behind and aren't typed up either. So let's not have that kind of remark. I resent it.

Steno-typist:

I said that I didn't hear what you said. Okay?

Michelle Madoff:

Would you read it back, please? I didn't like that remark that you didn't know what I said either.

The Chair:

Hold on a minute. There is some confusion, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

Would you please read back what I just said.

The Chair:

May I help you? I think I can —

Michelle Madoff:

Can I have the steno-typist read back what I just said? I think that's my priority.

Steno-typist:

Do you know what you said?

Michelle Madoff:

Yes, I know exactly what I said.

Mr. Grabowski:

Point of order, Mr. President.

Michelle Madoff:

Point of order. When you ask the steno-typist to read something back, it is her job to read something back. Is that correct, Mr. Perry?

Mr. Perry:

That's correct.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you, Mr. Perry. You are her employer; I would like it read back by the steno-typist.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, point of order.

The Chair:

Wait, everybody hold on. I think I'm capable of handling this meeting.

If you'll bear with me for a second, I can get your thought very simply here if you'll just give me the opportunity. Now that I know what you want to say, let me recite it and then maybe we can solve the problem.

Read with me from Section 2. "The majority of members of City Council shall determine", and now you have an insert, "at the time of setting a public hearing", and then go on with the balance of the sentence.

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me, I amended that, Mr. President. I said not at the time of setting because the setting is your priority and your decision. At the time it determined to set a hearing, not at the time of the setting of a hearing.

The Chair:

Once you move for a public hearing, you determine all of it.

Michelle Madoff:

That is correct. And when you determine that a public hearing will be held, not the date, you will at that time take the vote. That's what I said. What you just said, sir, and I think you did it inadvertently, was saying at the time you set the hearing. That's not what you mean. It's at the time we agree to set a hearing.

Mr. O'Malley:

What you're saying is when the motion for a hearing is introduced we automatically vote whether or not to televise the hearing.

Michelle Madoff:

That is correct. That is the correct wording and that is the way I carefully worded it when I gave it to the steno so that they steno-typist could take it down and that's why I asked her to read it back.

The Chair:

You want to do it this way, at the time of Council's approval of setting a public hearing.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you.

The Chair:

Is that language alright with you, Michelle?

Michelle Madoff:

It certainly is.

The Chair:

Do I have a second to that amendment?

Mr. Wagner:

Could I please have that read?

The Chair:

It would read as follows and if you'll look at Section 2 maybe it can help you. "The majority of the members of City Council shall determine, at the time of Council's approval of the setting of a hearing, which public hearings are of substantive value to the resident of the Citv of Pittsburgh as a whole and, therefore, which public hearings shall be cablecast."

Mr. Wagner seconded the motion.

Mr. Grabowski:

Discussion. The point of order that I was trying to make, and I think we could have avoided all this, is that our rules state that all amendments must be in writing before the final vote. Now, if we're going to live up to these rules, let's live up to them. Let's send this bill back to Committee and amend it properly.

Mr. O'Malley:

What do our rules state, Mr. Grabowski?

The Chair:

He's correct.

Michelle Madoff:

Are those the new rules of Council?

Mr. Grabowski:

They're the 1978 rules of Council.

Michelle Madoff:

They say that we have to amend —

Mr. Grabowski:

"All amendments to any bill or resolution shall be printed for the use of the members before final vote is taken on the bill."

Michelle Madoff:

That's interesting because every member of this Council over the last five an a half years has introduced amendments from the floor and probably the most prolific of that has been our President.

I have no objections to recommitting the bill. Let's recommit it.

The Chair:

Michelle, you need not invite company in everything you're doing. Just make your comments. I'll admit that I've made amendments —

Michelle Madoff:

I don't think it's necessary. I don't think this is a serious thing that needs to go back; I think the intent is clear.

The Chair:

I think the Chair is capable of standing up and indicating that we have made changes at the last moment.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't think that we should stand on pro forma when it's just a clarification of a thought. I think you very succinctly and very well clarified and put the language in and I would like to vote on it now.

If my colleague feels that he wants to adhere to pro forma and he wants to make sure that we obey the rules to the letter, I'm willing to go along with it and hold it for a week. I don't have a problem with that.

Mr. Grabowski:

I'm willing to vote on it now too.

The Chair:

We have a motion to amend and a second. All in favor of that amendment?

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, based on Mr. Grabowski's remarks pertaining to a motion that must be in writing, a retract my second.

Mr. O'Malley:

I agree with both Mr. Grabowski and Michelle Madoff. I think we should adhere to the rules strictly. What is proper for one member of Council should be proper for all members of Council. There should be no deviation.

Michelle Madoff:

Then we'll recommit the bill with the wording that Mr. Stone has added to it. Resubmit it for Monday and waive Rule 8, please.

The Chair:

Mr. Wagner, you're removing your second?

Mr. Wagner:

Yes, I am.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, could I comment on the motion to recommit?

The Chair:

We don't have it yet.

Do I have a second to Michelle's motion? Hearing none, the motion fails.

We're back to the bill; are there any other motions?

Michelle Madoff:

We're not going to recommit the bill?

The Chair:

I don't have a recommit. We were just dealing with the amendment to this bill.

Now that I've disposed of that, we're back to the bill, passage or whatever.

Clerk, call the roll.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 484, the fact is that the people of this City have been disenfranchised. They have not been subject and let in on what really goes on at the hearings. Councilmembers have not moved and asked for five votes and while that is possible, perhaps, it has not worked in practice and I think that the good faith of this Council, even if it was redundant, it would just be reinforcing that we really want to have a sunshine, open, City Council and let our constituent know what is going on. Of course I vote aye for my bill.

Mr. O'Malley:

I vote no on Bill 484. I agree with Mr. Grabowski; I think it's a little redundant. Any time a member of Council felt that a hearing should be televised, they call for a vote. Most of the important hearings in front of this Council were and have been televised in the past.

Mr. Robinson:

I vote aye and on Bill 484 I'd like to have my comments from last Wednesday on this bill read into the record.

I'd just like to have the record reflect that I am in favor of cablecasting all public meetings of Pittsburgh City Council through our government channel.

(BEGINNING - MR. ROBINSON'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 484 - WEDNESDAY, 4/4/84)

Mr. Robinson:

My only reservation about the original legislation and the draft is that we are asking a majority of the members of Council to determine whether or not the public should have a right to be involved in the process of our deliberations through at least viewing them. I am opposed to that.

As I said before, I am a firm believer that the technological age is something we are going to have to come to grips with, and that we ought to afford the public every opportunity available to us to be involved in the process of making decisions, particularly when those decisions are going to definitely impact upon themselves and their families.

While my objection to the bill is not to the extent that I won't support it, I would hope that the sponsors would seriously consider not leaving in the hands of the majority of the members of this Counci the responsibility to determine which public hearings have value and which public hearings we should televise. Instead I would like us to come to grips with the fact that all public hearings should be televised. We have the technology to do it; we have the staff to do it. I think it is time for us to come into the modern era and say all of our public business is going to be televised.

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

MRS. MASLOFF COMMENTS

Mr. Robinson:

Let me just very quickly try to set the issue, and, certainly, it probably cannot be resolved here today. It seems to me we have a fundamental question that we are wrestling with, and that is, to what extent are we obligated to make our meetings open to the pbulic and to give the public an opportunity to participate. I am saying that since television is now a technological fact and is used extensively, particularly in the coverage of public meetings, governmental meetings, that we have to make a decision as to whether or not we want to extend the openness of our meetings, which are public to anyone who wants to come in, extend it to the televising of all those meetings for those who are not physically here but visually are here, just as we are visually in their homes.

Our business, prior to our being hooked up to the cable system, was only conducted in this building, in this room. Our business is now being conducted in this room and in the homes of every person who chooses to have cable. We have gone into another realm, and it seems to me that we do have the fundamental problem, that is, how far should we go in terms of informing the public and giving them access to our decision-making process.

MICHELLE MADOFF COMMENTS

Mr. Robinson:

Let me just comment quickly on this point. That gets back to procedure. There is a Committee of this Council called the Hearing Committee, which is chaired by the President of this Council. The Chairperson of that Committee has the same prerogative as the Chairperson of any other committee, and that is, complete control over any bill that is in that committee. Council's rules state that. So it is really up to the President of Council routinely to schedule public hearings.

The process of this Council voting to have a public hearing is not contained in our rules, but certainly that is our right as elected officials to vote to have a hearing or not to have a hearing, but the normal process is to give the prerogative to the Chairperson of the Hearings Committee.

I think the Chairperson of the Hearings Committee certainly can exercise his prerogative to determine or help us determine whether or not a hearing is going to have a lot of people or not have any people. I don't think the number of people who come here should determine which hearings are televised, because we choose a time to have the hearings, and we choose them at ten o'clock, which I don't think is a very good time. I'd like to see them at eight o'clock at night, that's my choice, but I don't have the ability to set that time.

I am saying I think we ought to balance out the rules that we already have around hearings with our interests in televising our basic activities.

Technology will accommodate us, thank God. If we can go to the moon we can go to another area and have televised hearings.

(END - MR. ROBINSON'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 484 - WEDNESDAY, 4/4/84)

Mr. Wagner:

I vote aye and I think an important aspect of this bill, although this could be accomplished without the bill, is Section 3. Public hearings to be telecast will be scheduled on the first, third and fourth Tuesday of the month. That is consistent with the desires of Brother Richard and I think that's an important aspect of the bill.

The Chair:

Is there any furhter discussion on the bill?

This bill has a negative recommendation and we'll vote either the bill up or down.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, would you please clarify for us exactly where this is? You know, they keep running together. Which one is this?

The Chair:

We're dealing with one of the proposed group home facilities at 130 South Fairmount Street in the 8th Ward.

Michelle Madoff:

Was I absent when this came up because I'm not familiar with this bill? Okay, I know which that is.

The Chair:

The Commission voted to deny this action. Spacing provision of 1320 feet, one quarter mile, is not satisfied since an institutional facility is located within 300 feet of the property.

Mr. Robinson:

Clarification. The bill was passed by Council in support of the denial by the Planning Commission.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I think it's appropriate that in the very near future that you schedule for this Council a meeting with the Water Authority, the Administration, the Water Department and the Public Works Department and our new Engineering and Construction Department. I would like to know at what stage, and what is happening, and who was holding the reins, what is going on down at the water plant.

As you know, the fire last night which is being investigated, has put our chemical connections out of action for two days. Fortunately, we have enough water supply which will not affect the City at all and the plumbers are out there working to make everything right. But last night, about midnight, I was speaking to Fire Chief Lewis, Richard Cosentino, Mr. Bruecken, and I got the very decided feeling that nobody is in charge. Nobody knew. Everybody was getting it from the television at 11:00.

I realize that when you go into a transitional period there are some communication breakdowns. As the person who is the head of the Water Committee, I want to be notified when there's any major episode that takes place with water. I had that understanding with Mr. Cosentino and he adhered to it. He didn't know himself.

The Chair:

Did you talk to Mr. Smith?

Michelle Madoff:

No. I couldn't reach Mr. Smith. I shouldn't have to hear it from Mr. Smith on TV. That's what I want to talk about at the meeting. I think that somebody running our Water Department ought to be somebody very well versed in water engineering.

The Chair:

Michelle, I saw him on TV last night and he seemed in total control.

Michelle Madoff:

In control of what? Having prevented what happened?

The Chair:

I don't know what caused it so I can't accuse him of doing it.

Michelle Madoff:

All I'm saying is the background of the person who runs a Water Department ought to be someone of the background of Mr. Cosentino. Right now Mr. Cosentino was very upset because he wasn't called and he heard about it on the news. All I'm saying is that I would like to see how the progress of transferring the handling of the Water Department from Mr. Cosentino's hands to Mr. Smith and protecting the City, particularly in light of two things that have happened.

The Chair:

It's the other way around. It's Smith to Cosentino.

Michelle Madoff:

Smith will still be running the Water Department. Well, how they're all going to work and who is going to hold the reins. What's happening now is nobody knows what authority they have during this transitional period.

I'm concerned for two reasons. The epidemic of what has happened in McKeesport — I keep forgetting the name of the disease — has now spread to another community. I want to be sure that our City is well protected on that score. I think possibly a major concern would be to have all our reservoirs covered and we're working in that direction but I want to know what danger we're in.

Secondly, in the storage of chemicals. I want to be sure that last night — I'm making a guess and I've talked to people, we don't know exactly what happened but following the announcement on the news of the fire, there was a weather announcement. I don't think anybody caught the significance. They said that we were as dry as a desert, that the humidity was that low. In my apartment I was getting sparks by turning on a light switch; you could see flames coming out of the sparks.

Perhaps we have to look at some new ways of protecting chemicals that give off fumes that can be ignited.

So, I would just like to know what's happening during that transition. Just a quick briefing. Will you set that hearing?

The Chair:

A hearing or a post?

Michelle Madoff:

It could just be a meeting; we're not going to vote on anything. Just so we're apprised of what's happening.

The Chair:

Alright.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President, two quick matters, if I might. One, I'd like to have a post agenda scheduled for April 18, 1984 to deal with the issue of minority and female employment opportunities in the City of Pittsburgh. I will need the Director of Personnel and also the Chairman of the Civil Service Commission, someone on the Mayor's staff if the Mayor is unavailable, and also the Director of our Human Relations Commission. Hopefully, at that post agenda, we can get some more information as to where this City is relative to any kind of policy about the inclusion of minorities and women and our work force and be able to identify who is responsible for what.

The second item relates to the task force on investment policies and business practices of which I am the chairperson. Mr. Woods and Mr. Grabowski also serve on that committee. By way of a very quick report, the task force met on March 3, 1984, March 23, 1984 and April 3, 1984. Copies of the transcripts of those meetings are available to members of Council that might be interested.

Also, we have received pertinent information which is available through our Assistant City Clerk, Mrs. Linda Johnson. That information would be the transcripts, information forwarded to us from Carlow College's Center on Business, Society and Ethics, which is directed by Dr. Peter Madsen. Dr. Madsen has provided us with some technical assistance as well as technical assistance from Mr. Phillip Brown who also works with Dr. Madsen at Carlow College and Mr. Douglas Mitchell who has served us in a consultant capacity as a representative of the Human Relations Commission.

Also, there are transcripts available from the public hearing on April 3, 1984 which dealt with the issue of South Africa and the development of a divestiture policy for the City of Pittsburgh. The services of the Carlow College Center for Business, Society and Ethics have been offered to the task force. Mr. Grabowski, Mr. Woods and myself agree that those services would be helpful to us in the conclusion of our work and I would like to recommend that Councilmembers peruse the document that I put in front of them relative to the services that can be provided by Carlow College and the fee schedule.

Mr. Robinson:

In that regard, I'd like to make a request that $5,000 be made available to the task force to accomplish its work.

The Chair:

I think what you need is a presentation of a bill.

Mr. Robinson:

Okay.

Michelle Madoff:

Question. Councilman Robinson, if you had it as a hearing instead of a post agenda, we could have a vote of five to see that it was televised. As a post agenda, the public will not be privy to that information and that concerns me greatly. You've been working on it for a very long time; the public doesn't know what is happening. We're finally maybe getting some answers. If you do it as a post agenda, —

Mr. Robinson:

Are you referring to the April 18th post agenda?

Michelle Madoff:

The one where we're going to deal with minorities and fair practices and so on. You said post agenda. If you change to a hearing, then we can have a vote of five to put that on so people can see what's really happening.

Mr. Robinson:

My concern is to basically gather some information and some documentation. I don't think a hearing would be appropriate at this point but certainly we could consider that after we get some documentation.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you.

Mr. Woods:

I would like to have a post agenda this Wednesday, Mr. President, on the tearing of the Jones Law Building down.

I'd like to have someone from the county who is in charge of that project for the county and perhaps Paul Imhoff and anvone else concerning that building. With the closing of Ross Street for a minimum of three days this week, you see all the traffic congestion; it's very hazardous over there. There's a number of businesses over there that's going to be affected immensely by the closing of that street. I'd like to have a post on that for this Wednesday.

The Chair:

Mr. Woods, just a remark in passing, if I may. I understand Mr. Gaetano was already at war with the contractor or the demolition crew relative to that matter. I've become increasingly disturbed about the fact that we just put in a brand new street and they've let everything come down on top of it. I don't see anything there to soften the blow on our street and I think your point is well taken. Those people ought to be here, Mike, and we do it with dispatch, but in fairness to Mr. Gaetano, I understand he was in an argument this morning over that matter. He did not expect that it would be closed during the day; it was to be closed only at night and on the weekends. I understand there has been some countermanding of that understanding and I hope we get it straightened out darn quick.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, I ask that we defer action on approving these Minutes. It appears that there are some excerpts missing on page 397. I'd like the City Clerk to check that.

The Chair:

Alright. We'll pick them up next week.

Mr. Woods moved to approve Mr. Givens for absence from the meeting.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Woods

Council adjourned.

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

ABSENT:

Mr. Givens

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

Michelle Madoff:

Would Caroline Frank, Carmen Anderson and Linda Metropulos please come forward. Caroline Frank is with the Center for Victims of Violent Crime; Carmen Anderson is with PAAR and Linda Metropulos is with Child Sexual Abuse Task Force. We have a special resolution today.

Michelle Madoff presents

Bill No. 639 WHEREAS, serious crime continues to ravage at least one third of all American households each year; and

WHEREAS, the victims of crime often face serious financial, physical and psychological losses; and

WHEREAS, traditionally such injuries have been ignored and witnesses have been treated like evidence rather than people; and

WHEREAS, certain types of victims - children, victims of family violence, minorities, and the poor, have often suffered even more when they found that they had little access to the social service and criminal justice system; and

WHEREAS, all citizens of the United States should have an equal opportunity to be treated with compassion, dignity, and justice; and

WHEREAS, such treatment has not been afforded to all victims, witnesses, and their loved-ones or survivors.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of Council of the City of Pittsburgh do hereby proclaim the week of April 15, 1984 through April 21, 1984 as "VICTIMS' RIGHTS WEEK", and urge all citizens and institutions, public and private, to support the establishment and enforcement of victims' rights in Pittsburgh through participation in local and state activities commemorating those rights.

Michelle Madoff moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

This is a problem that has probably been with us since time began and only because the media communications have really brought things to the forefront. People are hearing about other people with the same problems; other people are coming out and speaking freely.

It is a problem that affects a large portion of our population; it is not just something that happens occasionally to somebody else. I think all of us know people who have been directly or indirectly affected with these problem.

I wonder if our honorees will say something.

Caroline Frank:

On behalf of the Center for Victims of Violent Crime, Pittsburgh Action Against Rape and the Child Sexual Assault Task Force, I would like to thank Councilmembers for recognizing the problems that victims have and to thank you on behalf of 2,500 victims that we saw last year, for recognizing the needs and the stresses that not only the victims but their families face.

We, at the Center and at PAAR, hope that by your involvement and your recognition of the fact that there are problems as being a victim, that we can make their task a little bit easier for them, get them through the criminal justice system and maybe, someday, not have to have National Victims' Rights Week.

Thank you very much.

Also,

Bill No. 551

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution transferring the Water Fund balance as of May 1, 1984, to the General Fund and providing for the payment of outstanding encumbrances."

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 551, is that the bill that you were going to transfer funds from one account to another? I was concerned about the account —

The Chair:

Do you mean the Water Department?

Michelle Madoff:

Yes. It was a chemical on Water.

The Chair:

Yes, that's it.

Michelle Madoff:

I was concerned about where they money is coming from.

The Chair:

Michelle, what we decided was that we would go and if we had to make a transfer later, we would —

Michelle Madoff:

This is the money that will ultimately end up in the Water Authority. Is that correct?

Mr. Grabowski:

No.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, money has to go to the Water Authority from the Water Department to close it out. That's my understanding; that they could still have a claim on the General Fund. They can appeal to the General Fund for money. We never did get that clarified.

The Chair:

Whatever it turns out, the money is going to be the same.

Michelle Madoff:

Okay. I'll let it ride.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, I intend to vote against this legislation and my reason for voting against it is because I believe this is a practice that has gone on for decades. The City has transferred money from the Water Fund to the General Fund. If over these years and years the City had not transferred the funds and used those surplusses to refurbish the water system, right now we would not have a need for a water authority.

On this particular bill I am voting no.

The Chair:

Mr. Grabowski, if I may give an explanation. It costs us $60 million for our water system originally and as part of that program and under that act, there was what we call the fair return, which would actually be higher than the amount that the City got. Actually, we have not given back to the City it's fair return in, to my knowledge, most years.

Mr. Grabowski:

This represents more than the fair return and in the past —

You have a different understanding than I, Mr. Stone. This is an estimated $4 million of a transfer that we're talking about here in this legislation.

The Chair:

This is an amount that's in the budget but which is actually lower than it should be. I'm talking $3.6 million. I want to say somewhere around $5 million, it should be, and we've always been lower. On the fair return.

Mr. Grabowski:

This does not represent a fair return and it is my understanding in the past the transfer has been much greater than the fair return.

The Chair:

I think the only time that's happened was probably in the Flaherty Administration they took some money from the Water Department.

Mr. Grabowski:

I cast my vote in the negative.

The Chair:

Fair enough. I just wanted to clear up how we got to that.

Michelle Madoff:

I concur with what Mr. Grabowski has said and I would also like to point out that one of the leading people opposing the Water Authority, the four of the five who opposed the Water Authority, each year as head of the Water Committee, I would go to the Finance Chairman and ask for monies and I have it documented in my critique of the budget, asking for monies because the Water Department people were coming to me, meeting with me, supervisors, etc., and we needed each year at least $1 million just to correct the band-aid approach where the men were working and they say men because for the most part they are men, I think there's only one woman and she's no longer with the Department, with broken hammers, a 17 year old back-hoe. We spent more money repairing the back-hoe and renting equipment than what we could have bought 3 new backhoes for by buying from repossessed. This was planned obsolescence; it was planned so that the Administration could have a water authority, so we could get the water problems off it's back, not have to tax for it, but the dollars still come out of the same taxpayers' pockets. I vote no.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 4 NOES 3

(MR. GRABOWSKI, MICHELLE MADOFF AND MR. ROBINSON VOTING NO)

The Chair:

Is Mr. Wagner here?

Mr. Woods:

He's being interviewed.

Michelle Madoff:

What is the vote now, please?

Mrs. Johnson:

Ayes four, noes three.

Michelle Madoff:

We're not calling Mr. Wagner in for his vote are we? That is against Robert's Rules. In Robert's Rules you must request, when you leave the room, the right to hold your vote when you come back.

The Chair:

Mr. Wagner, we are voting on Bill 551. How is your vote?

Mr. Wagner:

Aye.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone
Mr. Wagner	(Pres't)

AYES 5 NOES 3

(MR. GRABOWSKI, MICHELLE MADOFF AND MR. ROBINSON VOTING NO)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, may I ask a question? During a very pertinent vote on a minority issue, one of our Councilmembers left the room. When he came back, I asked that we have his vote for the record recorded. I was told at that time that I could not insist upon that and Council did not support me in getting that person's vote on the record because the rules of Council say that if you are not present you cannot vote. If you're called to the telephone, my daughter called, it's an emergency, I have to say to the Chair, "Mr. President, I request the right to vote when I return or later on." Otherwise you cannot vote.

I don't mind Mr. Wagner having the opportunity to vote; I think that's fair and just. But I think the rules should be the same for everybody.

The Chair:

The Chair is familiar with many occasions and many occasions with you, yourself, that asked that some Councilman come in and vote. The Chair doesn't think that we're doing it any differently than we have done it in the past and that vote will stand.

Bill No. 552

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 553

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an agreement with William M. Mercer/Meidinger, Inc., for actuarial services in connection with the Municipal Pension Fund, the Policemen's Relief and Pension Fund and the Firemen's Relief and Pension Fund, and providing for the payment of the cost thereof."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 8 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

Also,

Bill No. 504

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the issuance of warrants in the aggregate amount not to exceed $17,980.00 in favor of persons who provide professional proctoring and coordinating services for the benefit of the City in connection with the administration of the Department of Personnel and Civil Service Commission's 1984 Firefighter Performance Examination on April 25, 26, and 27, 1984 and providing for the payments thereof."

Which was read.

Mr. Wagner:

On Bill No. 504, there's been considerable discussion pertaining to this bill over the last week, week and a half. I would like to add some additional information that I have obtained since last Wednesday. I have given each one of you a copy of the letter that I had directed today to Melanie Smith, Director of the Department of Personnel. I'd like to read that letter and indicate to you my position supporting that letter.

"Dear Ms. Smith,

On April 13, 1984 I obtained information on Firefighter Professional Qualifictions from the National Fire Protection Association.

The National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) is the most respected non-profit association wholly devoted to reduction of loss of life and destruction of property bv fire. They recommend minimum standards for Firefighter Professional Qualifications. They also recommend standards for building codes for firefighting apparatus, equipment, materials, etc.

Attached you will find a copy of the Minimum Physical Fitness Requirements for firefighters. In those requirements there are six basic physical tests suggested for firefighter applicants.

The suggested 1984 City of Pittsburgh "Firefighter Entry Physical Ability Exam" does not include any of these suggested requirements. Our past exam included two or possibly three of the six events.

Why has the new exam excluded all Minimum Physical Fitness Requirements recommended by the NFPA? Are our goals not consistent with their goals which are the protection of lives and property?

I seriously recommend that the Personnel Department, the Civil Service Commission and the Fire Department restructure our exam according to the National Fire Protection Association Minimum Physical Fitness Requirements.

This will insure that we hire qualified applicants for the critical position of firefighter."

I'd like to briefly refer to those minimum physical fitness requirements of which all of you have a copy.

"The candidate, after successfully completing the medical examination and with written authorization of the examining physician, shall complete one of the following: a) run 1-1/2 miles within 13 minutes; b) walk 3 miles within 38 minutes; c) bicycle 4 miles within 12 minutes; d) swim 500 yards within 8 minutes and 20 seconds; e) run in place 75 steps per minute for 15 minutes; f) run on motorized horizontal treadmill at 10 miles per hour for 6 minutes; g) climb stairs consisting of 10 steps at 9 round trips per minute for 9 minutes."

That is one of the six tests; that is an endurance test. Our present test has nothing pertaining to endurance requirements of applicants. The past test did have something that somewhat referred to endurance; it was a 500 yard run. That has been eliminated; it is not part of the new suggested test.

A second critical item of physical fitness requirements as suggested by the NFPA is, "The candidate will perform 35 bent-knee sit-ups within 2 minutes." That is not part of the present examination.

A third item: "The candidate shall complete one of the following: a) flexed arm hand - minimum time, 8 seconds; b) pull ups - minimum, 7; c) push ups - minimum, 25." Our present exam does not include any of those minimum physical fitness requirements. The past exam did have the pull ups as part of it; the present exam does not.

Another suggested requirement: "The candidate, given a beam secured to a level floor and measuring 20 feet long by 3 to 4 inches wide, and given a length of fire hose weighing at least 20 pounds, shall walk the length of the beam, carrying the length of hose, without falling off, or stepping off the beam." The present exam has no test similar to that and also the past exam did not.

A fifth suggested requirement: "The candidate, given a weight of 125 pounds, shall lift the weight from the floor and carry the weight 100 feet without stopping." Our present exam has no requirements for lifting 125 pound weight and carrying it 100 feet. We all know that the past exam had a requirement of that type.

The sixth suggested requirement by the NFPA is, "The candidate, starting from an erect position with feet apart, the distance closely approximating shoulder width, shall move a 15 pound weight in the following manner: bend over, grasp the weight with both hands while it is at a point on the floor between the feet, and lift weight to waist level, then place the wight on the floor approximately 12 inches outside the left foot, and without letting go, raise the weight to waist level and touch it to the floor about 12 inches outside the right foot. The weight shall then be moved alternately in this fashion from left foot, to waist level, to right; right to waist level to left until it has been moved 7 times in each direction with the total horizontal distance of travel being at least 24 inches more than the space between the feet for each of the 14 moves. This shall be done in less than 35 seconds." A test of that type is not part of the present examination.

None of the 6 suggested minimum physical fitness requirements suggested by the National Fire Protection Agency are part of the new examination.

In the letter that I sent to Ms. Smith and it's unfortunate that the letter was sent today, I have asked why none of those requirements are part of the new examination. I personally feel that we are jeopardizing public safety, the lives of our firefighters, by peritting firefighters to be hired that do not meet any of these 6 suggested national minimum physical fitness requirements.

In addition to that information, since last Wednesday's meeting I have heard numerous testimony from various firefighters indicating the need for physical requirements of a firefighter. All of you are familiar with the President of the Retired Firefighters, Chief John Brickley. I spoke to Mr. Brickley on Friday; he indicated to me at one time in his career he was fighting a fire in a basement in Downtown Pittsburgh in a pharmacy and was overcome by smoke. The basement was half-filled with water; he passed out, he was unconscious; the firefighter with him picked him up and carried him from the building. If that firefighter at that time did not have the physical requirements to do that, the present Chief of the Retired Firefighters would probably not be living today.

I received a letter from Mr. Pete Kalaba of which I have attached a copy to the information provided. I'd like to read that letter.

"Dear Councilman,

I am opposed to the new test for firemen. I was a hoseman and ladderman for 20 years and Captain on Squad No. 5 for 5 years and Instructor of the Pittsburgh Academy for 5 years.

In all of my experience, I have never seen or heard of any fireman dragging a body that is unconscious, but still alive, across a floor in a building that is on fire or understand this kind of situation. One must be inside a building on fire, ceiling coming down, windows broken, plaster and 2 x 4's falling across the floor, boards with nails upright and glass strewn on the floor. No fireman would drag a body, live, across a floor in the above condition. Just think about it and form a picture in your mind of such a situation. Would a Captain command his men to drag a body across the floor, increasing the danger of injury to that person? So please vote no!

The demonstration on the clean smooth floor in Council Chambers does not compare with the inside of a burning building. Please accept that.

Very truly yours,

Pete Kalaba"

He further indicates in a p.s., "Would you favor lowering the standards of physicians or lowering the standards of bus drivers, or any important position, lowering the standards of the physical requirements for the position?"

We have had considerable discussion pertaining to this issue. I have also had other testimony. Another example and my last example is Lieutenant Paul Zandeer who has been on the force for 23 years. He told me that he had to rescue someone, a victim, six times in his career and all six times he had to lift that victim and carry them from a fire. It may not happen that often; it may only be once every three, four, five years that a firefighter is required to lift a victim or another firefighter and carry them from a fire. But when that time occurs, when that need exists, it's absolutely mandatory that a firefighter have the physical capability to rescue a victim.

We all know what the new examination suggests; that an applicant does not need or does not have those physical requirements. Pulling a dummy with a rope behind its back does not require the strength necessary equal to that of picking a 125 pound sandbag up.

We have further heard during last Wednesday's meeting through questions by Councilman O'Malley and discussions with Melanie Smith and others at the meeting that our past test has never been successfully challenged in court. We were led to believe that a week and a half ago at our Council meeting. The test that was successfully challenged in court was a physical fitness requirement for police officers in San Francisco, not the test for firefighters.

Further information to support this position is that our Fire Department is working with less people. In the past, they have had four and five people on a crew. Today, the average is three, which means that the physical requirements of those fighting the fire, seeing that it's only three, is even greater today than it was in the past. There is not the luxury of two firefighters getting to a victim as frequently as it was in the past. Therefore, the physical demands on the firefighter is even greater today. The buildings are higher; the ladders are higher; the equipment is heavier; the victims, the average person today, even weighs slightly more than people did 20 and 30 years ago.

This is all, I think, important data which should lead this Council towards turning down the legislation before us today, Bill No. 504, which is suggesting that we allocate $18,000 to administer an inferior physical test for applicants into the Fire Department.

What I would like and what I am going to suggest and what I am going to motion is that we delay the final vote on this legislation for one more week. I would like an answer to my letter from Ms. Smith from the Civil Service Commission, and from the Fire Department indicating why the minimum physical fitness requirements as suggested by the National Fire Protection Association have not been incorporated into our new exam.

The Chair:

Mr. Wagner, if I understand your motion, it's to hold it here for one more week.

Mr. Wagner:

Yes.

The Chair:

I think that that would be improper. What you have to do is recommit it and have it come back.

Mr. Wagner:

Then I move to recommit the bill.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

Discussion. Wasn't it pointed out, I believe by Mr. Woods or was it Mr. Grabowski, that we have a deadline for the 26th? The test is going to be imminently upon us; we cannot delay the vote.

Mr. O'Malley:

If I may make a few comments on the recommittal and the reason for recommittal. It's interesting. In the Pittsburgh Press, Thursday, April 12, there's two paragraphs I'd like to read from a Toni MacIntosh; Miss MacIntosh is Pittsburgh's only female firefighter. Some of my colleagues might have missed this because it was in the metro, in the afternoon addition, but it wasn't in the evening addition.

Miss MacIntosh is worried that a revised physical ability test for firefighter applicants may result in the hiring of a lot of "women who can't do the job". Miss MacIntosh was given the new test and passed it without difficulty. She states, "I don't understand why they would make the test so easy."

In reference to what Miss MacIntosh says, I don't think anybody in this Council, or Miss MacIntosh, wants to be discriminatory against any segment of society. But I think the Civil Service, in the sense of fair play and to qualify more people, went overboard with making the new test too easy. I don't think that the members of Civil Service or Melanie Smith understand the physical requirements of the job. I think what they're trying to do is trying to get this Council to pass a physical examination and one day it's going to come back to haunt all of us. All it's going to do is take the life of a one of the residents of the City of Pittsburgh or the life of one of the firemen or even one of the lives of the new applicants that are tested and can pass the physical but can't measure up to the physical stardards for requirement for the job.

So, I urge this Council to hold this and refer this bill back to Committee so we can do two things; 1) that we refer the bill back to Civil Service. I think the old test may be a bit too difficult and maybe cannot stand up in a court case against discrimination. But I think the new test is too easy. I think what we have to do is refer this back to Civil Service; I think Councilman Stone should set up a committee made up of members of this Council to work with the Civil Service Board and come up with a compromise between the old test and the new test and to make sure that we are not jeopardizing the lives of our firemen by passing this test that is too easy.

So, I would urge members of this Council to vote for recommittal and to set up a committee to maybe come up with a compromise test.

Mr. Woods:

Mr. President, if I may. On the recommittal, I would ask my colleagues not to recommit. This is an entrance test, to get into the Academy. It's somewhat like many of us who went into the service, going into boot camp. We couldn't do 100 push ups, some of us couldn't even do one. But after 8 weeks of boot camp you could do the required number. I feel this is the same thing. This is just going to get them into the Academy, this type of test, the same as the mental test. They have to perform in that Academy, upon graduation, they have to meet certain standards which all our firemen have and at that point, they are qualified or not qualified. They either graduate or are dismissed from the Academy. This is all we're talking about; to get into that Academy. It has nothing to do with what kind of firemen they are. There were firemen who didn't take this test in 1972, part of 1972. Are we going to say that all the firemen prior to 1972 were not qualified? Just like the letter we got from Mr. Kalaba that Jack sent us, he didn't have to take this physical test yet he was a well-qualified man. The Lieutenant he's talking about in service for 23 years, he didn't take the test 23 years ago, yet he saved 6 people's lives. And that was because of the Academy. This is what we're talking about; just getting into the Academy.

So, I would urge my colleagues not to recommit and let's vote on this bill.

Mr. Wagner:

I'd like to make a point on the recommittal. Also in my discussions with various firefighters, including Chief Brickley, including Mr. Kalaba, including Bernie Burns, the requirements at the fire-fighting academy have lessened over the last 10 to 20 years. They have lessened dramatically in comparison to the past. So, it did take greater physical requirements from the individual, the applicant, to get through the Fire Department years ago in comparison to today.

So, I personally do not think we can compare the Academy today with the Academy of years ago. The best procedure for screening out bad applicants is through the pre-employment screening procedure. There is not a Director in the City of Pittsburgh that will not agree with that. It's very difficult once someone is aboard, it's much more difficult once someone is aboard, to terminate that person. The best and most effective way is by screening that applicant prior to hiring that applicant.

The Chair:

We are getting a feel that the issue before us now is whether or not to recommit.

Michelle Madoff:

Point of order. Clarification. Will we have a chance to address the bill? I was abiding by your procedure; we were just voting on whether to — But I would like the opportunity to address the bill.

The Chair:

Call the role on the recommittal.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Wagner
AYES 2	NOES 6

VOTING NO:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

And a majority of the votes of Council not being in the affirmative, the motion was defeated.

The Chair:

On the bill itself?

Michelle Madoff:

I was trying to abide by your rules and I did not take the time to address it but everyone else did so I would like to take the opportunity.

I have in my hand a fraction of the calls that have come into Council and they all say the same thing — I think Mr. Wagner will find this interesting — against lowering the standards for firefighters. Well, we don't want to make this a male/female issue but as Mr. Robinson so succinctly stated, the lawsuit really addressed itself to discrimination for people who would like to get into the uniformed section of government. That does mean that we are discriminating against women.

There is not a member of this Council that wants to lower the standards of firefighters, not firemen, firefighters, Mr. Woods. We all want the best firefighters but it is my opinion and that of many women in the women's movement, that the test comes, as Mr. Woods has touched on, when the training is completed, not when they go in to take the test because, if memory serves me well, the one sole woman who is on the Firefighters Association for Pittsburgh got the job because they did not take the top applicants but because of the Human Relations and the quotas that were open the year that she was accepted. I think she says so in the article herself. Therefore, she had the opportunity, because of fairness, to even have the opportunity to be a firefighter. If we give women the opportunity and if we do what Mr. Wagner has stated, get the test, as I arranged to have, into this meeting and we saw the test. If more people see the test for an ongoing period of time, we will encourage more women to attempt to be firefighters. We will have more graduates who will be competent firefighters and many of them will be women firefighters.

Now, going to these messages that have come into my office, and as I say, every time you see one you know they represent hundreds of others, vote against lowering standards. Yes, I vote against lowering standards. That means that when they come out of the program, out of the training, they will be every bit as good as the men firefighters if they are women. Everybody will be treated equally, man or woman. However, let us go back and point out that many of the original applicants who are in our firefighter division, who are probably of my vintage age-wise, over 30, over 40 — someone said for 50 I'm a "10" so that's alright — that they got in because of their Ward Chairman. That's how they got the job, through their Ward Chairman. They didn't take a test. And I think that what Mr. Wagner is doing is opening up a bag of worms and I'll tell you why. With all due respect, I think his intentions are very well-meaning but I have been told by people who have been calling our office all morning who saw us on the show Saturday night, saying, "Women belong in the kitchen; get back in the kitchen, barefoot and pregnant; that's where you broads belong." Number one. I'm getting calls saying, "Please vote for fairness and please vote against lowering standards." Nobody wants to lower the standards; what we want is the opportunity for women to have the same opportunity and the test as it is presently drafted, unless we change it, discriminates against women. So, let's call it and tell it like it is.

Now, if indeed the arguments that have been so succinctly put out by Councilman O'Malley and Councilman Wagner are true, that we want our firefighters to be able to lift Mr. Stone out of a fire, and they may only be able to lift 175 pounds — I don't want to ask your weight —

The Chair:

You missed by one pound.

Michelle Madoff:

I'll applaud that; that's called thinking on your feet.

When they're carrying a 50 pound hose and the boots, the fact remains, Mr. Stone, if you're going to require the present firefighters who come out of the program to be qualified to lift Mr. Stone or Commissioner Foerster or my good friend Jim Flaherty who has traded the weight with Commissioner Foerster, then indeed, if it's a matter of letting someone, as we did this pandering to emotionalism — If we're going to let someone die in that fire — then let's make sure that all the firemen can take the test and lift the person every single year because that's what you're saying. The women have told me, the women's movement, NOW leadership has called me and said that if the women are discriminated from getting into the test to have the opportunity to be as qualified as men, and if they're not as qualified they will not be accepted nor do they want special favoritism, then they are going to go to court and they are going to require that all firemen be tested every year to see if they can save that person with fire on their back that we are pandering to the emotionalism.

I think that's terribly unfair to discriminate against women in that manner; I'm angry and I just wanted to express my feelings.

Mr. O'Malley:

I'd just like to make a couple quick comments. One, to correct Councilman Woods, my dad was a policeman and we have some firemen in the family. At that time, which was over 30 years ago, you had to be 5'10", 160 pounds or more, and have a high school education. Right now, all three of those requirements have been eliminated.

Mr. Woods:

How are you correcting me, Mr. O'Malley?

Mr. O'Malley:

You said there was no physical requirements to be a firefighter —

Mr. Woods:

A physical test; that's what I meant. If I said physical requirements, I apologize. I meant physical test prior to 1972 and there wasn't any to my knowledge and I guess to everybody else's research here.

Mr. O'Malley:

What I fail to see is why we're in such a hurry.

The Chair:

Mr. O'Malley, I think we've answered that one.

Mr. O'Malley:

Well, it's wrong. They're not going to hire any firefighters until fall or late fall. That was stated on KOV news this morning on the way in. We all know how accurate KOV news is, the actual reporter was Mr. James here.

So, there is no hurry rushing this piece of legislation through. I fail to see why we can't take a couple weeks and see if we can come up with a compromise test. Even Charlie Lewis who has been a firefighter all his life agreed that everybody in the room that morning could pass that test. There was approximately 50 or 60 people in there; there were some men and some women in their 50's and 60's. I don't think what we need is a test that everybody in the City of Pittsburgh can pass.

Again, I would urge my colleagues to vote this bill down; at least send it back to Committee so we can take a couple more weeks to make sure we don't endanger the lives of our residents.

The Chair:

Mr. O'Malley, we've already ruled on that one. The desire of this Council is to proceed.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Stone, may I comment on the bill? This is not a male/female issue as I have stated many times. This is a job qualification issue. A firefighter is as important to our society when the time arises as a physician is to our society. If certain groups of people in our society are physicians because they have certain qualities that other groups do not have, such as possibly finger dexterity, which makes them more capable of doing their job, they certainly should be doing that job, no matter how many are in that profession. The same situation exists, to some degree, with firefighters. This job is pure and simple, a job qualification issue. You need written or mental attributes and you need certain physical attributes. Without the two, you cannot be a quality firefighter.

The major problem with the past exam is not that certain protected groups could not pass the exam. The problem with the past exam is that the past exam was not well publicized. The present exam has been sent out to each and every applicant, well in advance, and in that exam they indicate there's a guide and an illustration of the physical test required in that exam. It gives each and every applicant the opportunity to practice, to train, to do certain exercises, to make them more capable of passing the exam. That was not the case with the 1978 exam. Therefore, the exam was changed in order to hire certain protective groups of people but, in fact, the exam was not the reason why certain protective groups of people were not hired. The problem was that those applicants back then were not well-educated as to what the exam included and were not given enough time to prepare sufficiently and to train to take the exam.

Let me repeat again. This is not a male/female issue; this is a job qualification issue. I read standards that have been suggested by the National Fire Protection Agency. There is no reference in those standards pertaining to male/female or any other group of people. They only refer to qualification. One particular qualification is endurance. Each and every group in our society should be able to physically prepare to endure a test. That is not part of our present exam. What I'm saying is, the proposed exam, the dollars that we are allocating and are supporting — we are supporting that exam by allocating these dollars — is the frontrunner of wrecking a quality Fire Department. History is going to prove this. We have permitted the Personnel Department and the Civil Service Commission to dictate what we, as elected officials, should be determining. True, federal law and state law may not give us that ability; but it's certainly does, this Charter does give us the ability to allocate the dollars. I firmly believe that if those standards are not what they should be to protect life and safety in this City, we should not allocate those dollars.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, I cannot let this matter rest on that note. Everybody's had a chance for rebuttal and I would like, very briefly —

The Chair:

Alright but you are the last one; we'll make it short and we'll move on for the vote.

Michelle Madoff:

We are intelligent Councilpeople, each and every one of us. The issue, as far as the test is concerned, is a moot issue. It doesn't matter. What matters is that people coming out of the firefighters' training will be on par and equal whether they're men or women. The test, as it is presently drafted, discriminates against women. I will tell you that if you discriminate against women, those women are going to discriminate against the present firefighters by challenging each and every one of them to pass the test today and they can't do it. I just wanted to bring that out.

The Chair:

A rebuttal is not repetitious.

Michelle Madoff:

I believe that Mr. Wagner was very repetitious and you didn't call him on it so let's not be discriminatory. Thank you.

The Chair:

Call the role.

Mr. Grabowski:

I vote aye on all bills and with regard to Bill 504, obviously a lot of controversy has been generated in the last few weeks by this bill and the question of public safety has been raised. I think I am just as concerned about the public safety as anyone on this Council and that's why I am casting my vote in the affirmative.

The reason this bill is before us in the first place is because we do not have a full complement of firefighters. This legislation will pave the way for us to hire more firefighters, consequently insuring greater public safety. To delay this any longer, I feel, would be a disservice to the citizens of the City of Pittsburgh.

With that, I close my statement and vote aye.

Mr. Robinson:

I vote aye and on Bill 504 I'd like my comments from Wednesday, April 11, 1984 brought forward and also the conversation between myself and Melanie Smith, Director of Personnel, John Bingler, Chairman of our Civil Service Commission, and Ben Havllar, Senior Assistant Executive Secretary to the Mayor's Office.

(BEGINNING - MR. ROBINSON'S CONVERSATION WITH DIRECTOR SMITH ON BILL NO. 504 - WEDNESDAY, 4/4/84)

Mr. Robinson:

Melanie, I have a couple procedural questions to ask, then maybe a couple substantive questions. As far as the Uniform Selection Guidelines are concerned you indicated were instituted in 1972, is that correct.

Director Smith:

The Guidelines are more recent. They have been revised since the passage of them.

Mr. Robinson:

Were there some guidelines instituted in '72?

Director Smith:

Yes.

Mr. Robinson:

Who instituted those guidelines?

Director Smith:

The Federal government.

Mr. Robinson:

Based on what?

Director Smith:

The Civil Rights Act.

Mr. Robinson:

Of which year?

Director Smith:

The Civil Rights Act was passed in 1964. It was amended in '72 to become applicable to public employers as well. The guidelines have gone through a few changes. Different Federal departments issued their own guidelines; now they have been consolidated into what is called the Uniform Federal Guidelines.

Mr. Robinson:

Okay. Have all of our tests subsequent to 1972 conformed to these Uniform Selection Guidelines?

Director Smith:

Yes.

Mr. Robinson:

The tests that have been issued, have they been approved officially by some Federal or State agency?

Director Smith:

Not in all cases, no. The firefighters' test particularly was litigated in the early Seventies. Judge Teitelbaum was the Federal Judge that heard this particular case. It was as a result of that litigation that the written examination that had been used in 1972, when it was possible to validate it, was not sufficiently valid that under the Court Order we were not permitted to continue to use it.

Mr. Robinson:

Okay. The action in Judge Teitelbaum's court, did it result in any orders to the City of Pittsburgh relative to the firefighters' exam?

Director Smith:

My recollection is that the Judge kept, I guess, continuing into the case, but there is no Order such as there was in the Police case. There was no quota instituted. We were directed to be sure that our selection procedures, our entrance procedures, were done in accordance with law and in accordance with the guidelines.

Mr. Robinson:

So, okay, so right now we are under no Court Order relative to the composition of our Fire force?

Director Smith:

That is correct.

Mr. Robinson:

Has the Civil Service Commission, since 1972, taken the action to change the composition of our Fire force in any way?

Director Smith:

Yes. They have done, I guess, two major things — one is to conduct very intensive affirmative action recruitment campaigns target exclusively to those persons excluded from the Fire process, those groups being minorities and females. In addition, they have been researching for some time and working for some time on finding a new method of physical performance testing, particularly because the examination we have been using has been ruled illegal in other cities. It has been discontinued.

Mr. Robinson:

Based on what authority has the Commission been doing this?

Director Smith:

On the authority under the Civil Service Statute and its requirement to comply with the Federal laws.

Mr. Robinson:

As far as the physical test as given to the firefighters, is your department involved in administering that test?

Director Smith:

Yes.

Mr. Robinson:

Are the people administering the test familiar with what firefighters do on a daily basis?

Director Smith:

In order to develop an examination it is necessary for us to conduct a very thorough job analysis in which we are required, just by the nature of performing job analysis, to work very closely with the Fire Department, its employees, its supervisors, and the Chief, and they are involved directly in the job analysis.

Mr. Robinson:

Is it fair to say on a day-to-day basis that firefighters are not on the scene of a fire?

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

Director Smith:

I'm not sure I understand.

Mr. Robinson:

Is it fair to say the vast majority of firefighters, on a day-to-day basis, are not fighting fires?

Director Smith:

No, that isn't a conclusion that, at least, we would have made for the job analysis. We are very much aware of the fact that there are slow houses, there are fast houses, there are people that don't go out except for training runs, depending on the nature of the house they work it, the frequency of calls, and there are other houses that are very busy, that are constantly out.

Mr. Robinson:

Is it fair to say that firefighters do things other than fight fires?

Director Smith:

Oh, yes.

Mr. Robinson:

Is it fair to say that probably most of their time is spent doing other things than fighting fires?

Director Smith:

I would say at least a considerable amount of their time is spent in other than firefighting activity.

Mr. Robinson:

The physical exam, once it is completed by an individual and that individual is hired, are there any other additional physical requirements that that firefighter has to meet during their tenure on the Fire force?

Director Smith:

Following examinations they are required to pass a very thorough medical examination with the Civil Service Commission. When they are appointed they go through very vigorous training at the Academy and serve a three-month probationary period, which includes their Academy time, and time out at the Fire Houses. It is then up to the Chief to decide whether or not to give the probationer final appointment at the end of the probationary period.

Mr. Robinson:

To your knowledge, is there any time during the tenure of a firefighter's service on the force that he or she would have to take another physical examination?

Director Smith:

Yes, upon promotion.

Mr. Robinson:

Would this physical examination be one that would require them to perform simulated duties that a firefighter would have to perform in fighting a fire?

Director Smith:

No, it is a medical examination not a physical performance examination.

Mr. Robinson:

So at least since 1972 we have no way to measure whether our firefighters are physically capable of fighting fires, no way that we can measure it, Civil Service Commission can measure it by any test or any examination if they can physically fight a fire?

Director Smith:

Other than the medical examination, no.

Mr. Robinson:

I would assume that one validation of that process would be the act of fighting a fire, that is if a firefighter survived a fire and if, indeed, the Chief or someone did not make any report which would suggest that anyone did anything that was incorrect.

The point I'm getting at with this line of questioning is that I think that certainly the physical aspects of the job are important, and I agree with Councilman Wagner that we need people who are physically able to perform firefighting functions when they are required. Better to be prepared and not have to fight the fire than have to fight the fire and not be prepared. I am concerned that even if those individuals who originally are prepared to fight a fire could possibly fight it if it occurred the day after they were physically qualified, that two, three, four, five years down the road they might not be able to physically fight a fire and we wouldn't know it. The only way we would know it is if they actually went out to the fire, attempted to fight it, then we might find out they physically could not carry the 125 pound bag, may have gained 20, 30, 40, 50 pounds. They may have a bad heart, bad knee, may have a broken wrist. I am more concerned, if indeed we are going to do this testing, I think the testing is necessary for a lot of reasons, that we also begin to look seriously at requiring our firefighters to be retested, because their primary responsibility is the protection of the people of the City of Pittsburgh if a fire occurs, and we need to know in advance that they are physically capable of fighting a fire, even though, probably, most of their time is not spent fighting fires.

All you have to do is go to a Fire House — I'm not trying to take anything away from what they are doing, I'm simply saying physically what they do in a Fire House is not reflective of the test they have to take. The test is reflective of them having to go out and fighting a fire, which, thank God, doesn't occur that often in the City.

Director Smith:

I understand the point you are making. I can't disagree with it. They physical exams were only instituted in the Seventies for promotion. Prior to that there wasn't even a medical exam.

The Commission appreciates the need for people to remain able to perform that function, even Officers that go to a fire scene and are very active at a fire scene.

(END - MR. ROBINSON'S CONVERSATION WITH DIRECTOR SMITH - 4/4/84)

(BEGINNING - MR. ROBINSON'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 504 - WEDNESDAY, 4/11/84)

Mr. Robinson:

If I might, I'd like to take a little different direction and follow up on an issue that I raised on Monday and my concerns can best be addressed by Mr. Bingler who is the Chairperson of our Civil Service Commission and Mr. Hayllar, who is the senior staff member in the Mayor's Office.

It seems to me that the issue is, what policies and procedures do we have in the City of Pittsburgh to insure the recruitment selection, hiring and advancement of all segments of the City of Pittsburgh's population to be employed in our uniformed services, whether it be fire, police or emergency medical services. It seems to me that in part the test wa changed to accommodate providing opportunities to all segments of our population and particularly those segments that seem to be obviously under-represented. To me that is the issue that we should be discussing and it seems to me that unless we address that, that is, whether we accept the old or the new test, is not going to have any serious impact on what I perceive to be the Civil Service Commission's attempt to provide opportunity for everybody in the City.

The first question should be for Mr. Hayllar and I would assume that Mr. Bingler would be able to at least attempt to address these same questions. Certainly my questions are not designed to be argumentative or in to any way embarrass Mr. Hayllar or Mr. Bingler, but simply to get a better fix on what we are or are not doing in this City and how this relates to this whole issue of recruitment for our firefighters.

The first question relates to the rationale for the test and I was wondering if Mr. Hayllar, as a representative of the Mayor's Office, can give to this Council the rationale for this new test.

Mr. Hayllar:

Councilman, that's a procedural question in terms of the policy that we're all seeking; you've articulated it very well. We are trying to provide the opportunity for consideration for employment to everyone who is qualified and the art is to find the test that screens out people on an appropriate criteria and does not screen people out for inappropriate criteria. So you've articulated what we all want to do, and the Civil Service Commission's charge is to find the best means to do it. So you and I have the easy part.

Mr. Robinson:

Am I to understand, then, that this test, the new test, the one that is being considered before Council today, is designed to increase opportunities for minorities and women, and others who traditionaly have not been substantially represented in our uniformed services in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Hayllar:

If the restatement of your question is is this test attempting to be fair, that is my understanding.

Mr. Robinson:

As far as the policy and procedures that will bring about this fairness, specifically, specifically for minorities and women, and we only need to go back to 1972, is there a written policy and set of procedures to accomplish that goal, and that goal is to increase the numbers of minorities and women employed by the City of Pittsburgh, recruited by the City of Pittsburgh and advanced by the City of Pittsburgh?

Mr. Hayllar:

I think the specific answer should come from the Civil Service Commission and the City Solicitor, because there is a large body of information.

Mr. Robinson:

Let me just ask you one other question, if I might. Have the Civil Service Commission and the Human Relations Commission been involved in developing any policies or procedures that will be reflective of the City's position around recruiting, hiring and advancing minorities and women?

Mr. Hayllar:

I certainly hope so.

Mr. Robinson:

But you don't know whether they have or not?

Mr. Hayllar:

I could not specify a joint meeting of those bodies. They are clearly both organizations. Both Commissions are involved in that activity.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. Bingler, if I can relate those same questions to you — let me go through them again. The rationale that the Civil Service Commission used in putting this second test together —

Mr. Bingler:

Well, the rationale the Civil Service has used is to try to develop and improve on testing procedures designed to, in a non-discriminatory way, rank the candidates who come forward and apply according to their trainability as firefighters. That is what the test is designed to do. We are not testing people to see whether they can right now take people out of windows, we are testing in a non-discriminatory way their trainability to be firefighters.

Let me give you an example. When I was in the service I applied to be an Underwater Demolition member. One of the entrance tests was you had to be able to swim, any way at all, 100 yards, on your back, however. You could take as long as you wanted to do it, but before you completed the training program you had to be able to swim eight miles, with fins on, from one island to another.

MICHELLE MADOFF COMMENTS

Mr. Bingler:

Sure. Everybody that graduated did. We started with 100 and ended up with 25. But, we are not testing whether people can presently carry dead weight or get people jumping out of windows; we are testing trainability in a non-discriminatory way.

Mr. Robinson:

Does this testing —

Mr. Bingler:

Or trying to, let me say, trying to improve on older tests.

Mr. Robinson:

Does this testing at all relate to any overall policy that the Civil Service Commission has to increase the number of minorities and women recruited, employed and advanced by the City of Pittsburgh?

Mr. Bingler:

I'd have to say yes to that. I don't think there is a written policy, but I think it is the demonstrated commitment, at least as far as I'm concerned, of our staff to accomplish those goals, and I think it is the commitment of the present Civil Service Commission to do that same thing.

Mr. Robinson:

Let me follow up on your answer to the issue of a policy. Is there a written policy and set of procedures to accomplish the goals of increasing the number of minorities and women recruited, employed and advanced by the City of Pittsburgh?

Mr. Bingler:

Not that I know of.

Mr. Robinson:

Okay. In terms of saying written, as far as you know, no.

Mr. Bingler:

Nobody has ever shown me one and said you follow these.

Mr. Robinson:

Okay. Has the Civil Service Commission, the Mayor's Office, and the Human Relations Commission worked on a written policy and set of procedures to improve the number of minorities or women employed and eligible for advancement within the City of Pittsburgh's workforce?

Mr. Bingler:

We haven't worked on a written policy. We have worked with that policy. As far as I know it is in existence, and we operate on that basis.

Mr. Robinson:

Okay. In reference to the test, the firefighters' test, did either the Mayor's Office or the Human Relations Commission work with the Civil Service Commission in putting that test together?

Mr. Bingler:

I don't think so, but we do that as our responsibility. I think maybe the staff consulted, but I don't even know that.

Mr. Robinson:

Okay. Let me ask a couple questions of Mr. Pellegrini, if I might, along the same line, and, again, as I said, I'm trying to get some clarification as to what we are and are not doing.

Mr. Pellegrini, to your knowledge are there any written policies and procedures that the City of Pittsburgh is following relative to the recruitment, hiring and advancement of minorities and women in the City of Pittsburgh?

Mr. Pellegrini:

Under the Police and Fire cases, I think there was a policy instituted for it. I don't know if it was written, and I don't even recall now whether or not it was under the order of recruitment of minorities and women into the testing process. I think the answer to your question is, obviously there is a concern about it or the adverse impact, the four-fifth rule, or the change in the test would not have occurred. I think policies are nice, and written policies are nice, but I think we have the proof in the pudding here.

Mr. Hayllar:

In, Councilman, what is generally referred to as the Mayor's First General Executive Order, which he gave back in 1977 in the form, I believe, of a letter to all department heads he stated that as the goal, policy, of his administration, and we have sought to implement that.

The procedures I don't think have been written down because that is something you constantly work on, on a case-by-case basis, depending on what the hiring is, but now, Council, that is presumably what is referred to as the Mayor's First Executive Order.

Mr. Robinson:

Then what implementing procedure is in place to make sure that the Mayor's Executive Order No. 1 of 1977 is being adhered to?

THE CHAIR COMMENTS

Mr. Robinson:

Okay, but in terms of a procedure to implement Executive Order No. 1 of 1977 issued, I assume, by Mayor Caliguiri —

Mr. Hayllar:

Yes, sir.

Mr. Robinson:

Issued by Mayor Caliguiri, I am saying what is the mechanism this Executive Order is supposed to be implemented through?

Mr. Pellegrini:

I think through the Civil Service Commission's selection process. In this case there was an adverse impact against a specific group, a protected group, therefore you had to look at the test.

Mr. Robinson:

Okay, if I understood — and I am winding down now — if I understood Mr. Hayllar correctly, that Executive Order did not include any set of procedures or implementing mechanism, is that correct?

THE CHAIR

Mr. Robinson:

Okay. Is there any way that the Directors of the departments who were subject to this Executive Order complied with that Executive Order, any validation that there is any compliance with the Executive Order?

Mr. Hayllar:

The EEO report annually covers those in a City-wide sense, those numbers. We are always looking for improvement in areas where we are clearly deficient. In general there has been improvement; no one is going to say it's enough, but that's something we can point to on the chart.

Mr. Robinson:

One other question. It may be redundant, but I think the record should reflect some answer or some response. Do either of you three gentlemen, Mr. Bingler, Mr. Pellegrini or Mr. Hayllar, can you identify whether or not the City of Pittsburgh has a written Affirmative Action Equal Opportunity Program presently in operation.

Mr. Pellegrini:

As Mr. Hayllar said, I think Executive Order No. 1 said it, and, number two, I think it is the law to have it.

I think the reason all of us are having problems is that you can't have a written policy for, like the one that you described, other than the goal, and I think the goal is that you make City jobs available and make sure that people are hired in all classifications. I mean, it is simple. It sounds simple, but what you do is you try to accomplish that goal.

Mr. Robinson:

One other question. This is my last question for Mr. Pellegrini. Based on your present knowledge of the City of Pittsburgh Charter and our City Code, does the City of Pittsburgh's Commission on Human Relations have the power to set a policy and procedure for this City to recruit, employ and advance minorities and women with the City's workforce?

Mr. Pellegrini:

I have to look at the Ordinance, but my recollection is that there is nothing in the Ordinance that deals with that in the powers of the Human Relations Commission. The Human Relations Commission essentially is empowered to receive specific complaints of discrimination on the part of individuals, and investigate those complaints. I do know as part of the over-all investigation, whether it is by the Pittsburgh Human Relations Commission, the State Human Relations Commission or the EEOC, they ask for numbers of minorities and women in that whole job classification, so in a way your answer would be no, not in general, but once they get, once someone complains they do look at that situation.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. Bingler, do you have a comment?

Mr. Bingler:

I think Mr. Pellegrini's answer was correct. I have a recollection that there may be a provision in the Home Rule Charter on the specific areas relating to the Human Relations Commission that talks in those terms. I just don't remember the terms.

Mr. Robinson:

Just for point of information, not to embarrass Mr. Pellegrini or anyone else, I think if you look at Section 653 in the City Code, under Duties and Powers of the Human Relations Commission you will see that they do have powers in this regard. At least that is my interpretation.

My reason for asking the question was trying to determine what, if any, role the Human Relations Commission might play in trying to establish a policy and procedures, and, at the same time, identify an appropriate agency, which I believe would be the Human Relations Commission, to make sure that that policy is carried out. You would have to look in the City Code.

Mr. Pellegrini:

I don't have the Code. There is nothing under the Charter that confers them that power.

Mr. Robinson:

Just one other comment. If you would be kind enough to review that section of the City Code —

Mr. Pellegrini:

Section 653?

Mr. Robinson:

Yes. On the 18th of this month there will be some people here from the Human Relations Commission and Mayor's Office to address this issue in terms of over-all employment in the City, and one of the points I want to make is perhaps we are not fully utilizing the Human Relations Commission. This Council spends an awful lot of money every year to fund that agency, and I think there are a lot of very positive services they could provide to us if we reached out to them, and they might be able to make our job a little bit easier.

(END - MR. ROBINSON'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 504 - WEDNESDAY, 4/11/84)

Mr. Wagner:

I vote no on Bill 504 and on Bill 504 I would like my comments brought forward from April 4, 1984 and April 11, 1984.

(BEGINNING - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 504 - WEDNESDAY, 4/4/84)

Mr. Wagner:

I'd like to know, being a new member of this Council, are we going to have — A week and a half ago, at the Mayor's Conference meeting, I requested copies of the last physical examination given to prospective candidates for the firefighters' position, and the present 1984 physical examination that will be given the firefighters. Why the changes? Obviously, in looking at the two of them, the requirements this year versus the requirements of the past physically are much, much less demanding, which indicates to me that we are seeking out less-qualified candidates.

Director Smith:

Well, I disagree that they are, necessarily, less strenuous. I am not real sure why you feel that. The history of the performance test has been that it has had a very adverse impact against females, particularly. Our obligation under the Uniform Selection Code Guidelines is to seek and find job-related tasks that don't have this very adverse impact and disparity, adverse impact among the different groups.

Mr. Wagner:

How, specifically, did the past test indicate that?

Director Smith:

Probably 90 to 95 percent of the female applicants failed the test.

Mr. Wagner:

Okay. What specifically pertaining to the present firefighters? Have we seen a flaw? Where have we seen flaws in their physical capabilities?

Director Smith:

I wouldn't say that we have.

Mr. Wagner:

Then why the need to change? You indicated, first of all, that there are no significant differences in the test. I disagree with you totally. One example is chin-ups. There are no chin-ups required in this physical exam. The sandbag run, where a candidate had to pick up a sandbag, put it on their shoulder, weighing 125 pounds, and maneuver through a course with that, up a few steps, down a few steps; now the candidate has to drag a dummy, with a rope already attached to it, weighing 145 pounds; much, much less demanding physically.

There are significant differences in the test. The most significant difference in the test is the past test, you had to pass each portion of the test to continue to proceed.

Director Smith:

Yes.

Mr. Wagner:

That is not the case now. There are significant differences here, and, in essence, what we are talking about is the lives of the citizens of the City of Pittsburgh, and there is not a person in this City that does not want to be sure that the firefighter that is coming in to rescue them can physically meet the demands of the job. And, what I am suggesting here is that due to the reduction in the physical capabilities that we are suggesting that we are not seeking out people that have the physical qualifications for this position.

Director Smith:

Well, I disagree with the Councilmember in that I don't think these events are necessarily going to be less strenuous. One of the difficulties we used to have with the test before, and the differences the first year we administered it, we did not have cut-offs where if you didn't pass each event you couldn't pass through the test, and we will start this new examination the same way.

Until you have the stats on the university that takes the test it really isn't appropriate to predetermine what the cut-offs will be.

The differences in the events, we think these are much more job-related things; what we are testing for before were, in fact, not necessarily things firefighters really did on their jobs, and I don't think this is reducing the standards. We feel this is still a fairly arduous examination. We sent a description of the events out, as we have in the past, so people can prepare themselves for that examination.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, preparing for the examination isn't the question here. The major question is what flaws have existed in the past which you can indicate today with people that are firefighters, which indicate that there is a need for changing the physical requirements for that position?

Director Smith:

I don't think there are flaws in the firefighters whom we have hired. Under the Uniform Guidelines if an employer is using an examination or any selection instrument that has a disparity, is an adverse instrument against one protected group, it has a responsibility under the law to seek an examination that still measures job-related characteristics but does not have the unnecessary adverse impact, and that is what we are attempting to do.

Mr. Wagner:

Let me backstep here. Who is the protected group?

Director Smith:

Any of those groups covered by the Civil Rights Act.

Mr. Wagner:

Who is the protected group when we are talking about a fire? Who do we want to protect?

Director Smith:

In that case we are protecting the public.

Mr. Wagner:

That's right. The major objective of this City in hiring people for any position should be the people who live in this City.

Director Smith:

They always are. That is ultimately the Commission's primary concern.

Mr. Wagner:

I see a tremendous difference in job qualifications here physically, which indicates to me that we are subjecting our public to additional hazards that they have not been subjected to in the past. If we do not have the qualified people to rescue those people because they do not have the physical qualifications —

Director Smith:

Mr. Wagner, we hired firefighters for years with no performance examination at all, only the written examination. Performance was only introduced after the passage of the Civil Rights Act, and when an employer issues new examinations they didn't previously use, and they have an adverse impact on minorities, females, or other protected groups, there is a very heavy burden on the employer to show the introduction of that new test was necessary, particularly when it hasn't been used before. We never measured firefighters' physical performance until 1972.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, physical requirements of the past, which I am requiring this examination to 1978, appear to be good, necessary qualifications physically for the position. I applaud you for the mental qualifications that are now necessary for the position, and I suspect they were not part of the examination process of the past, but there is a distinct difference here, there is a distinct difference in the type of people that we are hiring. We are subjecting our public to potentially additional hazards because we are seeking our people that don't have the same physical qualifications, and the number one concern here has to be the public, and I don't think that is the case.

Director Smith:

Well, just to give an example, without belaboring the point, the sandbag run in the prior examination is, in fact, a work sample that our firefighters rarely, if ever, perform on the job. The intent of it was simulating putting an average-weight person over a person's shoulder, which doesn't happen on the job, and removing them, or being able to maneuver with that weight on one's shoulder. In truth of the matter, when we did the more recent job analysis with the Fire Department, that is an activity that doesn't happen. People are not removed from a fire scene that way, so our test was, in fact, testing something that was not job-related for our position, and it was testing for abilities that were not required on the job.

One of the things that was very, very difficult, and many cities, many employers have lost litigations over it, is when you are using something like a sandbag that doesn't represent the body being removed at all, clearly, right away, you are not testing for the duty you are presuming to be testing for. The articulated dummy which will be used in the new examination is an identical replica of a human body and the event much more simulates what really happens on the job than what people might perceive happens on the job.

Mr. Wagner:

Okay, in regard to that specific point I disagree with you again. Firefighter after firefighter, I could give you examples where people actually lift people in that profession.

Now let's talk about the present exam. You talked about the dummy, pulling of the dummy; let me read to you what the criteria indicates in this test, "Grasp the rope loop at the back and then drag it through a course approximately 50 feet." Now, in how many situations will a firefighter ever enter a building and find a victim with a rope around their back that they can grasp and pull that person?

Director Smith:

They won't, but they frequently will encounter clothing and something to hold onto to remove the person.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, no, I totally disagree with you, not similar to a rope, not capable of withstanding the test that a rope can withstand. Quite often they may find them without clothing on. They may have to lift that person, as is indicated in the previous test, and I, personally, I think that this test is not realistic to the situation. And how this test ever originated, I don't know, but I really think we are doing an injustice to our public by lessening the physical demands of this position.

Director Smith:

Well, I disagree that it is a lessening of the demands. I think these events will test the duties that, through recent job analysis, have been identified as frequent and critical duties, and the kind of duties under the Guidelines employers are required to select.

Mr. Wagner:

We could do a survey today of the firefighters in this City and I would bet anything that they will indicate that the 1978 examination is better criteria for evaluation physically than this 1984 exam, and there is no way that can better determine that than them.

Director Smith:

The Courts have disagreed with that. People's common perceptions or prejudices about jobs don't make for fair, valid selection, and the burden that the employer has through the Court, subject to litigation, is that they have analyzed the job that they have done in a professionally acceptable manner, they have related events for a selection instrument to the aspects of that job, and that they are testing for the skills actually performed most of the time on the job, not for the once-a-year competitional thing, but for the frequent occurrences that make up the bulk of the work that a firefighter performs.

Mr. Wagner:

The bulk of the work is saving lives, and we are reducing that potential.

Director Smith:

I disagree with you.

Mr. Wagner:

What is the bottom line here? The bottom line is saving lives. We are reducing that potential. We are increasing our liability. We are in every way subjecting this City to additional hazards.

Director Smith:

I disagree. I think these events will test the skills needed to be a firefighter.

Mr. Wagner:

I can show you — I won't do it now — but I'll lie this test down, the 1974 test versus the 1984 — I'll show you, with individuals that can pass the '84 test that cannot pass the '78 test, and the reason why is they are not as physically strong, and this job demands physical capabilities, and we are ignoring that.

Director Smith:

I don't disagree with the fact that it is a physically demanding job; I do disagree with your statement that we are ignoring it. I don't feel this test ignores that.

Mr. Wagner:

What is the potential of having these past requirements incorporated into the new requirements?

Director Smith:

Well, the purpose of developing the new examination is to have an imposed examination. What we have done is we have administered this new examination to a group of 80 current firefighters to determine performance levels on these events, and we will be refining the scoring process after we have tested the group of applicants that are now eligible for testing. But, performance of incumbent firefighters would be a key factor in the performance level of people to pass the examination.

Mr. Wagner:

So, in essence, what you are saying is, we are testing the test by hiring people, and I don't think that is a valid way to determine if we have a good physical examination.

Director Smith:

Well, the law really allows about two choices, and I have been unable to find a third one. One is you give an examination and hire people, regardless of the score, and after they have been on the job for a period of time you determine whether the high score and low score relate to predictability. The other option under the Guidelines is to have an examination tested out on your current incumbents, determine what their performance levels are, administer the test to a new group and hire those who perform the best, and end up, after they have been on the job. I think we have taken the most conservative, cautious approach we have.

The passing scores on the new exam will be related to the performance of current firefighters on the very same tasks, and we really do not believe this is a lowering of any requirement to gain entry into the probationary period.

Mr. Wagner:

That's where you and I obviously have a tremendous disagreement.

Director Smith:

I understand.

Mr. Wagner:

When you have at the top of one examination, "Must pass each event to pass the test as a whole," and the other does not have that requirement, right there I don't have to go any further, because what we are requiring here is a total physical test, and if you don't pass the first test, in this 1978 procedure, the first part of the exam, you can't proceed. That is not the case today, so there is an endurance factor there, and endurance factor incorporated into the past test, which is probably the greatest physical demand placed on a firefighter, the endurance at a fire scene, whether or not they can continue to perform for an extended period of time involved in various types of physical activities. In the first test, the past test requires that; today's test doesn't.

Director Smith:

When the past test was first administered, Mr. Wagner, in 1972, it didn't either, and that's the whole point that I have been trying to make.

When we first introduced what you are referring to as the 1978 test, and the candidates were apprised of what the events were — because we had not used any of those events before — we couldn't predict in advance what the minimum score would be on each event until we had seen everybody perform on all events. Once that is done then we can establish the minimum cut-off that is required for each event, but we can't do that in advance.

After that was done, the second year we gave the 1972 test, we knew what the minimums would be. We announced them in advance. If you didn't do the sufficient number of a particular event you stopped right there and you left the examination. But the first time you give it you can't do that. You need to collect information on the entire universe that is your pool of potential firefighters.

All City residents who were 18 years of age who have passed the written test are the only people we can hire from, and we need to obtain scores on all those people when we give this test the first time, so when they come in in late April and take the events they will go through each one of them, even though after they finish the over-all test and we have all the data they may find they were below minimum passing score on a certain event and they fail the test. We just can't announce that in advance this year.

Mr. Wagner:

Okay, but what you are telling me, with this new proposed procedure, is that you do not have the data yet to determine whether or not this testing procedure is a valid procedure. The data is in on the 1978 test. We know it is a good one because we hired good people as a result of it, and the point I have made from the start, and I'm going to continue to make it, is by us deviating from that past test we are subjecting ourselves to hiring people that do not have the qualifications for the position and, consequently, we are subjecting the public to a greater hazard if they are involved in a fire because we are not providing, potentially providing, the qualified people to rescue them, and there is no need to change this test, basically, is what I am saying.

Director Smith:

Yes, there is.

Mr. Wagner:

There is no need to change this test because it is a valid one, and we know it hired good people, and we are changing it not knowing if this test is a good test.

Director Smith:

Mr. Wagner, employers all across the country are having their good tests thrown out by courts and they are paying.

Mr. Wagner:

You just agreed with me it was a good test, the '78 test.

Director Smith:

No, you are saying if people hired from it are good it means the test is good. That is not our burden of proof in court. In court our burden of proof is, is the test job-related, is it valid, and does it have an unfair adverse impact against protected members under the Civil Rights Act.

Women, small people, it could even be a religious group, but if the test has an adverse impact against one of those protected groups, and it is possible to give a good, fair, job-related test, that doesn't have that unfair impact, the employer is obligated to do it.

Mr. Wagner:

The criteria here is toally out of balance. The criteria is whether women can be rescued, whether men can be rescued; it is not who we are hiring, it is whether or not we can save the public.

Director Smith:

I agree it is the important point. I think this test will screen out people who cannot satisfactorily perform that job. I appreciate that you don't share that opinion, but I think once these cut-offs are established and minimum passing scores are established, and people are ranked on the list, I am confident we are going to hire very capable firefighters.

Mr. Wagner:

I disagree with you. Your test is an inferior test compared to the past. That's all I have to say.

(END - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 504 - WEDNESDAY, 4/4/84)

(BEGINNING - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 504, - WEDNESDAY, 4/11/84)

Mr. Wagner:

A Couple of questions. I know Mr. Bingler referred somewhat to this, Mr. Lewis, Ms. Smith, etc. Can you teach physical requirements?

Chief Lewis:

As far as I am concerned, you can teach techniques.

Mr. Bingler:

If you establish a minimum and work up from there, you obviously can. You can't obviously teach a two-year old child to carry a 150-pound person, but I think you can take any average 120-pound woman or 100-pound woman and teach it to carry a 150-pound man, maybe even a 200-pound man, and I think Chuck Noll would agree with me. He's got guys doing weight training all the time.

Mr. Wagner:

So then what you're saying is that it's appropriate for the procedure of this City to hire people that are not physically qualified but at the same time take the risk of training them and hope that they will become physically qualified.

Mr. Bingler:

No, we're testing for trainability and we rank on the test according to trainability. The people that rank at the top will be the most trainable for a firefighter class and if you are picking up 20 and I'm not sure how many took the test or frankly how many people have passed it, but I know it's in excess of 1,000, we're going to test a couple thousand people. If we're going to pick up 20, we're going to pick up the top 20 of those people to go into the training class.

Mr. Wagner:

That can be trained. My question is, can you teach people physical strength? How do you teach a person to lift 150 pounds if they can only lift 50 pounds? What procedures does this City have to teach that, that are mandatory with an individual that works for the City?

Mr. Bingler:

I think what they do is, if you can't do the required tasks by the time you finish the training academy, you don't get on the fire department.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Bingler, this is not the military. In the military you must qualify, or you will not move onto another position. If you can't swim the eight miles, you will not be part of that swimming team.

Mr. Bingler:

That's right.

Mr. Wagner:

The guidelines in this City are not that tough and when a person is hired, there is no indication from past record that we have terminated people due to inadequate abilities to perform physical functions of this position.

What I'm saying is, it is being suggested that those that are not physically qualified can be hired and can then become physically qualified for the job. That is not the case. There's a tremendous inconsistency here as to what the person should be doing and what they are capable of doing when hired.

Mr. Bingler:

The fact that nobody hasn't or one person didn't get through the training academy - when you're picking from the tip of the list that has several thousand people on it, when you are using a physical fitness test to screen them in, it establishes a minimum that also ranks them, it strikes me that if you put the top twenty in that class, you're not very likely to lose anybody because the top twenty are going to be the people that came into the program the most physically fit. This test is to establish minimum non-discriminatory standards of trainability; that's all.

Mr. Wagner:

Do you know specifically what this test asks for?

Mr. Bingler:

I know the test; I've watched the T.V. film.

Mr. Wagner:

Okay. You know that the first portion of it is a simple flexibility; touching the floor and then touching the wall in the back.

Mr. Bingler:

It's simple but you have to do 18 of them in 30 seconds bending one way and bending the other way.

Mr. Wagner:

Do you know if the second portion of the test, the dummy drag, has a rope behind it? It has a bull rope behind it on the back.

Mr. Bingler:

Like a shirt collar.

Mr. Wagner:

Okay, do you know the third portion of the test where you hit a tire on a table, a smooth table, very, very easy physical thing.

Mr. Bingler:

You time the length of time that it takes to do that.

Mr. Wagner:

Right, an eight-pound hammer. The fourth portion of the test is an ascend and descend 15 feet on a ladder.

Mr. Bingler:

Also, a time test.

Mr. Wagner:

Walk up and down the test.

Mr. Bingler:

It's a time test.

Mr. Wagner:

It says to do it at a nice pace. The hose carry, you don't even have to pick the hose up, it's on a shelf and you simply put it on your shoulder. Then you walk up a few steps and you come back down and you put it back on the shelf.

There's no doubt in my mind, given a month, every human being in this room, could pass this test.

Mr. Bingler:

I think that's probably correct.

Chief Lewis:

And they would probably come out in rank too, and the ones most able to do those tests best, are going to be the people that are most trainable physically to perform the Fire Department's array of functions.

(MR. STONE COMMENTS)

Mr. Wagner:

I don't think so. I think the portion about the physical exam has not been discussed enough. As a matter of fact, if this Council would have never requested it, we would never have known anything about it.

(MR. STONE COMMENTS)

Mr. Wagner:

I'm just trying to bring these out. I want to make the point loud and clear: There's not an individual in this room that cannot pass this physical test given a month to prepare for it. But every individual in this room is not qualified to be a firefighter and to rescue people from buildings and that includes myself. So what we're saying initially is, yes, these people here, everyone here, will be on the list and potentially be hired and after being hired, if they are hired, we'll determine later if they are qualifed and it's not proven to me that this City has the criteria for evaluation after hiring, to terminate and to weed out those that are not qualifed and we cannot train physical capabilities into human beings. There have been some inconsistencies in our discussion over the last week. Number One, this Council was under the impression —

(MR. STONE COMMENTS)

Mr. Wagner:

A vote on this?

(MR. STONE COMMENTS)

Mr. Wagner:

No.

(MR. STONE COMMENTS)

Mr. Wagner:

No, no. My points are of tremendous importance prior to the vote.

There have been inconsistencies within the last week pertaining to this topic. Number one, this Council was under the impression that the past test was proven to be invalid in court. We have learned that that is not the case; is that correct?

Director Smith:

Yes, but —

Mr. Wagner:

Okay, we know that now. We did not know that a week ago.

I was just informed of another item. We talked about the sandbag carry before. Firefighters that are here today that were part of the 1972, 1974, 1975, 1978 physical examination, were told that the sandbag was a victim. When you finish the course, you were told to lay the bag down rather than drop it, simulating a victim. They were told that by those administering the test. It was said here earlier that it was never in any way inferred upon as being a victim. That's factual.

The last item I want to touch on briefly is, we have talked about preparing people to take the physical examination and how necessary it is to properly prepare them so that each and every person can equally qualify as an applicant and hopefully pass the test. What procedures were taken with the past test to try to educate the public, and we're talking about certain protected groups of people, minorities, women, to educate them to the procedures of the past test so that they would better be prepared while taking that test, such as, what is being done today right now on cable T.V. as was scheduled, that test is being shown in the City and will continue to be shown over T.V. The applicants know the testing procedures and there's a description as to what physical exercises each applicant should go through to qualify and to do well on the test. What was done with the past test?

Director Smith:

What's been added this year is the cable coverage to give people a live demonstration of the events. In the past we have sent out a description of the events as we did again this year.

Mr. Wagner:

So you would agree that the applicants in the past had the opportunity to be better prepared to pass the 1978 test than the test being proposed today.

Director Smith:

No, in both cases we have sent out, and we did in 1978 also, we have sent out a description of the events to the candidates in advance of the test. What's new this year is that we're also utilizing the cable facilities to give a demonstration of these events over Channel 17.

Mr. Wagner:

I have a copy of both tests. The last test is a very, very simple explanation of that portion of the test. This is also an explanation of a portion of the test and how to prepare for the test.

Director Smith:

Clearly I think this is an improvement.

Mr. Wagner:

Then you're contradicting what you just said. This is an improvement and people can be better prepared to take this test than they were for this past test; is that correct?

Director Smith:

That gives a description of the events. What it didn't do was recommend things that they do ahead of time and there was no cablecast. We're always attempting to improve our affirmative action recruitment and our ability to get people prepared for examinations. That's part of our affirmative action plan.

Mr. Wagner:

Which leads me to my next point. With the past test, if the same efforts were taken by this City to educate the applicants to be prepared to take the examination, do you think there would have been a greater potential for those applicants to pass the test that are considered to be protected minorities or women?

Director Smith:

That's possible. I would assume that would be true.

Mr. Wagner:

Okay, why did we not, under the present proposed tests, attempt to better educate and prepare those applicants rather than just changing the test?

Director Smith:

Because the test is not a defensible test.

Mr. Wagner:

That's not a proven fact yet.

Director Smith:

There are three kinds of validation under the guidelines. Construct validation is what the 1978 firefighter test was. It's the most difficult to prove. The San Francisco police test was a construct validation test which was similar to the firefighter test in San Franciso. It has been thrown out of the courts and the reason is because the kind of relationship that needed to be demonstrated could not be proved with that examination. It did not meet the requirements of the selection guidelines and our 1978 test was the same kind of a test.

Mr. Wagner:

But what led to that conclusion was the fact that you indicated earlier which was that certain protected groups of people did not pass the test.

Director Smith:

I don't understnad what the question is.

Mr. Wagner:

Because certain protected groups of people did not pass the 1978 test, it was determined that that test was not a valid test.

Director Smith:

I haven't said that. What I've said is that test has an adverse impact. The test, a very close form, the same kind of test, a construct validation test, has been thrown out of court and it was a test developed by the very same person and I think we have recognized that we would be running an enormous liability to use a test that is not going to be defensible if challenged and we have given the test — and the thing that makes it even worse is that the prior test did have considerable adverse impact contrary to the amount permitted by the guidelines and for use to continue using that examination, I feel would be foolish and run a terrific liability for the City.

Mr. Wagner:

A few last points.

(MR. STONE COMMENTS)

Mr. Wagner:

The past test has not been successfully challenged in court. It's a clear indication to me that the necessary efforts have not been taken by this City to educate the applicants in the past with the past test, which further leads me to the point that I think if we did take the same efforts, certain protected groups that you're so concerned about and the policies of this Administration are so concerned about, could pass the test, if given the opportunity to know what the test is all about , how to train for that test and to view it on T.V. as we did the other day.

I would like to amend this bill, Mr. President. I make a motion for an amendment.

(MR. STONE COMMENTS)

Mr. Wagner:

That firefighter candidates will be administered the 1978 Firefighters Performance Examination as indicated in Exhibit A.

I vote yes and I'd like to say that this Council must take the position. I don't care what position has been taken by the Civil Service Commission or has been mandated by state government. To speak out about the truth and what reality is and we know that there is not a person at this table that has said the past test was a better test and we should be sending a message to this Administration to challenge it, I vote yes.

(MR. STONE COMMENTS)

Mr. Wagner:

Could I make a quick comment, Mr. Stone? On the original bill.

Again I appeal to my colleagues. If we cannot have an impact in changing the test, this Council should not allocate the dollars to administer an inferior test.

(END - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 504 - 4/11/84)

Mr. Woods:

I vote aye and on Bill 504 I would like to commend Councilman Wagner for all the research and for spreading some light on this issue. The reason I'm voting in favor of this bill is because I honestly believe it's an entrance exam, it's not a qualified fireman. The final test is when they come out of that Academy.

The Chair:

I vote aye and on Bill 504 I would like to make the following comments.

The bill does not address the test; the bill merely addresses the question of whether we appropriate monies for a test.

Relative to the test, this falls within the province of our Personnel Department and Civil Service. Neither this Council nor the Mayor has any right to determine that test and Personnel and the Civil Service Department bases that test purely on wheter or not it given on a non-discriminatory basis.

Relative to the past test and this test, if I had my choice, my test would be stronger than either of them. Relative to the two tests, neither of them tests an ability to carry a person and from the information that was given to me at least, it was my understanding that the sandbag was not picked up, even though there has been a statement that that, for many times, was picked up. It was my understanding from Melanie Smith; it was not.

Relative to the first test, my recollection of the statement from Melanie Smith was as follows: The test which was given and tested for police officers was declared illegal. While there was no legal declaration relative to that test as it applies to a fireman, it was my understanding from what Melanie Smith had indicated, that the author of both tests had withdrawn the test relative to firefighters for the reason that, in his opinion, if his test did not stand relative to police, it would not stand relative to firemen.

The last point is, this test is not final; there is merely one matter and that is whether or not the test discriminates on applicants, not whether they, in fact, are in final ability to be a firefighter. There is the training and the school.

With that, I vote yes.

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me. Mr. Stone, did you say you'd want the test more stringent than the original test?

The Chair:

If I had my way, the test would be different than either of them.

Michelle Madoff:

You don't mean more stringent? You don't mean discriminatory against women?

The Chair:

No.

Michelle Madoff:

I wanted to clarify that.

The Chair:

What I am saying is that as far as the test is concerned, I'm faced with a proposition that in the United States of America, relative to tests, we have a process by which we live and I happen to subscribe to that rule, even sometimes if I don't care for it, and that is that the tests that we administer in the Civil Service capacity by the United States Constitution and the Pennsylvania Constitution, those tests should be non-discriminatory and I abide by that standard.

Michelle Madoff:

Originally, sir, you said that if you had your way, you'd make it even tougher. I didn't think you meant it that way; to be discriminatory.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 6 NOES 2

(MR. O'MALLEY AND MR. WAGNER VOTING NO)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Also,

Bill No. 581

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution revising Resolution No. 1208, approved December 30, 1983, effective January 1, 1984, as amended, to change appropriation levels for certain code accounts."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 582

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution revising Resolution No. 1209, approved December 30, 1983, effective January 1, 1984, entitled, 'Fixing the Number of Officers and Employees in all Departments for the City of Pittsburgh, and the Rate of Compensation Thereof, and Setting Minimum Levels for Designated Positions' by correcting the rate of compensation to reflect the 1984 salary rates and collective bargaining agreements."

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

Mr. Grabowski:

We discussed it this morning in the Mayor's Conference Room?

Mrs. Masloff:

It's not the same one, Steve.

The Chair:

If it is we can catch it the second time up. Are you talking about something that was introduced this morning?

Mr. Grabowski:

I was just wondering, how many contracts, how often do we enter into agreements?

The one we introduced this morning in the Conference Room was for concerts. This is a little different.

Mr. Grabowski:

This is for Visual and Performing Arts.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President, my concern relates to the proposed sale of the Warner Cable system and some questions that I think need to be answered prior to Council taking any action on that proposed sale.

As Council is aware, we did receive a letter from Mr. Drew Lewis who is the President, or I should say, Chairman of the Board of Warner Amex, the parent company of Warner Cable of Pittsburgh.

I would like the City Clerk to send a letter to our City Solicitor, Mr. Pellegrini. One, I would like Mr. Pellegrini, if he will be kind enough, to identify for this Council pursuant to our Cable Ordinance under what circumstances the City of Pittsburgh is to be notified of a proposed sale. I'm proceeding on the assumption that Mr. Lewis' letter to us was for information purposes only and was in no way notification of the sale of the system. But I would like Mr. Pellegrini to clarify that for us pursuant to the ordinance itself.

Also, I'd like Mr. Pellegrini to instruct Council as to what limits there are on our ability to impose conditions of sale of our cable system. Also, if he would be kind enough to identify the exact time schedule for Council and the Mayor to take action if and when we are officially notified and legally notified that Warner Cable of Pittsburgh intends to sell the franchise; also, the role that our Cable Advisory Committee is legally permitted to play in the sale or transfer of the system and what role they will play in evaluating any proposed documents relative to the rationale for the potention sale or transfer of that system.

I believe that we should also forward a copy of the communication to Brother Richard Emenecker who is the Director of our Cable Bureau because I'm sure some of the questions of Brother Emenecker would be working with Mr. Pellegrini in getting some answers.

I think this approach will help Council better understand what our obligations are and what role we, the Mayor, and the Cable Advisory Committee, play in the official process, if it is initiated, to transfer the system. I think Mr. Lewis' letter to Council and to the Mayor has triggered a lot of speculation and has triggered a lot of activity certainly on the part of the share holders within Warner Cable of Pittsburgh and also, I think, has raised some speculation as to whether or not City government would be amenable to the proposal outlined in Mr. Lewis' letter.

Again, I'd like to emphasize that I do not in any way consider the letter from the Chairman of the Board of Warner Amex, Mr. Drew Lewis, to be any kind of notification to the City of Pittsburgh of Warner Amex's intention of selling their franchise here in the City of Pittsburgh. I simply consider that letter as a communication from Mr. Lewis to the Mayor and members of Council.

The Chair:

At the expense of being repetitive, I think we came up with this on some other issue. We do not have any legislation pending before Council and that would be the first thing that is necessary.

Michelle Madoff:

I have a communication in my office that three months ago the firefighters requested help in solving a problem of asbestos that's at Engine Company No. 36 on the North Side and Engine Company No. 20 in Hays. This is a very serious problem and I'd like to see that something happens. Would you address that and make sure that it's expedited, put on a priority list? Asbestos particles do not dissolve in the lungs; on workmen's comp we are self-insured.

Mr. O'Malley:

I think that should be addressed to Lands and Buildings.

Michelle Madoff:

True but I don't know who else — I'll be happy to handle it myself if you don't mind; I don't care.

The firefighters also would like, they would be amenable to having a free membership at the Y so that they could exercise and keep in shape. It appears that their area for exercise has been curtailed; they don't have the space. Some of them are paying their own way now to go to the Y, very few of them. And I think this would encourage them if we paid. Would you look into it further, Councilman O'Malley?

Mr. O'Malley:

If you remember, Michelle, we allocated $12,000 for a study in just the last few weeks at the University of Pittsburgh to do a study about an ongoing physical fitness for both police, fire and EMS.

Michelle Madoff:

Alright. But one of the things I'd like you to consider and pass on to the people doing this study, that one option might be to pay for them going to the Y to exercise.

Mr. O'Malley:

That's one of the options they're looking into.

Michelle Madoff:

Alright. And the asbestos one has me very concerned.

Those are the two on Public Safetv. There's another one.

I'm very, very concerned, and I'm sorry that the rest of Council isn't here. What are we doing about replacing Mr. Eddie Albert's position? Have we got applications? Have we got a job description? I don't want to wait until the point comes along and we sav, "Well, we reallv don't need that kind of input."

Now, Mr. Woods and myself and all others of Council who would like to come along are invited to go to Baltimore; they're starting their budget hearing to see what they're doing with their fiscal analyst as opposed to a fiscal advisor in house.

At some point we have to address this. I don't want to end up at the end of the year saying, "Well, we don't really need this.", and relying more and more on the Administration for input.

Mr. Woods:

If I may, Mr. President. Concerning Mr. Albert, he is not retired; he is simply on a disability leave of absence.

Michelle Madoff:

For 26 weeks?

Mr. Woods:

We don't know if he's going to be gone for one day, for two more weeks, or for 26 weeks. We don't know. If he's automatically saying he's gone for 26 weeks, then he's in violation of some kind of law; he's taking a retirement at 2/3 pay. That's why I hate to say that. He is off on sick leave.

Michelle Madoff:

The man is ill; he's been ill for some time. He could have been off on sick leave for a year, justifiably. He has severe damage to his heart and he can't work.

The Chair:

Michelle, I don't think that's the point.

Michelle Madoff:

But the point is —

Mr. Woods:

He is off on sick leave; he is not retired. Until we have a letter of retirement, there's nothing we can do with that position. He is still legally employed by the City of Pittsburgh.

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me, Mr. Woods. I spoke to Mr. Stone about this. I'm concerned that we don't let it go and Mr. Stone said he was going to look into it. My thought was to hire somebody with the understanding that if Mr. Albert came back, he or she just lost their job. We cannot wait 26 weeks and not have someone address it. That's half a year; what's happening in our budget when we get to it. If you think we've been railroaded before, when we get down to the vote on our budget we're not going to have any meaningful input. Remember, you heard it here first.

The Chair:

I just want to amplify for a moment on what Mr. Woods has said. The letter that we have received indicates that he is on a disability. Second, it indicates that he has up until 26 weeks to decide and the converse is accurate; it could be one dav, two days, one week, two weeks. With that in mind, it's created a bit of a problem for us. Fortunately, it's during the summer period that we don't have that big a demand.

Mr. Woods:

If I could also add, he has an assistant that's been doing a lot of work and has right now assumed all that responsibility.

Michelle Madoff:

That's exactly what I was worried about. Who is the assistant?

Mr. Woods:

Al D'Alessandro.

Michelle Madoff:

That's right. That's exactly what I'm concerned about. Mr. D'Alessandro is not qualified to have that job. He's doing a good job as an assistant. That is too big a job; he doësn't have the qualifications for that position.

Mr. Woods:

What are the qualification?

Michelle Madoff:

Do you have a job description?

The Chair:

I don't know that we ought to go into that at this moment.

Michelle Madoff:

I have a job description and it's provided by Mr. Albert; it does not qualify Mr. D'Alessandro. I don't want it to be a political appointment.

Mr. Wagner:

What is the status of the Workmen's Compensation Committee? To assist the Administration in the evaluation of the Workmen's Compensation Program.

The Chair:

I am faced with the problem as follows. It seems to me almost everyone here has asked to do that and it would appear to me that that belongs basically within the Finance Department. If everyone wants to be there then we'll call everybody there. I have the decision to make who is to be there. If it's to be everybody, I want to know it's everybody. It seems like everybody wants to and the question is, do all of you want to be there at one time?

Michelle Madoff:

Yes.

Mr. O'Malley:

Be where?

The Chair:

To review workmen's comp consultants, potential.

Mr. O'Malley:

Okay. Back to the disability, you said it's indicated that Mr. Albert has the determining factor whether he's going to be off 26 weeks or not. Since when do we give the employees the right to decide if they're going to be off 26 weeks. I thought we had a committee and a doctor's examination for that.

The Chair:

I don't think in fairness that's what he meant. He says he has up to 26 weeks to do that and he's correct. After that, it depends on his health as to whether he can come back earlier or extend to the 26 weeks.

Mr. O'Malley:

He has up to 26 weeks of what?

The Chair:

Disability.

Mr. O'Malley:

He has up to 26 weeks of sick pay. Right, Mike?

Mr. Perry:

That's right. Twenty-six weeks —

Mr. O'Malley:

Of back sick leave.

Mr Perry:

It's not called sick leave. He's under the new plan. He's entitled to 26 weeks —

Mr. O'Malley:

Who determines whether an employee goes on —

The Chair:

There's a committee that passes on that.

Mr. O'Malley:

May I finish please? An employee cannot just go on disability.

The Chair:

You're correct.

Mr. O'Malley:

Well who determined whether Mr. Albert was qualified to go on disability or not?

The Chair:

There's a committee that must pass on that. I don't know if they have yet or not; we're trying to find out about that. I told Mr. Albert he may have that —

Mr. O'Malley:

Indeed it must be work related. I'm not so sure a heart condition —

Michelle Madoff:

In this job? I'm going to have one myself and it's going to be job related.

Mr. Perry:

Excuse me. It doesn't have to be job related.

Mr. O'Malley:

It doesn't have to be job related? Any disability other than if you get hurt cutting in the grass you get 26 weeks of this?

Will you check and see if it has been passed on by our Board?

The Chair:

There is a committee that passes on it. To my knowledge, they have not yet passed. Whether they have done it in the last week, I'm not sure.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, you did say you were going to look into hiring someone, or the possibility, with the understanding that that person would understand it was not a permanent job.

The Chair:

No, no.

Michelle Madoff:

We can't let the place go for 26 weeks without someone there.

The Chair:

Michelle, I'm faced with the realistic fact —

Michelle Madoff:

Of letting Mr. Al D'Alessandro have the job.

The Chair:

— With the fact that Mr. Albert could come back in a week or two. As I indicated, as far as I see it, and Mr. Woods will have to determine that now, fortunately it might be that during this summer period when the heaviness is not there that it's time to call our second man into motion.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Stone, due to the seriousness of the workmen's compensation problem in the City of Pittsburgh where the estimated losses are $14 million a year, I think it is to the benefit of all Councilmembers and the Committees they represent, to know what is happening in the proposals within the Administration.

The Chair:

I will open up that to everyone who wants to go but I want to tell everyone here that that, as I am told now, will involve something like an hour per and it's my understanding there are to be roughly five. So, it could be a five hour situation. I'll let you know as soon as I find the exact time of it.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, you haven't addressed the problem of Mr. Albert. We just talked about it but we haven't come up with a decision. Are we going to let the 26 weeks go without putting someone into that office, that's half a year, and then come back and go into budget hearings having an aide who is not qualified, in my estimation, and I think some other members of this Council would concur, based on Mr. Albert's giving us a letter which states the job qualifications that are necessary for that position.

The Chair:

Michelle, I'm faced with a letter and I have to take the letter for what it says. I can't deny that individual his rights and, fortunately or unfortunately, we're stuck with the content of the letter.

Michelle Madoff:

You're telling me that we can't go out, if this Council votes, to find money to put on someone else so that we're not caught short at budget time?

The Chair:

If some need develops, we may have to be —

Michelle Madoff:

Who is to determine that need? Right now it's a political appointment. I don't think that is correct.

The Chair:

Well, he's there and he is, whether you like him or whether you don't, he is still —

Michelle Madoff:

I think he's a lovely, charming, qualified man in his job. But he's not qualified to step into the shoes of Mr. Eddie Albert who really is probably the best employee we've had in this City.

The Chair:

There's no better way to test him than to let him fly on his own.

Michelle Madoff:

And accept the data that he gives us and have no basis on whether to judge whether it correct or not because we have no ongoing fiscal analyst of our own.

The Chair:

I won't pre-judge him either.

Mr. Woods moved to excuse Mr. Givens for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Wagner seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Woods moved to approve the Minutes from Monday, March 27, 1984 and Monday, April 2, 1984.

Mr. Wagner seconded the motion.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and Members of Council, it's a distinguished pleasure and honor to present this resolution today, No. 323.

With us today is the Reverend Boyd Rogers who is the Pastor of Calvary Baptist Church here in our City, in the Hill District, a gentleman who, himself, is very distinguished. In both 1983 and 1982, several community groups identified him as the Pastor of the Year for Western Pennsylvania. I think we are honored to have Revered Rogers in our community.

If Reverend Rogers would come forward, I'd like to present him with this resolution, not in honor of himself even though he is most worth, but this resolution is given in honor of a gentleman who will be in our City on the 28th of this month, Reverend Doctor J.H. Jackson, who is one of the outstanding ministers in this country and has been for a long period of time.

Mr. Robinson presents

Bill No. 658 WHEREAS, Doctor J.H. Jackson, Pastor of the Olivet Baptist Church of Chicago, Illinois has served congregations in the State of Mississippi, the State of Nebraska, the State of Illinois and the State Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, Doctor Jackson has ministered at Olivet Baptist Church of Chicago, Illinois since nineteen hundred and forty one; and

WHEREAS, his distinguished career has been punctuated with academic degrees from Jackson State College in Jackson, Mississippi, Creghton University in Omaha, Nebraska, Colgate/Rochester Divinity School, Rochester, New York, and has been honored by numerous universities and colleges; and

WHEREAS, Doctor J.H. Jackson served six years as Secretary of the foreign Mission Board and twenty eight years as President of the National Baptist Convention U.S.A., Incorporated; and authored seven books and numerous articles; and

WHEREAS, on April 28, 1984, the Reverend Doctor J.H. Jackson will grace our City as the guest of the Calvary Baptist Church of Pittsburgh in celebration of their first Annual Banquet.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and Council of the City of Pittsburgh does welcome Reverend Doctor J.H. Jackson to the City of Pittsburgh.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Mayor and Council does honor and give recognition to the works and accomplishments of Reverend J. H. Jackson.

Mr. Robinson moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson:

Thank you Mr. President and members of Council. As I mentioned earlier, Reverend Rogers is with us today, a distinguished Pastor and community activist, a young man who has done much in our City to improve it and I'm very honored that he has come today to accept this resolution. Reverend Rogers has a few words for us.

Reverend Rogers:

Mr. President and Council, we are certainly delighted for this most wonderful privilege to stand today in your presence and accept this on behalf of Dr. J.H. Jackson, one of America's great preachers, great leaders, and it befalls our hand today to have him come to our most wonderful City and grace the pulpit of the historical Calvary Baptist Church where I am the Pastor. On the 28th at 6:00, Councilman Robinson, hopefully, will be there to make this presentation to him personally. I am just today accepting on his behalf.

We're so grateful that you would take the time and give us this privilege today. Thank you so very much.

Mr. Robinson:

We have two gold seal copies of the resolution for Reverend Rogers, one for Calvary Baptist Church and one for Reverend Jackson to take back to Chicago.

With the approval of the President of Council, I will make a formal presentation this Saturday at the banquet which will be held at Judy's Banquet Hall in the East Hills area of our City. It will be an honor and a privilege.

The Chair:

Reverend Rogers, it's been nice having you.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, the second resolution deals specifically with an issue that I have brought before Council before and that is the issue of development in the Hill District, the Third and Fifth Wards of the City of Pittsburgh and that area surrounding the Civic Arena.

This resolution is intended to express Council's support for the development of a comprehensive plan and our attempts to bring together both the private and public sector in developing that community.

As Chairman of Planning, Housing and Development, I have been trying to follow the developments in that area for some time and it seems to me that we need to express our concern along with the Mayor of support for development in that area.

Mr. Robinson presents

Bill No. 659 WHEREAS, The City of Pittsburgh, through its Mayor and Council, has demonstrated its commitment to the development of all communities both physically and economicallv; and

WHEREAS, the development of the Hill District, 3rd and 5th Wards of the City of Pittsburgh, is most desired and an integral part of the overall development of Renaissance II and the social, political and economic fabric of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh, through its Mayor and Council, supports and encourages cooperative development efforts between the public and private sectors of the economy.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Mayor and Council, City of Pittsburgh, will encourage and support the development of a comprehensive plan for the Hill District, not in consistent with applicable laws, and in conjunction and cooperation with the Hill District Project Area Committee.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and the Council ~~shall~~ should not approve any development plans, zoning changes, conditional use requests or transfers of land which might impair a comprehensive plan until such time that Council and the Mayor establish that a development plan and process has been approved and is in the process of implementation.

Mr. O'Malley:

Question. Is there time limit, Bill, when you expect the development plan to be established? Is there a commission set up that's going to deliver a development plan to this Council and to the Administration? Is there a time table set up for that?

Mr. Robinson:

It's my understanding that the Chairman of the Urban Redevelopment Authority, Mr. John Robin, had requested that the Mayor establish a task force to carry out the implementation of an overall development approach in the Hill District. Presently, there is not an overall comprehensive plan for that area. There are two certified redevelopment areas in the Hill that have been certified for development. There has been developed a set of guidelines. Those guidelines spell out specifically the conditions under which development should occur in the Hill. It's my understanding that the Project Area Committee which commissions this study of which the guidelines are a product, would like the guidelines to be accepted as the development plan for the Hill District. It seems to me that their concern is well taken, is well founded. I think a comprehensive plan must be approved by Council and the Mayor and that the effort on the part of the Administration to put together a task force deserve the full support of this Council.

I don't believe that we can have one area in our Citv so adjacent to our Downtown area not developed as the Hill District. The North Side, the South Side of Downtown are being developed and in all instances, there have been comprehensive plans and a comprehensive approach, public and private sector. There is not a comprehensive plan for the Hill District and there is not public and private cooperation in that community. I would anticipate that the Mayor, in putting together the task force, would ask members of this Council to serve. I also anticipate that he would ask people in the corporate community to serve.

My purpose here is to one, assure that there is a comprehensive plan; two, to assure that the Project Area Committee is involved in the implementation of the plan; and three, to make sure that whatever private sector resources, whatever corporate sector resources are needed to develop the Hill District, are brought together and that the Mayor and Council give their consent for a cooperative effort.

I think the one thing we do not need is we do not need community groups and organizations working against us and vice versa. We need to work together and I think all the communities in this Citv that have experienced rapid, substantive, positive growth, have done so by bringing together both the private and the public sector.

So, the spirit in which I'm offering this resolution is to bring together both resources that are needed to develop the Hill District.

Mr. O'Malley:

I agree with you. I think a comprehensive overall plan would certainly be worthwhile but the way this reads, I read it that it might impede all development in the Hill District. As you know, there are many worthwhile projects going on in the Third and Fifth Ward on a constant basis, both commercial and in housing. The way I read this resolution, everything will come to a halt. I'm not so sure that's what you intended to do.

Mr. Robinson:

Are you specifically referring to the last paragraph?

Mr. O'Malley:

Yes.

Mr. Robinson:

Okay. My concern is that rather than Council constantly be requested to approve piecemeal development, that we indeed say that until a plan is put together and until we can see a comprehensive approach, that we will not approve any new developments. Now, that does not stop in any way any present development that is going on in the Hill District or anything that we have approved. The resolution is not intended to stop anything that is presently going on.

Mr. O'Malley:

I'm not so sure giving a blanket coverage like that we are not going to approve anything is the proper way to proceed. I think that the areas that certainly do need development are the Third and Fifth Wards. I think this would impede it more than help it.

I understand what you're saying and I support what you're saying 100 percent; I'm just not so sure that this resolution is the proper way to go about it.

Mr. Robinson:

Let me mention two things. One would be a procedural matter; the other is a comment.

First the comment. I think that this Council probably needs to have before it the development guidelines for consideration. I believe that the development guidelines should be accepted by Council and the Administration as the plan for the Hill District.

I plan to submit legislation next Monday for Council's consideration. That legislation would identify the guidelines, the recently developed guidelines, as the plan to develop the Third and Fifth Ward. Then Council will have an opportunity in Committee to do that.

The other issue relates to your current concerns. Let me offer a suggestion as to how to change this resolution; perhaps it can address your concern and at the same time achieve my purpose in trying to get the Mayor and Council behind some sort of cooperative effort in the Hill District. I would be remiss if I didn't say there is not the public private partnership that needs to exist in the Hill District today for it to develop; it simply is not there and I think without Council and the Mayor adding their weight to the situation, will not be there

Let me read the last paragraph and suggest a change. "Be it further resolved that the Mayor and Council should not approve any development plans, zoning changes, conditional use requests, or transfers of land which might impair a comprehensive plan until such time that Council and the Mayor establish the development plan and process has been approved and is in the process of implementation."

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Robinson, I think you overlooked one item and that is the Zoning Board. You want to be sure it doesn't get through the Zoning Board and URA which acts as a autonomous body. It has a life of its own, as you know — unfortunate we've discovered that — and I think you might want to be sure that is covered, that those bodies that have a life of their own don't supersede us and they just don't go through the back door which is what's been happening to this Council continuously.

Mr. Robinson:

I understand your concern. I mentioned earlier that as Chairman of Planning, Housing and Development I was offering this resolution. All of the issues of zone change, development plans, transfers of land, have to come through the Planning, Housing and Development Committee. I have said to the Project Area Committee in the Hill and to the URA that as Chairman of this Committee I will not entertain any legislation that relates to development in the Hill until we put together this comprehensive plan, until that task force is established, and until the Mayor and Council bring its weight to bear that everyone who should be cooperating in the community are cooperating. That's one check.

I think also that for those areas in which the Zoning Commission or the URA or others feel there can appropriately legislate and move forward that they should receive a copy of this resolution if it were to pass so that they are aware of our concerns. Next Monday when I introduce the resolution to accept the guidelines, I'm sure that will trigger a series of events which will allow input from the Mayor's Office, from the Project Area Committee, from developers and others and I see no reason why we shouldn't have a public hearing. I think it's imperative that all the government bodies that are involved in development in the Hill are going in the same direction. We do this on the North Side, we've done this on the South Side, we've done this Downtown. There's no reason why we shouldn't do it in the Hill.

Michelle Madoff:

Bill, I just don't want to digress, I want to stay with the issue. You said that you're introducing something on Monday. What is that that you're introducing? Who prepared it? Was it the person who is the architect of this plan?

The Chair:

Michelle, let's deal only with —

Michelle Madoff:

One is tied to the other. I don't quite understand. What is going to be introduced Monday?

Mr. Robinson:

Approximately two years ago this Council authorized the expenditure of $100,000 for the Project Area Committee in the Hill District to hire consultants —

Michelle Madoff:

Who are they? Is that Mr. Robin as well?

Mr. Robinson:

No. — to put together a set of guidelines for development in the Hill District. Out of that study came a document prepared by Mr. Earl Onque and Mr. Norman Harai who were hired by the Project Area Committee. The document that they produced was submitted to the Urban Redevelopment Authority, to the Planning Commission and to the Project Area Committee. The Project Area Committee voted to accept those guidelines as the plan for the community. The URA and the Planning Commission are still reviewing those guidelines and want to make sure that they're consistent with the two existing redevelopment area plans and consistent with what they believe should occur in the Hill District. I think that once the guidelines are submitted to us for formal acceptance as a plan for the Hill the issues that URA and Planning and the Project Area Committee have can be brought to this Council and we can bring our weight to bear.

What has not occurred is the concensus on development in that community; concensus on comprehensive development. Mr. O'Malley is correct; there is development going on but there's no concensus on comprehensive development. If we don't have comprehensive development, I don't believe that the area around the Civic Arena is going to be developed in the near future. I think we must get the DeBartolo Corporation to work in cooperation and concert with the Project Area Committee, that we must get the URA, Planning, Council and the Mayor to cooperate and that we must put together a task force of people, some bankers, some lawyers, some community activists, some planners and others who can come to a concensus on development in the Hill District.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Robinson, is the concept of your introducing it today to be sure that that will finally happen because it hasn't happened?

Mr. Robinson:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

Then may I suggest that in your beginning paragraph, "Whereas, the City of Pittsburgh, through it's Mayor and Council, has demonstrated its commitment to the development of all communities both physically and econonically", that is not true; it's a contradiction in terms. The reason you're introducing it is because while Council has supported you I think almost unanimously, there hasn't been this kind of concern out of the Administration. I realize that you don't want to attack and you're trying to get some harmony but let's have the facts as they are. You wouldn't be introducing this resolution is the Administration had shown the same concern for that community and the Homewood community for that matter. We have another community.

Mr. Robinson:

One point of clarification in that regard. I'm not attempting to bring about cooperation in spite of the facts. I think it would be unfair to say that the Mayor and Council have not been committed to development, both physically and economically, in the Hill. What we have not been committed to is comprehensive development. We have not been committed to that. I think part of the reason that the Mayor is considering a task force is that he recognizes that. The Project Area Committee has not been committed to comprehensive development. They have been committed to development and they have approved development in their area but not comprehensive development.

Michelle Madoff:

Bill, I understand what you're saying but let's get right down to the bottom line. You had a $100,000 study coming in here on Monday and then it's going to have to have a task force to do it, which basically boils down to, if you don't want to do something you study it.

Now, I want to know there's a deadline on when they have to come back with a plan because I think it's time we started to protect that area surrounding Renaissance II and I couldn't agree with you more.

Mr. Robinson:

When the legislation is introduced on Monday it will contain a section that deals specifically with the creation of the task force. It is my understanding that the Mayor wants to have the task force in place by June 1. I have not discussed this matter with the Mayor so I don't know what he is doing relative to the task force but I do plan to put into the legislation a time limit. I think that it's appropriate that we move with that task force no later than June 1.

Mr. Woods moved to approve the motion.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, this appears to be a substantial piece of legislation that we're acting on today. I'm just wondering why it's not going through the usual process of the Committee; have it brought up before the Committee on Wednesday and then vote on it finally the next Monday.

The Chair:

He is presently starting with a concensus rather than a mandatory provision. That's what he's after. It's in light with, I think, what has been consitent but needs more comprehensiveness in that particular area. He's centering it more toward the Hill than the lower part and that's why I had indicated to him that I think Mr. O'Malley's suggestion was accurate. Some of that lower part will not adversely affect the top and there's something that started already. To make an absolute not to do anything and when it doesn't impair the potential of the rest might be a little too heavy.

Mr. Grabowski:

Is this a binding resolution?

The Chair:

This is a concensus of Council at this time. When it comes through other than the usual form it's a concensus. It seems consistent with what we've done up to now.

Mr. Robinson:

Originally, Mr. Grabowski, the procedure that I was going to use was to actually submit the guidelines and submit them in a form of legislation so that Council would approve or disapprove. Subsequent to making that decision, I had an opportunity to make a presentation before the URA Board and the Project Area Committee. It seemed to me that both organizations were interested in concensus on development and both organizations were still trying to work out an appropriate relationship between themselves to work on development. In the spirit of trying to bring together those two organizations and trying to bring together some of the concepts in the Mayor's task force approach, it seemed to me that a general resolution expressing the will of Council would be the first initial step prior to submitting any initial legislation that would have to go through the Committee process.

So, that's the reason I took this approach as opposed to simply submitting legislation. I'm looking for concensus and cooperation and trying to create an atmosphere in which the appropriate parties can come together to comprehensively develop that community.

Mr. Woods:

Mr. Robinson, I think you've answered my question. I support it wholeheartedly but I wanted to see a time schedule involved in this but you said you will have that in your legislation.

Mr. Robinson:

Monday.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Stone, could you please re-read that?

The Chair:

He's saying in his closing paragraph, "Be it further resolved that the Mayor and Council should not approve" he's changed it from shall to should, "not approve any development plans, zoning changes, conditional use requests, or transfers of land which might impair a comprehensive plan until such time that Council and the Mayor establish that a development plan and process has been approved and is in the process of implementation."

This now is consistent in the sense that the first one is asking for a comprehensive plan; the second one is saying that while we're doing it we don't want to do anything to impair that overall consideration.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

The Chair presents

Bill No. 660 WHEREAS, the Holy Trinity Serbian Orthodox Church Choir of Pittsburgh, a member choir of the Serbian Singing Federation of America and Canada, and one of its best choral societies, will be holding its annual Spring Concert Weekend on Saturday and Sunday, April 28 - 29, 1984; and

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 8 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Mr. Givens presented

Bill No. 654

Report of the Committee on Public Works for April 18, 1984 transmitting sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 288

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution vacating Congress Street from Fifth Avenue to its northwesterly terminus (170±) in the 3rd Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, excepting and reserving easements for the existing water and sewer lines."

Which was read.

Mr. O'Malley:

Mr. President, on Bill 288, Congress Street, I have a letter here, I think it was sent to all members of Council, and it's addressed to the Honorable Richard S. Caliguiri. The letter is from Irwin B. Wedner; he's the attorney for the Downtown Racquet and Athletic Club.

I'd just like to state that again I think there's room for compromise between both parties on this. I talked to our Law Department this morning and they informed me that Mr. Wedner was to ask the court for a stay of Council's order, that this could be tied up in the litigation for years and wouldn't be any benefit at all to the union that was trying to secure that property for additional parking for the members.

So, there again, I realize we're trying to help the members of this particular union but in the long run we might be hurting them. What I'm saying is that I think it would be wise for this Council to see if both parties could get together and come to some type of compromise as opposed to maybe having this tied up in the court for years and not benefitting anybody.

Mr. Robinson:

I move to recommit.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Mr. Woods:

Mr. President, I'd like to speak on this. You know, this Racquet Club was given half of this street by the City of Pittsburgh; I don't know what more they want. All you have to do is go another 100 feet to go around the corner to get in their parking lot; they can get in and out. I don't see any problem with members of that club going 100 feet to make a bend to go into a parking lot. They can get in and out of that parking lot with no trouble at all. We gave them half that street and now they don't want to see somebody else get the other half. I think that's totally wrong to even recommit this bill.

Mr. Wagner:

To recommit for how long?

Mr. Robinson:

It goes back to Committee Wednesday.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, the people aren't going to get together between now and Wednesday, are they?

Mr. O'Malley:

Well, no, then you can make a motion to hold it for a week or two weeks.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm a little concerned.

Mr. Wagner:

If we recommit for one week, can we be reassured that the two parties will get together prior to a final vote on this one week from today.

The Chair:

Mr. Wagner, regretfully as I see it, from what I've seen there's no compromise possible. One wants to place cars there; the other wants to go through. They are in contradiction.

We're saying there's two parties; there's actually three parties. To the left is the union, to the right is Kleins which has been there since 1890, I think. It has reached a point where there is really no compromise possible and we're going to have to vote one way or the other and it's not likely it's going to happen —

Michelle Madoff:

I withdraw my second.

The Chair:

As Mr. Woods said, in fairness, if there was no way to get in to this, I frankly would not approve it. I'm inclined to approve it and likewise oppose any recommittal for the reason that as I see it there's other ways to get in. To the right there's roughly 50 feet; you go up the side and come in. There's the street behind which has no other vehicular traffic but that and to have it enter from 5th Avenue is no assist. There is also an entrance possibility on the left side near Chatham Center. As Mr. Woods has indicated, the other half of this road is owned by the objector. What's good for one should be good for the other. Frankly, that's my contention.

Mr. O'Malley:

Ben, I'm speaking on behalf of you. I'm trying to save this union tens of thousands of dollars in litigation fees and a stay from the court will tie this piece of property up for years which means Council's vote is nullified. They cannot use that street if the court stays Council's order.

What I'm saying is, I disagree. I think there is room there for adequate parking; I think there's room there for 6 or 8 parking places for the union and for the people on the other side and also egress and exit from the parking lot.

The Chair:

The problem is next door. Klein has big vehicles coming in and he has to even back in with a tractor trailer which I think makes it most impossible.

Mr. O'Malley:

I think it would be better to have it shut down while Mr. Klein's tractor trailers are there, maybe for an hour or two, because with the parking for the union with the 6 cars, there's still adequate room for the trailers to come in and out, Mr. Stone.

Mr. Woods:

Mr. President, I'm also interested in the other people on that street. I know what's going to happen and what's happening now. People are double parking, merchants there, their customers have no place to park, just because of the same reason. That's why they requested this street to make a parking lot out of it.

The Chair:

I have a motion to recommit. Who made the second?

Michelle Madoff:

I withdrew my second.

Mr. O'Malley:

I'll second the motion.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Wagner
AYES 4	NOES 4

VOTING NO:

Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

And a majority of the votes of Council not being in the affirmative, the motion was defeated.

The Chair:

On the bill itself. If you're approving it, vote for it, if you're not approving it, vote no. Call the roll.

Michelle Madoff:

May I ask a question? This Council may recall because so many things happen that we forget some things that happen in passing that when we have issues such as this in Zoning, I had requested that we get a photograph of the area. I find it very confusing, I'm sure the public does and most of Council, to retain in my head exactly what that piece of property looks like. When we have Zoning coming before us showing us charts, it's very confusing. It would be very simple to have a Polaroid shot taken of the problem.

I'm confused as to which club this is. Are we talking about 5th Avenue out here where the man took the street and turned it into a parking lot on his own? Is it the other one that we gave somebody a street to turn into a parking lot? Is it a third one?

Mr. O'Malley:

It's a third one they want to turn into a parking lot.

Michelle Madoff:

That's why I don't — I would like to see a photograph of what's happening.

Mr. Woods:

He had that at the public hearing, Michelle. A few weeks ago they had the photograph. We did give half the street to a present parking lot.

Michelle Madoff:

This is the parking lot now and he's going to build a high-rise on that when he gets funded, right?

Mr. Woods:

No. That's not the one. We gave half the street to the Racquet Club for a parking lot. Now they don't want to see the other tenants get half.

Michelle Madoff:

When we gave it to them did we sell it or was it a gift, a grant?

Mr. Woods:

I can't answer that.

Michelle Madoff:

Did they pay for the property or was it an outright "You may have this for a token payment"? I think that's very important. The one we gave to the club, was it an outright gift?

The Chair:

They just vacated the street the same way.

Michelle Madoff:

It's a matter of splitting a street, is that correct? Will the other street that's —

Mr. Perry:

They have to pay $53,000 for this.

Michelle Madoff:

Let me tell you what's in question here. The other street is where I brought to Council's attention the fact that some entrepreneur has a little tiny parking lot and decided to use a City street as a parking space and has made a fortune on it over the last number of years. We are continually having calls in our office again; he has been told not to do it and he's doing it again. In checking it out, I found out that there a building on the corner that I think sells auto parts. It's leased to somebody who sells auto parts. Under the law it appears that when the street is in question they cannot give half away until both parties agree and each gets half. Did you know that? I checked that with the Law Department. This man wants to buy this street and there would be another street gone. There would be nothing. They'll all be one. He wants to buy the street and they can't sell it to him because he only has the right to buy half; the people on the other side have the right to buy half. So, automatically by law, the union gets the other half.

Mr. Woods:

And they're paying $53,000 for it on top of that.

Michelle Madoff:

That's the law. So there really isn't even a vote. I mean, they have it.

Mr. O'Malley:

No, it has to be approved by this Council.

Michelle Madoff:

But under law they get it so that's the way it is.

Mr. O'Malley:

No they don't. If we don't approve it, they don't get it.

Michelle Madoff:

Then it's illegal to give the other half that we gave to the athletic club. You can't give one without the other. Can you take back half?

Mr. Grabowski:

They own both halves. They only vacated some years ago the top portion of the street. The Racquet Club owned both halves.

Michelle Madoff:

What I'm talking about is taking a street up the middle; half goes this way and half goes that way.

The Chair:

The left hand side is a building to be occupied or it is occupied now by the union. To the right of it is Kleins, if my memory serves me correctly. Those two are the only ones using it with the exception that traffic is going in and out to the Racquet Club parking lot.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, do you know from your own knowledge, does the Racquet Club have any parking spaces at all?

The Chair:

Yes. They have the whole back half.

Michelle Madoff:

Well what's the problem? They were designed and they were given the zoning because most of it was walk-in. People are already parked who are Downtown going into the Racquet Club to use the facility. I know somebody who has used it and — well, I won't go into that — Somebody is here doing business Downtown and crosses over to use the facility. I don't know what the big fight is. What do they need the parking spaces for?

Mr. O'Malley:

The parking space is not for the Racquet Club, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

Why would the Racquet Club object to the union having it?

Mr. O'Malley:

Because they need that to get in and out of their parking lot.

Mr. Woods:

No they don't. They have in and out.

Mrs. Masloff:

They do have a way to get in and out; they go half a block.

The Chair:

The Chair is going to open up discussion again and void the vote on this.

Mr. Wagner:

They are paying, several parties here are paying $53,000 for the right to use that street. Is that correct? Now the other party that is using part of the street right now, did they pay a similar fee in the past?

The Chair:

Maybe in a way, indirectly, because what was happening, I think there was an assemblage of property to give in the back area plus what they had on the corner which was the Al Berk place as I recall.

Mr. Wagner:

Do we know how much was paid by the other party?

The Chair:

I think it was an assemblage of land and I don't know how you separate that, frankly. I think what had happened, the street that's blocked here now, it's a dead-end, had it gone straight in the back of the 5th Avenue properties, fronting on that side, the right and the left, which were just lots, were owned by the Racquet Club and then they closed the street so they could have the connection between the two of them. That's the back portion. I can't remember the street behind, parallel with 5th. Does anybody know?

Mrs. Masloff:

Colwell.

The Chair:

Colwell is one street up from 5th.

Mrs. Masloff:

It runs parallel with 5th.

Mr. Wagner:

So, those who are using it right now did not necessarily pay for the right to use that as parking but those who are proposing to use it as parking will pay $53,000?

The Chair:

For the vacation, that's what I understand.

Let me pass this drawing around. Where you see the yellow part, that's the part to be vacated. Up above it is the part that the Racquet Club got. Over to the right, and these lots are roughly 25, roughly 100 feet to the right, is Elm Street that they can go up and you can also come up by the Chatham Center.

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me. Elm Street is the street that is now a parking lot, Mr. Stone. The entrepreneur has used Elm Street as his own parking lot.

The Chair:

No, that's McGee, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

No, it's Elm.

The Chair:

It's the one up above.

Michelle Madoff:

There's one that we've legitimately given as a parking lot; Elm is the one where the man is using and it is blocked off and there's a fire hydrant there and you cannot get through.

The Chair:

That's McGee.

Michelle Madoff:

Elm is blocked off. I've been there.

The Chair:

I just looked up that thing the other day.

Michelle Madoff:

I've been there. It's blocked off; it goes in a circle. We've been there. We were there with the Police Department. It curves around, there's fire hydrant on it and you can't get through.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Chairman, I have another question. Is it possible to repeal this in the future?

The Chair:

You mean once passed?

Mr. Wagner:

Yes. Once passed.

The Chair:

No.

Call the question; call the vote.

Michelle Madoff:

My vote yes means I'm for the vacation.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I would like to make a motion from the floor to see if we can get five votes to hire one of the attorneys assigned to Council to look into the mechanism as to how Council can use its own staff money to hire outside consultants. As you know, we discussed it with you and we discussed it with Mr. Woods and we were told the Law Department said we can't do it. Mr. Woods had an unfortunate experience, I've had one and we would like to get that clarified. We would not like to have the opinion of the Administration; that is not a separation of powers and it is a conflict of interest.

The Chair:

I'm at a loss as to where you are going.

Mr. Woods:

Right now we're allocated X amount of dollars for our staff, our own personal staff. If we didn't choose to use all that money, we could take a portion of that, any portion, and hire a consultant and pay him direct without putting him on our payroll. Presently, the Law Department says before we can do that we have to put them on our payroll as an employee. We cannot give them money direct.

The Chair:

We have a line item for that.

Mr. Woods:

No, no. Michelle is proposing that we can do it as an individual Councilperson.

The Chair:

No, Council can do it.

Mr. Woods:

You misunderstand what I'm saying. In other words, right now we allocate $5,000 for professional services and Council votes on it. We hire someone like we did with this Water Authority, the fellow from Harrisburg. Right now, each Councilmember has $35,000 to hire a staff. Say we don't choose to use that $35,000 for our own personal staff but we want to use $4,000 of our own money for a consultant and he just reports to myself. I can't do that under that code account the way it is now listed, according to the Law Department. I would have to put an individual on my payroll, have him go down, say he's a City employee, taxes drawn and so forth. Presently, the Mayor can hire any consultant he wants and he gives him a direct fee, whether it's $50,000, $20,000, $100,000. But we cannot do that. We have to get a vote of Council, five members have to vote on it, and we only have $5,000 there anyway and I think most of that's almost gone this year.

Am I right, Michelle?

Michelle Madoff:

That's exactly what I said.

The Chair:

We're talking two different things as I see it. Let me see if I can clear it up somewhat.

Council itself, under our professional services, can engage consultants. No question there.

Michelle Madoff:

That's a majority vote of Council. That's not what I'm talking about. I'm talking about Michelle Madoff or Mr. Ben Woods, out of our own staff, wish to hire a consultant. I would like to study a specific issue. Mr. Woods had a specific issue; he wanted a consultant. We don't need a full-time staff to do it.

The Chair:

That's because the monies allocated to you are for specific staff —

Michelle Madoff:

Right. But we want to amend that.

The Chair:

You can't do it now; the budget is passed.

Michelle Madoff:

If we wanted to do it and there was a will to do it, we can somehow find a mechanism to do it.

The Chair:

You can't do it out of that code account.

Michelle Madoff:

Why? We change money from code accounts all the time.

The Chair:

You don't change code accounts until the end of the year. Only at budget time. In that account you have your staff and the other 15 was supposed to be for a word processor person.

Michelle Madoff:

We would like to have consultants rather than full-time staff because it's too costly. We get more for the money by hiring a consultant for an issue or specific advice over the year for perhaps $2,000, $3,000, $4,000, $5,000 or $6,000 as part of their advice as a staff person to us, or in place of a staff person but doing the same job without having to pay all the other benefits.

We want that changed. Most of us want that.

The Chair:

But this is not the time to change it.

Mr. Woods:

Can I make a suggestion? I don't know if it will cure it. Right now we, Council, has a professional service account, a code account. Let's say that I want to take, with the will of Council, I have to get five votes, $2,000 out of my other code account and put it into that professional code account. Then I say hire this individual for me and pay him out of that account. Would that be possible?

Michelle Madoff:

I don't know how you do it but there's a mechanism for doing it.

Mr. Woods:

For this year.

The Chair:

That's a transfer. If it's a code account you can't —

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Stone, if you wanted to do it, Mr. Woods wants to do it, I think you're smart enough to figure out a way to do it. We want it to happen; we don't know how to make it happen on the books legally.

Mrs. Masloff:

I have a question. If you want to hire somebody, Ben can't you hire somebody and say this is an aide? Call him an aide instead of a consultant and then you pay it out of your own —

Michelle Madoff:

No. He has to be sworn in, then the City takes his taxes out and they don't want to work for you. They don't want to work for us on that basis. They have other jobs to do. They don't want their money taken out.

Can we work it out? Is it resolved? I'm going to transfer $3,000 of my money, I'm making a motion right now, to Mike and I'm going to hire a consultant and you'll pay him out of that money. Is that the way it's going to work?

Mr. Perry:

If you have $3,000 I'll transfer it in, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

But I want to know after it's transfered in, can I use the money? I want it a joint motion. Do I have five votes to hire a consultant? It's the same thing as a staff person but I want somebody as a consultant as opposed to full-time.

The Chair:

It would appear to me that that's possible.

Michelle Madoff:

Can we have five votes on it so I don't have any problems?

Mrs. Masloff:

What I want to know is this; why can't you —

Michelle Madoff:

Because they have to take salary out; they'll take deductions.

The Chair:

What she has to do is transfer what she wants to another code account.

Mrs. Masloff:

I know that, I know that. But instead of that, can't she hire a consultant and call him or her an aide and then pay for him out of your own —

Michelle Madoff:

No. That's what I'm saying. You have to do it the other way.

The Chair:

She wants to keep that individual as an independent contractor as opposed to an employee.

Michelle Madoff:

Exactly. I want to do it legally. We're being turned down. Mr. Woods had an embarrassing situation; I don't want my situation to be embarrassing.

The Chair:

Bring the thing before us and we'll see what we can do with it.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm doing it now. Can I have five votes to transfer?

The Chair:

I don't think you need it, Michelle. That's the point I'm making.

Michelle Madoff:

You just said I needed it.

Mr. Woods:

You need legislation to transfer the money, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

Mike, will you draft a bill for me that tranfers $3,000 into this account for which I can hire —

The Chair:

Don't fight it, Michelle, you got it.

Mr. O'Malley:

For the benefit of the new Councilmembers, Mr. Wagner and Mr. Grabowski, in the past it was appropriate for Councilmembers, for each of us to name our own solicitor and to be approved by Council as a whole in case any of us wanted to go out for an opinion different from the Law Department.

I make a motion now that we update our list of solicitors, that every Councilperson submit a name of a solicitor to represent their office to the President of Council and that these solicitors be confirmed by resolution.

The Chair:

My recollection differs slightly with yours. Mine is that anyone who has requested, if they want to, to submit a name of someone who is qualified from which we in the future might pull a solicitor to handle a specific item. We all didn't have our own little lawyers, so to speak.

Mr. O'Malley:

Well, we all submitted a name, I have in the past, and an individual Councilmember certainly has the right to use the solicitor that he or she named.

So, would it be appropriate for all of to name a solicitor?

Mrs. Masloff:

But before you can use it you have to get Council's approval.

Mr. O'Malley:

Certainly.

Michelle Madoff:

It used to be that you only needed the approval of the President of Council; Mr. Stone changed that after we paid some money on an attorney for me on Warner. You didn't realize you were going to be President of Council or you would have had control over that.

Mr. O'Malley:

You didn't answer my question. Is it appropriate?

The Chair:

You can submit a name to that list. No problem. The only thing I was correcting you on was we weren't picking a person we want but rather someone who is qualified to go into a pool from which we could select.

Mr. Woods moved to excuse Mr. Givens for absence from the meeting.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Woods moved to approve the Minutes of Monday, April 9, 1984.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Woods

Council adjourned.

Proceedings of the Council of the City of Pittsburgh

VOL. CXVIII Monday, April 30, 1984 No. 18

Municipal Record

ONE-HUNDRED TWENTY-THIRD COUNCIL

ROBERT RADE STONE President
MICHAEL PERRY City Clerk
LINDA M. JOHNSON ... Asst. City Clerk

Pittsburgh, PA
Monday, April 30, 1984

PRESENT:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

ABSENT:

Mr. Givens

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. O'Malley presents

Bill No. 682 WHEREAS, on April 23, 1984, the Commonwealth Court of Pennsylvania unanimously declared Pittsburgh's ban on self-service gasoline stations unconstitutional; and

WHEREAS, this opinion upheld a 1982 ruling by Allegheny County Common Pleas Court that the City's action violated state and federal constitutions in that no evidence had been presented to support the argument that self-service gasoline stations are a fire and safety hazard; and

WHEREAS, statistics prove that in a large metropolitan area, fifty-two percent (52%) of all self-service gasoline stations will remain full service to accommodate the elderly and handicapped; and

WHEREAS, ten thousand people signed a petition requesting that the ban on self-service be lifted; and

WHEREAS, the City Solicitor's office idicated that no decision has been reached on whether or not to seek further appeal before the State Supreme Court.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the majority of the Members of City Council of Pittsburgh request that the Administration and the Solicitors not continue to waste the taxpayers money, and not appeal to the Supreme Court.

Mr. O'Malley moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Mr. O'Malley:

What I'm asking for from my colleagues is a concensus of the majority of the members of this Council. When Judge Zappala first rules in 1982, I had no objections to Danny Pietragallo seeking an appeal to the Commonwealth Court. I felt at that time that it was a local decision and we needed a much broader opinion on it. Now that the Commonwealth Court has unanimously upheld Judge Zappala's decision, I myself am under the impression it would be a waste of time and a waste of taxpayers' money, if for no other reason because the judge who wrote the first opinion now sits on the Supreme Court. We're all well aware that Judge Zappala did get elected to the Supreme Court.

I also believe it's in the best interest of the City of Pittsburgh and the majority of the businessmen who own gasoline stations. Over 40 dealers in the City of Pittsburgh that own service stations, came to my office three years ago and requested that the ban be lifted.

The argument that it's a fire hazard, it's been proven that self-service gas stations, in safety, are only second to fire stations. Self-service gas stations are not as much a safety hazard as full-service gas stations.

The argument that the handicapped will not be able to get service does not hold true because 52 percent of all the gasoline stations in the City of Pittsburgh will stay full-service.

So what I'm asking my colleagues to do is to consider some of these facts and to support this resolution.

The Chair:

Clerk, call the roll.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, would it be proper to make a comment at this time?

The Chair:

Yes.

Mr. Grabowski:

Not having been on this Council prior to January, I'm not all that familiar with the particulars of this matter and all the discussion that transpired. I'm not even that familiar with the rationale that the previous two courts had in making their decision.

I'm going to oppose this resolution because I would like our Law Department to have the option to go further if they feel there is a chance that we can win it but if the previous two courts have made some valid points and its apparent that we can't win it, I hope that the Law Department would exercise good judgement and drop it.

I cast my vote in the negative.

Mrs. Masloff:

I oppose for many, many reasons. The first reason is that I believe that once the City goes self-service they will be taken over by companies. I don't believe we'll ever be able to get anybody at any service station to help anybody who needs it and in a city that has a large percentage of senior citizens I believe we're going to be severely handicapped.

I oppose.

Mr. Wagner:

I'd like to make a comment also. I also was not here when there was considerable discussion on this issue. In having attempted to understand the issue to the best of my knowledge, I think there's definitely some positive factors related to both sides. I think the major issue that has been brought to my attention mainly by those that I guess oppose this legislation is the fact that there is a potential for losing jobs here. Because of that, that has to be the bottom, in my mind, that is the bottom line. If by creating self-serve gasoline stations in the City we were to lose say just five jobs, I think that's five jobs too many.

Therefore, I vote no.

Mr. Woods:

I vote no and I vote no for the same reasons I voted two years ago. Once the state enacts a divorcement act, I will be more than happy to vote for any legislation for self-service.

I just had a good friend of mine go out of business. The oil company raised his rent three times in one year and he no longer has that station; it's boarded up waiting for this type of legislation to come through. With self-service they can put a mini-market in there and I vote no until we have the divorcement act in the state of Pennsylvania.

The Chair:

Mr. O'Malley has had some strong feelings on this and I think he appreciates that I likewise have had some strong feelings to the contrary. I would be less than fair and less than honest if I were to at this point agree with it when I was one of the leaders who opposed it from day one.

In view of that, I have no recourse but to vote no.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Robinson
AYES 2	NOES 5

VOTING NO:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. Wagner	(Pres't)

And a majority of the votes of Council not being in the affirmative, the motion was defeated.

Michelle Madoff:

I was not here; I did not know that you had done the resolution on the gas stations. Since you ruled the other day that Mr. Wagner could vote when he came in, may I vote?

The Chair:

You may.

Michelle Madoff:

If you want to vote to support the resolution, to have self-service gas stations, do you vote aye?

The Chair:

The issue is whether or not our Law Department should refrain from taking an appeal.

Michelle Madoff:

Yes, they should refrain from taking an appeal. I support the resolution.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Michelle Madoff	Mr. Robinson
Mr. O'Malley
AYES 3	NOES 5

VOTING NO:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. Wagner	(Pres't)

And a majority of the votes of Council not being in the affirmative, the motion was defeated.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, as everyone is aware, this past week we lost one of this City's outstanding citizens, a former member of this Council, the Honorable Louis Mason, Jr. I thought it would be most appropriate and fitting to follow the spirit of Councilman Stone's comments and the kind comments of other members of Council to introduce a resolution into Council and to also make available to Mrs. Mason and Mr. Mason's brother gold seal copies of that resolution to identify and signify our high regard for Mr. Mason.

Mr. Robinson presents

Bill No. 683 WHEREAS, the Honorable Louis Mason, Jr., served the City of Pittsburgh and its citizens for twenty eight years as Deputy Administrator of the Fair Employment Practices Commission, Executive Director of the City of Pittsburgh Commission on Human Relations, and member of City Council; and

WHEREAS, on April 11, 1967, he was sworn in as a member of Pittsburgh City Council and was elected President of Council on December 14, 1970, serving until his retirement on March 8, 1977; and

WHEREAS, his distinguished career was punctuated with service to the NAACP, the Church of the Holy Cross, Carnegie-Mellon University, Saint Francis General Hospital, and the National Association of Social Workers; and

WHEREAS, in 1940, the Honorable Louis Mason, Jr., graduated from the University of Minnesota with a Bachelors Degree, and in 1950 from the University of Pittsburgh with a Master of Arts Degree; and

WHEREAS, his spirit, intellect and immense concern for all Pittsburghers, earned him the admiration and respect of all whose lives he touched.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the members of Council, on behalf of the people of Pittsburgh, give honor and praise to the life and works of the Honorable Louis Mason, Jr., and extend deepest sympathies to his family, friends and many admirers.

Mr. Robinson moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

Mr. Clerk, if you would, I'd like to have my remarks from last Wednesday brought forward. I would like to commend the Pittsburgh Post Gazette for their editorial relative to former Council President, Mr. Mason. I would also like to emphasize that Councilman Mason sat at one time on this Council when practically everybody was a candidate for Mayor as far as Councilpersons were concerned and he was able in a nice and respectful way to treat everybody respectfully so that one was not getting, so to speak, the edge on the other, showing the tremendous ability that he had to mediate and for which many times he did not get credit. But at this time, I would not like it to pass that that were not mentioned.

I also would like to mention that the Chair has been the recipient of many fine and affectionate and constructive comments from Councilman Mason, always well-intended, always constructive, always trying to help, and the one underlying thing was to help the City of Pittsburgh. We had the opportunity to give him the title of Council President Emeritus, and I think he enjoyed it and we'll always remember him for having obtained that.

It's with best wishes that we send to the family our sympathies on this occasion but he will be long remembered as a gentleman who has served this City well.

MR. STONE'S REMARKS ON LOUIS MASON - WEDNESDAY, 4/25/84)

Mr. Stone:

If I may, on behalf of City Council, I would like to express our heartfelt sympathies to Mrs. Mason.

Lou Mason, our former President of City Council, served well on the Human Relations Commission, served well on City Council, and served well as President of City Council, and because of his service and dedication to this City, this City is better off for his service. But, in addition to that, little known was the tremendous leadership ability that he had with all of the members of the Council that he had serving at that particular time. We have affectionately addressed him as Council President Emeritus, and I'm sure he felt great with that feeling, but all of us will not feel as great at his passing, but he will always remain in our memory as a fine gentleman, good Councilman, good citizen, and good President of City Council.

May we all rise at this moment for a moment of silence.

(END - MR. STONE'S REMARKS ON LOUIS MASON - WEDNESDAY, 4/25/84)

Mr. Woods presents

Bill No. 684 The United States Marines are the subject of legend. The Second Marine Division are the makers of that legend;

Formed in the earliest worst days of World War II, the Second Division defended our crippled nation until it could heal itself from the wounds of Pearl Harbor;

The Marines of the Second Division were among the first to shed their blood and forfeit their lives in the early months of the Pacific War;

August 1942: Guadalcanal. The Second Marines were there and were still there in February, 1943, when the island was finally won;

November, 1943: Tarawa. The Second Division took the island in fighting that saw a total of 3,500 American casualties lost on the first day, many were from the Second Division;

April, 1945: Okinawa. Despite kamikaze attacks, the Second Marines played its part in taking the first island of the Japanese homeland;

After the war, the Second Division defended the peace. Ordered into Lebanon in 1958; deployed as defenders in the Cuban Missile Crisis in 1962; protectors of their countrymen in the Dominican Republic in 1965; returning from Lebanon in 1982;

We honor, in the fullest sense of the word, every Marine who served in the Second Division of the United States Marine Corps. We honor those who fought in war time and those who defended the peace. Most of all, we honor the heroes of the Second Marines who gave their lives in such lonely places as Guadalcanal, Tarawa, Okinawa and Lebanon.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and Council of the City of Pittsburgh proclaim May 4th, 5th and 6th, as "Second Division of the United States Marine Corps Days" in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Woods moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Wagner seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

I think we should not let it pass without mentioning that our former Council President was a member of the Second Division of the Marine Corps, Mr. Eugene (Jeep) DePasquale.

Mr. Woods:

We should also not let it pass that w- have a fellow colleague, though he was not in the Second Division, is a former Marine and a veteran of the Vietnam War, Jack Wagner.

Mr. Wagner:

Thank you Councilman.

Mr. Woods presents

Bill No. 685 In an open society, citizens can make a significant contribution to our country. For this reason, we honor Diann Wall Wilson;

In 1982, Pittsburgh area resident Diann Wall Wilson recognized that the bulldog mascot of the United States Marines Corps had never been officially adopted by the Corps;

Ms. Wilson recognized that each area of the Corps used a different version of the bulldog on decals and official emblems;

Ms. Wilson, with the help of Pittsburgh artist James Fusco, designed an official bulldog emblem for the Corps. The new emblem depicts the bulldog as a drill sergeant surrounded by the globe and anchor logo of the Corps;

Such was the success of Diann Wall Wilson's design, the Marine Corps made it their official mascot logo in January 1983;

Today the Wilson bulldog logo can be seen on official Marine Corps materials and merchandise.

Which was read.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, I'd like to read a letter into the Record and have this letter attached to Council Bill 417. This letter is dated April 27, 1984, is addressed to me and was forwarded by Mr. Thomas F. Halloran, Senior Deputy Attorney General in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Office of the Attorney General. It reads as follows:

"Dear Councilman Robinson:

I am writing on behalf of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Correction Community Service Division. The Bureau has entered into an agreement to lease 108-110 Miltenberger Street from Sal Williams as an institutional facility to be used as a pre-release center for 24 adult males from the State Correctional System. This proposal is not an effort by the Bureau of Corrections to increase the number of such facilities in the City of Pittsburgh, but represents relocation of the facility currently located on the North Side at 915 Ridge Avenue.

Our concern is a misapplication of the Pittsburgh Zoning Ordinance and the failure of the City Planning Department to properly implement that ordinance with regard to this application. This matter was first before Council Committee on March 21, 1984. At that meeting, upon motion of Councilman Robinson, the Bill was referred back to the Planning Commission with the request that the Commission convene a meeting with the appropriate State officials and owners of the property and community groups and organizations that were initially involved in negotiations relative to use of that site. It was further requested that an attempt be made to identify the problem areas and work out some agreement. (See attachment A) The Commission's recommendation for this application prior to the March 21 meeting was for denial.

Subsequent to that Council action, I personally contacted Robert Lurcott on numerous occasions and indicated our interest in meeting with the Planning Department and with community groups concerning this application. We were most interested in pursuing a review of the Planning Department and Commission action in this matter because we did feel that there was demonstrated community support for this proven quality program and that community fears could be alleviated.

We were also concerned that the Planning Department had recommended denial of this application despite the fact that this location was identified as appropriately zoned after meetings with the Planning Department.

The Planning Commission response rejecting Council's request is attached. (See attachment B) We understand that Council in most cases will and should follow the recommendation of the City Planning Commission in these matters. However, this application presents an exception that warrants your special consideration. This program by all accounts is a quality program with a proven track record since 1969. This Council has recognized its community support and sought to resolve differences. The Planning Commission has refused the efforts of the applicant to meet again with community groups and the Planning Department to resolve the matter. We contend that this refusal plus the quality of the program and its support in the community provides a strong basis for this Council to reverse the decision of the Commission and approve this application.

Thank you for your consideration.

Very truly yours,

Thomas F. Halloran
Senior Deputy Attorney General"

Planning Commission
City of Pittsburgh

Re: Bill No. 417 - Conditional Use Application No. 519 — A Proposed Institutional Facility located at 108-110 Miltenberger Street, 1st Ward.

Dear Ms. D'Ascenzo:

At Council's Committee Meeting of March 21, 1984, Council approved a motion to refer the above bill to the Planning Commission and request that the Commission convene a meeting with the appropriate State Officials, owners of the property, and community groups and organizations that were initially involved in negotiations relative to the use of that site.

You are requested to attempt to identify the problem areas to see if some agreement can be worked out, and to provide this office with a report no later than 30 days from the above date.

Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

12 April 1984

Mr. Michael Perry
City Clerk
510 City-County Building
Pittsburgh, PA 15219

Dear Mr. Perry:

This letter is in response to your letter dated 22 March concerning the Conditional Use Application for an institutional facility on Miltenberger Street. The Commission considered carefully Council's request for the Commission to bring the parties of interest together for the purpose of resolving the issues in this case. Based on the fact that the Commission acts in a quasi-judicial capacity in the Conditional Use process, it is the Commission's conclusion that it would be inappropriate for it to inject itself into a negotiating process.

I want to assure you and the members of Council, however, that the Commission carried out its responsibilities under the Conditional Use procedures fully, in both letter and spirit. In preparing for the hearing, staff fully apprised the community of the proposal by the Bureau of Corrections and saw to it that meetings were held between the applicant and appropriate community representatives. The hearing allowed for a full airing of views and a discussion of the issues with the opportunity for both sides to present fully their cases and to cross-examine witnesses. As a result of this process, it is the Commission's considered judgement that the community is adamantly opposed to the facility locating on that site or in that neighborhood, and that further discussions would not change that position.

The Commission's negative recommendation, as indicated in its report submitted earlier, is based on the conclusion that the location of such a facility in the Midtown Corridor neighborhood at this time would have a significant, negative impact, particularly in view of the fragile but positive state of transition which exists.

Sincerely,

Rosemary D'Ascenzo, Chairman
City Planning Commission

RHL/jls

Mr. Robinson:

Just two quick comments if I might. The Planning Commission, through its Chairperson, Mrs. D'Ascenzo, did send to Council a letter subsequent to Council Bill 417 being referred back to the Planning Commission. A copy of that letter was made available to every member of Council and was discussed at our last Council session. It is attached to the bill.

The letter basically indicates that the Planning Commission feels it has done everything legally required to provide a due process hearing on this matter and that their decision that was originally sent to us in the form of a recommendation, still stands and is still their recommendation. So, the Planning Commission has not changed its position.

The letter also indicated that the Planning Commission did not feel that any substantive matters could be resolved by reconvening any meetings of the parties that I identified in my request and that they did not feel it would be in the best interst of the Commission or the City to pursue the matter beyond that which they had already done. So, the Planning Commission's position is still the same; their recommendation is for denial.

Last Wednesday, I made reference to the Planning Commission action and indicated that my recommendation was that we support the Planning Commission in terms of denying this request. My position today, even after having read Mr. Halloran's letter, and I certainly appreciate his interest, my position is still that we should support the Planning Commission and deny the request.

Michelle Madoff:

I happen to know that the people who are directly involved in this, as a matter of fact they're here today, Mr. Jim Murphy who is head of the Prison Release Program for the State of Pennsylvania, has done an outstanding job. On several occasions when we've had hearings in this Council that have set ground rules for people going right back to calaboose if they don't tow the line, their requirements are even more stringent. My understanding is that because of the recommendation of the Zoning Board, we almost really don't have very much choice. But I would like to alert this Council that we probably will be in litigation, that they probably will pursue it through the courts. I think I've shared this with you before.

The Chair:

Alright, if you're voting for it — Ignore for a moment the negative thing; we're going to vote the bill up or down. So, if you're for it vote yes, if you're opposed to it vote no.

I just could not let this pass without a comment. It's easy to come now and tell us that we're not trying to cause any problems, we're just shifting the sand, so to speak. I'm mindful of the situation in the South Side, I'm mindful of the situation in the East End and also the North Side, where the State took it upon themselves to put these facilities in those communities without even letting anyone know, including our Planning Department, so that we could rightfully and orderly and with some plan handle it. It's kind of too late to complain now but I would like just to suggest to the State if they still have some sincere interest, let's do it the right way. They don't like to be told by some citizen that there's a pre-release center next to their house and that same thing applies here. But on the other hand, I would just like to make it clear that the City of Pittsburgh has always been responsive, has always measured up to it's duty of responsibility by accepting all kinds of group homes, whether it be drug rehabilitation, delinquents, children of any kind as well as pre-released. But nevertheless, it cannot be done unless there is some coordination to know where it all is and one of the biggest violators of that plan was the State in years passed.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

VOTING NO:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES none NOES 8

And a majority of the votes of Council not being in the affirmative, the bill was defeated.

Also, with an AFFIRMATIVE recommendation,

Bill No. 573

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution establishing a First Source Employment agreement procedure as a policy for coordinating and implementing City of Pittsburgh economic development and employment programs." (SPONSORED BY MR. ROBINSON)

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Robinson, on Bill 573, the bill addresses itself to priorities and City residents. Is that correct?

Mr. Robinson:

I'm not sure I understand your question.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, First Source Employment would be that we would give preference to City residents over County residents?

Mr. Robinson:

No, that's not accurate.

Michelle Madoff:

Could you tell me then where I'm wrong, please?

Mr. Robinson:

Okay. Those individuals who would be in the First Source pool would be those individuals who would be eligible to participate in our Jobs Training Partnership Act Program. Those persons and those persons who would be eligible to participate in the Private Industry Council Program for the City of Pittsburgh would make up a pool of applicants for non-professional, non-managerial and non-technical positions. Any developer or person making a loan from the City under the eight categories listed in Section 4 would find an agreement with the City of Pittsburgh to use that pool of individuals first. They would go to that pool first to try to find people to work at entry level jobs. But only those people who would be eligible under the Jobs Training Partnership Act Program would participate in the First Source Program. That would provide the pool.

Michelle Madoff:

I think you didn' understand my question. My question was who would determine who would be in that first pool and what priority would we choose in having those people in the pool.

For example, we have with us today two handicapped people who are being sent job description openings from the City, and they're in wheelchairs, to be lifeguards and school guard crossing personnel. I would like to know that those people could be hired for 911 telephone answering and other clerical or telephone jobs that they could handle. I'd like to be sure that they be on a very high priority.

Mr. Robinson:

Bill 573 does not speak to the concerns you just raised. Bill 573 speaks specifically to Urban Development Action Grants, Housing Development Action Grants, Commercial Revitalization Loans, Contractor Bonding Loans, things of that type, where the City of Pittsburgh would be loaning or granting money to developers or builders in anticipation that jobs would be generated. The First Source Agreement indicates that they would have to sign an agreement with us to use the people we deem eligible to participate in our Jobs Training Partnership Act Program as the First Source for non-technical and non-professional programs. These would not be people hired to work in the City of Pittsburgh government; these would be people who will be hired to work in private industry and private business.

Michelle Madoff:

I understand that but I still didn't get an answer to my question. Maybe I'm having a semantics problem. Would that first pool be made up of minorities, women, handicapped, people who could do some of the clerical end of the work or is it all going to be construction, labor? I don't quite understand.

Mr. Robinson:

Let me read to you from Section 2. The initial and primary selection of employees for non-managerial, non-professional or non-highly technical positions generated from candidates available through the City of Pittsburgh sponsored Jobs Training Partnership Act Program and the Private Industry Council, City of Pittsburgh. Anyone who is eligible to participate in those programs would make up the pool. All of the categories of individuals that you mentioned are eligible to participate in these two programs. They would be a part of a pool.

Michelle Madoff:

How would we guarantee that?

Mr. Robinson:

Federal law and regulations guarantee that.

Michelle Madoff:

They've done it for a long time, Mr. Robinson, but we've been rather unsuccessful on this Council in even getting the 15 percent that was promised to get contracts. It's been less than one-half of one percent. I'm afraid that it could become very political and we would not have the people who need the jobs getting the jobs first in the first pool. I think there could be some language written in that would protect that source making it a priority.

The Chair:

To the contrary. Where he's headed is in the right direction.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, I respectfully disagree. I think the bill is excellent but I just think it could be expanded to say in some manner that priority be given to qualified people who are able to handle, perhaps handicapped people doing jobs where they answer telephones.

The Chair:

Michelle, this is a companion bill with the other bill.

Michelle Madoff:

Does the companion bill cover that?

The Chair:

The companion bill covers those eligible for the —

Michelle Madoff:

Where is the companion bill? Is it coming up now?

The Chair:

Not now but it's in that —

Michelle Madoff:

How do people get to know that they could be eligible for this program, Mr. Robinson?

Mr. Robinson:

The First Source Program?

Michelle Madoff:

Yes. How would we let them know?

Mr. Robinson:

I think there's couple ways to do that. First of all, the Personnel Department is working in conjunction with the Urban Redevelopment Authority and our Law Department to work out all the mechanics of the actual agreements and the implementation of the program.

For those persons who participate in our Jobs Training Partnership Act Program, they obviously are going to be informed through the same process as we use now to recruit people into those programs. Those companies that make loans or receive grants from us will be notified that Council Bill 573 is in effect and that will become a part of their contractual obligation with the City of Pittsburgh. So, it will be a responsibility for them to look at that First Source, that first pool, as well as our responsibility to make sure the pool is there.

Right now we have several thousand people who are already in the pool and already eligible. I think most of the people in this City who are unemployed or who anticipate being unemployed probably have made some inquiries to the City to determine their eligibility for our Jobs Training Program. I don't think there will be any problem at all having a pool of people.

One of the reasons that this bill is being introduced is that our unemployment situation here is becoming critical and particularly for people who don't have some of the skill levels to address some of the new jobs. This type of program is in effect in about three or four cities around the country, major metropolitan cities, and in part it's designed to help reduce the unemployment problem but also to very specifially address the problems of residents in those cities who feel that when jobs are generated in their community, they should have some initial opportunity to present their qualifications.

So, I think that we'll have more than enough people; we just won't have enough jobs.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, could I question Mr. Robinson? Is it your intention, Councilman, that anyone who accepts City government funding, if they're going to hire, for example, a laborer — I guess a laborer would fall in the category of a non-managerial, non-professional or non-highly technical position — if they wanted to hire a laborer, they would have to hire a laborer that has participated in the Job Training Partnership Act?

Mr. Robinson:

No. Two things should be taken in consideration. Certainly this program should be distinguished from any program requiring any business person or any person getting a loan or grant from the City of Pittsburgh to hire City residents. This is not a program to require the hiring of City residents. This program is geared towards making available to businesses a pool of City residents where they have to use that pool first. If they go through that pool and they don't find anybody that meets their job qualifications, they're certainly free to hire someone else. But there's no requirement that they must hire from that pool; that pool is simply the first source.

Some time ago, Mrs. Madoff raised a very important concern about something that is going on in the North Side of our City where people were coming here from out of town, out of state, and taking jobs which she perceived and I perceived to belong to Pittsburghers. When we began to investigate, we found that there was nothing to prevent the contractor, the builder, the developer, of securing employees wherever he wanted but it was working to the disadvantage of the City of Pittsburgh. Where we are loaning our money, our taxpayers' money, or giving grants of our taxpayers' money, I think we at least owe them the opportunity to get a direct benefit.

This simply affords them that first opportunity to present their credentials. Hopefully, in working out the agreement, those people who loaned money from or we loaned money to or who we grant money to, will have the same concern that we do to try to stimulate local employment. Most of the programs that are identified in Section 4 are programs that are job generating and part of the rationalization for the request for the money, and that's giving the money, is it's going to generate local jobs. Well, I think local jobs ought to also mean local jobs for local people. The jobs that Mrs. Madoff was concerned about were local jobs. As long as those gentlemen from Alabama and Ohio were in our City, they were local jobs. But we were concerned about some jobs also for people here in the Pittsburgh area.

Mr. Grabowski:

But it's not your intent to mandate that a potential employer hire someone who has only participated in the Job Training Partnership?

Mr. Robinson:

No. Not at all.

Michelle Madoff:

You know, I'm not so sure, Mr. Robinson, that there shouldn't be some kind of mandating. You refreshed my memory. The issue that you're referring to is the Allegheny Mall and they had virtually slaves. They brought in minorities from the South, wharehoused them, paid them probably below minimum wage. Nobody would talk to you; the unions picketed for months on end before I even found out about it because I just happened to go over there to shop and was appalled at what I saw. I'm not so sure that we ought not to say when we're giving our money, our taxpayers' money, the City of Pittsburgh money, that City of people shouldn't have the first chance at the jobs. I think what you're doing in essence is, you know, laws without enforcement are an exercise in futility and what you're saying, Mr. Robinson, "Gee, it would be nice if you'd do it", but if they don't want to do it you know they're not going to do it.

I'm just wondering if you ought to consider making it more stringent.

The Chair:

The Chair considers the fact that Mr. Robinson knew he could do it that way and if it would succeed he would be the first to do it. But Mr. Robinson sees the impossibility of it legally and has come as close as you could possibly be without being in difficulty.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Robinson, excuse me. Isn't there a bill in Boston that does mandate using the people in Boston, Boston residents, first?

Mr. Robinson:

The bill that you're making reference to received a lot of publicity. I believe there's another city that also attempted to do the same thing. I think the legal difficulties that both those bills ran into as challengers to the bill took them up to the court, all the way up to the United States Supreme Court, suggested that while certainly the government of Boston was attempting to do the right thing, the people of Boston wanted to do the right thing, but unfortunately, the law could not accommodate them.

The First Source Employment Agreement is what you might call a compromise that many persons like myself are accepting because it at least starts us off in the right direction to make sure that at least our people are considered first. In those cities where this program is operating, to the amazement of many people, the employers, the potential employers, once they go through that First Source pool for non-technical and non-professional jobs, are hiring most of their workers from that pool. Their objective has always been the same; to make a decent dollar and to do a good job. And I think where cities say to them, "Look, if we're going to loan you money or grant you money, we want you to work with us to employ our people." I would say each and every time they do the best that they can. It's not to their advantage not to try to hire local people —

Michelle Madoff:

Because when they come back to us again we're not going to give them the grant, are we?

Mr. Robinson:

Precisely.

The Chair:

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

AYES 8 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

The Chair:

I have to attend another meeting so I would like Mr. Woods to finish the meeting today.

Michelle Madoff presented

Bill No. 679

Report of the Committee on Water for April 25, 1984 transmitting one ordinance to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 568

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending the Pittsburgh Code, Title Three - Water, by amending Article III - Water Distribution, Chapter 313 - Water Meters and Article VII - Assessment, Billing and Exonerations, Chapter 343 - Estimates and Appeals and Chapter 349, Exonerations."

Which was read.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President, I'd like to have my comments from last Wednesday included in the Record.

(REMARKS BELOW)

Michelle Madoff:

Likewise to be sure.

I am reluctantly voting aye. I am very concerned about what is happening in the abatements that are being written off the books that are legitimate tax dollars or fees that are being paid and picked up by other people because people aren't paying their bills simply because nobody reads their meter, sometimes for three years at a time. No matter what Mr. Daryl Smith says that happens to be fact and I can document it. I'm also reluctant because I voted against the Water Authority but I think that to keep the City running I don't really have a choice so I'll vote aye.

(REMARKS BELOW)

Mr. Wagner:

I vote aye and I'd also like my comments brought forward from last Wednesday's meeting.

(BEGINNING - MR. ROBINSON'S, MICHELLE MADOFF'S AND MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 568 - WEDNESDAY, 4/25/84)

Michelle Madoff:

Is this a bookkeeping thing, just straightening out your records?

Mr. Schillo:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't want to move on it; does somebody else want to? I don't move on anything for the Water Authority.

Mr. Wagner:

I'll move for approval.

Mr. Robinson:

Daryl, I just hav- a couple questions that we had raised with some concern about the meter readers, and hopefully you can identify what some of their legislative concerns are. I don't know if you had a chance to do that. How many meter readers do we have in the City?

Director Smith:

Nineteen.

Mr. Robinson:

The areas they cover, do they cover all 32 wards in the City of Pittsburgh?

Director Smith:

Yes, on a quarterly basis.

Mr. Robinson:

They are responsible for reading every meter in every ward in the City of Pittsburgh?

Director Smith:

That's right, on a quarterly basis.

Mr. Robinson:

Any sections in the City of Pittsburgh not read by City of Pittsburgh meter readers?

Director Smith:

Those sections not served by City of Pittsburgh, like South Hills.

Mr. Robinson:

Some not served?

Director Smith:

Those not served by City of Pittsburgh water.

Mr. Robinson:

That would have no impact on our exoneration process or anything; they are not served.

Director Smith:

That's right.

Mr. Robinson:

That is handled by someone else?

Director Smith:

That's right.

Mr. Robinson:

One of the concerns that has been raised I think is legislative, is whether or not these meter readers should, indeed, be required to read every meter quarterly as they are proposed to do. One of the things I think is important to realize is, many of the meter readers are unable to get into the properties, and we all understand the importance of a person having control over their own property. If the meter reader goes to an address, rings the bell, knocks on the door, if they are not allowed to be admitted they can't read the meter. I think that is occurring in some instances. I think, also, there are probably some other physical impediments that prevent 19 people from covering 32 wards each quarter, just some real, live problems if they have 19 people and when you consider the number of meters that they have to read.

Also, a number of our meters are covered by dirt, by cement. These meter readers don't even know where the meters are and have no ability themselves to have those meters uncovered. Also, I think administratively we have to recognize there needs to be, if it is not already in place, a process by whatever difficulties meter readers are having reading those meters are identified and processed by your department and passed on to the appropriate parties. If it takes some court order or some action of our Law Department to get access to homes so meters can be read, then that needs to be done.

We also have another problem where there are persons who have waterline situations in their homes where it is not to their advantage to have a meter reader come into their home and read the meter because if the meter reader gets into their home or property they will probably find out that the property owner owes us money and any reading would not be to the property owner's advantage, so many of the estimates that we get are very inaccurate, but they are inaccurate in part because owners of the property would not allow entrance by meter readers. We need to identify that in fact we need to talk to some meter readers, we need to bring some of them here and talk to them about what is going on.

The other problems are, many of the properties in the City maybe at least one-third, are owned by persons who do not live on the property and, quite often, tenants are not as diligent as the property owner is in either making access to the property available to the meter reader and/or filling out the card that is left, so there is probably a number of instances where cards are left and are discarded; a number of instances where meter readers cannot get into the property; a number of instances where people intentionally prevent meter readers from getting in; and a lot of other situations which probably are adv rsely affecting our abilities to get the monies that we are rightfully due for metered water.

Nineteen people probably cannot do that job. One suggestion which Mrs. Madoff, I think, pushed strongly, was to require everybody in the City of Pittsburgh to have an outside meter. That is one way to begin to address the problem. But I think there are some other administrative things we are going to have to get at, and I still think it would be important for us to hear from some representative of the meter readers to get some perspective on the kinds of situations they have to face.

Mr. Wagner:

I have a few questions. First of all, I appreciate the information, Mr. Smith. Point of clarification, to my knowledge, we do not read the meters in all 32 wards in the City.

Director Smith:

No, it would not be 32 wards, because the wards that are not serviced by the City of Pittsburgh water would not be read. In the South Hills area it would be read by West Penn Water.

Mr. Wagner:

Approximately how many meters do we read in this City?

Director Smith:

I couldn't tell you right off, but I could check to see how many we are reading. We have about 80,000 or more customers, but some of those are on a flat-rate basis.

Michelle Madoff:

Very small percentage.

Mr. Wagner:

About 6,000 on a flat-rate.

Director Smith:

Those we would not be reading, and when I say "reading", I certainly cannot say that all of those meters are being read. Those meters are included in the routes that are assigned to be read, but that doesn't mean that all of them are read.

Mr. Wagner:

The information you provided, the actual meters read are 58 percent.

Director Smith:

Right.

Mr. Wagner:

Mail cards returned, 13 percent.

Director Smith:

Right.

Mr. Wagner:

Which means a total of 71 percent we obtain a reading on. What happens to the other 29 percent?

Director Smith:

They are estimated. That does not necessarily mean that 29 percent are estimated throughout the life of that account. Some that we don't read this month or quarter we may read another quarter, okay, but that is kind of an average for a quarter.

Mr. Wagner:

Well, when is the cutoff point that if we have not read that meter for a period of time at what point do we stop estimating?

Director Smith:

We never stop estimating.

Mr. Wagner:

In other words, we could be estimating an account for 10 years?

Director Smith:

Absolutely. That's right, and it has happened. As I indicated there are the only steps that we currently take to try to avoid estimates is to advise accounts that their bill has not been read for four consecutive quarters and ask them to contact us.

I think Mr. Robinson's statement is well taken. Certainly some folks don't want to let us know that they have not been read or what their meter readings are, and, also know we do need to take a hard look at our meter-reading process and how we go about making sure that at least all meters are read on a quarterly basis. There is certainly a lot of work needed to be done to make sure that happens.

Mr. Wagner:

Out of the 19 percent, I suspect some have not been read for years.

Director Smith:

I agree. There are probably some that may have not been read for 10 years.

Mr. Wagner:

If that is the case, are our estimates used on previous years used?

Director Smith:

Previous consumption, yes.

Mr. Wagner:

There is no estimates of expected increased use at that particular location?

Director Smith:

No, because we don't have any information. If we can't get to read the meter we, obviously, don't have much information about what is happening inside that particular structure, so we don't know whether the number of people there has changed from 4 to 6, or that an industrial location that may have been using very little water because of its previous use now uses considerable water because it is a different use. We don't have that information to make adjustment of the estimated bills.

Mr. Wagner:

Do we have any industrial locations that we are estimating?

Director Smith:

I couldn't tell you.

Mr. Wagner:

How can you check that?

Director Smith:

We would have to go back through all of our accounts to determine which are industrial and which ones have been estimated. At this point in time I just couldn't tell you.

Mr. Wagner:

My gut feeling is we are losing some dollars here on our estimated bills.

Director Smith:

I would agree with you wholeheartedly, that's why I said in the memo there we are making an effort to examine our meter-reading process and how we go about ensuring how they are read at least on a yearly basis, and we have begun to look at that now and work in terms of going forward. It is ust a matter of waiting.

Mr. Wagner:

I think it would benefit this City and Council and all involved for us to have a Post Agenda on that to determine exactly —

Michelle Madoff:

We have had four over the years.

Mr. Wagner:

We have?

Director Smith:

I think, again, we are trying to make some strides and certainly, would not be opposed to talking about it some more. Everybody has some ideas on how we can improve and that is what we want to do.

Mr. Wagner:

Have we contacted any of the other utility companies to find out how they get around the problem?

Michelle Madoff:

Yes.

Director Smith:

West Penn has remote readers.

Mr. Wagner:

When you say "remote", what do you mean?

Director Smith:

It is electricly tied to the meter inside the house and tied to the outside, so it is no longer necessary to gain access to read the meter. All the reader has to do is walk up to the outside, look at the dial and take that information. Some even go so far as to have a computerized billing situation instead of just having a reading on the outside of the house. They have a little box they hook up that automatically tabulates the water consumption for that period. They turn it in to a central location.

Mr. Wagner:

Have we looked into the estimated cost?

Director Smith:

That is one of the things we are trying to work on right now. We currently have some remote readers installed in the City of Pittsburgh, and in the past they have been paid for by the homeowners as opposed to the City of Pittsburgh, so there are a lot of factors that would have to be considered if we were to go to a process. Customers have already paid to have theirs installed, if a rebate should be considered for them because now we are installing them at our own expense. Certainly there appears to be, on the surface, some benefit to installing some kind of remote reading situation in all of our locations. At this point in time we haven't done a comprehensive analysis to know just what the cost benefit analysis would look like.

Mr. Wagner:

One last question about the new increase beginning in May of 14 percent. These 29 percent are the estimates, their bills will increase 14 percent also?

Director Smith:

That's right. That's right, but, again, it will be based on past consumption.

MR. GRABOWSKI COMMENTS

Director Smith:

I can't really tell you that. I don't know if we do or not.

Michelle Madoff:

No.

Director Smith:

We, traditionally, have not taken the responsibility to turn the water off, and I think perhaps because it has been a political tvpe of issue and not something that the adminstration, or perhaps Council, would want to —

Michelle Madoff:

State law prohibits us from doing it. We can penalize them.

Director Smith:

I'm not sure if that is the case. I am interested in notifying commercial customers. I would like to attempt to turn the water off, but at this point in time we have not done that. I think there was one; just in conversation someone said in the past 30 years we turned off the water to one account.

MR. GRABOWSKI COMMENTS

Director Smith:

I'd agree with you.

Michelle Madoff:

I would disagree with that vehemently.

Director Smith:

I would really love to have some kind of statement that says we could turn off water if we find there is someone trying to, perhaps, cheat the City out of some money.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm sorry to report that that is not the case; it is gross negligence and total incompetency in the meter reading division that has gone on for years. This has gone on for six years. Have you looked at the Wilkinsburg way of collecting meter readings? I would suggest before we have a meeting you look at what Wilkinsburg and some other communities are doing. They are doing it strictly by card, have no inspectors coming to the house and don't have the problems we have. What they do, if the law still is valid they can't turn it off, there is a penalty. We reason we have our abatements are not — I repeat, not — in the case of 99.99 percent with commercial accounts, they are with residential users who get zapped because nobody has bothered to knock on his door. They're in a hurry to get through the day.

People call me. As a matter of fact it has happened to me, because I raised the issue. Somebody came to my door two months in a row, and I was home, and they didn't ring my doorbell let alone read my meter. The percentage that are mailing them in I'll bet it doesn't come to 71, I'll bet some of them are also part of the 98 percent being read.

Director Smith:

We typically would not leave a card if we read a meter.

Michelle Madoff:

Let's assume the figure of 70 percent is correct. With today's society people are not home because they have to go to work and your readers are out during the time people are going to work. I think it is a tremendous injustice to say these poor people are deliberately trying to cheat the City, but because people are not reading their meters, and they pay their estimates — they do pay every month — since we don't read them after three years they certainly get zapped because no one has read the meter.

Why can't we send out cards saying, "We will be at your home on such and such a date, please let us know if this time is convenient," then give them two or three choices so someone can be there to read the meter or have a key left. What we are doing is abating the money and the people, when the total comes in excessively, therefore, we will abate the money. It is not freeloaders, not people trying to cheat, it is negligence on the part of the City. Fact.

Mr. Robinson:

Just one question, Daryl. What legal efforts are we taking to gain access to property our meter readers cannot get into?

Director Smith:

At this point in time we have not taken any effort.

Mr. Robinson:

Have you explored possibilities with the Law Department on how to get access to property for meter readers?

Director Smith:

No.

Mr. Robinson:

It may be helpful to do that.

Director Smith:

I agree with you. Those are some of the things we have to consider. We are really in the very early stages of time.

Mr. Wagner:

Based on the information you just gave me, approximately 80,000 meters in the City, if you could just follow some arithmetic here with me, we have 20 meter readers?

Director Smith:

That's right — 19.

Mr. Wagner:

I have used 20 as an average.

Director Smith:

It makes it easier to divide.

Mr. Wagner:

Twenty into 80,000 goes 4,000. Those 20 meter readers have to read 4,000 meters every quarter.

Director Smith:

That's correct.

Mr. Wagner:

Or approximately 16,000 meters per year per meter reader.

Director Smith:

Okay. I assume your math is right.

Mr. Wagner:

Based on the average of 250 work days per year, divided into 16,000, you come up with an average number of meters read per meter reader of 64.

Director Smith:

(Nodded affirmatively.)

Mr. Wagner:

Based on the percent of meters read, which is 58 percent of 64, the average meter reader reads no more than 40 meters per working day.

Michelle Madoff:

That is correct.

Director Smith:

That is not a lot, but I would say to you that all of that sounds right, and perhaps, if nothing else, it tends to have one believe that 19 is a sufficient number, and the reason that the average does not, perhaps, work out well, as you present it, is because, first off, maybe 250 days is the right number — I'm not going to say — but when we start to make exceptions and go out and check certain meters because of problems and what not, the 43 that you may read on one day, if you were to use that and average it, it doesn't work out. We may only read 10 or 15 one day because we're trying to make special exceptions, and on a typical route from 100 to 120 to 200, depending on where the route is. So I think all that tells us is 19 is a reasonable number to expect to do the job.

Mr. Wagner:

What I'm suggesting here is that —

Director Smith:

We are not getting the work out.

Mr. Wagner:

Not getting the work out of the people. If we are only reading, if they have a workload of approximately 65 per day they are only getting the 40, the average amount of time per house, when you are talking about a house here, a house here, a house there, and in some buildings meters are lumped together in one location —

Director Smith:

Absolutely.

Mr. Wagner:

— where you can read 10 meters in five minutes

Director Smith:

We have a number of meters in a number of locations, we would expect somebody to read as many as 200 meters a day or more.

Mr. Wagner:

I think this City should have this type of information that is more accurate, the exact number of meters that we have, the number of employees reading them, the average per day, and whether or not that average per day is what we anticipate them to produce or the product they produce.

Director Smith:

Performance standards. I agree with you wholeheartedly. That is one of the things we intend to work on, develop some performance standards for the meter readers.

Mr. Wagner:

They are absolutely necessary, to make sure we are not losing dollars.

Michelle Madoff:

And check with Wilkinsburg to see how they do it.

Director Smith:

Certainly.

Michelle Madoff:

And remote readers can be bought by anybody. They used to be $15.00.

Director Smith:

It is now $30.00.

Michelle Madoff:

The cost of the actual remote is something like $70.00 to buy, so we only charge a fraction of the cost to the consumer, then put in the plumbing part ourselves. They don't pay for that, which is another cost to the City, and I think we might think about it for the protection of the person whose home has been invaded by someone posing as a meter reader, get them to pay for remote and let them pay it off over a number of years by assessing them some kind of money.

All this has been gone into many, many times. The Administration — Council proposes and the Administration disposes. The Administrtion has not been disposed to follow up on this and many other things.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Vice-President, I think that it's important to bring to the attention of this body that last year before the Water Department became gobbledegook or goulash, because it's the same department with different names and the same people are just shifted around and then other people who worked our doors downstairs heading the Water Department, we agreed in this Council, through pressure that I had been exerting for five years, six years, and church groups and concerned citizens who had a hearing before this Council for the benefit of the colleagues who are not here, that we would do something about protecting the safety of our water, particularly the McNaugher and Brashear reservoirs where people are swimming.

Well, yesterday they were swimming again. I hate to raise the subject but if somebody with aids got into our drinking water or some other communicable disease and lesser diseases being ecoli you get from children in diapers so you know what I'm talking about, we could have a very serious problem in the City. It is not to be laughed at. If you had to go through what the people in McKeesport went through, it wouldn't be funnv.

We've tried everything. We've built fences; the fences have been ripped off and thrown into the reservoirs. It is now time to do what we said we were going to do and for which, I presume, we have budgeted. That was the issue that came up before budget. Do you remember that, Mr. Woods? We're going to have guards at the reservoirs to protect our drinking water and I want it in an hour.

I would like to make that in the form of a resolution. I make that as a formal motion that the head of the Water Department be reminded that this Council voted, I believe unanimously, that we have guards starting this year — we didn't have the money in last year's budget — and hire guards immediately to protect our water reservoirs.

I make that as a motion. Can I have a second?

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Mr. Wagner:

Discussion. That issue was brought up at the last Water and Sewage Authority meeting and one of the first actions of the Water and Sewage Authority, which will be created officially tomorrow, and a meeting the first board hearing after the official creation and on board is, I believe is, next Friday. I think that will be on the agenda as one of the most important issues.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm glad that you're going to carry the message but this Council still represents the public and we have a right to request that and we've budgeted the money. Whether they changed the name of the Water Department to Water Authority is irrelevant. I think it should be the will of this Council; we have no right to enforce it until the Authority does but we did budget the money and it is merely a request that they immediately start to enforce the will of this Council and then hopefully they'll just follow through. I'm afraid we cannot wait because we're having 85 degree weather and they're swimming now.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Michelle, if I may. I know we budgeted money to the Water Department; I remember much discussion on the issue you're talking about. I don't know if we —

Michelle Madoff:

Security guards; that's exactly what we decided.

The Chair, Pro tem:

We could pass the resolution and Mr. Wagner who sits on the Board could carry that for us on Friday, did you say, Jack?

Michelle Madoff:

It is already the law. I'm just reinforcing that we reactivate what we've committed ourselves to do. It's a will of Council. It's a floor motion, will of Council.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Michelle Madoff:

Second item. I have had numerous calls particularly from Mr. Aubrey Lee who I believe owns a restaurant called Alexander's Graham Bell. They feel they are losing $5,000 a week in revenues, $5,000, because of something that I vehemently opposed before it went in. It got through under the grandfathering clause and that was the Market Square Arcade. I'm sorry Mr. Stone isn't here. I knew that was going to be trouble in that area; it didn't belong in that area. I've just spoken to the owners and they admit it doesn't belong there, really; they're having terrible problems. I've talked to the police and the police said they've had to hire security, full-time police on certain nights, particularly good weather like this. It is a public nuisance. It is certainly not where we want people who are coming here for a convention, and I believe my aide, Carmen Gunther, informed me this is the week we're having the largest convention in the history of Pittsburgh; you can't get a room within 50 miles of the City and we've got this kind of garbage going on in the Downtown Renaissance II.

I would like to have our Law Department look into shutting them down. They have become a terrible public nuisance. It's a floor motion that we investigate what is happening and if my allegations proved to be true, and I know they will, that they ought to be shut down before Mr. Lee and the owners of that operation have to go to court and spend their money. We created this monster and we have a responsibility to stop it.

That is a motion that we look into, through the Law Department, into finding out whether indeed this arcade is causing public havoc, disrupting the people walking by on the sidewalks, screaming, yelling, swearing, obscenities, stopping people from walking by, keeping people from the area and causing business and tax dollars to be generated for this City. If it costs the business $5,000 a week what are we losing? If that proves to be true, we take some action and shut them down. That's my motion.

The Chair, Pro tem:

So essentially, you're asking that the Law Department —

Michelle Madoff:

— Look into the possibility of shutting them down if the allegations are true, and I kow they are. I spoke to the owner and he said they're true.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Is there a second to that motion?

Hearing no second, the motion fails.

Michelle Madoff:

Sorry, folks, you're wrong, but that's alright. I've been alone before.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, I just have two items I'd like to share. One relates to the proposed sale of Warner Amex to TCI. About two weeks ago, I made a request with the approval of Council to our Solicitor to provide this Council with some information as to the procedures for us to accommodate a proposed sale and what role this Council and our Cable Advisory Committee would play in the proposed sale or transfer of that system. To date, we've had no response from the Solicitor's Office.

I would like the City Clerk to contact the Solicitor to see if he or any of his staff would be kind enough to prepare that information for us. The urgency, I think, is that on Wednesday, Council Bill 643, which I introduced, will be discussed and it specifically relates to Council initiating a study of the fiscal condition of the Warner Amex system.

I am also concerned because it's my understanding that some conversations have already been initiated between Warner Amex and TCI and City representatives. And I think rather than proceed without direction, that certainly this Council needs to know whether or not we have been officially and legally informed that Warner Amex plans to sell their system and whether or not it is appropriate for representatives of the City of Pittsburgh to be engaged in conversations and procedures that relate to that potential sale. I think we could be getting ourselves in a very bad situation, one where we are not properly informed or legally informed, yet we have a legal role at any proposed sale of that system.

So, if the City Clerk could get that information, unless there's some objections from members of Council, I think that would be most helpful to Counci and it's potential deliberations around the sale or transfer of the system.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Mr. Robinson, do you want that information prior to Wednesday's meeting?

Mr. Robinson:

I would appreciate it if we could have that prior to Wednesday. I think if the City Clerk goes back through the Records from about two weeks ago, he will be able to pull out the specific request.

Michelle Madoff:

May I make a comment, Bill? I absolutely agree with Councilman Robinson. Every time the issue has been raised, I think by myself, the President of Council has said, "Well, you don't have a bill before us; therefore, we cannot address it." Then we end up in the same situation every time. You get twenty minutes, folks, because if you don't, everybody's cable is going to be shut off and they're going to say they'll take it under any conditions.

I know what Mr. Robinson has told you today is gospel. I know who they're talking to, what the deals are, what's been cut, and I know there's conversations and negotiations going on with the Administration, with Brother Richard. There are discussions going on. I would like to know why Councilwoman Masloff is not apprised of everything that happens, that's her department, and she in turn apprising us. I think she's being excluded from that. I don't think it's right.

What's going to happen is business as usual. Council will be notified — Guess what? Either you do this or else. I'm tired of it Bill. I'm tired of being told and I agree with you. We don't have a bill before us; we have a bill by virtue of the fact we got a letter informing us that they want to make that sale.

The Chair, Pro tem:

That's, I think —

Michelle Madoff:

You're here as the Vice-President, not as the President. If the President were there now he'd be shutting me up and saying, "We don't have a bill before us."

The Chair, Pro tem:

I think that's what Councilman Robinson is referring to. A letter from, or some information from Danny Pellegrini, asking was that notification, are we notified that they are for sure selling. That letter didn't really come right out and say that and that's what he is asking.

Michelle Madoff:

I think it came right out and said it.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Well, maybe we can read between the lines but it just didn't say that and I think that's the information he is requesting. We will have that, hopefully, by Wednesday, by the time we discuss your piece of legislation.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Woods, the letter says, I don't have it in front of me but boy I know that letter. It says we are currently negotiating with them and they're looking into buying it. What more do you want?

The Chair, Pro tem:

But it didn't say we are informing you we are selling Warner Cable.

Mr. Robinson:

On another matter, if I might; the Armour controversy, As Council is aware, there is some concern on the part of the City and former Armour workers as well as local elected officials who have been attempting to deal with this Armour controversy that the Armour plant in the West End will be closed and not operable, locally, either by local business people or by some national concern. I'm more specifically concerned at this point about any tax monies that are due to the City of Pittsburgh by the present owners of that facility, ConAgra. Without attempting to aggrevate an already tense situation, I think that it would be appropriate for our Law Department to m ve expeditiously to lien the property so that in the event we cannot get those monies that are due us prior to that plant being closed and totally inoperable, that we will at least have some physical property belonging to ConAgra that we can transform into cash money and get the taxes that are due us. I think it would be less than fair to the people of the City of Pittsburgh if our Solicitor did not move expeditiously to lien that property and at the same time attempt to receive the monies that are due us. It's approximately $53,000 and I'm sure that that pales in comparison to the millions of dollars that ConAgra has sunk into that plant and other plants. But that $53,000 does belong to the City of Pittsburgh; I think we're entitled to it, and inasmuch as ConAgra has decided to begin to move equipment out of the plant, it seems to me that we ought to move expeditiously to include our portion of any business with them. Once they move all the equipment, for all practical purposes that plant is not going to be able to operate and ConAgra will be off in Omaha or Nebraska somewhere, but the facility will still be here, the building will still be here. And I think that we owe it to ourselves to at least try to lien the property to put this whole situation into perspective.

If it is appropriate, I'd like to have the City Clerk forward a letter to Mr. Pellegrini expressing our concern that he take the appropriate actions to make sure that we secure all tax monies due us and also whatever other legal actions would be appropriate to make sure we can secure some collateral, some physical evidence that we could utilize if indeed we're unable to secure our tax monies from ConAgra.

The Chair, Pro tem:

I'd like to add one other thing. I beli-ve when we had that post agenda, didn't Danny say that the Treasurer's hearing was coming shortly, within the week after that?

So, I'd like to add in your letter what happened at the Treasurer's hearing, what was the outcome of it.

Mr. Robinson:

We need to be informed on that as quickly as possible because, if for no other reason, many of the former employees who would like to buy and operate that plant are at least depending upon us to try to do what we can to make sure that all parties are responsible, the former union members, ConAgra, and other interested parties.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Woods, I'd like to make a comment and a motion. We have talked on the floor and to some degree privately in the past, that Council form a committee to address the loss of jobs or plant shut-downs in the City of Pittsburgh. I don't think there's any member of Council that doesn't think the need for that exists. The problem is we've been talking about it for, I believe, two or three months and essentially we've done nothing about it.

This morning myself and Paul McDermott and representatives from the Engineering and Construction Department visited Clark Candy Company. We all know where Clark Candy Company is located, on the North Side; they've been in the City of Pittsburgh for 98 years. We brought along with us some engineering plans of the proposed highway going past Clark Candy Company. We found out today by going through those design specs for the highway that one of the two access roads for Clark Candy Company and their plant is going to be eliminated, which in itself, creates somewhat of a problem for Clark Candy to continue to operate efficiently at the present location.

The reason why I bring this up is that I think we need to have a group, several members of this Council, that can immediately address this type of problem as soon as we find it out. For this particular situation, we need to sit down immediately with PennDOT, with the designers of that highway, to address this problem and to make sure that we are not inconveniencing a company at full employment, which is employing 500 people in the City of Pittsburgh. We certainly do not want to lose these types of companies and we certainly must do everything that we can to keep them.

For that reason, I'd like to make a motion that we as a Council set up a committee immediately, within the next week or two, to address this type of problem and any type of problem in this City pertaining to the loss of jobs or plant shut-downs so that we can intervene in whatever way is necessary, whether it be through other governmental entities or with the companies themselves. I'm not indicating that this is the case with Clark Candy; all I'm saying is that situations like this can develop to a point where companies in this City feel that their is not any great concern for them here in the City. I think by setting up a committee of this type we can show the public that we are concerned and we do want to help in whatever way.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

Discussion. I had raised my hand and what I was about to ask was very much in line with what you're doing, Mr. Wagner.

I know that this City, the Administration, has used, and I use the term used in the sense of the dictionary, used the Economy League to present their position. When they went out and found out a lot of things they were keeping from us as to how bad things were in this community, how taxes were going to have to be raised, it was kept as a secret document. Only when I smoked out the document and they felt they couldn't hide it any longer did it become public record.

I think it's incumbent upon this Council to know what's really going on in this community. You see, what happens is that the hip bone is not attached to the thigh bone. We learn that Westinghouse is losing some people; we then learn that Dravo is going to get rid of their barge department; — It's all little pieces of a puzzle but we haven't put the whole picture together. I think we need a very quick study by the Economy League and we certainly should be able to get it rapidly because the one who did the study last time which showed that Pittsburgh is in big trouble, big, big trouble, with the almost $1 billion debt, we then turned around and hired the person who did the report, Mr. Turner, who said, "What I did wasn't right." He's now here so we hope the Economy League will come out with a report they're willing to stand by as they were behind that last report. They submitted it for an award amongst the Association of Leagues saying that what their finding were were very accurate. What the Administration tried to do was dilute it by hiring the person away.

We need a study to really give us some statistics. How many unemployed are there? We can get that from our own Finance Department because obviously we're going to have a lot less income this year in taxes, Mr. Woods, and that's going to effect your budget as head of the Finance Department. I don't think we ought to get that in November; we ought to have it now. It's the kind of thing that Mr. Robinson, Mr. O'Malley and others of us on Council have been asking for, Mr. Givens, early in the year, about this time, we're even late now. We should have started getting this information months ago so that we start knowing what we're going to have to deal with at budget time and it's going to be grim. What you're suggesting the Administration is not in our purview, that they are the Administrators, we are only the Legislators. You know, we legislate and they administrate. Obviously, what really happens is we propose and they dispose and whatever we do they're going to take glory for anyway and I don't care as long as people have jobs. I think the Administration is coming in and acting — When did they get involved with Gulf? After the fact. Where are they now with Papercraft? Where were they when I intervened on Equitable Gas? What did they do with Station Square? What did they do with Mesta and Mellon Bank? We, Councilmembers were the people who intervened on behalf of the public, not the Administration.

So, your point is well taken but I think we need some hard documented facts in order to function. I'd like to see this Council — We ought to have a resolution, Mike, for Monday that we commission a study that gives us some concept of where this City is going to be when we get to budget time. Some real hard documented facts. Would you agree with that, Mr. Woods?

The Chair, Pro tem:

Jack, your proposal for this committee, I'm whole heartedly going to vote in favor. The one you were talking about that we spoke about some months ago, only a few members of Council, the Commissioners, Congressmen, some State Senators and Legislators — I guess it hasn't materialized the way we hoped.

Michelle mentioned Papercraft which was out in Blawnox. I assume they're on their way out; they laid off 70 people a month ago and they're going to get rid of another 70 this week or next week.

Something really has to be done so all in favor vote aye.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm going to introduce the resolution that we have a study, that we pay to have this study prepared for us or ask the Administration to pay for it. They have the money.

The Chair, Pro tem:

One other thing. I know we have two post agendas on Wednesday but I agreed to listen to Papercraft, a few people from Papercraft, on Wednesday also.

Michelle Madoff:

On that note, Mr. Woods, Papercraft was supposed to meet with me today at 12:30; they didn't show and I don't know what happened. Was there a general meeting of Council? Whatever. I did intervene for them with people because I know the Papercraft people very well and I got a message back that they have to go to the table first and negotiate at the table. They will not let us intervene.

Mr. Wagner:

One thing. Even though the vote is over on that, Mr.Woods, I agree with you. I just think that it takes this Council to initiate such a committee. It should consist of the Commissioners, it should be bi-partisan, it should consist of the URA, the Planning Department, the Engineering and Construction Department. I think we need a solid group of people that can react immediately to any potential problem.

The Chair, Pro tem:

I agree with you, Jack. Maybe if we, a few members of Council, get together and appoints this committee, then maybe some of these other people will take heed and say, "We better get involved also." I agree with you.

Michelle Madoff:

We need a Mayor who will do that, not after the fact.

Michelle Madoff moved to excuse Mr. Givens for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Wagner seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Wagner

Council adjourned.

Municipal Record

Proceedings of the Council of the City of Pittsburgh

VOL. CXVIII Monday, May 7, 1984 No. 19

ONE-HUNDRED TWENTY-THIRD COUNCIL

ROBERT RADE STONE President
MICHAEL PERRY City Clerk
LINDA M. JOHNSON ... Asst. City Clerk

Pittsburgh, PA
Monday, May 7, 1984

PRESENT:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	(Pres't Pro tem)

ABSENT:

Mr. Givens
Mr. Stone

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

Mrs. Masloff presents

Bill No. 724 WHEREAS for the past 25 years Mrs. Nancy Frank has devoted her time and effort to the Allegheny County Adult Services/Area Agency on Aging Admisory Council; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. Frank also served as supervisor of services to the Aged, Jewish Family and Childrens Service; and

WHEREAS Mrs. Frank's geniune concern for the spiritual and social well-being of the elderly has contributed immeasurably to the quality of life of our area's senior citizens.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of Pittsburgh City Council hereby extend sincere commendation to Mrs. Nancy Frank for her 25 years of dedication, devotion, and service to the elderly, which has enriched the lives of many and has enhanced the dignity and pride of our City.

Mrs. Masloff moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mrs. Masloff:

Mrs. Frank, nothing gives me as much pleasure as to present this.

Mrs. Frankl

It's inconceivable that one can have so much gratification from a job from working with colleagues, from working with various institutions, public and private, including the City of Pittsburgh and all who work for the City on behalf of the elderly. It's inconceivable that I could have had all this gratification and then finally end my career here in the Chambers of City Council. I have a very fertile imagination as my family and colleagues will attest to but even in my wild imagination I could never have dreamed that the final act of my career would be to accept this recognition; deserved or undeserved, I am taking it with gratitude and many thanks.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President and members of Council, 1983-84 has been a good year for the City of Pittsburgh; we've had quite a few championship basketball teams. As you know, a few weeks ago we had two grade schools, Ressurection and Our Lady of Loreto here; they won the grade school championships in the State of Pennsylvania.

Today we have two more teams, Seton LaSalle and North Catholic High School. I'd first like to ask Seton LaSalle to come forward for the reading of Resolution No. 395.

Mr. Wagner presents

Bill No. 725 WHEREAS, the Seton LaSalle High School Girls Basketball Team had an outstanding 1983-84 season with a record of 35 wins and 1 loss, which included a 29 game winning streak; and

WHEREAS, major victories of this season include the WPIAL Section 7 Championship; WPIAL District AAAA Championship; PIAA State AAAA Championship; and the Snowflake Invitational Tournament Championship; and

WHEREAS, individual standouts of this team are: Suzanne McConnell- named 1st Team Parade All American; Dapper Dan Female Athlete of the Year; Pittsburgh Post-Gazette Fabulous Five; and Pittsbugh Press Finest Five. Lisa Heuer - named Pittsburgh Press Terrific Twenty. And Head Coach Ben Hartman - named Pittsburgh Press Coach of the Year; and

WHEREAS, the other players that have formed what may be considered the best girls high school basketball team ever assembled are: Shelly DiPippa, Katie Summerville, Mary Sue Wantorek, Pam Wiseman, Kristin Trainor, Lynne Surdzial, Carol Vogel, Maureen Finocchi, Jean Foley, Kim Kollinger, Lisa Kozlowski, and also Student Managers Jan Wilson and Cheryl Micheli; and

WHEREAS, through their outstanding team play they have brought honor and prestige not only to their school but to the entire City of Pittsburgh.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED that the Mayor and the Members of Pittsburgh City Council hereby extend sincere commendation to the Seton LaSalle High School Girls Basketball Team, Head Coach Ben Hartman and Assistant Coaches Marybeth Kulback and Don DiLucente for their brilliant display of basketball skills during the 1983-84 season.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Council also congratulates Superintendent Father Hugh Lang; Principal, Brother Joseph Mahon, F.S.C.;

Assistant Principals James L. Palmer and Sr. Kathryn Palas; and Athletic Director Charles Rutter for their supportive efforts in helping to form the character necessary to make champions.

Mr. Wagner moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Wagner:

I'd now like to introduce the head coach of the team, Ben Hartman, and he could say a few words.

Mr. Hartman:

Thank you. On behalf of the Seton LaSalle faculty and the basketball players, we're quite honored to be here today. We're glad that you recognized our feats; it was a long season and I guess it always makes you feel good at the end when you accomplish something as fine as a State Championship.

Mr. Wagner pointed out a few things about our team; he compared us to one of the greatest basketball teams. Well, that's really a great honor but the people you're going to honor next we feel are right along side of us. This being our first year that we were in Quad A, for three years in a row we tried to get this far and North Catholic was always in our way so this year we sort of side-stepped them and went to a different division and we ended up the same weekend together.

So, I just want to thank you for having us here and appreciate the honor very much on behalf of myself, my assistants and our basketball team. Thank you.

Mr. Wagner:

We'd now like the other girls' championship basketball team, North Catholic High School, to please step forward.

Michelle Madoff:

We ought to change that from girls to young women.

Mr. Wagner and Mr. Woods present

Bill No. 726 WHEREAS, the North Catholic High School Girls Basketball Team displayed outstanding basketball talents during the 1983-84 season with a record of 30 wins and only 5 losses; and

WHEREAS, this team, known as the 'Trojanettes', captured the 1984 AAA State Championship, and the 1984 WPIAL AAA Championship; and

WHEREAS, the 'Trojanettes' won State Championship 2 years in a row (1983 and 1984), and also won State Championship in 1980, distinguishing them as the only girls team in Pennsylvania history to win 3 State Championships; and

WHEREAS, North Catholic has one of the most consistant basketball programs in area history, winning the WPIAL Championship 5 out of the last 7 years, and Section Championship 9 out of the last 10 years; and

WHEREAS, the members of the North Catholic 'Trojanettes' who helped to achieve these esteemed goals are: Wendy Winghart, Midge Kerrish, Barbara Kerrish, Kelly Murphy, Kim Johns, Monique Wade, Patty Sparrow, Sue Rojik, Cheryl Matschner, Patty Goetz, Judy Pavlasky, Sherri Bowman, Nancy DiLallo, Amy Santa, Katie Duty, and Lori Fischer; and

WHEREAS, through their brilliant basketball skills, the 'Trojanettes' have brought prestige and honor to their school and to the entire City of Pittsburgh.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of Pittsburgh City Council hereby extend sincere commendation to the North Catholic High School Girls Basketball Team, and Head Coach Don Barth, Assistant Coaches, Dr. Tony Brungo, Frank Windisch, and Kathy Hickey, and Managers Denise Stalter and Karen Dustovich on their outstanding regular season play and on their winning the AAA State Championship and the WPIAL AAA Championship.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Council wishes to recognize the efforts of Principal Dr. James DeTrude and Director of Athletics Don Graham for the support and inspiration they have given to these girls in helping them to achieve the honor of being called "CHAMPIONS".

Mr. Wagner moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Wagner:

Doctor, would you like to say a few words?

Dr. DeTrude:

Mr. Wagner, Mr. President and members of Council, as the Principal of North Catholic High School, I am very proud to accept this resolution and we're extremely grateful, as Mr. Hartman has indicated, that the Council has taken its time to recognize the outstanding efforts of these young women, both at North Catholic High School and at Seton LaSalle, for the tremendous work that they and their coaches have put in to a tremendous season.

I'd like to mention also that, as many of you know and some may not know, that Coach Barth is a member of our City Police force and I'm very grateful as Principal that people like himself and Mr. Windisch and Mr. Brungo and Miss Hickey are in the position to be able to work with and guide these young people.

I can't tell you how proud I am of our North Catholic team and at the same time very, very proud and congratulate the Seton LaSalle team. They're two great competitors and I'm sure that probably they're glad they're in different sections but they work very hard and they've become great friends.

Thank you again for this outstanding honor.

The Chair, Pro tem:

We have one more resolution, if you will recall, at the post agenda last Wednesday on Papercraft and I believe that we're all sponsoring this resolution. We agreed we would for Papercraft.

Mr. Woods presents

Bill No. 727 WHEREAS, the management of Papercraft Company of Pittsburgh have demanded unreasonable concessions from their employees; and

WHEREAS, the employees of Papercraft Company have served the company with loyalty and dedication and are largely responsible for the company's prosperity; and

WHEREAS, negotiations have presently reached an impasse.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Members of Pittsburgh City Council strongly urges the management of Papercraft Company to bargain in good faith with the union representing their employees in a constructive effort to come to a contract agreement which would prevent a possible closing and subsequent loss of jobs.

Mr. O'Malley moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

Discussion. Has anyone discussed this with Hy and Jo or any of the Papercraft people from this Council?

The Chair, Pro tem:

They were supposed to get back to us, Michelle, and they never did, with some type of resolution or some kind of wording that we've asked. We did agree that we would do this today and they didn't.

Michelle Madoff:

No, no. That's not what I asked you. Hy and Jo are the owners of Papercraft; it's a family owned company. I wanted to know whether any member of this Council has been in touch with any of those people. I tried to get through to them and I was cut off at the pass by somebody who said, I think it was the supervisor of the plant or an aide or something, saying that the problem has nothing to do with us and it should be negotiated at the table and the problem is at the table and they have to sit down and negotiate at the table. The impression I was given is that the employees didn't want to negotiate at the table and we know that's not true. I think this is just a lot of window dressing and it makes Council sound like we're really doing something and I don't think we're really doing anything for them.

I would like to see a telegram, a very strongly worded telegram, going out today to Hy and Jo and whoever else at Papercraft saying that we would like to meet with them and that we feel very much, as this resolution says, that they're not bargaining in good faith and that indeed their profits were made by the sweat of the brow of the people that work for them. We're not talking about a company that's losing money and coming to us to say we're in trouble; this is a company that had $26 million last year.

It's all very nice to honor people and take up time and say, "Aren't we wonderful, I'm recognizing people." It gets lots of votes. But if we're going to do something, let's not have window dressing; let's really do something.

I would like to amend this resolution to say that we will also have a strongly worded telegram or a call from Mr. Woods going out today to, I think it's Hy and Marshall is the son who is the acting president. Marshall is the son of Hy and Jo and and the cousins are all — it's a very incestuous kind of thing — and say "Council wants to meet with you." We don't want to just send you a little message that says, "Gee, wouldn't it be nice if you'd sit down in good faith and negotiate with these people. After all, they helped you." Nothing's going to happen; they're going to ignore us.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Michelle, if I could just interrupt you for a moment. I know I agree and I believe probably every member of Council agrees with you that a resolution is a wish of ours. There's not much we can do with Papercraft especially since they're outside the City. I don't know what we can do with any corporation or company that's even inside the City. Our hands are virtually tied and that's why at some later date that all of us have to discuss maybe some of these post agendas and different things, listening to groups, that we really have no control over. But they asked us to do this and that's why —

Michelle Madoff:

I don't think it's enough; I don't think it goes far enough. Are you willing to make the call or do you want me to make the call? Is this Council willing to sit down and meet with Papercraft? Are you willing to send a strongly worded telegram or make a phone call and say we want to sit down and talk to them, that we're appalled? This is not a company losing money; it's a company making tremendous profits.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Michelle, personally, I don't feel it would serve any purpose. I think the resolution, if we mail that to the particular individual saying how we feel —

Michelle Madoff:

I'll tell you why it would make a difference, Mr. Woods. May I tell you why it would make a difference?

The Chair, Pro tem:

Just let me finish. I don't believe we'd helping the cause that much by having them come in here, especially when they're not —

Michelle Madoff:

I'll go out there; I'm willing to go out there. It's not very far. The point that I'm making is that I am tired of seeing social work amongst the rich. Mr. Kossman, here we have the Katz' and other people. These industrial parks give tremendous incentives. There's UDAG loans, there's land made available at 55 cents a square foot. I could go back and show you records of many activities that have taken place.

There should be something in the future. Industries ought to be put on notice. People like Jay Aldridge from Penn Southwest ought to be put on notice that in the event this kind of thing occurs there will be a payback of some sort. That would then put the pressure of peer pressure on the Katz'; their own people. The word that I'm getting back because I've jokingly said, "Well, there goes my social life" because I know these people, I socialize with them and the word I'm getting back is that their peers think it's appalling. Their own friends think it's disgraceful. I think they need some peer pressure and I think we have to go out and say this is a disgrace and not just send a little wishy-washy resolution.

I amend this resolution to say, yes, we'll send it but in addition to which we'll make a call or send a telegram; we want to meet as soon as possible. Are you game? Does anybody second that?

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. O'Malley:

What was the motion again, Michelle?

Michelle Madoff:

The motion is that we, in addition to sending this resolution which means nothing, a strongly worded telegram asking for a meeting and telling that we send a delegation. We don't have to go nine strong or eight strong; I trust Mr. Woods to go and Mr. Robinson or whoever to represent me or if you want me to be there, fine. Just say that we want to sit down with them and tell them how appalled we are and tell them that what they're going to bring upon themselves and upon other industries in this community is controls and some restrictions and guidelines when we have industrial parks opening that when they do this kind of thing, earning huge profits, that they can't come to us without paybacks or something that we have to see. We have to have a meeting essentially. I know what you're going to say at the meeting but just sending a resolution isn't good enough.

Mr. Robinson:

I think that one of the things that we might want to concentrate on is Mr. Wagner's suggestion that some sort of committee be formed to address the very serious problem of plant closings and employee dislocation is our area. Obviously, this Council has become a forum for a great deal of community discontent and we are constantly being asked to try to mediate disputes between labor and management. While certainly there are a number of legal questions being raised about our ability to do it or even the propriety of us doing it, certainly the end result of these disputes usually has been negative for the City of Pittsburgh. We have either lost a plant and/or employees and it seems that there are some organizations in this community that are taking the leadership in attempting to stabilize our economy. One such organization is the Economic Development Committee which was created by the Allegheny Conference on community development. It might be wise for us in the process of thinking about creating the committee that Mr. Wagner has spoken about to have Hy Milton come in from the Economic Development Committee to sit with us in a post agenda or other appropriate form to seriously talk about economic stabilization in this area, the issues of plant closing, worker dislocation and some of the ideas about making Pittsburgh a center for high technology. I think Mrs. Madoff is right on target in terms of kinds of obligations that corporations have to us here in the City but I'm not quite sure that we have all the pieces to the puzzle. I'm not quite sure we're talking to the right people. Certainly the Economic Development Committee, when it was created a number of years ago, had as one of its purposes the identification of problems in present industry, including worker related problems as well as new economic opportunities for this area. I think that Economic Development Committee is composed of the types of people here in Allegheny County for directly involved in our present economy and those people would be involved in any future economy. It might do us good to get some perspective from Mr. Milton and his staff as to where this region is going. We've received reports and written communications about a number of conferences that have been held by the University of Pittsburgh, by the Allegheny Conference on Community Development, that relate to economic development in our area but this Council has yet to be involved formally in any process geared to revitalizing this area, yet we are now becoming the only form available to dislocated workers where they ask us to indeed begin to deal with some wavy economic problems. I think the resolution today, the post agenda last Wednesday and some of the other concerns that we've had to address are only symptoms of a very large problem. As opposed to being part of the solution, it appears that we're going to become a part of the problem itself if for no other reason we're not going to be able to produce, we're not going to be able to solve the problem. And instead of many of those workers coming here looking for help, they're going to come here to accuse and to perhaps attack us. I think it would be most unfortunate if we simply sit around and only pass resolutions and not attempt to bring in some of the people who are actively involved in changing our City economically and doing it quite often without our knowledge and certainly without our input, yet we are receiving the backwash, so to speak, of many things that are going on. I'm sure that the Economic Development League is aware of the situation of Papercraft; I'm sure they're very much chagrin that perhaps Papercraft will leave town. But they're also engaged in trying to bring other companies here.

So, I just wanted to leave those thoughts with members of Council and very strongly urge us to bring into these Council Chambers the Captains of Industry and others who are working on changing our community to find out where we fit in.

Michelle Madoff:

You know, I think it's really a very sad day and a very sad commentary. You know, every time this Council tries to do something, Mr. Robinson, as you pointed out, we're the scapegoates. You know, one of the services we offer as Councilpeople is scapegoating for the Administration. We propose and they dispose.

We shouldn't even be having this conversation. These people who are dislocated workers, of which you might recall, 50 percent did live in the City, Mr. Woods, came to us, did not go to the Mayor. And when they went to the Mayor it was so late in the day it was ridiculous; he's going to make a phone call, he's going to try to do something. Gulf is another example. We could go on endlessly of how the Administration waits to see which way the wind is going to blow, who he is going to offend with the Allegheny Conference or the Chamber of Commerce or what have you. You're right. We are the only forum and for us to issue a resolution that's only window dressing is almost an insult. I got actively involved, verbally involved — they could have killed me with looks — with Equitable Gas strike. Granted, they didn't get what they wanted but the men and women, they were mostly men, went back to work with dignity. They got their jobs back. I had 513 people offer to move me and paint my house and I said I don't take any perks of that nature.

The point I'm making is that we just can't pass this resolution. Let us go and express our displeasure in no uncertain terms. What Mr. Woods said here in Council the other day I want him to say it to their faces. You're not afraid to do that are you?

The Chair, Pro tem:

No I'm not, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

And I'm not afraid to say you're one of the largest philantropic groups in the City; how about doing some charity work amongst your employees and that you're really not being a good neighbor in this community and you're really bringing shame on Pittsburgh and on this community. And then I think the point you raised, Councilman Robinson, is that the Chamber of Commerce, for example, I just got their literature, I have arranged for those members of Council who would like to join the Chamber After Dark, an evening thing they have, and they have all kinds of sessions, I think it's $200 a year or something and we get a special group rate here — Mike, you've got the material on it — I just looked at the material today and they're addressing the issues that you've talked about, seminars on jobs, retraining, how to operate more efficiently, how we could solve some of the problems. That's one avenue and you're right; why wasn't this Council invited by Pitt? Why did we read about it in the papers afterwards? Because we're sort of like, well — You go to a public meeting and you'll find that your Congressman, your Senator, your Legislators in Harrisburg are introduced and the Mayor is introduced. Rarely do they even acknowledge that a Councilperson is there because we're really not very important, but we do the scapegoating and we're the ones that people come to. And you're right Bill, when it doesn't happen they say, "See, what are you doing about jobs?" Well here's our time to stand up and be counted. And it will hurt me more personally, my personal life, than any other member of this Council. I'm saying let's say to them, "We're ashamed of you; you're a disgrace." We don't like it and we want to do it eyeball to eyeball. That's my motion.

The Chair, Pro tem:

I'm glad everyone feels that way, that these resolutions don't mean anything. I've felt that way for quite some time. Everytime a member of Council brought it up or when SNAC would come in an ask us to pass a resolution with Papercraft, I told them right at the table last Wednesday it didn't mean anything. I'm glad everyone agrees with that; we finally got that out of the way.

All in favor of this resolution?

Michelle Madoff:

I amended the resolution, Mr. Woods, to include —

The Chair, Pro tem:

That was already passed. Now we have to act on the resolution.

Michelle Madoff:

On the resolution, I'm just saying that we meet with them eyeball to eyeball and that a telegram or a letter of great displeasure asking that we meet to tell them how we feel be sent out.

The Chair, Pro tem:

All in favor?

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Michelle Madoff:

Now when are we going to do it?

The Chair, Pro tem:

As soon as Mike can get that telegram sent out.

Michelle Madoff:

Ben, why don't you do that by telephone today. We have such little time; why don't you do it right after session. And let's have a committee right now. Invite every member of Council who can possibly make it if they don't have a conflict of schedule.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Mike, send the telegram, please.

Mr. Wagner:

In regard to Papercraft, I agree that we should move and we should try to do something. However, there is that growing need for this Council to at least start to initiate a committee. I'm not saying a committee consisting entirely of elected officials; I'm saying a committee consisting of respected people in the corporate community that care about the City of Pittsburgh, that want to stay in the City of Pittsburgh, people that are influential from a management point of view that could also be helping when situations like this arise. I don't think just this Council can accomplish what we're trying to accomplish. We need influential people from all areas, private, possibly labor, possibly government, and I'm hoping that we will move expeditiously to form a committee of that type in the near future.

Michelle Madoff:

I second the motion and I must ask a question. Where is our Mayor? Why hasn't he done this? We have Mr. Pease of the Conference, we have the Chamber, we have Penn Southwest, Jay Aldridge, we have Hyde Milton, we have Robbin who is the architect. You know, it reminds me of Moses, wanted to pave, cement the whole city. Where are these leaders? We need a new Mayor.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Thank you.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson:

What will these bonds be used for? Does it say?

The Chair, Pro tem:

Grant Street.

Mr. Robinson:

For Grant Street?

Mr. Perry:

The Stanley Theatre Project, I believe.

The Chair, Pro tem:

We approved that in December of '83 and now they're going to go out for sale. Is that for the Grant Street Project?

Mr. Robinson:

Correct me if I'm wrong. There's something mentioned about the Auditorium Authority. I don't believe those bonds are for Grant Street.

Mr. Perry:

It's the Stanley Theatre Project.

Mr. Robinson:

But the Grant Street Project and the Stanley Theatre Project are two separate things.

The Chair, Pro tem:

It's the Stanley Theatre Project; I'm sorry.

Michelle Madoff:

How much?

Mr. Perry:

I believe they're going out for a $7 million bond.

The Chair, Pro tem:

We approved that in December of '83.

Michelle Madoff:

The City is going to go out for the bond? They're going to reimburse us? How's it going to work?

The Chair, Pro tem:

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to have prepared for us, Mike, before Wednesday, I'd like it for Monday, the debt service each year, the total debt of the City, just very quickly, what the unfunded pension is, workmen's comp, fixed data on capital borrowing, fixed interest on the borrowing to date. My last figure was over $800,000; we're approaching $1 billion and I think we're closer to it because I think on the workmen's comp it's over 40. We did borrow some more money even though we paid off $3 million. I want to know how much we're paying a year; what percentage of our budget we're paying a year which is — and Mr. Buckley should be able to get us a lot of this information — what percentage of the debt is paid as our debt service each year, and what, if any, dollars are going to be borrowed in addition this year in addition to these monies that are borrowed, and what status it's going to put the City on, and I don't want any rhetoric from our Finance Chairman. I want just the numbers, just the facts. I want them very simply, just those simple numbers. The item I asked for and the number.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

Mr. Wagner for Mr. Woods presented

Bill No. 720

Report of the Committee on Finance for May 2, 1984 transmitting sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 621

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending the 1975, 1976, 1977, 1978, 1979, 1980, 1981, 1982, and 1983 Community Development Capital Budgets to renumber project code accounts to reflect the reorganization creating the Department of Engineering and Construction." (AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE)

Which was read.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. Woods, since you're acting as the President, are you permitted to discuss bills that pertain to Finance?

The Chair, Pro tem:

Yes.

Mr. Grabowski:

Alright, regarding Bill 621, most of these bills, well, there's a number of them that are from 1976, 1977, 1978, and I would think that these project should be completed by now and I'm wondering why there is, in fact, still money in the accounts if, in fact, there is money in the accounts. There's no dollar figures here.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Most of the projects are not completed and all it is is to create the new department of Engineering and Construction, it's renumbering the accounts.

Mr. Grabowski:

Phoenix Hill?

The Chair, Pro tem:

Some are and some are not.

Mr. Grabowski:

Alright, well the ones that are completed, why would we be changing accounts?

The Chair, Pro tem:

There could be money taken out of them from other accounts, there could have been a surplus in those accounts, be closing out the accounts. What it is is a house cleaning bill, Mr. Grabowski. Renumbering the accounts.

Mr. Grabowski:

I would think that if we're renumbering accounts, there's still money left in these various accounts. And if there's a project that's already completed, why would we be carrying forth that old balance in that old account?

The Chair, Pro tem:

I don't know what projects are completed on there, Mr. Grabowski. Which ones do you know —

Mr. Grabowski:

Well, like Phoenix Hill, for one. I thought that was a project that was completed years ago.

Mr. Wagner:

I think Mr. Grabowski is bringing up an excellent point. The status of various projects, whether or not there's still work needed to be done on those projects, whether or not there's money in the account to do that work, I think that our Departments in the City have been lax in providing information along with legislation. I understand his point; I think it's a valid point and with each account name here, for instance, Warrington Avenue, we should know the status of those projects or any other account number here, I think, prior to voting on it.

Mr. Grabowski:

I move to recommit this bill.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Also,

Bill No. 647

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the issuance of a warrant in favor of Edward Simon and Company, in the amount of Two Thousand Four Hundred Ninety Two ($2,492.00) Dollars, in payment of an Emergency Contract furnished for the benefit of the City in connection with sound equipment and repairs at Schenely and South Side Ice Skating Rinks; and providing for the payment thereof."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 649

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the issuance of a warrant to Rose Harris, c/o James E. DePasquale, Esquire, 1106 Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15219, in the amount of $1,250.00 in full settlement of a claim for personal injuries and providing for the payment thereof."

Which was read.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Is there any discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	(Pres't Pro tem)

AYES 7 NOES none

And there being two-thirds of the votes of Council in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

Also,

Bill No. 650

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement(s) between the City of Pittsburgh alone or with The School District of Pittsburgh and/or with the County of Allegheny and Real Estate Appraiser(s) for professional and consulting services in connection with the City's sale or acquisition of real estate and real estate tax assessment matters involving real estate in the City, and providing for the payment thereof."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 669

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution authorizing the Council Task Force on Investment Policies and Business Practices, chaired by William Russell Robinson, to contract for professional services in an amount not to exceed Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars."
—(SPONSORED BY MR. ROBINSON)

Which was read.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Is there any discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Robinson
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	(Pres't Pro tem)

AYES 7 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

Mr. Grabowski for Mr. Givens presented

Bill No. 721

Report of the Committee on Public Works for May 2, 1984 transmitting two resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with a NEGATIVE recommendation,

Michelle Madoff:

May I have a ruling from the Parliamentarian? If I wish to withdraw the bill and hold it, am I able to do that today?

Parliamentarian:

You'd have to recommit to back to Committee right now.

Michelle Madoff:

I'd have to recommit it to Public Works?

Parliamentarian:

You'd have to recommit it at the Wednesday meeting.

Michelle Madoff:

How can I do that if I want to hold the bill today? How can I recommit it?

The Chair, Pro tem:

If you want to hold the bill, just ask that the bill be recommitted and if you get a second we'll vote on it and it's recommitted.

Michelle Madoff:

I want to explain why I want to recommit it.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Just a second. Let's read the bill first.

Bill No. 483

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution authorizing and directing the Director of the Department of Public Works to broadcast on the City of Pittsburgh's Government Channel all of Council's Post Agenda Meetings, which take place immediately following the Standing Committee Meetings of Council." — (SPONSORED BY MICHELLE MADOFF)

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm going to move to recommit and I'd like to explain why.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

Okay. The reason I'd like to recommit it is this feeling I'm getting from the people in this Council who believe in letting the sun shine in and letting the people know what's really going on is that they have no objections to having the post agendas of Council appear on the media or go over the Government Station. Their objection is to the forum and the format in which we conduct the meetings. Mr. Wagner has express opinion that there is no structure. Well, I'm not really concerned about the structure; I'm concerned about "Where's the beef?" At least the people are getting a feeling of what's really going on, the issues that we're addressing, and I don't think that they're non-productive; I think that nine times out of ten, something does happen.

I am willing to let it go and recommit it until we have a meeting to set up some structure. One of the suggestions was made that all Councilmembers — that there be no more post agendas, they'd be part of the general meetings so that they're all included, and if we do it as a post agenda we take a roll call and we agree in substance that that particular meeting has some importance.

For example, on the Papercraft hearing that we had that was not televised. I think it's a disgrace that it was not televised as a post agenda. Many times very important things happen, most of the important things happen that are post agendas, they're not just a number. For example, if we follow up on Mr. Grabowski's concern on the bill, we may be addressing the individual account, what it was for, like Larimer Bridge, and was it an overrun and how much the money was. I think the public is entitled to that information.

My purpose in recommitting the bill is to have a meeting set up with Mr. Stone; he's been having, what is it, a monthly lunch that we're having, I didn't go to the last luncheon, and instead of talking about a lot of gobbledegook and how we're going to decorate and what the office is going to be and what the money is going to be spent for, I think it might be important that we say, "How do we set up a mechanism for addressing the issues that come up at post agendas and do it, since Mr. Wagner has a feeling and I'm not going to question him on it, I don't agree with it, I don't think it's very pertinent but if he feels strongly enough about it that it's structured, then let's structure it. But in some way, I think we are depriving the public of their right to know what really goes on here, the meat of what goes on in this Council. And it all happens at the post agendas and at the hearings.

So, I will postpone it, resubmit it and I will keep resubmitting it until we have a structure because if we vote on it today it goes down the tubes. I probably would have two votes for it. And I think that doesn't speak well for this Council.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, on the motion to recommit. I think one of the difficulties that we're still struggling with is perhaps understanding the structure that we already have within Council's rules to address some of the concerns that Mrs. Madoff wants us to face. I think her bill is very timely and, of course, I'm supportive of it. But Council rules already provide that there will be nine Committees of Council, each Committee shall have three members. I think implicit in that is that there will be meetings of those Committees. I raised this issue last year and the year before that. We do not now have nine Committees with three members each serving. That does not exist. We do not now have Committee Meetings. Because we don't have those structured Committees as required by our own rules, because we do not have members of Council attending Committee Meetings, many issues are addressed at post agenda sessions. Perhaps we should be a bit more diligent in making sure that our Committees are properly structured and that those Committees meet and that those Committees address most of the issues that come up at the post agendas. I think until we decide to do that we are going to be missing the point. And I think the point is that we have an obligation to conduct the City's business in a business-like fashion. Our rules, which we approve every two years, provide for that. If we are not going to follow our own rules then I think we're going to have a great deal of difficulty understanding what it is we're supposed to do here and how we're supposed to do it.

As far as post agendas being unstructured, our Council rules provide for the President of Council to preside, to appoint all Committees, to dissolve all Committees. The rules also provide for anyone who is chairing a meeting to basically set the agenda and set the rules consistent with our rules of Council. So, I don't think there's any problem in having orderly, organized post agenda meetings. Again, I think part of the reason that we don't have orderly, structured post agenda meetings, at least in the eyes of some members of Council, is because I think we're failing to recognize the rules that we already have in place which give us our guide to how we should conduct our business.

I did introduce a bill into Council to try and get each Committee properly structured last year; there didn't appear to be any extreme interest on the part of members of Council to see that that happened at that time.

I, again, would encourage members of Council to refer to Council's rules. I would, again, encourage the leadership on this Council to so structure this Council so that we can conduct business in a business-like fashion and that we don't get diverted to issues that aren't issues. The issue isn't whether or not the public has a right to know; obviously, they have a right to know. And the issue isn't even whether or not we should televise post agenda meetings; it's obvious that we should televise any public business of this Council. I think the issue is that we, for whatever reasons, don't want to or can't structure ourselves in such a fashion that we can handle routine business, and post agenda issues are routine business of this Council.

I just wanted to put that on the Record and, hopefully, members of Council will think upon that and, hopefully, the leadership of this Council will attempt to straighten this matter out before we go too far afield.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, I'm opposed to recommitting this. I think that all aspects were covered at the Committee Meeting last week; the pros and the cons were well aired and this Council voted in the negative on this bill and I think we should dispose of it finally today.

Michelle Madoff:

My understanding, with all due respect, Councilman Grabowski, as some people told me that they were principally in agreement with the bill and they would like to see the post agendas televised but they felt there should be more structure to them. So, in the interest of not killing off the public's right to know, I am willing to postpone it until such time as we can restructure to their satisfaction. Mr. Stone said after he was elected as President that he would be meeting with all members of Council to discuss exactly that kind of item, how we would restructure — do you recall in the backroom — how we would restructure our post agendas and our hearings. Personally, from my perspective, when you have something of importance to discuss you call all the parties together, everybody identified themselves, and the proper questions are asked. Many things happen that are very positive. Sometimes you don't even have to change things. A good idea comes out but basically we learned at the hearing on house sales that many of the bills that I introduced have now, five years later, are effective and are working. I'm delighted and I think a lot of people need credit. It's not always to chastise and sometimes even to say thing's aren't — We don't know what's happening; we learn what's happening. There are people who say, "Well, you could go learn that on you own." But what we've seen in this Council, and every member of Council has stated time after time after time that we don't get answers. When we make requests from Department Heads, we just don't get answers. They don't think we're important enough to get answers. They're hired by the Administration. I firmly belive that we have to put all Council's business before the public and therefore we ought to hold it until such time as we can structure it to suit everybody on Council so that nobody on Council is not going to be clearly in the public's eye or misunderstanding or understanding. Either you want the public to know what we're doing here or you don't. If you have an objection to how they're hearing, then let's revamp the style, the mechanism, the technique, to do it as part of Council, to restructure it in a format you want to do it, but let's not say, "We're going to keep the public from knowing what's going on."

Therefore, I want to recommit the bill and I have a second to recommit.

Mr. Wagner:

I'd like to comment. Obviously, I've made my opinion known pertaining to this issue in that I think that our post agendas are not structured. We don't have very simple requirements such as a roll call at our post agendas. I know all of you know as well as I do, quite often you'll be sitting at a post agenda and there will be two members of Council sitting there. I think that's an embarrassment to our Council and I'm not saying that Council is the reason for it. The reason for it, basically, is that all of us have not sat down and developed the guidelines that are necessary to make post agendas what they should be, to get something factual out of them, to get some commitments out of them, to address the problems that exist. I personally think that is the major problem. It's not whether or not they're televised; it's simply the manner in which they're conducted. It doesn't matter is they're held out here in the Council, in the Mayor's Conference Room, in one of our offices. It's simply the agenda. There is no agenda, there are no conclusions drawn and, as a result, no commitments made by just about anyone at the meetings to address the problems.

I personally am against this bill but I will bend somewhat and I will vote for recommitment but I will not vote for this bill until I see some type of structure developed in the future that can better address the problems and the main problem being that post agendas do not really benefit much at this point in time.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
Mr. Robinson

AYES 3	NOES 4

VOTING NO:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. O'Malley
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
	(Pres't Pro tem)

And a majority of the votes of Council not being in the affirmative, the motion was defeated.

Michelle Madoff:

For the record, I think it's important to note that we could have resturctured this to satisfy everybody on this Council and that it is an obvious conclusion that this Council in a majority does not want the public's business publicly aired. I'd like that on the Record, please.

The Chair, Pro tem:

On the bill itself, vote no if you're against the bill; if you're for the bill, vote yes.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Bill No. 640

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 641, Mr. President, you have clarified for me that that indeed was the $20,000 to test the equipment for exhausts on meeting the standards under the Clean Air Act, is that correct?

The Chair, Pro tem:

Yes, that's what I was told.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to have for the record, and I will submit it, I think there's copy in my office, I obtained from the Allegheny County Air Pollution Bureau the numbers of violations, the times we've exceeded the standards on mobile sources and we've had practically none in the last five years.

(STATISTICS REQUESTED BY MICHELLE MADOFF)

Allegheny County is not in compliance with the National Ambient Air Quality Standard for Ozone. Emissions of nitrogen oxides and hydro-carbons from mobile sources contribute to the formation of ozone. Emissions of carbon monoxide from mobile sources contribute to violations of the national ambient air quality standards for this pollutant. The extent of the emissions from mobile sources is shown in the following data from the 1982 Emissions Inventory for Allegheny County.

Pollutant	Total Emissions All Sources - Tons	Mobile Source Emissions Tons	Mobile Source Emissions Percent of Total

Carbon Monoxide	436,336	415,659	95.5

(END OF STATISTICS REQUESTED BY MICHELLE MADOFF)

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to share with this Council that I attended a dinner for Mr. Ruckles house. I have a meeting with him in Washington pending and I asked him why, I didn't want to embarrass him publicly, I asked him why Allegheny County, particularly Pittsburgh, was being forced to clean up and put in these costly controls on automobiles when we don't have a mobile source problem. He explained to me that the environmental movement has become sort of centralized in the Washington area and because of some of the indiscretions of the past EPA administration, the one he replaced, they were afraid to give discretionary powers to an administrator where he could say, "Well, if it's not dirty in this area you don't have to clean up." And so that the law of the Congress is just going to be enforced right across the board which is sort of silly and putting a tremendous burden where it doesn't belong, on an already overburdened, unemployed community.

I don't know that we can do anything about it but I did want to share that with you and I think somebody ought to publish the statistics as to the number of violtions from mobile sources.

I find it very difficult to vote for this bill and, I don't know, what do you do? We're going to vote $20,000 for a piece of equipment because we have to obey the law and the law in this instance, I don't believe, is correct and I think it does more harm to the environmental movement than it does good and I'm a long time environmentalist.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President, just two quick concerns, if I might. The first relates to the Western Restoration Center. I have a letter I'd like to read into the Record.

"Dear Mr. Robinson:

Governor Thornburgh asked that I respond to your recent letters regarding Western Restoration Center. As you may know, on March 27, 1984, Walter W. Cohen, Secretary of Public Welfare, announced his final decision to close Dixmont State Hospotal and Western Restoration Center.

Please be advised that comments received were considered in the decision-making process. The concerns and needs of patients and their families, hospital employees, and the community were dept foremost in mind before a decision was reached.

Following the closure of Western Restoration Center, the land and physical plant will be available for use by other state agencies through the Department of General Services. If the facility is surplus to state needs, it will become available to other governmental agencies and community organizations. I am not aware of any plan to covert this facility to a correctional facility. If you wish to present a proposal for alternate use of the facility, I would suggest you do so to both the Department of Public Welfare and the Department of General Services so that it may be considered during the transfer process.

Thank you for writing to express your views about this important matter.

Sincerely,

Scott H. Nelson, M.D."

Dr. Nelson is the Deputy Secretary for Mental Health for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Department of Public Walfare.

The second concern relates to the Stanton Heights Shopping Center. Several weeks ago, a series of events occurred in the Stanton Heights Shopping Center in the 10th Ward of our City.

The result was the tragic and unfortunate death of a 15 year old boy. The related Coroner's Inquest highlighted the actions of two of this City's police officers, which further underscores the need to either improve the conditions at the Stanton Heights Shopping Center or develop a sound substantive plan to replace it or remove it.

For the past six years the Shopping Center has been the source of controversy, community tensions and death. It is not fair to Garfield residents or Stanton Heights residents or the City of Pittsburgh to allow the present condition to continue.

On May 15, 1984, Council will hold a public hearing on concerns of many residents of the Garfield community. At that time, I would encourage the appropriate agencies of City Government to address the issue of the Stanton Heights Shopping Center.

Michelle Madoff:

May 15 is what date, Bill?

Mr. Robinson:

Tuesday.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Thank you, Mr. Robinson.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm not going to take much time on this item but if most of the members of Council had the occasion to read the Pittsburgh Press on Sunday's front page and the editorial, it addressed itself to the problems of acid rain and the damage that it is doing to many of the states but predominantly to the state of Pennsylvania. We are suffering one of the worst — The damage is the greatest in our state. However, Canada is now going to go to many of the friendly foreign countries urging them to put pressure on the United States to clean up its acid rain. That, to me, is a disgrace. If that doesn't say we need to get rid of Reagan, I don't know what does.

The Chair, Pro tem:

Thank you, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff moved to excuse Mr. Givens and Mr. Stone for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Wagner seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mrs. Masloff moved to approve the Minutes of Monday, April 16, 1984 and Monday, April 23, 1984.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. O'Malley

Council adjourned.

Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone
Mr. Robinson	(Pres't)

ABSENT:

Mr. Givens
Michelle Madoff

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Wagner, Mr. O'Malley and Mr. Givens present

Bill No. 765 WHEREAS, the Mayor has proclaimed May 13 to May 19 as "Police Memorial Week" in the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, this observance originated nearly 20 years ago when the United States Congress, at the prompting of President John F. Kennedy, designated May 15 as "Police Memorial Day"; and

WHEREAS, the purpose of this observance is to call upon the citizens to pay tribute to the brave police officers who, through their fortitude and courage, have lost their lives in the line of duty; and

WHEREAS, this Council realizes that police work is an extremely hazardous profession, and with the changing society is becoming increasingly dangerous; and

WHEREAS, since 1898, 52 Pittsburgh Police Officers were killed while safeguarding the rights and freedom of our citizenry, with Officer David Barr and Detective Norman Stewart being the most recent casualties in 1983; and

WHEREAS, this Council has always, and will continue to foster unity, respect, and support for our City's Police Officers.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of Pittsburgh City Council, hereby recognize May 13, 1984 to May 19, 1984, as "Police Memorial Week" in the City of Pittsburgh in recognition and tribute to the Pittsburgh Police Officers who have made the supreme sacrifice of carrying the cause of justice to their graves, and inspiring all of us to reflect upon the dignity and value of human life.

Mr. Wagner moved to adopt the resolution.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Wagner:

We have representing the F.O.P. Frank Walker here today. I would like to present one of these to you, Frank, and the other one is for the Superintendent of Police, Bob Coll.

Mr. Walker:

Mr. President and honorable members of City Council, on behalf of the Fraternal Order of Police and the Veterans' Police Association, we take great pride to see that City Council and the Mayor are honoring our deceased policemen.

Today there are many things that go on out in the streets as we had at the service yesterday out in the church. The streets of the City of Pittsburgh is getting like Vietnam. I'm speaking about the young policemen today; you're damned if you do and you're damned if you don't. But it's nice to see that at least our deceased brothers are honored.

Thank you.

Mrs. Masloff:

Mr. President, I don't know whether this is the right time to do this or not but I'd like to congratulate you, Bob, who, last week in Seattle, Washington, was elected the National President of the National Association of Regional Counsels. NARC is the nation's umbrella group of all regional counsels in the United States. The local group is SPRPC, Southwestern Pennsylvania Regional Planning Counsel and is composed of six southwest counties, composed of almost two and a half million people. Next year in June of '84, the National Association of Regional Counsels will hold their national conference in Pittsburgh.

Congratulations, Bob.

Mr. Woods:

Mr. President, I'd like to make a motion that we call both people within the ten day limit.

The Chair:

They are both appointments rather than reappointments and I think we ought to have them at the table. So they'll be called next week, Mike, and the following Monday we should pass on them.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President, just a couple items if I might. I'd just like to bring to the attention of members of Council that on May 17th, 18th, and 19th, at the Pittsburgh Hilton Hotel, the Women Business Owners of Western Pennsylvania, Incorporated, in conjunction with the Small Business Administration, is having a seminar called Building A Brighter Future and the seminar and workshop is geared towards involving more women in business opportunities, not only locally but nationally.

This is an effort that in part was sponsored an initiated by the White House and I think credit is due to the National Administration for doing something positive on behalf of Women Business Owners. This probably represents one of the more positive things that's come out of the National Administration in the last couple of years but I'm particularly interested in this project because I think there are a lot of women business owners here in our area who do want to participate in the growth of our City and our County and I think this seminar is a good opportunity for them to do that. I'm just glad to see that the Federal Government, through the Small Business Administration, is working with local organizations to make these seminars and workshops a reality.

As I mentioned before, the Women Business Owners of Western Pennsylvania is a sponsor of this workshop and seminar in conjuction with the Small Business Administration. Also, a number of public agencies, including our own Urban Redevelopment Authority, are involved as well as a number of major corporations in our City.

I think our hats should be taken off to the corporate community for working in conjunction with the private and public sectors and trying to make business opportunities available for women. That's May 17th, 18th, and 19th at the Hilton Hotel.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Robinson:

Another item relates to the Human Relations Commission. If the City Clerk would be kind enough to contact the Human Relations Comission to remind them that they are supposed to have a report for Council this Wednesday relative to when their 1983 report will be done, their annual report will be done, and also some indication as to how they're putting that report together, the areas of concern that they're going to address, and the methodology that they're utilizing. They were also supposed to report to us on a time schedule for us to receive the annual reports from '79, '80, '81 and '82 along with an outline of how those reports will be put together, the content and the methodology that they're using in preparing those reports.

My last concern relates to housing in the City. I've been getting a number of concerns addressed to me by way of letter and phone concerning Section 8 housing in the City of Pittsburgh. As most members of Council know, this is a very sensitive issue because it does involve housing for low and moderate income people.

There is a growing concern that Section 8 housing is being concentrated in certain neighborhoods. I think it would do us all well to review our Section 8 program and become familiar with the criteria that is utilized to select neighborhoods into which Section 8 housing is placed and to make sure that no one neighborhood is handling more of a burden than another neighborhood.

As I said before, it is a very sensitive issue and I'm sure everyone on this Council is appreciative that we must provide housing for all people in all neighborhoods. But the Section 8 issue, I think, is beginning to create some apprehension in some neighborhoods as to whether or not their neighborhoods, those particular neighborhoods, have been singled out, so to speak, for Section 8 programs and whether certain neighborhoods will have to carry the total burden of the Section 8 program.

It may be wise for our City Clerk to contact the Urban Redevelopment Authority and the Public Housing Authority and identify those persons who are responsible for the Section 8 program and ask them if they would be kind enough to prepare some sort of report for Council as to how they operate the Section 8 program, how they determine which neighborhoods the housing goes into, and what kind of liaison they have with community groups and organizations in preparation of authorizing Section 8 units in any one neighborhoods.

I don't want to alarm anybody or to suggest in any way that our Section 8 program is not being run properly but I think with the number of concerns that have been raised with me that it is appropriate for this Council to get some feel for where we are with that program.

The Chair:

The one Section 8 has exhausted its funds, as you might be aware.

Mr. Woods moved to excuse Mr. Givens and Michelle Madoff for absence from the meeting.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Woods moved to approve the Minutes from Monday, April 30, 1984.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Robinson

Council adjourned.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

The Chair:

Before beginning our business today I think it would be in order if we welcome back Councilman Richard Givens. He has rebounded quite well, I think, from his surgery. We welcome him back and hope that he has no further difficulties.

Mr. Givens:

Thank you, Mr. President and I'd like to say a few words to my fellow Councilmembers if I can at this particular time.

Mr. President and members of Council, I'm very glad to be able to resume my legislative duties today. I am feeling well and have been looking forward to rejoining all of you in these last months in the continuing effort to serve the people of the City of Pittsburgh.

While I was regaining my health, two people close to this Council were less fortunate and their deaths have been on my mind during my convalescent period. We were all saddened when our Lou Mason, former President of this Council, passed away. For the record, I want to offer my praise and admiration to this man and to his legacy and inspiring leadership and dedication to public service. Lou, you know, helped me and he helped guide me when I first became a Councilman some nine years ago. I always found that his wit and wisdom was refreshing and had insight.

Also, I want to echo my colleagues' expressed sentiment to our current President, Bob Stone, at the loss of his brother Nick who was also a personal friend of mine and he was a man greatly respected in his community, especially that of the South Side of the City of Pittsburgh and throughout the Downtown area.

I also want to thank my colleagues and my many departmental officials who have been so cooperative with my staff, Rick Infante and Linda Noska, in the past weeks. Through your concern and responsiveness you've helped my office to remain an active part of the local government during my convalescence and I think that's to be commended.

I also understand that things have been very quiet around here while I was gone but if, in the next few weeks things begin to flare up again, I hope my colleagues will restrain themselves and remember my delicate condition.

The Chair:

I'm not going to touch that line.

Mrs. Masloff:

Mr. President, along those lines I think we all ought to say Happy Birthday to you. I understand today is your birthday. Happy Birthday!

The Chair:

Thank you very much.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Givens and Mr. Grabowski present

Bill No. 798 WHEREAS, on Thursday, May 17, 1984, Ferdinand "Fritzie" Zivic, age 71, was called from this life; and

WHEREAS, Fritzie Zivic, a native of Pittsburgh's Lawrenceville community, established an outstanding 18-year career as a professional boxer from 1931 to 1949, including the world welterweight title in 1940; and

WHEREAS, Fritzie was the youngest of five brothers born to Croation immigrant parents; and

WHEREAS, his legendary toughness and relentless ring style were emblematic of the spirit of Pittsburgh.

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, on behalf of the people of Pittsburgh, extend our sympathies to his wife, Helen, his children and grandchildren, and his two surviving brothers, at the loss of their beloved Fritzie and one of our areas legendary sports heroes.

Mr. Givens moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Givens:

This resolution will be presented by myself but I'd also like to include Steve Grabowski who is a native of Lawrenceville to be a co-sponsor if he would like his name to so appear.

Mr. Grabowski:

Yes.

Mr. Givens:

I would like to make some personal comments on the resolution and on Fritzie Zivic himself.

As a young lad I remember one time taking a long hike, as we called it back in those days, through the streets of the City of Pittsburgh. A group of young lads from Lawrenceville ended up out in Frick Park which is some several miles from our destination and not knowing how far we traveled that day, on our way back we had the old thumb routine out there. Little known to all of us, a vehicle pulled up, one that was unusual at that particular time, back in about the 1940's. It was a station wagon with the wood paneling on it and inside was no other than Fritzie Zivic. Of course, we didn't recognize him immediately, at that particular time, and he said, "Well, how far are you going?". We said, "The next major intersection down", figuring that he'd be either making a left or a right. Well, this went on for two or three intersections and he turned around to all of us guys and said, "Where in the hell are you people going?" We said, "Lawrenceville.", and he said, "Why didn't you tell me that. I'm Fritzie Zivic and I'm going right there myself."

So, that was my first encounter with Fritzie when I was about eleven or twelve years of age. Since that time I think many of us have had the opportunity to talk with Fritzie and hear some of the word by word bouts that he had had and as was depicted even in our newspapers and those that covered the fights back in those days, the old Sun Telegraph, etc., that Fritzie never broke with a clean break. But he hid something to the hearts of all the young lads in both the Lawrenceville area and as well as through the City of Pittsburg and this region. As you put Pittsburgh on the map, as they want Pittsburgh to be seen, as we see this happening in our Convention Center down there, what Fritzie Zivic did to boxing, at that particular time, was to really bring it into the number one sport in this particular area, as our Pittsburgh Steelers and the Pirates do likewise. He did that in that particular time and some way in the future I would hope that his name would not be forgotten because today was the day that he was buried and hopefully we could think of something that might happen in the future that would keep the spirit of Fritzie Zivic alive within the City of Pittsburgh.

Thank you, Mr. President.

The Chair:

I am reminded that Fritzie Zivic and I happen to have been friends in the past. I'd like to share one of the stories that he told me; I'm sure it might be of interest to all of you.

He tells about boxing out in Hollywood, California and that there was one particular character who was at ringside who seemed to be heckling him pretty good and getting under his skin. It seemed that he wanted to repay him in some way and after going for two rounds with this individual he felt pretty sure that he now had it the way he wanted it, that it was only a matter of time, that he would consumate this fight. He then went to his corner and he said to the second, "Forget the mouthpiece after this round." At that point, he took the usual water and he didn't put the mouthpiece back in. Pretty soon the heckler was giving him a rough time from ringside and at that particular time he got into a clinch and let go right in the eye of the spectator at ringside. The newspapers that day carried a headline, "Fritzie Zivic Scores Double TKO". It happened to be Bub Abbott or Lou Costello who was heckling him in the audience at that particular time.

We have many fond memories of Fritzie Zivic and I'm sure that one cannot speak about the boxing field without speaking of Fritzie Zivic and the Zivic family. They've been a tribute to the fight game; they've been a tribute to this community and, of course, to their ethnic character. We thank them all for that.

Again, Mr. Givens, I commend you for extending your sympathies on behalf of all of us to the family.

Mr. Grabowski presents

Bill No. 799 WHEREAS, on May 20, 1984, Lou Zotter was honored for his extensive service to the Holy Name Society of the Holy Family Church and the community of Lawrenceville; and

WHEREAS, Lou Zotter having served 15 years as President of the Holy Name Society with unselfish dedication to the organization; and

WHEREAS, in addition to Lou Zotter's contributions to the Society, he has also served as an usher, committee member, bingo coordinator and festival coordinator for the Holy Family Church; and

WHEREAS, Lou Zotter has extended himself beyond the doors of the Holy Family Church, to the community of Lawrenceville by serving as Chairman of the Stephen Foster Community Center's Summer Festival and by being involved with the area's Golden Agers Organization; and

WHEREAS, Lou Zotter's enthusiasm, dedication and unending labors have resulted in happiness, personal development, and spiritual growth to all of those who come in contact with him.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of Council of the City of Pittsburgh, on behalf of the citizens of Pittsburgh, hereby recognize and salute Lou Zotter for the countless years of distinguished service and loyalty to the Holy Family Church, and the community of Lawrenceville where he has displayed sincere dedication in cultivating high social and moral standards, as well as spiritual awareness.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Council wishes to thank Lou Zotter for all of his past contributions to the religious and social communities, and may he continue to enjoy the fruits and richness of his life.

Mr. Grabowski moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, I'd just like to say that yesterday I actually made that presentation to Mr. Zotter at the General Membership Meeting of our Holy Name Society. Of course I cautioned Mr. Zotter and the Membership that Council was somewhat unpredictable, and they were all aware of that, but I told him that I'd do my best to secure five votes and they indicated that they had faith and confidence in me that I could do that.

The Chair:

It's unanimous.

Mrs. Masloff presents

Bill No. 800 WHEREAS, the people and government of the City of Pittsburgh are committed to human rights and human dignity, with the needs of the handicapped, and

WHEREAS, The United Nations General Assembly has declared 1983 through 1992 as "Decade of Disabled Persons;" and

WHEREAS, the Congress of the United States has adopted the aforementioned resolution and declaration of the Decade; and

WHEREAS, one out of seven Allegheny County residents are physically or mentally handicapped, but we take great pride in the contributions persons with disabilities have made and continue to make in medicine, science, education, the arts, law, government, and the many fields of technological advances; and

WHEREAS, much remains to be done to open doors to full participation and quality of disabled persons through education, employment and convenient community living opportunities;

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby recognize 1983 through 1992 as "Decade of the Disabled," and pledge our programs for the disabled in housing, buildings, education, employment, transportation and recreation, and in every other possible facet of the good life, in order to benefit all disabled persons that they may take their rightful place in the mainstream of our daily lives.

Mrs. Masloff moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President, if I might, two items. Mr. President and members of Council, I would like the Record to reflect that I was in Washington, D.C. on May 10th, 11th and 12th to attend a meeting of the National League of Cities, Energy, Environment and National Resources Steering Committee of which I am a member.

Our meeting agenda addressed the issues of hazardous materials transportation, ground water, Environmental Protection Agency and their Superfund and also infrastructure assistance.

Specific information relative to the Steering Committee Meeting will be made available upon request.

The second item relates to Council Bill 2305 which was introduced in 1983, in fact, introduced on January 10, 1983. This particular bill related to the establishment of an Infrastructure Trust Fund in the City of Pittsburgh to assist in the financing of projects that would be geared towards rehabilitating our sewers, our bridges, some of slope areas and related projects. That bill did not pass at that time in 1983. In fact, final action was taken on the bill on February 7, 1983.

The reason I bring this issue up now is that I think that certainly the issue of our infrastructure has been discussed on numerous occasions here in Council and many solutions have been suggested. One of the areas that I don't think that we have given a lot of consideration to is the area of doing something about the slopes in our City. Thirty percent of our City is slope area; we have some significant problems with the shifting and moving of those slopes and we have some very serious problems relative to impending danger to homes on those slopes or below those slopes.

I would hope that Council would give some consideration to the purpose of Council Bill 2305, review it again and begin to more seriously look at what we can do to help people who live in sloped areas, either by way of grants to assist them in stabilizing the hillsides near their homes or a loan program that will assist them.

I think that it is very important that we address all the major problems in our City and certainly when 30 percent of our land is on a slope I think that's a major problem we need to address. I am not suggesting that we do not address problems as they come up but I do think that there's much more that we could do for homeowners and businesses that might be in peril because of the shifting of some of our slope areas.

I will be introducing another bill similar to 2305 and I hope that members of Council will give that bill serious consideration.

Mrs. Masloff presents

Bill No. 801 Resolution approving the appointment of John D. O'Connor of Pittsburgh, PA as an at-large member of the Pittsburgh Cable Communications Advisory Committee for a term to expire December 31, 1984.

Mrs. Masloff moved to approve the appointment.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mrs. Masloff:

Mr. President, there's one thing I would like to say. I have before me a draft, and it's only a draft, which I have prepared and will put into some kind of shape and give all members copies of this. But the reason I'm bringing it up at the moment is so that they can put it on their calendars. I have proposed a meeting schedule concerning Warner Cable Corporation's request for approval to transfer ownership of the Pittsburgh cable system to Telecommunications, TCI. I propose that on June 26 at 10:00 a.m., TCI representatives will present to Pittsburgh City Council the company's proposal for the transfer of ownership of the Pittsburgh cable system. I propose that on Tuesday, July 10 at 10:00 a.m., TCI representatives will appear before City Council to answer questions concerning the company's proposal. On that same day, Tuesday, July 10, at 7:00 p.m., TCI representatives will appear before the Pittsburgh Cable Communications Advisory Committee to answer their questions concerning the company's proposal. Finally, on Tuesday, July 24, at 10:00 a.m., I suggest that Pittsburgh City Council have a public hearing on the TCI proposal.

All of the above meetings will be cablecast live and replayed the same evening at 7:00 p.m. and on the following weekends on the City of Pittsburgh's cable channel, Channel 17, on the Warner Cable System. All meetings will be held in City Council Chambers and are open to the public.

This is only for your information and I will make copies of this for each Councilmember for their calendars.

Mr. Woods:

That's one of the things I wanted to ask, that she would make us copies of that.

Secondly, June 26, Sophie, you're just going to give us their proposal?

Mrs. Masloff:

They will come in and present it to us formally. This is the plan.

Mr. Woods:

But we're not going to get into questions and answers with them then? It will be on July 10?

Mrs. Masloff:

They contend that they will make a brief statement when they present this. Briefly. No questions and answers. That will give us several weeks in which to look over the documents. Then on the 10th, they will appear again at 10:00 a.m., Tuesday, July 10th, to answer question.

Subsequently, two weeks later, we will then have the public hearing.

The Chair:

Any chance of the 10th being the 12th?

Mrs. Masloff:

Well, the Advisory Committee meets on that night. Then they thought they could do both in one day; address us and then the Advisory Committee.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President, on at least two occasions I have forwarded communications to Warner Cable of Pittsburgh as Chairman of Council's Task Force on Investment Policies and Business Practices but unable to get a response or at least I have not received a response to date. Perhaps Mrs. Masloff could be of some assistance in getting for me the information that I'm requesting.

My concern at this point, there are two things. One, as Chairman of the Task Force, I am concerned about Warner's investment policies and business practices. I think it is very germane to the proposed sale that we know where Warner invests its money because that certainly will give us some indication as to its fiscal solvency. As far as the Task Force is concerned, the fact that we're in business with Warner Cable, I think its incumbent upon us to ask them the same kinds of questions that we would ask of anybody who's doing business with us. If there is some problem with Warner providing that information, I'm unaware of it because there has been no response to that inquiry which was made several weeks ago. I have a heightened interest inasmuch as the issue of the proposed sale seems to be moving along pretty quickly and it appears that Warner is somewhat reluctant to provide to the City of Pittsburgh, or its representatives, specific information. I would hope that I would be able to get this information or if someone could explain to me why I shouldn't have that information relative to their investment policies and their business practices.

The Chair:

I suggest you send a follow up letter on that last one.

Mrs. Masloff:

I suggest that you put that in writing for me, Bill, and I will assure you you will have answers.

Mr. Robinson:

Fine. Thank you.

My second concern relates to my position as Chairman of Planning, Housing and Development. I forwarded a letter to Warner Cable relative to the sale and it was in response to a letter that I received from the President, Mr. Bent. Mr. Bent had responded to a letter I sent to Mr. Lewis who is the Chairman of the Board of Warner Amex. One of the concerns that I had raised in my letter to Mr. Lewis was the issue of minority business development, not only in reference to Warner Cable in Pittsburgh but throughout the Warner Amex system. Mr. Bent's response to me did not specifically address the issue of minority business development. My letter to him asked for some details of what specifically Warner Cable was doing in the area of minority business development. Again, I have not been able to get a response. I recognize that the proposed sale is probably taking precedent but I think that again it's incumbent upon those who are doing business with us to at least try to provide us with information that we may be asking of others. If indeed Warner Cable has a minority business program, we should be able to identify it and we should be able to identify some results of it.

Again, if Mrs. Masloff could be of some help in trying to secure that information or at least secure some sort of reply, that reply might indicate that the information is unavailable. From all that I have read in correspondence with Mr. Lewis and Mr. Bent, there is a program, there is a system wide program and there's one in Pittsburgh. But I have been unable to find the details of what that program is and I'd like to have that information as soon as possible.

The Chair:

Okay.

Mr. Woods moved to excuse Michelle Madoff for absence from the meeting.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mrs. Masloff moved to approve the Minutes of Monday, May 7, 1984.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Woods moved to recess this meeting and meet Wednesday, May 23, 1984 immediately following the 10:00 a.m. Finance Meeting.

Mr. Wagner seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Woods

Council recessed.

Pittsburgh, PA
Wednesday, May 23, 1984

And the hour of 11:00 o'clock, A.M., having arrived and the time of recess having expired, Council reconveded and there were present:

Mr. Givens	Mr. Robinson
Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone (Pres't)

ABSENT:

Michelle Madoff

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

Mr. Woods presented

Bill No. 802

Report of the Committee on Finance for May 23, 1984 transmitting one resolution to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 709

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending Resolution No. 1165, enacted December 19, 1983, entitled, 'A Resolution of the City of Pittsburgh authorizing the City to increase its lease rental debt by entering into a Supporting Agreement with the Public Auditorium Authority of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County requiring annual payments of the City of Pittsburgh of one-half of the principal and interest of said Authority's Auditorium Bonds, Series D, which will be issued by the Authority in the aggregate principal amount of $7,500,000.00,' by setting forth the debt service schedule of the bonds."

Which was read.

Mr. Givens:

Discussion. Mr. President, I'm a little bit concerned about this bill and I want to know if there's anybody here from the Treasurer Department to answer when the UDAG agreement was signed. Does anybody know?

The Chair:

Six months ago.

Mr. Givens:

It was six months when we asked for it and applied for it.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, the UDAG grants, approximately $20 million, has been awarded to the City of Pittsburgh. Prior to that grant being accepted by them, there are several other projects that have to be approved; one is the Historical issue that has not yet been resolved. Mr. Lurcott and someone from his department are in Harrisburg today to resolve those matters with the State. There is also the issue of the Environment Impact Study.

These are technical matters at this point and we should be actually receiving written notification that we could use those UDAG monies within the next ten days, Money has been allocated to the City of Pittsburgh. I don't know of anything at this point that will keep us from getting that money.

Mr. Givens:

So you are saying right now that we don't have a permanent agreement on the UDAG?

Mr. Robinson:

Not a permanent agreement. HUD has approved our application; they have approved it and obviously we will get it.

Mr. Givens:

That is my concern. If you will look back —

The Chair:

Excuse me, Mr. Givens. He said 17; we asked for 20 or 21 but I think we only got 17.

Mr. Robinson:

Yes. We actually got $17 million. The shortfall was anticipated to be made up by the private sector so if we did not get the $20 million requested from the UDAG grant, the private sector, through the foundation, would make up the difference. So they will making up the $3 million difference.

Mr. Givens:

My point is that the Mayor made it public back in November, the middle of November, that is particular Stanley Theatre Improvement and the Allegheny International —

This Council then had for a period of 9 December and a short period after that this whole plan including $7.5 million would be shared equally between Allegheny County and that of the City of Pittsburgh. And here we are today, almost at the end of May, and we come in with a bonding issue. I get very disturbed, when in fact this Council had given approval for this whole program to go forward in the month of December. All we have to do is just look at this one diagram to see where the bond rate was in the month of December. They started action in January and here we are at May 17th when they, May 14 when they went out, the week of May 14th, and I have to say they didn't have a crystal ball and it shot back up again even between the lower rates right here at the end of January and the beginning of February and everybody knew that the economy would go and it is still going up.

The Chair:

One problem. You can't go out until you get your approval.

Mr. Givens:

I know that.

The Chair:

We only got that for a month.

Mr. Givens:

Anyway, we have bonding agencies that were supposed to go out and save us money and my feeling is here because we did not go out between the time that Council approved, as we approve many of our bond issues, until the final vote comes up, always the interest rates that we are using. I get tired of this going on and again today I sit here and the same scenario happens year after year after year, and what are we in Council going to do about it? That's my only question. I think if we are going to give approval and the County gives approval and if everyone is agreeing with us and the UDAG grant is going along very nicely, that we should have gone out as quickly as possible and be ready to go this week before the market opens up. This doesn't indicate to me good planning material. I think somewhere along the line Council has to be looking —

This action today, and putting it in dollars and cents if you want to put it that way, as I look at this one chart, and it's their chart not mine, is costing the taxpayers of the City of Pittsburgh $1 million and the County taxpayers, of which we are a part, $1 million. We look at the County and the City, it is still coming from our pocketbook because we pay taxes to both bodies and that $2 million costs us and that 15 years versus 25 years, according to that diagram, it goes from 9.4 to 11.70. They say here the total true interest cost is 10.976 or 11 percent. So, that to me, is a little startling and everyone knows that we want the Stanley Theatre. My God that would be a beauty and it will be next to the Convention Center and we will be bringing in there the types of events that we want to have in the City of Pittsburgh. But I don't want to sit here day after day, month after month, year after year, having to argue this particular point and people telling me that I don't know something about finances.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, if I might, I would just like to comment on the fine job that Rudy Jordon did from Bear Stearns. I think there were a number of circumstances and a number of people involved in putting this financial package together which cost us to restructure the deal. I believe that about two weeks ago I raised the question about the deal being restructured and I raised about the rates being restructured. It's still not believed that we probably could have gotten a better deal if we simply looked at the numbers. I think that when you look at the total project and what it is that the City and the County are attempting to do, the financing mechanism and the fact that much of the financing was out of the control of the City of Pittsburgh and we had to wait for certain approval that we probably have a very good total package.

I think that at all times we should try to lessen the burden on the City and that was my concern about the deal that presented to us about two weeks ago. I think some adjustments were made, I think Mr. Jordon needs to be commended for putting in a lot of time and effort to do that and I think also that Mr. Schmeiser agrees that we have a financial package and that while it is perhaps not the best, I think in the long run the revenues that will be generated from this total project will indeed prove to be substantial and I think after the 15 year period, the period in which the bond will be sold and redeemed, that our benefit, our financial benefit alone, will be substantial.

I think that we certainly have learned enough from this grant; I think we have learned that there are many things that we can and cannot do, but as someone said earlier, there is probably always an optimum time to go out on a bond sale. Unfortunately, I think that anyone hasn't been able to calculate such that all factors come together at the exact right time. I would hope that in supporting this bond sale and this project, that this Council keep in mind that what we are doing is a prime example of making our City a more special place than it already is and that we have indeed reduced and minimized the obligation to the public which in the long run the public is going to benefit from the project.

Mr. Woods:

Call the question.

The Chair:

I think something has to be cleared up here; we can't leave it where it is going. First and foremost, you can't go out on this bond issue until you need the money and whether it is known or not known there was a great deal of influence. It started in Washington, D.C. with this UDAG because we are competing with projects across the United States of America and it is not something easy. We could not afford to go out last December nor last January on the bond issue because if we didn't get the approval from the federal people we would have had a bond indebtedness for this money with nothing to match. The additional one is if we got the money and we invested the money, even though we didn't have the federal monies, we would have been charged with arbitrage. So, the only effective time to start when we considered interest rates is not what happened last year or two years ago but from the day that we got the UDAG grant. I happen to serve on the Cultural Trust Committee and I think those people have done an excellent job and it would be grossly unfair to suggest at all that they haven't done exactly what they are responsible for doing. I think the record ought to be clear in that aspect because it's unfair for people who exert the kind of effort that I have seen displayed on one of the finest committees that I have had the opportunity to work on and I have seen them do very diligent work and, even though they aren't being paid for it, they could not have worked as hard as they have worked on that particular effort. And I just want it very carefully understood that you can't talk about bond interst in January; you can only talk after you receive the monies which now is not even a month right now.

Mr. Givens:

Maybe the question should be answered on this bill. On the UDAG grant itself, Ron, when was the UDAG grant given approval from HUD?

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, I object to Mr. Schmeiser —

Mr. Givens:

I have not yielded the floor to anyone.

Mr. Grabowski:

Point of Order, Mr. President.

The Chair:

He's right. Mr. Grabowski is right.

Mr. Grabowski:

I object to Mr. Schmeiser speaking at this Legislation session. He had an opportunity to come to the Finance meeting.

Mr. Givens:

Excuse me, Point of Order. The Director of any department can be summoned by any member of this Council to speak before the Legislation session.

Mr. Grabowski:

Yes, but I object and when one member objects —

Mr. Givens:

No.

The Chair:

The Director can be called, anyone but the Director, no. Mr. St. Johns?

Mr. Givens:

I don't think it has to be looked up. All I want to do is ask one simple question.

The Chair:

What do you want?

Mr. Givens:

I want to know when was the UDAG approved. I was not here.

The Chair:

We had a meeting last month and that's when they reported to us, about a couple days before that —

Mr. Givens:

Ron, when did we receive notification that, official notification —

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President —

The Chair:

Steve, I think my understanding of the ruling is anyone other than a Director, you need approval.

Mr. Grabowski:

I would like to hear from our Parliamentarian.

Parliamentarian:

At the Committee Meeting, no person shall be heard or seated at the Committee Table unless invited by the Chairman of the Committee session with unanimous consent of the members present subject to the other sections which is the press and this is not a Committee Meeting, it's a Councilmatic meeting and I would think that if anybody objects —

The Chair:

Then I stand corrected; Mr. Grabowski is correct. Now, if you will tell me, Mr. Schmeiser, maybe I can tell them.

Director Schmeiser:

The end of March.

The Chair:

The end of March.

Mr. Woods:

Call the question.

Mr. Givens:

I am abstaining and I object to this particular bonding issue. I looked at the schedule on the second page, particularly the month of March where it was generally around that particular time, the rates were under 10 and I see that the yieled that we are looking at right now is almost directly below 11 percent. I have to say that we had a lot of time between that and then to move and move very quickly. Just that one month has indicated that since the last, since May 14 has gone upward the spiral very inadequate, but people our people, that we get for bond counseling, I don't care who it is, if they are my friends or not my friends, if they cost the taxpayers of the City of Pittsburgh $2 million and we have given the taxpayers of the City of Pittsburgh the idea that we had that UDAG grant pulled out of the air and it is not. That UDAG grant is our federal dollars being returned to us and that's another $20 million that we have given this particular development.

I did not estimate in any way, shape or form, what the performances and what the public sector has been trying to do down there. You read that into the Record, I did not; that was not my particular statement. In fact, I commend them for all the work that has been done, Allegheny Conference, the Mayor and everybody else. But I do not condone that we cannot move more quickly and more rapidly when we give approval in this Council. A mechanism should have been set up the day that UDAG, and there was no reason to hold it back, was given approval and we should have moved immediately when we though that market was best. If you think it was best on May 14, you just cost the taxpayers $2 million.

For that reason I object.

Mr. Grabowski:

Mr. President, I am going to vote yes on this bill but reluctantly. The only reason I am voting yes is, back in December, Council made a commitment and I feel an obligation to the public and the prior commitments.

For that reason I vote yes.

The Chair:

I vote aye with this comment. I think this project that we are funding is probably one of the best innovative ideas this City has ever come up with; it's an operation whereby we would be funding some of our cultural events. The people that came up with that system need to be commended by us for doing a good program for the overall future of the City and cultural aspects of it.

I, again, send my best wishes as the President of City Concil and congratulations to everyone who had anything to do with this project and it's artistic value and it's financial interest and any other way that I have not mentioned at this time.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Woods
Mr. O'Malley	Mr. Stone
Mr. Robinson	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

(MR. GIVENS ABSTAINING)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

The Chair:

I want to remind all Councilmembers that we have a meeting in the conference room in the Water Department right after this meeting.

Mr. Robinson moved to excuse Michelle Madoff for absence from the meeting.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Woods:

I move to adjourn and meet again on Tuesday, May 29, 1984 at 2:00 p.m.

Mr. Wagner seconded the motion.

And on the motion of Mr. Woods

Council adjourned.

Municipal Record

ONE-HUNDRED TWENTY-THIRD COUNCIL

ROBERT RADE STONE President
MICHAEL PERRY City Clerk
LINDA M. JOHNSON ... Asst. City Clerk

Pittsburgh, PA
Tuesday, May 29, 1984

PRESENT:

Mr. Givens	Mr. Robinson
Mr. Grabowski	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Woods
Mrs. Masloff	Mr. Stone
Mr. O'Mallev	(Pres't)

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

Michelle Madoff:

For the benefit of evervbodv who's been wondering where I've been, I think I ough to tell evervbodv, I think it's important, I have been out because I have a congenital prolapse microvalve. Twenty percent of the female population has it; Anderson, who ran for President, suffers from it and a lot of tension, a lot of pressure, can bring on symptoms and I've had some symptoms so you lay off me this coming year, Mr. Stone, and everybody behave yourselves. It's no worse than the Mayor having kidney stones.

So, I just wanted to go on the record and tell everybody that it is not dangerous; it just needs to be looked after with medication. I had gone off medication and I had some symptoms so I had to take it easy for a while until the medication started to work again.

The Chair:

Since everyone seems to have those reciprocal problems, can we get reciprocal return?

Michelle Madoff:

My ex-mother-in-law would say, "Kindness is returned with kindness". I always treat people as they treat me.

Now, the resolution. It is a great pleasure for me today to have a woman who really knows how to shoot from the lip. That is a line that was written by Ben Hayllar for Dave Matter about me and I wish I had thought of it; it's a great one-liner. Amy has been shooting from the lip for many years; she's been a liberated woman long before women's lib. As you know, she knows how to tell a good punch-line, etc. We've been good friends for a very long time; a lot of people don't know it but Amy has been a supporter of mine for a very long time because she always felt that women belonged on this Council even though we didn't have a bathroom for women during Amy's reign on Council and after two years I'm happy to tell you that while you weren't here, Amy, we didn't get a new bathroom but what we did was have it shut down by the Board of Health, cleaned up so that everybody could use it and their mommies didn't teach them how to share but their learning and I'm sure that you'll have a few words about that.

It's with great pleasure that I introduce again to all her friends Amy Ballinger with a resolution.

Michelle Madoff presents

Bill No. 840 WHEREAS, the role of women needs to be expanded in society; and

WHEREAS, the accomplishments and achievements, both professionally and personally, of women in our society have largely been underrated; and

WHEREAS, Amy Ballinger first secured employment at Fort Pitt Laundry for 12¢ per hour, played a major role in the founding of Local Union No. 141, of the Laundry and Dry Cleaning International Union; and

WHEREAS, in 1937, she became Secretary/Treasurer of Local No. 141, a position she held until her retirement in 1983; and

WHEREAS, in 1939, Ms. Ballinger became the first woman elected to the Laundry and Dry Cleaning and Dyehouse Workers International Union Executive Board as an International Vice-President, and became the first woman elected to the Executive Board of the Allegheny County Labor Council, a position which she still holds; and

WHEREAS, in February 1942, the Mayor appointed Ms. Ballinger Secretary of the Pittsburgh Labor Committee for National Defense; and

WHEREAS, in 1958, she became International Vice-President on the Executive Board of the AFL-CIO Laundry and Dry Cleaning International Union; and

WHEREAS, in 1970, Ms. Ballinger was appointed to the Council of the City of Pittsburgh and elected to the position until her resignation in 1976; and

WHEREAS, during her term on Council she established a committee for Cable T.V., served on Lands and Buildings, and was active in the attempt to secure a convention center for the City of Pittsburgh.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Members of Council of the City of Pittsburgh, on behalf of the citizens of Pittsburgh, hereby recognize Amy Ballinger as "Woman of the Month" because of her lifelong political activities and service to the City of Pittsburgh; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the City of Pittsburgh honors and commends Ms. Ballinger for her lifelong work forming, founding and leading Local No. 141, of the Laundry and Dry Cleaning International Union.

Michelle Madoff moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to point out that we have in the audience, and I wish they would stand please, Tom Fagan, Ralph Lynch, Sam Begler, Kay Federici, Louis Mackson, Benny Burton, Alma Burton, Shirley Marsh, Donald Marsh, Seymoure Hevison, and May Kalig. I'm sure there's some other friends but I would like at this time to invite the Mayor, Dick Caliguiri, to please come forward. I know he has a few choice words.

Mayor Caliguiri:

Thank you, Michelle.

You know, when Amy and I were on Council we both used the same bathroom. It didn't matter. It mattered to Walter Kamick at the time; I'll never for get the day that Amy and I walked in and there was Walter and I won't tell the rest of the story.

There are a lot of stories I could probably tell about Amy and the time that we spent on Council and the things that we did after Council but through it all it was a marvelous relationship and one certainly that I shall treasure forever because we did counsel one another, literally, and to have people like Amy, as it was pointed out in the resolution by Michelle, she did things when it wasn't fashionable and it takes a special person to do that. It takes a person with courage to speak out and to say the things and do the things for the good of our society and at that point for the good of women.

So, Amy, on behalf of all the people, as the resolution states, you are a person that we will have in these Chambers forever and one that I will have in my heart forever.

Thank you so much.

Louis Mackson:

I'd like to present these flowers to Amy from the Local 141 members. You know, Amy made the rose famous; you know the little rose that sticks on.

Mrs. Masloff:

I just want to say one word. I want to point out that I inherited the Cable Committee from Amy and whatever success that cable has had in Pittsburgh, it's due altogether to the groundwork that Amy put in place. I thank you for that, Amy.

Mr. Givens:

Amy, I think there's only about three of us elected officials that were in here when you had the opportunity to serve with Lou Mason and the whole gang at that time. They used to say we had a lot of fun on Council at that time and I can assure you that we did. Since you've left it hasn't been the same.

Mr. Robinson:

I had occasion to meet Ms. Ballinger during those days when cable TV was being first discussed here in the City and found her most informative, outspoken, courageous and certainly dedicated to the people of the City of Pittsburgh.

I also had the good fortune of taking her advice during my first and second time to run for City Council and found her always willing to help those of us who were new to politics and public service, always friendly, always helpful, and always very much proud of her service to the people of the City of Pittsburgh.

I consider her a friend and someone who this City dearly needs to continue to serve us.

The Chair:

Amy, if I may before we give you the microphone. I think evident by the distinguished leaders and labor leaders as well as the others who are present today, the high esteem with which they have held you in the labor movement, in this City Council and elsewhere, I think we all have a great deal of love for you, a great deal of respect for you, and it would be an understatement to say that this City hasn't been the same since you left it but on the other hand we would like you to know that there's always a welcome mat for Amy Ballinger in the City of Pittsburgh.

May God grant you many years and many times to come back and join us.

Ms. Ballinger:

What can I say with a presentation like this? I'm really almost at a loss for words and for me to say that is quite something. But what a pleasure it is to be back and see those with whom I served. I loved the job while I was here and we did have fun, I suppose because there wasn't as much put upon us at that time as there is today; the public is becoming more enlightened, and rightfully so. They want to know more and also rightfully so.

When I was here, there was only one restroom. It was for the men and I, as they said, and I might as well remark on it. I did put up the occupied sign when I thought of it; when I didn't, when I was in a hurry, well, I was just there and they came in. But with Michelle having here own, thank God she was able to do it; she did more than I was able. It reminds me much of the story of the three kids who asked were God was. One said, "God is in church". The teacher said to the other, "Where's God?" and he said, "God is all over." She said to the third, "Where's God?" and he said, "God is in the bathroom". The teacher said, "Why do you say that?" and he said, "Because every time my daddy knocks on the door he says, 'My God, are you still in there!'". And so it was in my day.

Anyway, I'm happy to be here. I'm not going to bother with a long speech. I could go into the things that the Mayor and I did together; I don't know if you would be interested in hearing them or not. I know one time he said, "Let's have a quickie" and before he got the cork off the bottle I had my pants off. Those were the days in Council.

You know, like Senator Dirkson when he sent the bird home to his wife and he came home and he said, "Where's that bird I sent you as a gift?" She said, "It's in the oven." He said, "What? In the oven? That bird spoke seven different languages." She said, "Well hell, why didn't it speak up?"

So, that's what I did when I was in City Council, that's what Michelle has to do, and Sophie, because the women, we have to speak up or we won't get anywhere; we'll be working under you guys all our lives and what fun is that today? With six and a half more million women in this country than men, we really have to do a job, not only for sociability's sake but for every other sake.

We have to really work twice as hard and that's what we try to do and we have become successful. In my day it wasn't easy and who would remember it more than Tom Fagan and how happy I am to see him here. I can remember when I first got into the union in 1937. I didn't know how to make a speech; I was never before a microphone. He invited me into his union hall. Well, in 1937, I want to tell you, they were rough and tough tumble members. I walked in and they're all eying me; I didn't know if they had guns or what they had. Of course they were looking at my boobs like everybody does. But I took the microphone and I stood there and nothing came out of my mouth. Finally he said, "Say something, Amy." What I said I don't really remember. But that was my first experience walking into the Teamsters' Hall in 1937 and I shall never forget it. Thanks, Tom, for having me there because if it hadn't been for you I probably would have never been as successful in the labor movement.

Of course working with Sam Begler, Sam and I have worked together so long, you know, we old enough to think happy hour is a nap. Anyway, Sam has been very helpful in my having the success that I have in the past number of years. I'm now in Florida; I'd love you to visit me when you have time. Of course, I don't have an additional bedroom so I can't invite you to stay. But there's always motel rooms. One thing about me, I'm not free but I'm reasonable.

Thank you very much.

Michelle Madoff:

Ladies and gentlemen, if Amy ever needed another job, I think she could become a nightclub stand up act. But despite all the facade, I think what Amy has really succinctly pointed out, she really was the first women's lib that I know in the City in government. She's a little salty in her speech but she has accomplished things that many women must respect. We may not always say that we like the brassy person that's out front; I know I've been accused of the same thing, Amy, you know, the brassy, outspoken woman who says the unpleasant things sometimes, people don't like to hear it. If a man does it it's leadership, if a woman does it we're out of line, we're big mouths.

It's a tough world, gentlemen, for women and if you support women and you support Amy, there are a lot of us around, there are a lot of women who need support in government.

The Chair:

Amy on your way, let me just say we're kind of glad that you added those little tidbits because it wouldn't be the same unless we had those from you. Thank you much.

I'd like to take this time to introduce Mr. Tom Fagan who served on this Council and served admirably and well for the City of Pittsburgh. I'm honored to have been his successor on this Council and, as I've indicated, he served well and the City has benefitted by his work, not only on this Council but as well in the labor movement.

Tom, I didn't want to let it pass without that comment. Thank you much.

Mr. Fagan:

Thanks Bob, and to all the City Councilmen and Councilwomen I'd like to wish them my best. These are difficult times but you have to have the courage to live up to them and, as far as I'm concerned, you are and I wish you all the best. Thank you.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, if I might. Consistent with my presentation of last Wednesday, I would like to include with the bill another letter on this subject which I think will be helpful, or at least its contents will be helpful, in Council's deliberation. This letter is dated May 25, 1984 and comes from Mr. Charles C. Arensberg who is the Chairperson of the Pittsburgh History and Landmarks Foundation.

"Dear Mr. Robinson:

We support entirely the position of Mr. Joseph S. Mistick, Chairman of the Zoning Commission, in regard to the low elevations of buildings along the Monongahela River and on Firstside. Any allowance of high-rise buildings beyond that proposed by Mr. Mistick would be a serious detriment to Pittsburgh and the South Side area, including Station Square.

Pittsburgh is unique in the fact that its buildings do not obstruct the views of the rivers and hills beyond, but instead allows the taller highrises and skyscrapers to be concentrated in the central area of the Triangle. The low elevations of buildings in the Firstside area give a human scale to our City that must be preserved.

Pittsburgh History and Landmarks Foundation has resolved that it would oppose any changes to those recommended by Mr. Mistick.

Sincerely,

Charles C. Arensberg
Chairman"

A copy of this letter went to Mr. Joseph S. Mistick.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I'd like to amend this bill.

Michelle Madoff:

May I ask a question?

Mr. Wagner:

I think my amendment first would be proper.

Michelle Madoff:

Would you yield to just a question?

Mr. Wagner:

Go right ahead.

Michelle Madoff:

What was the recommendation of Mr. Mistick? I have not seen the letter.

The Chair:

He recommended what the Planning had given to us earlier.

Michelle Madoff:

Which was? One hundred and twenty to one hundred and eighty? I just wanted to be sure that I remembered it correctly. Thank you.

Mr. Wagner:

I move to amend Bill No. 290, Section 1A be deleting the words "Boulevard of the Allies" and replacing them with the words "Third Avenue" and by deleting the words "structures between Boulevard of the Allies and Third Avenue shall not exceed 385 feet".

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

Opposed.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

On the bill itself as amended.

Michelle Madoff:

As amended?

The Chair:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

Then I must talk about the bill in itself because if it goes as amended then the bill is passed with the 385 feet. Is that correct? The bill now reads, Mr. Stone, if I'm not incorrect, I was not here but the bill has been amended —

The Chair:

It's talking about a plane, Michelle. It's 180 at the shoreline and it goes up.

Michelle Madoff:

Three hundred and eighty-five.

Mr. Wagner:

At the present time, if I could clarify, Mr. President. The way the bill now reads, beginning at Fort Pitt Boulevard, a structure can have a maximum height of 180 feet and at Third Avenue it can have a maximum height of 385 feet. So, the Firstside area will have a slanting or pyramid effect equal to that of the Alleghenv side.

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me. Would vou give me the numbers again. On the Boulevard of the Allies it would be what?

Mr. Wagner:

What I indicated was at the Fort Pitt Boulevard it would be 180 and at Third Avenue it will be 385.

Michelle Madoff:

So it's 180, 385 going back from the river.

Mr. Wagner:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

Right now it's 300, is that correct?

Mr. Wagner:

That's correct.

Michelle Madoff:

What happened to the 120 going up to 180 as a compromise?

The Chair:

It was amended.

Michelle Madoff:

And this was agreed upon by this Council?

The Chair:

This Council approved the amendment.

Mr. Givens:

It's 300 now, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

It's 300 now. I understand that. But the recommendations were to leave it as it is which I think are ridiculous because we don't have a Maryland waterfront, we have a major trafficway. We certainly aren't going to have outdoor cafes and we're certainly not going to have small little shops. But on the other hand I think we should be developing that property with some highrise to give a view of the river but I think we should keep it in scale and I think when you talk about going to 385 feet from 180, I think that is really not a compromise but a sellout. I would opt for no more than 120 as we first discussed, scaling from this end and not exceeding 300 at any point and 180 was the compromise. So I guess what I'm for is 120 to 180 period. That gives you plenty of room for highrise and a tremendous profit for the people who bought those properties very reasonable. This is a sellout because I think people think there's going to be some romancing done if we vote for that. I don't think it's correct for the community.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. President, I'd just like to state that this is equal to the Allegheny side and during Councilwoman Madoff's absence in the last couple weeks, we have discussed this bill at length. This essentially brings about a true pyramid for the City of Pittsburgh. The Monongahela side is equal to the Allegheny side now, not only at the Boulevard of Fort Pitt in comparison to Fort Duquesne but also an equal distance back and that equal distance from Fort Pitt Boulevard to Third Avenue is the exact same escalation and scale similar to that of the Allegheny side.

Michelle Madoff:

Do you know that the sun during the day is never on the Allegheny side? That the sun just doesn't hit that side? That it is never going to be developed in the same way that the Boulevard of Allies and the Allegheny side is going to be developed? I think that that is where the beauty of our City, the living room, the entrance to our living room of the City is located and I think a compromise whereby people who made investments in that property — I mean, they're in a no-lose situation. They go to 385 or whether they go to 120 or 180, they're going to be better than staying where they are. Granted, they have 300 feet now but that's going to be changed. Whether it's higher or lower, this Council has the power to change those rules. I think we have bent over, not only backwards, but done somersaults for a few people who are going to make tremendous profits at the cost of everybody in this community. I think it's irresponsible; I'm sorry I wasn't here. When I left the understanding was it would go as Mr. Stone had recommended sitting at the end of the table, that going from one end of the street he would scale it up from 120 and the compromise would be 180. He asked everybody whether they could live with that compromise; when I left I thought everybody had agreed to live with his compromise. I don't know how this change came about but I am not for it.

The Chair:

Clerk, call the roll.

Mr. Givens:

I vote aye and I would like my remarks from Wednesday's debate on this bill to be brought forward.

(BEGINNING - MR. GIVENS' REMARKS ON BILL NO. 290 - WEDNESDAY, 5/23/84)

Mr. Givens:

I would like to make a comment too, complimenting Jack Wagner for the in-depth research, knowing the Planning Commission has dealt with this thing for a number of years. I go back some seven years when they have been trying to tell the people down at Firstside actually what they would like down there and one of the big outcomes is residential property on top of many commercial and I would assume that 70 feet can still be added to any of this, or is that the maximum height?

And again I would like to say when many businesses were fleeing the City of Pittsburgh, the people on the Firstside area dug their roots in; they are the small people, they are the people who are the real backbone of the City of Pittsburgh and for us to deny them their opportunity, their day in the sun, as Jack Wagner has so vividly pointed out, and graphically pointed out some of the differences between the two river fronts. I would feel very strongly that it would be just fair and equable to everyone who has owned property in Downtown Pittsburgh and if we look at the Firstside area there are many parking lots down there and it has been used for a parking lot and we have to look at our people and the neighborhood and we got to get every dollar that we can out of Downtown Pittsburgh so we don't have to pay that heavy burden of Real Estate Tax within our local communities and for that and for the endurance of the people of Firstside, I would support this amendment.

(END - MR. GIVENS' REMARKS ON BILL NO. 290)

Michelle Madoff:

It's obvious I'm going to be a lone voter. Maybe somebody will vote with me but I certainly vote no and I think that people here may think they're ingratiating themselves with the number of people who own property on these three streets and then maybe some substantive dollars to campaigns are going to lose a lot for the general public. I think it's a very bad move in the public interest.

Mr. O'Malley:

I vote aye and I'd like my remarks brought forward from the Wednesday's meeting.

(BEGINNING - MR. O'MALLEY'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 290 - WEDNESDAY, 5/23/84)

Mr. O'Malley:

If I might, I would just like to say a few words in support of the amendment.

I think the property owners that reside in Firstside, 70 of them have made a significant investment to upgrade their property over the past 20 years and this is long before Firstside became the prime commercial property that it seems to have become today. I think the proposed restrictions or the proposed penalty placed on them by the Planning Commission of 120 feet is penalizing a group of property owners that have been in that area for a number of years.

I think the compromise that Mr. Wagner offers is fair; I also think it is suitable because what it does is, it reduces the property owners from a potential 300 feet today down to 180 feet. I think it's a fair compromise and I think it should be supported by members of this Council.

(END - MR. O'MALLEY'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 290)

Mr. Robinson:

I'm going to vote aye but I'd like to indicate that I would prefer, personally, to see the height limitation reduced. I do believe that the original attempt on the part of the Planning Commission was to work out a compromise that would leave our City aesthetically pleasing on Firstside and at the same time allow property owners an option to develop. Unfortunately, when Council got involved in the process, the Planning Commission, I think, had made a number of concession, at least in their own minds, and felt that our attempts to make additional concessions or additional compromises perhaps did not speak to their overall concept of how our rivers should be developed. I have talked with Mr. Mistick and Mr. Lurcott about presenting to Council at the appropriate time some concept of how the Planning Commission sees our rivers being developed so that we could have a firmer appreciation of their concern about scale on Firstside.

While I don't believe that that height restriction that we're imposing will be detrimental to development or the aesthetics of the City, personally I wish it had been lowered; I wish that Council would have supported a lower height restriction. Since Council has not seen fit to do that, I certainly don't feel there would be any purpose served by prolonging the discussion and debate. But I do hope that Council will take advantage of an opportunity to hear from the Planning Commission their concept of how our rivers should be developed and gain some appreciation for the types of restrictions that they would like to place along all of our riverfronts.

I do wholeheartedly believe that we should have low buildings on our riverfronts. Regardless of their height, they should be lower than those buildings behind them.

Having said those comments, I will support the bill as amended.

Mr. Wagner:

I also would like my comments brought forward from last Wednesday's meeting in regard to this bill.

(BEGINNING - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 290 - WEDNESDAY, 5/23/84)

Mr. Wagner:

Prior to making an amendment to Bill No. 290, I would also like to state some facts pertaining to this amendment and the issue and also refer to a diagram that I have passed out to all of you.

The issue before us today is personal property owned by over 70 property owners in the Firstside area and the rights of those property owners. Do they have the same rights as the property owners on the Allegheny River side? Yes, I believe they do, if we call our form of government of the City of Pittsburgh democratic.

By adopting the same height restriction that exist on the Allegheny side, we are not jeopardizing the view of our skyline or harming the values of any properties in our great City. In fact, we are enhancing the shape and scale of the entire Golden Triangle; it will be more consistant in scale. It will actually take on the shape of a pyramid, a true pyramid, the size of the buildings rising equally on both the Allegheny and Monongahela side of the Triangle. With a focal or high point being buildings such as Oliver Plaza, U.S. Steel and the Mellon Bank Building.

We have recently transferred development rights in our investing $3.5 million of the Pittsburgh taxpayer monies for the Stanley Theatre Development and the Allegheny International Project site and we passed that legislation or moved on that legislation this morning; a potentially great development. One block back from Fort Duquesne Boulevard on the Allegheny side, two 32 story buildings, 32 stories, approximately 405 feet each in height, will be constructed boarding Penn Avenue one block back from Fort Duquesne Boulevard, Seventh Street and Liberty Avenue.

Is this proposal healthy for the Downtown area? I believe it is or we would not have moved on that legislation this morning. Is it going to block out the view of other parts of the inner City? To a degree, yes. We know with any development, no matter what size of the building, we are going to block out a portion of the view of the City. Could this development be constructed on Firstside Avenue under the proposed legislation? Let me repeat that. Could this development be constructed on Firstside under the proposed legislation for Firstside? No, it couldn't. Why? Because the legislation before us today, No. 290, is not fair and it is not equal. We are proposing a lopsided pyramid in this City. According to this legislation, what's good for the Allegheny side is not good for the Monongahela side. The building owners that have come before us from the Firstside area are willing to except compromise by reducing that present permitted size of buildings from 300 feet to 180 feet, even though this will surely reduce the value of their properties. They are giving up 180 feet of height pertaining to the value of their property, excuse me, 120 feet. What is equal is fair, but what we are talking about here essentially is equal rights and equal rights of those property owners. That is the issue, equal rights of all property owners in the Downtown area.

I would like all Councilmembers to please refer to the diagram that I have put together and passed out. As you can see, we have permitted PPG Plaza to build a building in the Firstside area, boarding the Firstside area on Third Avenue to the height of 635 feet. We have permitted National Steel to build River Front Plaza on Fort Pitt Boulevard, 220 feet. We have permitted Oxford Center on Third Avenue to build a building 550 feet. We are proposing Allegheny International, 402 feet and we have another potential development where Jenkins Arcade once was a development that could rise to over 400 feet. I have indicated the height that exists under the proposed legislation on this diagram. As you can see on Fort Pitt Boulevard, we now have 150 feet. On the Boulevard of the Allies, 300 feet. If you look to the other side of the Triangle, we have greater heights.

What I have done is, I have requested from the Planning Department what the proper height would be in the scale comparison to that of the Allegheny River side, meaning, the maximum height on the Allegheny River side is 450 feet. But as you can see by the diagram, the distance between Fort Duquesne Boulevard and Liberty Avenue is greater than the distance between Fort Pitt Boulevard and the Boulevard of the Allies; therefore, it would not be fair. It would not be equal to say that the maximum height should be 450 feet as is the case on the Allegheny River side. Mr. Lurcott has provided for me the proper height that is consistent with the distances that exist on the Mononhahela River side. That maximum height has been incorporated in my proposed amendment of Bill No. 290 which I would like to read now.

Amendment to Bill No. 290, Monongahela River Side. Structures, or portions of structures, shall not penetrate an inclined plan determined by straight lines connecting points one hundred and eighty feet (180') above established street grade on Fort Pitt Boulevard and three hundred and eighty five feet (385') above street grade on the Boulevard of the Allies, calculated at the property lines. Structures between the Boulevard of the Allies and Third Avenue shall not exceed three hundred and eighty five feet (385').

If this amendment passes Council, I have talked with Mr. Lurcott this. morning and I think it would be proper to sit down with the property owners of Firstside and discuss the potential of including an amendment of that type into the legislation prior to Monday.

(END - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 290)

Mr. Wagner:

The most important thing that can be said about this bill is, right now the property owners on Fort Pitt Boulevard have a 300 foot maximum height level of which they can build to. They are giving up 120 feet. That is a substantial amount of value to their properties. However, it is no greater than that and is equal to that of the Allegheny side. This City must treat both sides of our river equal. No matter what certain interests think that the buildings on the Monongahela side should remain at a low level, if they were going to go to such high levels or if large buildings were going to be constructed, I suspect that would have been done already, up until the 300 foot level that exists.

As I indicated at last week's meeting, this City is allocating $3.5 million to the Stanley Theatre Development Project to support two 32-story buildings that will be constructed along the Allegheny River, one block back. However, we are saying to the Firstside people, "You are not allowed to do that." On one side of the triangle we're putting public dollars out to support the building of tall structures and we're trying to tell the people on the other side of the triangle you cannot do that. That is no equal, that is not fair, that is not democratic.

I vote aye.

The Chair:

I vote aye with this explanation. I would like to commend both sides of this particular argument because I think they have both exibited their best foot forward, so to speak, in the best interest. It's a matter of a philosophy and one has to make that decision. I join in the concept as indicated by Mr. Wagner that the present height at 300 feet, and until we do something else, at least 180 is 120 feet less than what those people can presently develop and I think it needs additional watching to see whether or not this thing will get out of hand. We will see whether the practical consequences equal the legal consequences after this vote. I vote aye.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

The Chair:

I had a resolution that I was going to present today but I'll present it next week. It deals with Meals On Wheels; some of the people could not be here so I will present it next week. I testified last Friday before that committee and I want to have the others join in on it.

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, I'd like to read into the Record a letter that was sent today to Mr. Stanton Williams, Chairman of the Allegheny Conference on Community Development.

"Dear Mr. Williams:

I am writing to seek your support and that of the Allegheny Conference in this City's efforts to work more cooperatively with the corporate community in addressing the issue of American corporations, many of which are Pittsburgh based, conducting business in the Republic of South Africa.

The Allegheny Conference has been a leader in civic, philanthropic, cultural and human services activities and a pacesetter for similar community development efforts in other cities. I believe our City has an obligation, both economic and moral, to substantially and openly address this issue of South Africa.

I would like to present to the Conference, at a regularly scheduled meeting, a proposal to do two specific things: one, encourage all Conference members to sign and support the Sullivan Principles; two, initiate and encourage dialogue between corporate leaders, government officials and the African-American community leaders of our City, relative to the corporate presence in South Africa and the growth of Pittsburgh as an international community. The stature and credibility of the Conference is essential for these two efforts to be successful.

Your cooperation and assistance will be appreciated.

Yours respectfully,

William Russell Robinson
Chairman
Taskforce on Investment Policies and Business Practices"

The Chair:

Thank you.

Michelle Madoff moved to approve the Minutes from Monday, May 14, 1984.

Mr. O'Malley seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Michelle Madoff

Council adjourned.

ABSENT:

Mr. Givens

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Robinson:

Mr. President and members of Council, it gives me a distinct honor and pleasure to offer Resolution 453 and it's being offered in tribute to Mr. Authur J. Edmunds who is the Executive Director of our Pittsburgh Urban League. I am particularly pleased to offer this resolution inasmuch as Mr. Edmunds provided me with my first full-time opportunity for employment in the City of Pittsburgh and I'm eternally grateful to him and to the staff of the Urban League during those years for the very fine and wonderful experience they gave to me.

Mr. Robinson presents

Bill No. 864 WHEREAS, Arthur J. Edmunds, Executive Director, Urban League of Pittsburgh, has served the City of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County for the past twenty-four years; and

WHEREAS, His distinguished career in public service has been punctuated with service to the Urban League of Flint, Michigan, Saint Louis, Missouri, and the Young Mens Christian Association, to name a few; and

WHEREAS, Arthur J. Edmunds now serves on the Board of Western Pennsylvania Hospital, Educational Television Station - WOED, Penn Southwest, the Advisory Committee of Community Work for the Graduate School of Social Work, University of Pittsburgh, and the Fisk University Alumni Association; and

WHEREAS, His dedication and expertise in the field of social work was broadened by his academic experience at Fisk University, where he received his undergraduate degree, Drake University, where he received his masters degree, and the Universities of Iowa, and Michigan where he received additional training; and

WHEREAS, Arthur J. Edmunds is also a board member of Blue Cross of Western Pennsylvania, past president of the Pittsburgh Council of Public Education, Regional Chairman of the National Association of Intergroup Relations Officials, and the Pittsburgh Jaycees "Man of the Year in Human Relations" in 1975; and

WHEREAS, On June 6, 1984, the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia Region, will honor Arthur J. Edmunds for his outstanding service to Pittsburgh and Allegheny County.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, on behalf of its citizens, does honor and recognize the contributions and accomplishments of Arthur J. Edmunds and does designate June 6, 1984, as "Arthur J. Edmunds Day" in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Robinson moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Woods seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Robinson:

I'd just like to indicate that I am very honored and pleased to have been asked to bring greetings from City Council at this dinner on June 6th, and I will present this resolution with your approval with Mr. Edmunds.

As I mentioned before, I'm personally grateful to him but I also think that he has provided an outstanding service to our community in the field of social work and is certainly someone who has done much to make this city someplace special. I certainly want to congratulate him in advance for his honor and for the time and effort that he's put in to making this a better city.

Mr. O'Malley presents

Bill No. 863 WHEREAS, the services rendered by the employees of the Department of Emergency Medical Services are recognized to be essential for the health, safety and welfare of the residents and visitors of the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, under the Public Employee Relations Act of 1970, P.L. 569, No. 195; it is possible that a work stoppage could legally occur due to a Collective Bargaining impass; and

WHEREAS, that if such a work stoppage should occur, even for the shortest amount of time, irreparable harm or death could occur to a person in need; and

WHEREAS, the services provided by the Department of Emergency Medical Services are public safety in the same nature provided by the Police and Fire Departments; and

WHEREAS, the Paramedics were created after the formation of Act 111, which prohibits Police and Fire Departments to strike and requiring them to seek arbritation.

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the members of City Council of the City of Pittsburgh urges the House of Representatives, the Senate, and the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to enact the necessary legislation to amend Act 111 of 1968, to include the Paramedic and Emergency Medical Technicians, employed throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. O'Malley moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Robinson seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. O'Malley:

What this will do, if the paramedics are included in Act 111, it will prohibit them from striking. I think all of us are aware under the negotiations this year between the City and the paramedics, we came very close to a strike. This resolution was requested from me by the paramedics. The paramedics and their union do not feel it would be in the best interest of the union or the City of Pittsburgh to have a strike. So, what they're doing is asking us and asking us to urge the State Legislators and the Governor to include them in Act 111.

The Chair presents

Bill No. 865 WHEREAS, the "Meals on Wheels" program has been one of this City's, this County's, and this Commonwealth's finest human service - providing food to persons, who otherwise would be without it; and

WHEREAS, this project, has generated, in excess of seven thousand volunteers in Allegheny County alone; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Aging of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, not satisfied with excellency in service, seeks to institute new regulations, namely to institute competitive bidding in its food procurement, and institute other contractural obligations, not necessary, nor heretofore contemplated; and

WHEREAS, these new regulations threaten, and if approved, will destroy this excellent "Meals on Wheels" program and its entire volunteer effort; and

WHEREAS, neither the "Meals on Wheels" program, its volunteers, nor its recipients, fear any audit or monitoring of its present fine program, but they do object to unnecessary bureaucratic interference.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Mayor and City Council of the City of Pittsburgh do hereby:

1. Entry over strong objection to Regulation A.P.D. 83-12 - competitive bidding and additional contractual obligation in the "Meals on Wheels" program.

2. Request the Senate and the Legislature of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to take any and all action necessary to stop this unwarranted and unnecessary attack and imposition, upon this fine program; and finally, we do hereby:

3. Commend all of the "Meals on Wheels" volunteers, and on behalf of our thousands upon thousands of food recipients, and this City, we express our debt of gratitude for their dedication, devotion, service and untiring efforts - beyond the call of duty.

Mr. Robinson moved to adopt the resolution.

Mrs. Masloff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

Before I call some people up here, I testified before the Legislature's Committee last Friday chaired by Fred Trello and I'd just like to, if I can, enter into the Record some of those remarks.

I have been elected as President of the National Association of Regional Councils and having served on that Board, I've had the opportunity to testify before many U.S. Senate and House of Representatives Committees as well as federal agencies. One of the things that we have stated many, many times, and that is that one uniform rule for the entire United States is wrong and, likewise, one uniform rule for the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is wrong because of the variances and differences that exist throughout this Commonwealth and the different areas.

We have supported regionalism because it supports local government input and more importantly we support local delivery of services.

The Meals on Wheels program in this City and this County is an excellent program. It is most successful because it is a volunteer effort. The devotion, the dedication and service and attendance to the needs of the recipients is beyond the call of duty and is immeasurable in value. Money cannot pay for all of the charity work done by these volunteers. The City and the County support this volunteer program because they are the best program and because they are the best buy in town, not to overlook the fact that they are the best providers of the service. To say that they are doing an excellent job would still be an understatement.

Why do we still need a change? Some people say anyone who doesn't do the work always has a solution or they can do it better. Some say those that don't understand the problem fully always have a solution. If there is a better way, it is our contention it would have come from the volunteers themselves and that's why I have supported the volunteers of Meals on Wheels.
